SINCE READING THE letters which the neighbors have written in sympathy for Ad Nauseam who told her tale of being 'different' I have wondered if the modern girl would consider it an advantage to be 'different'.

• • • • • • •

• • • • • • •

As Marjory said yesterday we meet so many people in our social and business life. We are pleased to meet all of them but the most of them do not deeply impress us.

• • • • • • •

There is too much sameness about the people of today.

• • • • • • •

Particularly of girls, I should say, for it seems to me that oh, so many of them just want to 'go with the crowd!'

• • • • • • •

They don't seem to have any ideas of their own and if they are not followed by a crowd of boys they think they are behind the times.

• • • • • • •

I wonder if they ever stop to consider the character of 'that crowd.' I suppose it has always been that way—of young people following the crowd, but it does seem that the young people of today are being criticized more than they should be about this.

• • • • • • •

I often wonder what some of the boys think of the modern girl—Of course, we must remember they are of a modern age too.

• • • • • • •

But while they may be of a modern age—some of them have very old-fashioned ideas in regard to girls—they think they should be just like their mothers, good cooks, etc., etc.

• • • • • • •

I think with the return of long skirts the girls will be more feminine. One simply couldn't act the same in a long afternoon dress of today as in the sport togs of yesterday.

• • • • • • •

Of course, we still have sport costumes—we must have, for sport is here to stay—and they are only about three inches below the knee, so will not be any hindrance to sport. One woman when reading that sport and dress costumes were to be three inches below the knee, remarked, "Where they should have remained," meaning that she was thoroughly disgusted that they ever went higher—and she certainly looked disgusted when she said it!

• • • • • • •

But to come back to what I started to say—don't you think that the average modern boy likes the girl who is different?

• • • • • • •

A girl who doesn't smoke, doesn't drink, doesn't look for a petting party every time she is out with a boy, who has a refined and reserved nature, and enough intelligence to be able to carry on an interesting conversation, would be in my idea a different modern girl—a girl whose friendship would be valued by everyone.

• • • • • • •

So many girls who have the idea that one must do all of these things—and probably more—to be popular, have a wrong idea of what is necessary in life to enable one to be happy.

• • • • • • •

I met a lovely girl last summer while on vacation, she didn't drink or smoke, and, I think, valued her affections enough that she wouldn't bestow them on any fellow who came along! Her manner was reserved, but charming!

• • • • • • •

While I didn't have the privilege of being with her long, her letters still convey her charming nature.

• • • • • • •

I wish more of the girls of today would be different—but then maybe many of them are—I would like to hear of their opinion—don't be afraid to differ with me—I'm all for the modern age, so please don't misunderstand me!

STORMY WEATHER HARD ON BABY

The stormy blustery weather which Canadians experience during February and March is extremely hard on babies and young children. Conditions make it necessary for the mother to keep them confined to the house whose rooms may be overheated or badly ventilated. The little ones catch cold and their whole system becomes racked. To guard against this a box of Baby's Own Tablets should be kept in the home and an occasional dose given the baby to keep him fit, or if a cold suddenly grips him to restore him to health again and keep him in good condition till the brighter, warmer days come along again.

Baby's Own Tablets are just what the mother needs for her little ones. They are a mild but thorough laxative which regulate the bowels, sweeten the stomach; break up colds and simple fevers; banish constipation and indigestion and make the cutting of teeth easy. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25c a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

The modern sculptured bobs do wonders to bring out your personality. But like other present-day modes of arranging the hair, they call attention to it. That's why it's so important nowadays to keep your hair soft, lustrous, abundant. The easiest and quickest way to give new lustre and color to hair, which has begun to look dull and lifeless, is with Danderine. And it makes the hair softer, easier to arrange; holds it in place.

Here's all you do. Each time you use your brush just put a little Danderine on it. It removes the oily film from your hair; brings out its natural color; gives it more gloss than brilliantine. Waves "set" with it stay in longer.

Danderine dissolves the crust of dandruff; puts the scalp in the pink of condition. It stops falling hair. A small bottle is enough to show its merit. Start on it tonight.

Indigestion

Immediate Relief!

What most people call indigestion is usually excess acid in the stomach. The food has soured. The instant remedy is an alkali which neutralizes acids. But don't use crude helps. Use what your doctor would advise.

The best help is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. For the 50 years since its invention it has remained standard with physicians. You will find nothing else so quick in its effect, so harmless, so efficient.

One tasteless spoonful in water neutralizes many times its volume in acid. The results are immediate, with no bad after-effects. Once you learn this fact, you will never deal with excess acid in the crude ways. Or learn—now—why this method is supreme.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. Each bottle contains full directions—any drug store.

Saints Lose to Kingston Juniors on Round 6-0

ST. JOHN'S ARE OUT OF RUNNING PETERBORO' YOUNGSTERS AGAIN WHITEWASHED BY KINGSTON TEAM

Lose Second Game of Series to Easterners By Score of 4 to Nil.

LACK THE PUNCH.

(By F. D. C.)

The St. John's team passed out of the O.H.A. picture for the season last night at Kingston when, for the second time in three nights they received a coat of whitwash at the hands of Reg. Boyer's well-drilled squad. The score last night was 4 to 0, Kingston scoring twice in each of the first two periods, and the winners took the round by 6 to nil.

They were the better team. In determination, checking ability and speed the Saints matched them closely but the Kingston outfit were more shifty, combined better and had a finish to their attack that was missing from the repertoire of the St. John's players. The latter's lack of punch in the scoring zone has been their greatest weakness all season, and it was manifest again last night when openings were tossed away by weak and inaccurate shooting.

But the Saints went down fighting. Even although they lost the services of Leo Burke early in the game and went most of the distance minus one sub., they battle until the grim end, and the final bell found them on the attack trying desperately to avert a shut-out.

The accident to Burke, which came close to a tragedy, was enough to dishearten any team. Racing into the corner at the Kingston end, Burke was apparently tripped by one of the Kingston players. At any rate he dived head-on into the boards with a crash that could be heard all over the rink and was knocked unconscious. Dr. Hewett of Peterborough took charge of the injured player and had him removed to hospital, remaining over to bring Burke home to-day. No serious consequences are anticipated, although the Petes' second line centre came within an ace of sustaining a broken neck, and the close call unnerved the St. John's squad, who worried more about Burke's condition than they did about the hockey game until he was reported out of danger.

Cunningham, in the nets, and Matthewson, Amey and Card, on the forward line, were the Kingston stars. The little goalie earned his second whitewash of the series by a cool, steady performance. Up in front, Matthewson again demonstrated his worth as a play-maker, while his checking was a thorn in the flesh of St. John's all night. Amey flashed all through the battle, scoring two smart goals, and Card was fast and clever.

Miller made plenty of smart stops and the four shots that beat him were at point blank range. Howe gave one of his best performances of the year, doing some effective rushing as well as checking to good advantage. On the forward line, Cuthbertson's mid-ice checking broke up many Kingston plays, and he engineered a host of attacks on his own account that deserved a score. Dallin and Hewett never stopped trying, both doing great checking, while Hall and Dunkerley were called upon often and, like the others, gave everything they had to pull the game out of the fire.

Only in the middle period were the Saints distinctly outplayed. So far as attacks went they had the edge in territorial play in the first session and after being out-skated in the second, came back strong in the last twenty minutes, holding the winners off the score sheet and threatening frequently themselves.

As in the Wednesday game with Kingston, a break or two would have given a few goals and made the battle for the round decidedly interesting.

A Few Details.

Although outscored two goals to nil in the first period, the Saints had a big share of the play, in fact Cunningham handled more shots in the twenty minutes than did Miller. As usual, however, the Peterborough shooting lacked accuracy and the Kingston goalie handled their drives easily. The first few minutes were marked by mid-ice play, with the locals on the aggressive. The Kingston team seemed satisfied to hold them out, but by a strange twist in the breaks the first real attack they made after 4½ minutes play wound up in a goal. Matthewson started a rush and when he was checked the rubber drifted over to Card, who dashed in and slid it into corner of the net. Weir drew a penalty on the play, but there was nothing doing while he was off. Then Amery broke away from centre, went around the defence and beat Miller at close range for Kingston's second goal. The Saints had a shade the edge for the balance of the period, but could not score. Hewett was penalized half way through the period, and a little later came the accident to Burke, who was carried off unconscious when he crashed into the end of the rink. There was no penalty. Howe and Cuthbertson combined close in twice, but both times Cunningham beat the attack and he also stopped several hard drives from Dunkerley. The period ended without further scoring.

In the second period the Kingston team did most of the attacking and again blanked the Saints while they got two goals themselves. Only good checking by the Peterborough forwards kept the score down to two for the Kingston crew were breaking fast and were tricky when they got away. Early in the period Murray and Hewett were penalized together, but there was little action while they were off. Cuthbertson drew a penalty for tripping and before he got back on the ice, Matthewson and Amery beat the Saints' defence, and the latters' close-in shot gave Miller little chance to save. Three minutes after Blomeley went down the centre ice alone, split the Saints' defence, and went in on top of Miller to register Kingston's fourth goal. The Peterborough rear guard looked very bad on this play.

For the rest of the period it was an even battle with Kingston getting more close in opportunities but failing to cash in on them.

In the third period, which was scoreless the Saints came on again, and had every bit as much of the play as the ultimate winners—in fact they did more of the attacking than did the Kingston outfit. Both Cunningham and Miller starred in this period, playing every shot carefully and beating the attackers when goals seemed certain. Early in the period Hewett and Murray again hooked each other, and both were penalized. Both teams had openings while they were off but could not beat the goalies. Murray was not back long when he was chased again, and while he was serving his penalty Kingston staged a strong offensive that carried them in on top of Miller for three close range shots which he handled to perfection. For the balance of the game the Saints did most of the attacking, but it got them nowhere, and the game ended with the Peterborough youngsters still unrepresented in the scoring column.

LEGEND SURROUNDS COLORS OF VIRGINIA SPORT TEAMS

UNIVERSITY, Va., (U.P.)—While many a college's sports colors are a matter of accident or what some girl thinks would be real sweet, the University of Virginia hues boast a legend.

Once Virginia athletes contested under gray and red. The gray was suggested by the Confederate uniform, and the red by the heroic color of the battlefield. Back in those days they didn't know as much about fast dyes as they do today and the uniforms were often sorry messes of color. The students decided something should be done and they called a mass meeting.

Allen Potts, clad in football clothing, arrived at the meeting. Around his neck he wore a large silk handkerchief, striped navy blue and orange. A student grabbed the neckpiece and waved it aloft shouting: "How will this do?"

A part of the handkerchief, framed and inscribed, hangs on the walls of Memorial gymnasium here.

CANADIAN INDOOR TRACK MEET COMPETITORS

The second annual Canadian indoor track meet has passed into history a success, and chalks up another accomplishment in the Canadian amateur sporting world. Chas. Higginbottom, president of the Ontario branch of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada, predicted the success, but we think his prediction was not taken from a hunch, but from the excellent work he put in to assure the success of the meet. Among those who helped to put the meet over were: John Findlay, a walker of note from the Y.M.C.A., Toronto; Peggy Mathieson, whose form is much improved; John Fitzpatrick of the Hamilton Olympic club, who ran second in New York at the Millrose A.C. meet; Myrtle Cook of Montreal; Eva Dawes, who has been turning in some excellent work and 'Vic' Pickard, pole vaulter supreme, whose record of 13 feet is a mighty hard one to beat.

JORDON WINS OUT.

TORONTO, February 22. — (C.P.) —A disputed goal gave Jordan a one to nothing victory over Paris, in the first of their two games in the Ontario Hockey Association Intermediate semi-finals at Grimsby last night. Jordan scored half way through the opening period. Poole took the puck off Mohutchison, who was stalling around his net as the Parisians were a man short, circled the net and poked the rubber into the cage. It barely crossed the line. The return game will be played at Galt on Monday.

In the Junior series Kingston advanced into the semi-finals by defeating Peterborough St. John's, four to nothing. Kingston won the round six to nothing. The opponents have not yet been decided.

West Toronto crushed Oshawa beneath a ten to nothing score here in the first of their home and home fourth round series. The first period was scoreless but after that the local team swept through the visiting team for five tallies in five minutes of the middle frame, and another five in the last period. The return game will be played at Oshawa on Monday.

To-night two senior "B" series play off games will be decided. Port Colborne will travel to Hamilton for the second game of their series to decide a winner to meet Woodstock. The first contest ended in a one-all tie.

At Oshawa the home team will attempt to overcome the one goal lead Queen's University secured in the first game at Kingston.

In the Junior Series this afternoon, Parry Sound's speedy team clashes with University of Toronto at the local arena. The "lumberjacks" have a one goal lead secured in the first game played in Parry Sound.

OKEMEN MEET OLYMPICS.

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 22 (C.P.) — Defeating Hamilton decisively by five goals to two, while Toronto Millionaires were surprising Detroit Olympics with their aggressiveness, Windsor Bulldogs advanced to within three points of a play-off berth in the International Hockey League last night. Toronto conquered the Detroit team, four to one, while Buffalo regained second position from London, by defeating the Niagara Falls sextette, two to one.

SURPRISE FOR OLYMPICS

TORONTO, Feb. 22.—Teddy Oke's Millionaires, showing vastly improved form, walked all over Detroit Olympics in an International Hockey League game at Ravina Rink last night, and won 4—1. Detroit's only goal was a gift and was awarded to them after Fisher, in the local net, had held Steele of Detroit to prevent him from scoring.

The locals outskated, outchecked and outplayed the Detroiters throughout, but "Whitie" Fields gets the individual medal. Fields scored two of his team's four goals and assisted in a third. Gregg and Proudlock got the final for the locals.

The game was fast, rough and very exciting. Twenty penalties were handed out, with Detroit accumulating the majority. Two of the Toronto goals were scored with Detroit players in the penalty box.

Mister Sporting Editor:

If Aggie MacPhail wants any help in her campaign against military training in this fair Dominion she oughta be able to get a bunch of likely recruits in our intermediate hockey club, seeing a bunch of them cadets from down Kingston way just naturally knocked the props outa our chances of getting anywhere in that serious. And even if the soldier laddies only lasted 2 nights longer than our own talent, they spilled the beans nevertheless. I didnt' get a look at the R.M.C.'s, owing to the Lindsay-St. John's tangle the same evening up in Oshawa, but the neighbors all report the soldiers as a smart squad, and the game here 1 of the best in many a moon. It would be like that seeing I hadda be away.

The Kingston teams, by the way, Mac, is just been plain poison to our chances all round. Right on top of the cadets tossing our intermediates out, along come the Kingston jrs. Wed. nite and give St. John's a 2-0 shellacking. By the time the customers read this the 2nd game will be over. The 1st battle was a heart-breaker, what I mean, for the local kids hadda big share of the play—in fact, enough to have turned the verdict around the other way. All season the Saints has been punchless around the nets. They got the speed and the drive to beat the defence, but once they get in there facing the goalie all the bird in the pads has to do is to wiggle a ear and the attacker is beat—at least it has looked that way during the whole campaign. The Saints is the champion slush kings of the year. All that was necessary this season to break a cold spell was to announce a home game for the red and white kids and right away the mercury started to climb. In spite of this being the coldest winter for some years, the Saints has played nearly all their games on bad ice, which is a mean break all round, hurting both the hockey and the gate receipts. However, the St. John's youngsters has had a good season, played a whale of a lotta games, win the 1st O.H.A. group nicked by a local jr. team in 3 or 4 years, and put up a good fight all year.

I see where a Lakefield "Mac" has been doing a lotta grousing over the hockey situation. He thinks that it ain't fair to group Peterborough teams with the surrounding villages, and from his viewpoint they is something in what he says. It's a geographical development, what I mean, and couldn't hardly be avoided this season unless the Petes had been give a berth in the Lakeshore group, which was what they wanted.

Anyway next year will be another season, so they ain't no use in getting all hot and bothered about it now. The ball teams has gone South, the kids has their marbles out, the sun will be shining on both sides the fence in a little while, and what the heck will it matter then who win the hockey mugs. I ask you.

Sportfully yours,
A. WISE CRACKER.

Crippled Cataracts Beaten By Bisons

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Feb. 22.—Buffalo Bisons strengthened their hold in the International League play-off section here last night when they took a 3 to 1 verdict from Niagara Falls. The game was a hard-fought affair, though the Bisons, with two full teams in fine fettle, had an edge in endurance, and that is just about what won for them. On the other hand, the locals presented a crippled line-up. Both Gerald Green and Harry Quesnel were unable to start owing to recently sustained injuries. They both got into the fray before it was over, but were far from being at their best.

The versatile Russell Oatman was the pick of the home team, and he had no superior on the ice. King, Lederman, Cain and Gross played well for the winners.

ASSOCIATION TEAM ADVANCES NEARER LEAGUE PLAY-OFFS BY DEFEATING SCHOOL GIRLS 24-5

VIOLA HARVEY STARS.

The "Y" Seniors took a jump nearer first place in the play-offs of the Peterborough Ladies' Basketball League last night when they took a fall from the Senior School Girls by the decisive score of 24—5. The "Y" Seniors' record in the league remains spotless.

For some time it appeared that the School Girls were going to give the Seniors the first real argument of the season, but the Seniors unlossed some smooth-working combination and some accurate basket-tossing that was too much for their opponents.

Working with Viola Harvey, crack P.C.I. forward, Isobel Davidson and Irene Chambers managed to do most of the damage to the scholars. Jean Harvey and O. Elcombe were unable to stem the tide, although they smothered many dangerous attacks.

Score at half-time was 12—1 for the Seniors and 24—5 at full time.

The teams:—

"Y" Senior School Girls—Forwards, V. Harvey, I. Davidson; centre, I. Chambers; guards, B. Gamble, M. Holmes, H. Jackson, J. Allin.

Senior School Girls.—Forwards, H. Cole; G. Cunningham, G. Burns, K. Lang; centre, D. Rogers; guards, J. Harvey, O. Elcombe.

DE LAVAL WINS

A fast contest between the DeLaval entry and the "Y" Intermeriates last night resulted in a 4—0 count with the Dairymaids on the heavy end. It took the DeLaval squad the entire first half of the game to make their two-goal impression and during the final session they were kept busy maintaining this lead. No baskets were scored in the last frame.

De Laval—Forwards, D. Irons, M. Irons; centre, D. Worboy; guards, K. Buckley, M. Archambault.

"Y" Intermediates.—Forwards, M. Burns, M. Lang; centre, V. Davidson; guards, E. Beatty, E. Lynch, R. Clark.

In the other match of the evening between the Westclox and the Wohelos, the Clockmakers' chance of blanking their opponents looked good in the first half. The score at the end of the session was 8—0. In the second half the Wohelos managed three baskets, but in the mantime the Westclox were busy running up 13 more points to make the final count 21—6.

Florence Fever and L. Kingdon hooked most of the winning aggregation's baskets.

The teams:—

Westclox.—Forwards, F. Fever, L. Kingdon; centre, B. Scott; guards, D. Webb, C. Mason, M. Mortimer, S. Keown.

Wohelos.—Forwards, E. Bradley, L. Slaughter, D. Seabrooke; centre, M. Simpson; guards, M. Leahy, H. Badley.

The referee for the three games was Arthur McLeish.

On Monday evening this week the St. Paul's defeated the Wohelos by a 32—5 score and on Wednesday the De Laval squad administered a decisive beating to the Wohelos by the score 27—2.

A meeting of the league will be held at the Y.W.C.A. on Monday evening to arrange the schedule for the rest of the games.

Yanks Leave For Camp Without Babe Ruth

While the getaway of the Yankees was scheduled as the official departure, there were few bonafide major leaguers in the party, for the most part the aggregation was made up of rookies, coaches and secretaries.

Thirty-four regular and rookies, without the name of Babe Ruth, composed the Yankee roster as the first contingent headed southward.

SCOTS DEFEAT IRELAND.

GLASGOW, Scotland, Feb. 22. — (Canadian Press Cable).—Scotland defeated Ireland at Celtic Park today by three goals to one in an International soccer match. The series of International soccer matches between the countries, which were inaugurated in 1884, have been divided as follows: Scotland 36, Ireland 3, drawn 3.

The best of oriental rugs represent ten years of continuous labor.

PERIOD CHANGE IS DEFEATED

C. R. U. Rules Commission Not in Favor of Shortening Interscholastic Period Time.

BLOCK KICK RULE CHANGE.

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 22 (C.P.) — A notable change in the ruling regarding the blocked kick was the high spot of yesterday's annual meeting of the rules commission of the Canadian Rugby Union. Formerly a team having a kick blocked on the third down recovered possession of the ball because it had gone into touch off an opponent, and the same team secured first down again. The amended rule, however, gives the ball to the blocker's side providing the play was made on the third down. It will then be first down for the team successful in breaking through to block the kick.

A suggestion presented by Dave McCann, Ottawa, asking that in the interscholastic series, four periods of 12 minutes each be played, instead of four 15-minute periods, did not meet with the approval of the commission and was defeated. It was felt the matter was a problem for each union to deal with separately and not one calling for a general ruling by the commission.

The rule pertaining to holding, lifting, and obstructing was revised somewhat, though not generally changed.

In the matter of a player deliberately going out of touch during the play, it was decided he should be forced to remain out of play until the next down.

A contentious point, brought about by Queen's University being beaten by University of Toronto in the last minute of play in an intercollegiate match here last Fall, resulted in the commission ruling that even should less than 20 seconds be left to play in any fixture, a play once started must be completed before the final whistle is blown by the officials in charge.

Among the commission members present were: S. C. Holland, Montreal, chairman; Dave McCann, Ottawa; Stuart Forbes, Montreal, and four Toronto members.

SENATORS MEET LEAFS TO-NIGHT

Toronto Club Must Defeat Visitors to Remain in Race For Third.

IN OTTAWA ON TUESDAY.

TORONTO, Feb. 22.—Custer's Last Stand will have nothing on that made by Conny Smythe and his merry men to-night when the Ottawa Senators will pay their third and last visit of the season to Toronto. The Leafs are faced with the necessity of winning to-night's game or bidding good-bye to their hopes of getting in the play-offs for the league title and the Stanley Cup. The locals are five points behind the Senators and have played one game less but their next two games, to-night and on Tuesday, are against the Ottawa crew and they need more than an even break in the next two fixtures to make up the difference in the standing.

The locals have been playing good hockey recently, although they suffered from a lapse a week ago to-night in the dying moments of the game against Boston and saw two almost certain points drift away beyond recall. Since then they have shown two pleasing third-period punches, scoring four goals in the last canto against each of the Rangers and Pirates. In New York on Tuesday they won by 5 to 1, and here against Pittsburgh they came through with a 4-to-0 victory. These two victories have recalled the deserting supporters, who gave up hope a week ago, and to-night's game will likely attract a near-capacity attendance, although there were quite a number of seats left last night. If the Leafs could only turn back the Senators in the next two games they would be right in the hunt.

"MIZZOU" LOSES STAR.

COLUMBIA, Mo. (U.P.).—The University of Missouri football squad for 1930 received a severe blow at the end of the first semester. Carl Johanningmeter, star halfback on last year's aggregation, Oliver Lindenmeyer, tackle, and brother of the famous Edgar Lindenmeyer, All-American from the Tiger institute in 1925, and Joe Swofford, sturdy fullback of the 1927 team who had re-entered school this fall, all were eliminated from school because of delinquent grades. It is improbable that any of these boys will be eligible next fall. Johanningmeter was slated to carry the brunt of the Tiger offense as well as do the kicking.

Saskatchewan Representatives in Macdonald Brier Play

The photo shows the Saskatoon rink that will represent Saskatchewan in the Dominion curling championship for the Macdonald's Brier tankard at the Granite Club, Toronto, against the champions from the other provinces. Saskatchewan were the runners-up to Manitoba last year and the representatives this year are said to be stronger than those of a year ago. From left to right they are: R. R. Watts (second), Alex Scollen (lead), W. A. McArter (vice-skip), and R. B. "Bob" McLeod (skip).

Needless Suffering

The next time a headache makes you stay at home—

Or some other ache or pain prevents your keeping an engagement—

Remember Aspirin! For there is scarcely any sort of pain it cannot relieve, and relieve promptly.

These tablets give real relief, or millions would not continue to take them. They are quite harmless, or the medical profession would not constantly prescribe them.

Don't be a martyr to unnecessary pain. To colds that might so easily be checked; neuritis, neuralgia; to those pains peculiar to women; or any suffering for which Aspirin is such an effective antidote.

You need not hesitate to take Aspirin. It is safe. It is always the same. It never depresses the heart, so use it as often as needed; but the cause of any pain can be treated only by a doctor.

Business Men Rise Against Crime Wave

CHICAGO, Ill., Feb. 21 (C.P.).—"Millions for prosecution; not one cent for tribute," was the answer of Chicago busines men to-day to the encroachments of the gangster and the racketeer.

Revelation of the anti-crime program prepared by Col. Robert Isham Randolph, president of the Chicago Association of Commerce, and his "secret committee of six," disclosed that an organization of investigators, indictment experts and special prosecutors will be used to aid police to route the bomber, racketeer, extortionist and gangster.

The program will be financed by the millions that racketeers have heretofore squeezed from business men by threats of bombing and abduction.

Randolph's committee was summoned for a conference to-day to swing the program into action.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE FAVORS NEW BETHANY-CAVAN HIGHWAY

REGULAR MEETING.

A well-attended meeting of the Executive of the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce was held in the Paragon Tea Rooms Thursday evening, with James Dutton presiding.

It was decided to press the Department of Public Highways in connection with the taking over of the Bethany-Cavan highway, thus connecting highway number 28 with Port Perry. It was pointed out that the construction of the proposed route will open up a trading area which is now lost to this city and at the same time provide an alternate route to Toronto.

Improvements to the Gooderham road are also to be asked for at the request of the reeve of Haliburton and Glamorgan Townships. In 1928 the Chamber of Commerce successfully petitioned the Department of Lands and Forests for a grant of $700 for this road. The money was expended on improvements, but last year nothing was spent at all, and the road is now in sore need of attention. This road will also tend to open up a new trading area to this city.

Postmaster Lacheur reported the extension to Peterborough of the 3c reply envelopes system, which will save business houses circulating prospects, considerable money. Further particulars are available on application to the Postmaster.

Vice president F. D. Kerr, K.C., reported that with reference to earlier resolutions concerning inter-provincial Division Courts judgements, some new legislation had come into effect as the result of suggestions first made by J. J. Turner. Mr. Kerr felt that the Chamber of Commerce had taken the initial step in Peterborough towards this important piece of legislation.

In the absence of the treasurer, C. S. Cummer, the financial statement was presented and adopted and a statement assets and liabilities to the end of the fiscal year was received.

Chas. Lacheur, chairman of the membership committee reported the receipts of $265 and for the activities fund, receipts of $336 in the period between Dec. 19, 1929 and Feb. 20th, 1930.

Cleveland Motor Show

A brief resume of his recent trip to New York Motor Boat Show with the Trent Waterway exhibit which was shown in conjunction with the Department of Public Highways, was given by Frank G. Stinson, whose time and services were contributed by the Chamber. He also announced that the exhibits were to be forwarded for exhibition at the Cleveland Show from March 3-9, and that Fred L. Roy had offered to co-operate by going to Cleveland, taking with him a stock of Trent Waterway and Iroquois Trail literature for distribution and also to handle the motion picture machine. A motion to the effect that a sum of $150 be set aside to reimburse Mr. Roy for expences, was carried. The opinion was that Mr. Roy would be an admirable representative.

With reference to the Shriner's Convention to be held in Toronto during the coming summer, it was agreed that as the Kawartha Lakes region is within easy access of Toronto, the region should be well advertised to the delegates. It was unanimously decided to write to the C.N. and C.P. Railway Companies asking that they print an extra supply of Kawartha Lakes literature to distribute in sleeping coaches, which will be utilized in Toronto to accommodate about 10,000 Shriners.

Correspondence was read from J. F. Strickland, M.P.P., asking the Chamber's opinion as to the extension of East Peterborough highway number 7. Following a thorough discussion of the three possible routes the executives decided to support action of the City Council and Department of Public Highways to construct the continuation of Highway 7 east of this city on what is now known as Norwood road, as opposed to Smith street (Warsaw road) and the Block road. There has been considerable money already spent on the Norwood road and it is thus in better condition for taking over. Mr. Strickland will be so advised.

Commerce Congress

The Ontario associated Chambers of Commerce asked that a representative from the Peterborough Chamber be selected to attend the 12th Congress of the Federated Chambers of Commerce of the British Empire to be held in the Guildhall, London, England during the week of May 26th, 1930. No delegates were selected but it is likely that there will be someone selected to attend and represent this city, in the course of the next few weeks.

Communications were read from A. Wander Ovaltine Company and the Johnson Motor Company enclosing cheques to help defray the cost of Peterborough's broadcast on February 5th. The letters commended the Chamber for their initiative in advertising Peterborough so well.

Further correspondence was received from the general secretary of the Y.M.C.A. expressing appreciation of the Chamber's action in advertising over the air; the Girl's Camp; whilst a letter from the Dominion Woolens said, in respect to a request made by the Chamber, that when possible they would employ from a list of ex-service veterans, who had been recommended by the Canadian Legion.

A request was read from the Ontario Associated Boards of Trade and Commerce asking that representatives from the Peterborough Chamber be appointed to appear before the Hon. Secretary in connection with resolutions adopted at the last annual meeting, two of which emanated from Peterborough and had to do with the protection of game and fish and the other concerning the completion of the balance of Highway 7 from Sarnia to Ottawa via Peterborough.

The date of annual elections was set for Wednesday, March 12th, the same date as last year.

Roy Taylor raised the question of the Chamber of Commerce assisting the Northern Airways in securing an air port for this city.

It was pointed out to him that the Chamber had petitioned the City Council last year asking them to proceed with the acquiring of and preparation and making of an air field.

HELPFUL CONGRESS.

An incident of the closing session of the Life Underwriters' convention here yesterday was the presentation of a monogrammed silver cigarette case to J. F. H. Wallace, district manager of the Sun Life Assurance Company, who is being transferred to Montreal next month. The presentation was made on behalf of the Peterborough Life Underwriters' Association by D. M. Bissell, president of the association, who paid an eloquent tribute to Mr. Wallace for his valuable assistance to the association and his unfailing interest in all matters pertaining to the welfare of life insurance in the city and district.

Mr. Wallace in expressing his thanks to the members, said his relations with the life underwriters of the city and district had always been most pleasant. He had enjoyed his work here, and it had been made more pleasant by the fine associations with the men engaged in life insurance.

F. L. Ray, manager of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company in Peterborough, was one of the speakers at the afternoon session, with Frank Hoy and G. A. German of Toronto. At the conclusion of the congress the life underwriters through I. P. McNabb and Mr. Bissell extended a vote of thanks to the visiting speakers, also to John I. Allen and Mr. Ray for their interesting addresses, to George Liddle for his piano accompaniments to the choruses that enlivened the sessions to The Examiner, to J. J. Duffus for offering the use of his bowling alleys, and to George Gibbons for his share as secretary in the success of the conference.

"Mr. Bissell is altogether too modest" said Mr. Wallace. "We owe him and the members of the executive our congratulations for this very helpful congress."

NEW OAKLAND IS SMART 'SIX'

POWERFUL ENGINE.

Smart bodies of distinctive design, and a chassis said to be the last word in mechanical refinement, the Oakland Olympic series six forms a fitting companion car to the new custom Oakland eight just announced. "Maintaining Oakland's well merited place in the six cylinder field, the Oakland Olympic series six rounds out the complete Oakland line of motor cars for the coming year and provides a quality car for those who prefer the six cylinder motor," officials of the Oakland Motor Car Company, Oshawa, stated.

Briefly the Olympic series Oakland Six offers a large, fast, powerful six cylinder engine; Oakland type internal expanding 4-wheel brakes; masterful body creations by Fisher; smart Duco color combinations; higher, large cross-flow radiator with grill front; adjustable driver's seat; chrome plated lamps of new design; sturdy, ten-spoke wheels; Lovejoy shock absorbers and spring covers as standard equipment; a finer type of steering gear; sturdier frame, and a host of other improments that make the car a distinguished aristocrat of the motor car family of the Dominion.

Powerful Engine.

A powerful new engine, offering flashing performance at every speed range, has been achieved by stepping up the cylinder displacement to 228 cubic inches as against 212 in the earlier models. This, in conjunction with other engine changes, results in a top speed of well over seventy miles an hour and quick acceleration of from ten to twenty-five miles an hour in high gear in six seconds flat. Increased displacement was brought about by enlarging the cylinder bore from 3¼ inches to 3 3-8 inches. The improved engine develops 68 brake horse power at 3,000 r.p.m.

An exclusive Oakland feature is the four-point rubber engine mounting adopted on this model. By means of special rubber "biscuits" which insulate the engine from the frame, there is no metal-to-metal contact, a feature which eliminates noise and vibration.

Increased braking power with a minimum of pedal pressure is achieved by the Oakland designed brakes, of the mechanical four-wheel type, self-energizing, with internal expanding shoes on all four wheels. Individual adjustments are located at each wheel, and equalization has been entirely eliminated. The brakes operate on large 12-inch drums and provide 290 square inches of braking surface. The parking brake on the transmission also has been redesigned for increased safety.

SHORT COURSE BIG SUCCESS

Average Attendance at Daily Lectures in Keene Town Hall Stands at 55.

KEENE, February 22.—Success has rewarded the efforts of the Department of Agriculture through the Peterborough representative, J. B. Nelson, in sponsoring the one-month short course that has now been running three weeks here. The average attendance at the daily lectures has been about 55, of which 30 have been boys taking the agricultural course and 25 girls taking the home economics courses.

The course commenced on February 3, and the last lecture will take place on Friday, February 28, in the Keene Town Hall. Interest has been sustained throughout among the regular students who are mainly young people and on the special days as many as 75 farmers have been present. The poultry day aroused greatest interest. The students enrolled are nearly all from Otonabee Township and the neighborhood of Keene.

On Thursday afternoon the boys made a trip to the Field Lodge Farm, owned by Fred Field, where they were given some practical work in stock judging. Mr. Field has a prize herd of 250 Jerseys, as well as 4,000 Leghorn hens.

Yesterday morning 50 students from Keene and 30 from Little Britain, where a similar short course is being held for Victoria County, came to Peterborough, and during the day visited a number of the city industries. The plants viewed were the Peterborough Milk Products, the Brinton Carpet Company, the Quaker Oats Company, and the De Laval. Girls were taken on visits to some of the stores.

Before their visit to the Quaker Oats plant, the young men were addressed by James Dutton, president of the Chamber of Commerce. He welcomed them on behalf of the Mayor, who was out of the city, and spoke of the excellent opportunity they would have to see the produce of their own labors on the farm made into finished products, such as cereals, flour and feeds at the Quaker Oats.

He told them of the extent of the industries in the city, saying that there are more than sixty in number, and with a great diversity of products. He said the industrial investment of the city was in the vicinity of $27,500,000, and the value of the produce manufactured annually was in excess of $33,000,000.

Yesterday afternoon the girls heard an instructive lecture by Edith Elliot, of the Fruit Branch of the Department at Ottawa on Canned Fruits and Vegetables.

BOYS AT MARBLES

The death knell of hockey and curling for this seasons seems to have been sounded by the Spring-like weather we are now enjoying, and threatens to be ousted by the games of marbles and skipping-the-rope.

Yesterday afternoon a group of small newsboys were seen sitting on the sidewalk opposite The Examiner office playing marbles, whilst it has been reported that the girls have taken to their skipping ropes again.

ELECTION IN FALL EXPECTED

The members of the House of Commons fully expect a Federal election in September or October of this year, E. A. Peck, M.P., admitted last night in an interview. In the corridors and the lounge rooms of the Parliament buildings during the first day of the session the coming election was the chief topic, he said.

The concensus of opinion of the members is that the election will come in the Fall. Mr. Peck stated that it would be impracticable for the King Government to terminate its administration before the budget was brought down and debated upon. This, he said, would make an election before September impossible.

GRAND RIVER SETS NEW FLOOD RECORD

Eleven Die as Trains Hit Auto

100 ARE INJURED AS TWO TRAINS PILE UP IN DITCH

DARK ADDS TO HORRORS.

KENOSHA, Wis., Feb. 24 (C.P.) — Eleven persons were killed and at least 100 were injured when a Chicago- bound passenger train of the Chicago, North Shore and Milwaukee Electric Railroad struck an automobile at a grade crossing just north of Kenosha late last night and was rerailed.

Express Going 60 Miles An Hour

The first car of the passenger train which was travelling nearly 60 miles an hour, buried its nose for many feet in the soft mud of the ditch. The car behind piled into it. The three rear cars also went into the ditch, but their passengers were more fortunate than those in the two forward cars.

The Dead

James B. Poteous, Racine, Wis.

E. F. Reibe, 1492 15th street, Milwaukee.

George Brofkt, 2452 Sunnyside ave., Chicago.

James Fitzgerald, Manistique, Mich.

J. B. Goggin, 4727 Malden ave., Chicago.

Miss Evelyn Metzer, 1619 Wilson ave., Chicago.

Two unidentified women—one a negro.

There were 59 men, women and children under treatment at two Kenosha hospitals early to-day. Their injuries included broken arms, legs and ribs, skull fractures, internal injuries and bruises. The condition of at least 10 was pronounced critical.

At least 50 other passengers of the train were treated at the hospitals and then released.

It was the first time in 10 years that a passenger on the North Shore Line had met death in an accident, the company said. The line has been awarded national recognition, both for speed and safety, in recent years.

Car Struck Squarely.

The Buday automobile was travelling on Route 43, north-bound, when the passenger train bore down along the straight-away stretch. The train struck the car squarely, just as the 16-car freight train was approaching from the south. The machine was momentarily wedged between the trains before the passenger train left the rails. Several freight cars were derailed, but they remained upright.

First reports that the freight caught fire were incorrect. Actually the horror of the scene was the greater because of the darkness, the scores of injured frantically crying for help and fumbling their way out of the debris.

BULL GORES FARMER

SARNIA, Ont., Feb. 24. (C.P.) — William Stevens, 43, a Moore township farmer, was gored to death by a mad bull which he was attending in his farm yard early Saturday evening. His mangled body was discovered by his wife whose anxiety was aroused by Stevens' delay in returning to the house. The animal was still evidencing rage and fifteen shots from a gun in the hands of R. A. Armstrong of Bridgen were required to despatch it. Physicians found that Stevens' death was due to wounds in the chest.

Unique Ice Canoe Race Draws Crowd

QUEBEC, Que., Feb. 24.—(C.P.) —Some twenty thousand people lined the ramparts and other points of vantage to witness a unique race between ice-canoes, the steel shod water craft that are used to navigate the ice strewn waters of the lower St. Lawrence. The canoes are paddled by about six men and when ice is encountered they drag the craft up on the floe and use it for a sledge. They raced from Quebec for a purse of $150. The crew of the ice-breaker Mikula won.

Runaway Car Finds Its Way to Tavern

MONTREAL, Que., Feb. 24. — (C.P.).—Charles Ross left his car on the slope of Windsor Street while he saw a friend off in the nearby station. When he returned the car was gone, and he was about to notify police when a crowd down the hill drew his attention. He found his car occupying a position amid the debris of a basement tavern, having coasted down hill and entered by way of a plate glass window. The tavern was closed for business at the time.

TRAGIC CAREER OF FILM GIRL ENDS IN DEATH

MARRIED CHILDHOOD CHUM.

MONROVIA, Calif., Feb. 24 (C.P.). —Mabel Normand is dead. The elfin film commedienne, who took her final cue from the Great Director early yesterday morning, went into the fade-out as she entered the prologue—smiling.

Her private secretary and closest friend, Mrs. Julia Benson, who was with her until the last, told how the girl who has made millions laugh, faced the end of the picture in those quiet hours before dawn.

"A few minutes before the end came," Mrs. Benson said, "Mabel reached over, took my hand, and asked me to pray with her. I did as she requested, and as I leaned over and whispered into her ear she smiled and closed her eyes as if to go to sleep. A moment later the end came."

Life Of Unhappiness.

The passing of Miss Normand, whose colorful 35 years were as full of tragedy and unhappiness as her pictures were full of gayety and laughter, was not wholly unexpected. She became ill in December, 1928, with an ailment which developed into tuberculosis. Blood transfusions recently gave her temporary strength, but soon thereafter she began to sink.

SALVATION ARMY HAS FINE FUTURE FOR WORLD WORK

Commissioner James Hay Addresses Large Gathering in Army Temple.

TRIBUTE TO FOUNDERS.

16,000 Corps Scattered in All Parts of World, Carrying on Work.

Commissioner Jame Hay, O.B.E., characterizedhis address on the "Future of the Salvation Army," on Sunday afternoon, with a remarkable vigor and breadth of vision, leaving behind with the Peterborough Corps a message of encouragement and inspiration and setting sign posts that will lead them on to yet higher accomplishments in the great work in which they are engaged.

The Commissioner was accompanied on the platform by Mrs. Hay and their daughter, Staff-Captain Hay, Colonel Adby, A.D.C., Brigadier Hawkins, editor of the War Cry, Maor and Mrs. Ritchie, representing the East Toronto Division, Walter Stocker and William F. Butcher, whilst the chair was occupied by J. F. Strickland, M.P.P.

"I am very glad indeed to have this opportunity of taking the chair at this meeting," said Mr. Strickland, "and to meet the officer who has recently taken charge of the Eastern Canada territory of the work of the Salvation Army."

"You are fortunate indeed to have such a Commissioner as Mr. Hay; a man who has the entire confidence of the Army, having been chairman of the High Council in the recent crises, a position requiring much tact and faith. A native of Scotland, his work has taken him to England, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, and now here, and he must of necessity bring a vital message. He was also awarded the O.B.E. as the British Government's recognition, not only of the Army's efforts in the Great War, but of his personal contribution." (Applause.)

A Tribute to the Founders.

Tracing the growth of the Salvation Army from the time of its commencement as a small mission in the East-end of London, with General William Booth placed at the head by the late Lord Rosebery, the Commissioner said, that they had to make their own standards and develop their followers by a slow and difficult process. They had rare leaders who worked and labored, bringing spiritual and material benefit to those whom

AUTOS COLLIDE IN DENSE MIST; WOMAN KILLED

Brooklyn Woman Dies in Crash on Whitby-Lindsay Highway.

THREE INJURED.

Drivers Only Able to See But a Few Feet Ahead of Cars.

BROOKLIN, Feb. 24 (Canadian Press).—When two motor cars met in a thick fog on the Whitby-Lindsay highway yesterday one person was fatally injured, and three others seriously injured. So dense was the fog, motorists reported, drivers could see but a few feet ahead, even with headlights on full strength.

Mrs. George Rodd, 65, of Brooklin, died on her way to hospital. Her son, George C. Rodd, driver of the car, lies in the Oshawa General Hospital, critically hurt, with severe scalp wounds. Mrs. J. Read, 87, mother of the woman fatally injured, is also in the hospital with a broken arm. W. W. Free, driver of the other machine, and Mrs. Free of Blackwater Junction, were cut by flying glass and experienced a bad shaking up.

An inquest into the death of Mrs. Rodd has been ordered for this morning.

PROBE CONTINUES IN BURLINGTON

INVESTIGATION ASKED.

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 24 (C.P.).—Investigators from the Attorney-General's Department for more than a week have been probing conditions in Burlington that centred around the imprisonment of John Rattebury, bank manager, for theft, and the laying of charges against Leonard Sykes, town clerk, for theft. It is to determine whether or not Magistrate Burr dealt justly with handbook operators who are blamed for the downfall of the two prominent men and whether or not public funds were misappropriated.

Hon. W. H. Price, Attorney-General, would not comment on the situation to-day. Upon being informed that a petition is being circulated in Burlington, asking for a full investigation, he said that it had been commenced a week ago. It would determine whether the charge that "bookies" have been allowed to flourish was true. Col. Price, however, said he would await with interest the petition and its requests.

I. A. Humphrey, a solicitor in the Department, is in charge of the investigation.

NAVAL PARLEYS GET UNDER WAY AFTER VACATION

Sub-Committee On Special Ships Puts Last Touches on Report.

ALL HEADS RETURN.

Generally Conceded Nothing Can Be Done Without French.

LONDON, February 24. (C.P.) — Naval Conference, now awaiting the return of a French delegation representing the new Chautemps government, began getting under way again to-day after a lull of several days.

The sub-committee on special ships was busy at St. James' Palace this morning, putting finishing touches on its report. There was considerable activity in connection with resumption of the full conference proceedings later in the week. The chief delegates were going ahead with their conference plans without any apparent slackening of speed and the British official spokesman announced that Premier MacDonald visited United States Secretary of State Stimson yesterday afternoon and remained as an overnight guest at Stanmore.

Former Premier Wakatsuki of Japan went to Stratford-on-Avon yesterday but was busy at the Japanese headquarters early to-day.

Foreign Minister Grand of Italy, who returned to Rome for the week-end, started back for London this morning.

The enforced idleness brought on with the collapse of the French government has been irksome to the leaders and they are anxious to reach some agreement as soon as possible. But it is generally conceded nothing can be done without the French; some observers comment, too —"Nothing can be done with them."

Farmlands Flooded And Homes Deserted In Western Ontario

Grand River at Cayuga is 15 Feet Higher Than its Previous Record—Families Are Forced From Their Homes and All Communications Are Badly Disrupted.

WATERS IN MANY SECTIONS ARE RECEDING AFTER REACHING NEW HIGH LEVELS SUNDAY

Eastern Ontario Has Been Practically Free From Floods — Many Districts Report Water to be Within a Few Feet of the Record Established in Spring of 1929.

TORONTO, Ont., February 24 (Canadian Press). — Receding almost as suddenly as they rose, following the break-up in the ice, rivers and streams throughout the province, which, reinforced by the rapidly melting snow, have flooded homes, inundated highways and farmlands and have strained bridges and dykes, to-day reverted to their course, and allowed anxious watchers to sit back and breathe more freely.

Following another rampage last night, resulting from yesterday's exceptionally high temperature, ice jams at dams and bridges caused a great deal of consternation, but with the aid of dynamite and regiments of workers who struggled to release the huge chunks of ice which piled high on the river banks, against bridges and dykes, channels were gradually cleared and the water allowed to resume its natural course.

Near Cayuga, however, fears were expressed that the Grand River, which at this point is already 15 feet higher than its recorded depth, would yet cause much damage. Four families were forced to vacate their homes early to-day; highways were flooded and telephonic and telegraphic communications were badly disrupted. The highways leading to Kitchener and Galt were impassable, while in the latter city streets were flooded and a number of factories were forced to close until the river subsides. A number of people hurriedly left their homes in London last night but were able to return to-day. Near Brantford, however, the river was only slightly higher than normal and little trouble was anticipated in this district.

In a number of cases dynamite was utilized to clear the ever-increasing piles of ice. At strategical points along the Grand River weary citizens main-

PETERBORO CURLERS WON TWELVE OF THE SEVENTEEN GAMES PLAYED

Reached Finals in Seiberling and Did Well in Royal York Trophy.

STRENUOUS WEEK.

Ray Best's rink wound up their week's grind in the Toronto bonspiel Saturday night, having played seventeen games in five competitions. They won twelve and lost five; were runners-up in the final game for the Seiberling Trophy, and almost reached the finals for the Royal York Cup. Altogether the Peterborough rink had a heavy week, with more curling than they really wanted; had a fine time, and altogether a memorable experience.

Just as an example of how the breaks in the draw can bear down at times and also as an indication of the rigors of bonspiel play when the games simply must proceed. Best's rink went through four games on Wednesday, finishing at 2.30 a.m. on Thursday; they went right back at 9 a.m., swept through another series of four games, getting to bed after 2.30 a.m. on Friday. For that day they had to report at 9 a.m., and toiled through three games, the last one beginning at 11.30 p.m. and ending about 3 a.m. Saturday. The morning papers were being sold on the streets when the Peterborough curlers were on their way back to their hotel. They were up again in time for the 9 o'clock Saturday morning draw.

Tight Contest

Their game with Walker of Fort William in the Seiberling semi-final, which Peterborough won by 7—6 in an extra end, at the High Park rink, was one of the best games ever played on that ice, according to several of the veterans of that club. Walker had his revenge in the semi-final round of the Royal York on Saturday, when he and his rink literally swept his last stone into the four foot ring for shot, beating two Peterborough stones just about on the six-foot ring. Of the two hundred men watching that finish, probably not one expected Walker's stone to make the grade. Aso soon as he had delivered it, he ran ahead and joined in the sweeping and his vice came out from the tee, so that all four of the Fort William rink were working on that last stone, and they brought it inside for shot and game. Apparently it hadn't legs to bring it even to the outer ring.

Thief Known Here Tries to Take Life

SANDWICH, Ont., Feb. 24—(By the Canadian Press.) — John Thomas, said by Windsor police to have engaged in criminal operations in various sections of Ontario under five separate aliases, attempted to hang himself in Sandwich jail this morning but was saved from death when turnkeys cut him down. He was arrested here when charged with robbery but according to Windsor police was charged with theft several years ago at Peterboro, Ont.

LEGION URGING HOLIDAY NOV. 11

Believe Day Should Be Celebrated Separate From Thanksgiving.

HAS BEEN UP BEFORE.

OTTAWA, Ont., Feb. 24 (C.P.). — The oft-repeated request that the eleventh day of November in each year be set apart as a national holiday and a day of remembrance distinguished entirely from the present observances of Thanksgiving Day, is again being placed before the Canadian Parliament by the Canadian Legion of the British Empire Service League. This proposal has been before Parliament on several occasions, but it has always been rejected, largely on business grounds.

While recognizing the validity of the objections raised to the declaration of a national day of remembrance on November 11 each year, the officers of the Legion are putting forward the view that it is a national duty that the memory of the dead who gave their lives in the war should be honored and respected entirely apart from the celebration of Thanksgiving for the safe in-gathering of the harvest each year

Question of Effect on Conservative Party Now Chief Political Issue.

ELIBANK SCORES BALDWIN.

Claims Party Leader Has Ruled Out Fiscal Freedom—Will Join U. E. Party.

(By Thomas J. Champion, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent.)

LONDON, February 24. — While the Daily Express announces to-day the fighting fund of the new United Empire Party has reached a total of $315,000, the question of the new party's effect on the Conservative party has become the leading political issue.

Right Hon. Stanley Baldwin, Conservative leader, to-night will issue a statemetn which, in the words of Right Hon. J. G. Davidson, Chief Conservative organizer, should do much to clear the air. Mr. Davidson has spent the week-end declaring the new party can only have the effect of splitting the anti-Labor forces.

Tories Check up.

Apparently the Conservative organization is taking discreet soundings among its adherents. Lord Elibank has written to Lord Salisbury, the Conservative leader in the House of Lord, proclaiming himself an adherent of the new party. Lord Elibank believes any real progress towards making the Empire an economic unit can only be achieved by a government which possesses complete fiscal freedom. And this freedom, he says, has been ruled out by Stanley Baldwin.

But Lord Elibank adds he may be relied on to support the Conservative party on other questions as in the past. An interesting point is that Lord Elibank's letter has been provoked by the inquiry instituted through Lord Templemore, one of the Conservative whips in the Upper Chamber. Announcing the total of the campaign fund, Lord Beaver-

POISON VICTIMS ARE RECOVERING

Authorities Begin Probe Into Salvation Army Banquet Near-Tragedy.

DOZEN SERIOUSLY ILL.

SAN FRANCISCO, February 21 (Canadian Press). — Poisoned by food served at a Salvation Army banquet here, nearly 130 persons, most of them children, were recovering with few exceptions to-day as authorities began a three-fold investigation to determine the cause of the near tragedy.

While there were no deaths reported, at least a dozen sufferers were still in a serious condition at the San Francisco hospital.

The first of the stricken diners arrived at the Central Emergency Hospital two hours after the meal. Some had been seized with convulsions and others were taken ill while motoring to their homes.

City health officers began an analysis of food served at the banquet yesterday in an effort to determine the nature of the poisoning. Emergency hospital physicians said the symptoms resembled those of botulinus poisoning, but withheld a definite statement pending the analysis.

NEW BLOOD FOR FARMS IS URGED BY J. D. CAMERON

MORE MARRIED HELP.

Farmers Urged to Interest Themselves in Housing For British Families.

Some fifty representative farmers, principally from Smith and North Monaghan, were guests of Rotary at the weekly luncheon to-day, and heard an eloquent plea from J. D. Cameron of the Immigration and Colonization Department of the Canadian Pacific Railway for the filling up of Ontario's vacant farms with new blood.

It was the annual Farmers' Day, and as usual the arrangements had been entrusted to Rotarian George A. Gillespie, who, in view of the fact that the speaker represented the C.P.R.'s colonization department, invited guests who had employed farm help brought to Canada by that organization. The affair was a most enjoyable success, and the congratulations extended to Rotarian Gillespie by his fellow-Rotarians were well merited.

President Ross L. Dobbin turned the meeting over to Rotarian Gillespie, who extended a hearty welcome to the farmer guests, and stressed the fact that Rotary was interested in their welfare. The farmers present were called upon to rise to their feet, and they were greeted with the singing of "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows," followed by a hearty sound of cheers.

Messrs. Kitney and Wilson, cornet and piano respectively, were heard to great advantage in two instrumental numbers that were enthusiastically received.

Mr. Cameron, in his eloquent address, pointed out that the Canadian Pacific Railway had spent some ninety-one million dollars in the recruiting, transportation and colonizing of new Canadians, the annual expenditure for these purposes being close to two million dollars. He exploded the fallacy that the railways, in order to profit by the transportation of immigrants, were willing to flood the country with new citizens, regardless of the ability of Canada to assimilate them. On the contrary, the expenses involved often cost more than the revenue obtained, and the company had to face the possibility of deporting the settlers who failed to make good. The C.P.R.'s only hope

MORE CHURCHES SHUT IN RUSSIA

Synagoguges and Mosques Also Closed on Petition of Workers and Peasants.

DECORATIONS SOLD.

MOSCOW, Feb. 24 (C.P.).—Despite the campaign abroad against the Soviet Government for its attitude toward religion, Soviet authorities in different parts of the Union have closed a number of additional churches, synagogues and mosques.

These, it was declared, were shut "upon petition of the workers and peasants."

Tass despatches to-day reported that Soviet officials closed three churches, three mosques, one synagogue and one Polish church in Alma-Ata, capital of the Province of Kazakstan.

In Karabudakhkent, near Makhatch-Kala, capital of the Dagestan Republic, whose population is predominately Mohammedan, the authorities closed no less than thirteen mosques. Ecclesiastical objects removed from the latter, including rich rugs and mosaics, were sold and the money converted into tractors for the new collective farms.

Another Tass despatch said that in Tver, Central Russia, the Soviet officials decided to close a local synagogue and to convert it into a club "upon the insistent demand of laboring Jews."

Newburyport Mayor Goes on Wife Hunt

SAN PEDRO, Calif., Sept. 24. —(C.P.)—Andrew J. (Bossy) Gillis, Mayor of Newburyport, Mass., is heading for San Francisco to pick himself a wife, because he has heard so much about the beautiful girls of California. Brunettes and red heads are to to be given an even chance, but blondes are barred. His observations are they are poor housekeepers and go to bridge teas, and no wife of his is going to be "a bridge tea hound."

THIRTY ARE INJURED IN BALTIMORE AS FOUR TWO-CAR TROLLEYS MEET

Three Trains Pile Into First, Stopped in Fog For Passengers.

SEVERAL LOSE LEGS.

BALTIMORE, Md., Feb. 24 (C.P.)—A collision involving four two-car trolley trains of the United States railways carrying several hundred workers to the Point Breeze plant of the Western Electric Company injured more than thirty people to-day, some of them seriously.

When the first train stopped for passengers three trains following it in a fog collided, telescoping the trailer of the third, and front car of the fourth train. The most seriously injured were in these cars.

Louis Helm, passenger, had both legs amputated; Samuel Ruby, motorman of the last train, lost one leg, as did Thomas Carney, passenger, and the right foot of Orville Faulkner, another passenger, was amputated.

The Weather

The unusually mild weather for February still continues. Highest temperature yesterday 48 degrees, lowest 34 degrees; lowest last night, 26 degrees. An official of the Toronto observatory says that the past week has established a new weather record for this part of Ontario—a new high mark for a sustained mild wave in February. An examination of records at the observatory for the past ninety years shows that the six day period ending Saturday was the warmest week in February Ontario has ever had. There have been warmer single days in years gone by but not for such a lengthy period. On Sunday afternoon I saw a boy in his bare feet on Water street. This morning there was a heavy white frost, and if signs do not fail rain is near—W. P.

No Serious Floods Expected in City

A rapid rise in the waters of Jackson Park creek has made it necessary for the City Engineer's men to keep a watchful eye for ice blockades and overflows in the past three days. Yesterday a number of dynamite blasts were used to break up ice jams on the section of the creek between Hunter and Brock streets and quick work with pike poles was required to keep the water moving on other sections.

To-day the water in many stretches of the creek inside the city limits was flowing at flood level but no serious overflows were reported. There is much anchor ice in the creek that has not yet had a chance to melt and many huge blocks of surface ice are drifting down.

According to reports from the City Engineer's office, Peterborough and district is practically free from floods At such times there are generally a number of flooded cellars reported but such is not the case as yet.

NOTED SCREEN STAR DIES.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 24.—(C.P.)—Mable Normand, once one of the most widely known and highly paid stars of the screen, but for the last five years in virtual retirement, forced by public disapproval of her connection with a series of Hollywood scandals, and later by illness, died yesterday in a sanitarium at Monrovia, near here, where she had been confined with tuberculosis for more than a year

JUDGE O'CONNOR WINS SEIBERLING TROPHY

COBOURG RINK BEATS RAY BEST IN CLOSE FIGHT

SCORE 12 TO 11.

Kitchener Quartet Captures the Wrigley Trophy.

TORONTO, Feb. 25.—Ray Best's Peterborough rink lost out in the finals of the Seiberling Trophy here on Saturday afternoon by one shot in the final end to Judge Larry O'Connor's triumphant Cobourg quartet. It was one of the closest struggles of the whole 'spiel; nerves being stretched to the breaking point as the rinks tied on the eleventh end, turned around to toss for the final end.

Ray Best was behind until the tenth and eleventh ends when the Peterborough rink staged a rally that scored them two threes to tie the game. Cobourg came through with the winning shot in the final end.

Best had eliminated Walker of Fort William in the early hours of Saturday morning in the semi-finals, 7—6, after an extra end.

The final in the Seiberling Trophy:

The finals of three competitions featured Saturday's curling in the Toronto Bonspiel and the winner of the Grand Aggregate was determined. Originally it was planned that the 'spiel be completed by Friday, but a delay was caused because several of the rinks had worked into the prize circles in two or more events, and at one stage on Saturday it was feared that the Royal York would have to be postponed until to-day.

R. G. Hall, of Kitchener, won the Wrigley but lost in the semi-final of the Seirberling to Judge Larry O'Connor. However, Hall won the Grand Aggregate and then decided to default in the Royal York when it was determined that no other rink could beat his record for the Grand Aggregate.

In the Wrigley R. G. Hall qualified for the final by defeating J. S. Shortt, of Barrie, 10—8, and he met Ross Harstone, of Hamilton, in the final in the afternoon. This was a stirring struggle, Hall winning in an extra end 11—10. Harstone led the way during the first half, but Hall came through strong in the closing ends.

Two games were scheduled for Saturday in the second round of the Royal York, but Hall, after winning the Wrigley and Grand Aggregate, decided to rest as much as possible before the start of the Dominion championship to-morrow, and defaulted to the rink that had defeated him in the semi-final of the Seiberling. In the other, two rinks from Barrie clashed, with G. Oliver Cameron advancing at the expense of Rev. J. Shortt.

Best, of Peterborough, in semi-final of the Royal York, lost to Walker, whom he defeated in the semi-final of the Seiberling, while in the same way Cameron eliminated Judge O'Connor. Late Saturday night the final got under way, with Fort William winning by 18 to 8. The Fort William rink led the way almost throughout.

PREMIERS PROVE SATISFIED WITH POOLS' CONDITION

Investigation Shows They Had Collateral Valued at More Than 15 Per Cent. Over Loans.

STATEMENT GIVEN.

Draft Uniform Legislation Supplimenting Guarantee Given Banks.

REGINA, Feb. 24 (C.P.)—Satisfactory financial conditions of the wheat pools of Western Canada, which at present have on deposits with the bank that finance the Co-operative Association's advances to the 140,000 farmer members of the Prairies, "collateral valued, at current prices, at more than 15 per cent. in excess of the total of loans to the pools," is stressed in a statement issued here Saturday night by Provincial Premiers.

At a conference here Saturday, between Premier J. T. M. Anderson, Saskatchewan; Premier J. E. Brownless, Alberta, and Premier John Bracken of Manitoba, and representatives of the central selling agency of the Pools, uniform legislation was drafted supplementing the guarantee given the leading banks by the Provincial Governments recently, and to adequately finance the balance of the crop of 1929.

"The governments are perfectly satisfied with the results of the conference," said the joint statement. "We found, as we expected, that the Pool has been operated in conformity with the aims and objects of the organization. The legislation agreed upon will be introduced into the legislatures at an early date."

Farmers Plowing In County of Grey

MEAFORD, Feb. 24 (C.P.) — Plowing has started. A farmer near Clarksburg was seen busy in the fields on Friday afternoon, and one or two more were noticed Saturday. The plowing was being done on fairly light soil, but with a continuance of the present mild weather, heavier land will be fit to work in a few days. Farmers report very little frost in the ground in this district, as the snow came early and remained on the land until a few days ago.

Unless there is unusually cold weather yet ahead, general Spring work will be early, and Fall wheat and clover will soon start to grow. In South Simcoe County the wheat is beginning to "green" already.

SPRING FLOODS NEARLY CLAIM YOUNG VICTIMS

Thin Bay Ice at Hamilton Gives Way Under Two Boys at Play.

CHUMS PROVE HEROES.

London Youth Saved—Firemen Called to Rescue as Thames Floods Homes.

TORONTO, February 24. (C. P.)—High water, weakening ice and youthful recklessness contributed to three near drownings and three thrilling rescues over the week-end. Two were at Hamilton and one at London.

Eight year old Albert Andrews, son of Harry Andrews, of Station 14, at Hamilton Beach, owes his life to Sam Minnes, Station 18, playing on the thin ice of the bay, young Andrews plunged through and, quickly weakening, had begun to sink into the still-freezing water, when the Minnes boy crawled out over the creaking ice, pushing a hockey stick ahead of him, and effected the rescue.

Seven-year-old Norman Jarvis, 1 Wharncliffe Road North, London, was saved from the Thames River through the resourcefulness of schoolboy chums after he had plunged into the river while trying to shove moored ice out into the current.

Desperate Fight.

Deep swift water first foiled the efforts of chums to form a chain to save him, and the boy had gone beneath the surface when Norman Wylie, 15, of 92 Cavendish street, ran up with a long pole, with a nail hammered into the end. He caught the drowning child's sweater with the pole and pulled the boy to land.

Work of resuscitation began, young Wylie, Chester Calcott, 15, and Anthony Olivastry, 14, working in relays on artificial respiration. After a few minutes young Jarvis answered their cries to speak and they carried him into his home, where police and firemen completed the restoration work.

J. P. Kelly, 135 Wallace avenue, Hamilton, saved 12-year-old Billy Honaizer, 242 Beach Road after the boy had tumbled through the bay ice. Kelly pushed a plank out over the ice, crawling cautiously after it, just as the boy was sinking beneath the water after having struggled to clutch the ice. Kelly caught the boy's clothing and carried him into a nearby house. It was several hours before the lad revived.

MERCY ERRAND IS TRIUMPHANT

Nomad Eskimo, Brought 700 Miles to Hospital, With Frozen Legs, Will Live.

TRAPPED IN STORM.

THE PAS, Man., Feb. 24.—(C.P.)—A 700 mile journey of mercy over snow-drifted trails of the northland and the drift-packed railway line, ended here Friday with the arrival of Shoomek, Eskimo, from a wandering tribe of Nomads who hunt in the sub-Arctic regions.

With both legs, hands and face frozen, Shoomek is in St. Anthony's Hospital here, while Surgeons battle for his life. And he has every prospect of living.

Victim of a northland blizzard, Shoomek was brought to civilization by white men and Indians, 200 miles by dog team and 500 by special train.

On February 12, Shoomek, with two companions, was hunting along the coast of Hudson Bay, about 150 miles north of Churchill. Overtaken by a sudden storm, his two companions sought the shelter of their igloos, while Shoomek started for his northern home, half a mile distant. He lost his dogs and for two days and nights wandered through the bitter cold.

RUSSIAN GOV'T IS NOT RESPONSIBLE FOR PROPAGANDA

Third Internationale to Blame, Miss Doran States at Model Assembly League Nations.

IRISH GIRL SCORNFUL.

Delegates Believe People Living in China Should Be Subject to Chinese Laws.

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 24.—(C.P.)—The Russian Government is wrongly accused of the dissemination of a great deal of Communistic propaganda, said Miss Norah Doran, representing the country at the model assembly of the League of Nations in session here Saturday. The Third Internationale had nothing to do with the Soviet Government and was international in its nature and not Russian, she said.

A vote of whether Russia should be invited to join the League was carried 25 to 11.

Mrs. John Davidson, delegate for Latvia, described the Soviet as a devoted company of Boy Scouts dangerously armed, who thought the rest of the world was a company of degenerate capitalists.

Representing the Irish Free State Miss Patricia Godfrey, injected some fire into the meeting, by stating for 700 years the Irish had been under the heel of beef-eating, wife-beating tyrants. Whereupon, Lester Clayton, Italian delegate, remarked if England was the product of wife-beaters his country was ready to import a few carloads of them.

Recommend Disarmament.

Coincidentally with the passing of a report recommending disarmament, the Assembly passed a resolution which will be forwarded to the League of Nations at Geneva urging the delegates at the Naval Conference proceeding in London, to disregard prejudices and rivalries and to their utmost to obtain both limitations and essential reductions in the scale of naval armaments.

The student delegates expressed the opinion that people who live in China should be subject to Chinese laws and by a vote of 32 to 5, expressed themselves opposed to the extra-territorial rights exercised by outside powers in China.

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Feb. 24.—(C.P.)— Hawley Bowlus, holder of the United States' glider record, landed near here at 2.43 a.m., to-day after he had established a new mark for himself. He failed, however, to closely approach the world mark of more than 14 hours held in Germany. Bowlus, whose previous record was 6 hours, 14 minutes and three seconds, set a new United States mark of 9:5:27.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Feb. 24 (C.P.)—More than 100 persons, including a number of children, apparently suffering from food poisoning, were taken to the Central Emergency Hospital here yesterday following a Salvation Army banquet at Masonic Temple.

The first of the cases arrived at the hospital two hours after the banquet was given by the Young People's Congregation of the Salvation Army. Sightseeing buses were utilized later as others became stricken and soon the hospital was filled with men, women and children who had partaken of food at the banquet.

FINISHED IN 1931.

NORTH BAY, February 24 (Canadian Press). — Addressing a large congregation in St. Mary's Cathedral yesterday, Right Rev. D. J. Scollard, first Bishop of the Diocese of Sault Ste. Marie, who will celebrate the twenty-fifth anniversary of his consecration to the office of Bishop today, said that, as soon as weather permitted, work would commence here on the erection of a hospital and a boys' college. The hospital will cost about $250,000, and will be built on Priest's Hill, Klock Avenue, near the Queen Victoria Memorial Hospital.

The college, which will be built on the old race track in the extreme north of the city boundary, will cost approximately $300,000. It will be directed by the Fathers of the Resurrection, which community is in charge of a similar college at Kitchener. Tuition in classical and commercial courses will be given.

Both projects are expected to be ready for use within two years. Classes at the college are scheduled to commence in September, 1931.

GAS OVERCOMES HASTINGS FAMILY

Three Year Old Son of James Thompson Gives Alarm Early Sunday Morning.

NARROW ESCAPE.

HASTINGS, February 24. (Examiner Correspondence).—Asphyxiation from coal gas was the fate which almost overtook the family of James Thompson over the week-end.

Rising from her bed to investigate the cries of their three year old son, Mrs. Thompson fainted; her husband going to her aid also collapsed, but a few moments later was sufficiently recovered to gain the door where he again crumbled up, almost completely overcome by the deadly fumes. Finally after a determined struggle he was enabled to open the door and to receive a current of life-giving air, after which he rushed to seek the aid of neighbours and to summon medical aid.

Doors and windows were flung open to provide a free passage for the fresh air and to dispel the carbon monoxide fumes, whilst the family, drowsy and weak, are expected to suffer no serious after effects.

Mr. Thompson is unable to account for the presence of the gas as he did not have a large fire in the stove, not having placed any coal on it since the previous noon.

BAD LUCK DOGS PRINCE IN HUNT

WITHIN 40 YARDS.

NAIROBI, Kenya Colony, British East Africa, Feb. 24. (C.P.)—The Prince of Wales has been robbed by bad luck of a chance to shoot a big bull elephant after traveling nearly 100 miles on foot in search of him and finally getting within 40 yards of the animal.

The Prince's misfortune was revealed by Captain D. G. Finch-Hatton, famous hunter who accompanied the Prince's party on an expedition into the Africa jungles, whence they returned yesterday. He said the elephant got scent of the porters just as the Prince was preparing to shoot, and quickly crashed away through the jungle and got out of range. He decribed the animal as a big beast with tusks that must have weighed 100 pounds each.

NAIROBI, Africa, February 24 (Canadian Press). — In addition to stalking game on foot, the Prince of Wales has had a fine aerial view of specimens of big game roaming about in their wild state on the great Athi Plain near here.

The chance came when the Prince paid a visit to the Nairobi Airdrome, situated on the edge of the big game reserve, where wild creatures, including lions, wildbeeste, gazelles, and ostriches may be seen wandering right up to its boundaries. At the invitation of Pilot Campbell Black, the Prince made a short flight over the region, the pilot taking it over the plain where the Prince could see the animals in their native haunts.

TORONTO, Ont. Feb. 24. (C.P.)—Captain John Sullivan widely known in marine and political circles died at his home here yesterday. He was a great organizer of seamen and years ago it was claimed he was the backbone of the Ontario Liberal Party. He was born in St. Catharines.

"How CAN you afford so many new stockings?"

"Since I learned this secret of the big Broadway Shows... my stocking money goes twice as far!"

"MY stockings cost me $1.45 a pair and they never seemed to last any time at all!

"One day I looked over the ruins of half a dozen pairs. I was so tired of having only one good pair to my name! How I longed to have six pairs in my stocking box all in good condition.

"Then I happened to read how the big New York musical shows keep their stockings just like new twice as long with Lux.

"I determined to try it myself.

"I've actually done just what these shows do—I make my stockings wear twice as long by always washing them in Lux. Now my stocking money buys extra pairs instead of just replacing worn-outs. I've got several good pairs of the latest shades all the time and I don't spend a cent more!"

Ziegfeld Chorus (right.) All New York musical shows use Lux to double the life of stockings, whether they cost $25 or $1.50 a pair.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

I HAVE NOTICED that the "smock" as a kind of apron or overdress in an article of the homemaker's wardrobe that seems to have come to stay in Peterborough.

• • • • • • •

And not only are these worn by homemakers, but girls who are in business find them a great help, too, because they help so much in keeping good dresses clean, which might otherwise be ruined, should a smock not be worn.

• • • • • • •

The smock is so easily laundered too, that it can be washed at night and ironed in the morning, ready to be donned again for the day's work.

• • • • • • •

Whether it boasts actual smocking as some do, or merely borrows the name from the way it is cut, its making is within the easy capabilities of the home needlewoman, or even the growing-up daughter, who is just learning to sew.

• • • • • • •

Of course they may be bought ready made, but then there is generally something about them you just don't like, and if you make a smock yourself, you know just what you want and the garment is made to your entire satisfaction.

• • • • • • •

And when you are satisfied you enjoy ywearing it much more than if the smock had some little thing about it that you disliked, don't you?

• • • • • • •

Should you daughter wish to make one of these most serviceable garments, by all means let her try. It is an especially good garment to try the untrained needle on, as it is not demanding as to fit.

• • • • • • •

A pretty pattern can be worked in colors on collar and pocket if you desire. Such a trimming on the smock, adds very much to its attractiveness, too.

• • • • • • •

For the young girl, who desires some trimming she might work on a basket of flowers, an old-fashioned girl, or something similar. And if you wish to wear your smock in the kitchen, oranges, a bowl of fruit, with colorful grapes, etc., are appropriate motifs.

• • • • • • •

Sateen and cotton crepe or even broadcloth are advisable and inexpensive materials for making this garment. Cotton crepe launders especially well and for this reason, many women prefer it.

• • • • • • •

Another feature of the crepe is that it may be purchased in attractive soft or brilliant shades.

• • • • • • •

Instead of embroidering you might use applique and if this is the case, it is not essential that the applique be done with the same goods. It is necessary to know, though, that it will not run in washing.

• • • • • • •

I have known some people to make smocks which ware very attractive when they were new, but after the first washing, looked simply awful because all the trimming had run. And so this is one thing we must guard against.

• • • • • • •

I believe artists were the first people to wear smocks, but now many other callings rejoice in the garment which affords protection and free movement of the arms.

• • • • • • •

Smocks, too, make a pretty dress for wearing in the garden among the flowers. They are worn in the kitchen, in the office and even in the nursery when mother is attending the tiny tot.

• • • • • • •

I know little girls who just love to wear smocks which are attractively embroidered or appliqued and who would rather don one of these at meal time than the kind of apron mother used to wear.

OLD SONGS

THAT PIECE OF SONG, That old and antique song we heard, last night.

"Maggie By My Side"
(Contributed by Beatrice)

The land of my home is flitting,
Flitting from my view;
A gale in the sail is sitting,
Toils the merry crew.
Here let my home be,
On the waters wide,
I roam with a proud heart,
Maggie's by my side;
My own love, Maggie dear,
Sitting by my side,
Maggie dear, my own love,
Sitting by my side;
My own love, Maggie dear,
Sitting by my side,
Maggie dear, my own love,
Sitting by my side.

The wind howling o'er the billow,
From the distant lea,
The storm raging round my pillow,
Brings no cares to me:
Roll on, ye dark waves,
O'er troubled tide;
I heed not your anger,
Maggie's by my side;
My own love, Maggie dear,
Sitting by my side;
Maggie dear, my own love,
Sitting by my side;
My own love, Maggie dear,
Sitting by my side;
Maggie dear, my own love,
Sitting by my side.

LETTER OF PROTEST.

LONDON, Feb. 24. — (Canadian Press Cable.)—Long and bitter controversy over the great Charing Cross scheme has at last caused the resignation of Sir Edwin Luytens, superior of the scheme, from the Royal Institute of British Architects, of which he had been a leading member for 24 years.

The scheme calls for expenditure of $75,000,000 in transferring the Charing Cross railway station from one side to another, building of another Thames bridge, and the development and beautification of the present railway station site on the river bank.

When the bill came up in Parliament last week the Minister of Transportation read a letter from Arthur Keen, chairman of the Thames Bridge Conference, to Sir Edwin. Keen, along with Sir Banisher Fletcher, president of the R. I. B. A., is among the strongest opponents of the scheme.

This letter, written on official R. I. B. A., notepayer, suggested Sir Edwin's reputation would suffer through his identification with the scheme. It expressed assurance that Parliament would reject the bill.

The Minister, Hon. Herbert Morrison, said he was unaware whether the letter was authorized by the R.I.B.A., but in any case the Commons ought to know the tactics being employed against the scheme.

NEWEST FASHIONS REMINISCENT OF OTHER DAYS

PIEBALD PRINTS PREPARE FOR POPULARITY.

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—(U.P.)—An interpretation of the printed chiffon dinner and evening dress for spring and summer, adroitly takes advantage of the favor in which black and white are held separately and together. The change from the multicolorfulness of the florals and other types of patterns in so many past seasons printed chiffons to black-and-whiteness as sponsored by certain creators is immensely effective and is just different enough to support a vogue of its own.

Another factor in the possibilities of this idea is that last year the high regard in which black-and-white prints for daytime styles were held, never did actually materialize to make the minto an extensive vogue.

The choice of sheer chiffon for the major is extremely pleasing in the working out of this idea, while another good thing that makes the selection of black-and-white seem all the more pertinent is the employment of great, sprawling and even spectacular designs with an appeal which might be questionable in colors.

Some of them are done in taffeta, too, with an even more dramatic result, for use of chiffon tends to mute the dazzling effect which black-and-white in certain patterns creates.

For those who have been waiting for grey "to make good" as fashion, over a period of three years, this spring shows more encouraging signs. The color cards, for one thing, are more industrious in giving space to greys, offering shades that are wearable in that they have the warm and becoming overtone of mauve or rose, rather than the cold, clear greys which are objected to on the grounds of their unflattering effect.

Comment has been made recently that the popularity of pink in fashions—and this popularity extends to the accessory and trimming accents of daytime wear—gives further impetus of grey, grey and pink being a combination of unmistakable appeal. Furthermore, in line with the practice of testing style ideas according to their directoire lights, this grey and pink combination is singularly expressive of this mood, in all degrees of formal wear, and has always been in favor during eras of feminine fashions.

Several houses associated with high fashion ideas in evening frocks include a few models in grey, and it is of further significance that they are the very houses who were first to have the right vision about directoire and empire styles.

Patou mauve ought to have some bearing on this movement, for, although the accent on its labeled name is placed on mauve, the shade is instantly identified with grey, being actually a pleasant mauve-grey.

CLOSE WATCH IS BEING KEPT OVER ONTARIO RIVERS

Drop of 80 Feet Into River Threatens Homestead as Bank Crumbles.

MERCURY UP TO 70.

Lumbermen in North Face Heavy Losses Unless Freeze-up Returns.

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 24. (C.P.)—Vigilant watch was kept over the week-end by groups of workmen at the weak spots along the Speed, Grand, Thames and other Ontario rivers. Summer-like temperatures melted snow and ice much faster than the rivers could carry the water away, consequently acres of farm land lie under a foot or more water, basements are flooded, streets jammed with ice and country roads impassable in many localities. Serious ice jams threaten some communities if high temperatures persist and already erosion of river banks is undermining buildings.

A drop of 80 feet into the Grand River faces the Bell homestead at Brantford in which Alexander Graham Bell invented the telephone. Landslides which followed the erosion of the west bank of the river have eaten into the Tutela heights and the Bell home, now a public resort will have to be moved back to keep it from dropping into the river.

Bad Jam at Guelph

Ice had jammed badly at Eromosa bridge near Guelph, and the situation is assuming serious aspects.

Heavy losses may be suffered by lumber operators of Northern Ontario, reports indicate, if winter roads do not freeze up again long enough to allow the season's cut of timber to be hauled to the rivers. Lumbermen had not been expecting a break-up prior to the middle of March.

To many winter weary citizens of the province the high temperatures came as a welcome relief. At Port Credit the mercury rose to 65 yesterday and at Long Branch touched the 70 mark. This constitutes the warmest day ever experienced in February in that district, while only last Sunday the same localities were experiencing the coldest February weather in their history.

F. D. KERR SPEAKS AT MEN'S CLUB

Rev. Canon Vernon of Toronto Will Give Address at Annual Banquet.

"OUR COURTS" IS TOPIC.

F. D. Kerr, K.C., was the speaker at the last regular meeting of the Men's Club of St. John's Church when he gave a very witty, graphic and interesting address based on "Our Courts." The dry bones of the subject were given life by the entertaining handling by the speaker.

A short business session preceded the talk by the speaker of the evening, when it was announced by the secretary that the Rev. Canon Vernon of Toronto will give the address at the annual banquet of the society to be held on March 3rd, also that the Rev. T. C. Dwelly of Young's Point will speak in April.

In outlining the procedure of the various courts at law, Mr. Kerr commenced with the Coroner's Court of enquiry, where those who sometimes appear guilty are cleared and those seemingly without stain are accused.

Then comes the Justice of the Peace, who levies fines and the Police Magistrate where those appointed by the Lieutenant Governor uphold the laws of the Dominion. Next in order is the Divisional Court, where those who are tried and found guilty must take the consequences or appeal. In the latter case, they go to the County Court, and their appeal is upheld or they receive a stiffer penalty than that inflicted in the first instance. Next comes the High Court, from whose decisions recourse may be made to the Court of Appeal.

Rarely indeed is the Supreme Court of Canada troubled, for, as the speaker remarked in characteristic fashion, the necessary funds for such a step have by this time been pretty well depleted.

The final step of all is the Privy Council, where the finest judges of the Empire are assembled.

Mr. Kerr referred to a piece of legislation termed the Marine Law, which works to the advantage of fair dealing in damage cases. Formerly, a man suing for damages, and found to be in the least instance wrong, would lose all. Now, these cases are put on a percentage basis, which works out more fairly.

At the conclusion of the address, the Rev. E. R. James voiced a hearty vote of thanks to the speaker. This was seconded by C. H. Ireson. The meeting closed with prayer offered by the Rev. Mr. James followed by the service of refreshments.

"The Isle of Lost Ships" Will Be Presented in Regent Theatre This Week.

The Women's Association of St. John's Church at their regular meeting in the Parish Hall last week decided to sponsor the picture, "The Isle of lost ships," which will be presented at the Regent Theatre this week, beginning on Tuesday, February 25, 26, 27, 28. The picture was especially recommended to the ladies by Mr. Miller of the Regent Theatre. Mrs. C. Brewer gave a description she had read o nthe play. The plot is founded on the novel by Crittenden Marrott. It is directed by Irving Willat, Virginia Valle is the heroine, Jason Roberts the hero, Noah Beery the villain, and Robert O'Conner, Clarissa Fielding and others are in the cast, which takes 80 minutes to show. This excellent picture was presented once before, directed by Maurice Tourneur, and drew large crowds. The present talkie version is even better. This fascinating drama is unfolded in the Saragossa Sea, where the hero and heroine fall into the hands of the king of this seaweed world. Their wrecked ship has been drawn into the kelp world by currents, and the scenes are intensely suspensive. The scenes where the villain attempts to force the heroine to marry him and the subsequent ones where the hero comes to her rescue, the hero talking to the heroine, the villain's men who were friendly to him and assisted him, the fouling of the hawser holding the submarine captive, the hero's bravery in having the crowd shoot him, liberating the submarine and letting it come to the surface, all hold the audience in tense suspense to the end of the picture. Announcement was made by the president, Mrs. J. Comstock, who occupied the chair, that tickets for this show purchased from any member of the C.W.A. or from Kent's Drug Store would benefit the association. Rev. E.R. James gave a splendid talk on "The Anglican Church." At the conclusion of the meeting tea was served and a social half-hour spent. Tea hostesses were Mrs. Haywood Mrs. Sauer, and Miss Mary Rogers.

LADIES' AID HOLDS OLD TIME CONCERT

Good Program Provided By Members of St. James' Church Society.

Mark Street United Church Choir presented their fine "Old Tyme" concert on Friday evening in the Auditorium of St. James' Sunday School, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society.

The hall and galleries were filled to capacity with eager and interested music lovers.

Warm applause greeted each number rendered by the versatile performers, who were composed entirely of members of the choir under the direction of their organist and choir leader, Mrs. W. A. Greenslade.

The choristers were dressed quaintly in Period gowns when powder and patches and snowhite wigs were in vogue. The dainty frocks of the ladies with their lovely old-time accessories gave an intimate glimpse of the rapidly returning fashions. The men were in black breeches trimmed with silver buckles. Their long brightly-colored coats were courtly with the lace frills at collar and cuffs.

1—"Hal to the Smiling Morn," an Old English chorus; by the full choir.
2—"When You and I Were Young Maggie"; Mr. L. Agnew and choir.
3—"In the Gloaming"; Miss G. Currie.
4—"Nancy Lee"; Mr. L. Cunningham and Male Chorus.
5—"The Last Rose of Summer"; Mrs. H. Hunter.
6—"There Are Women"; a quartet by Messrs. Binks, L. Agnew, Greenslade and C. Agnew.
7—"Coming Through the Rye"; Miss Reynolds and choir.
8—"Come to the Fair"; Mr. Binks and choir.
9—"The Keys of Heaven"; Mrs. Binks and Mr. Agnew.
11—Piano Duet—Mrs. Greenslade and Mrs. Ellis.

13—"Carry Me Back to Old Virginia," Miss B. Ferguson and choir.
14—"Profundo Basso"; Miss Currie, Mrs. Wand, Messrs. Binks and Smith.
15—"Ye Olde Oaken Bucket"; Mr. M. Pomeroy and choir.
16—"Supposing"; Mrs. E. Wand.
17—"Silver Threads Among the Gold"; Mrs. C. Telford, Mr. Greenslade and choir.
18—"Love's Old Sweet Song"; Miss B. Doxsee and choir.
20—"Lock Lomond"; Mrs. Smith and choir.
21—"O, Who Will O'er the Downs"; Mesdames Wand, Binks, Thornley, Miss G. Currie, and Messrs. Binks, Greenslade, Cunningham and Smith.
22—Reading; Mrs. L. Cunningham.

For the make-up of the performers great credit is due Mrs. Arthur Knott, who was responsible.

The concert was an unqualified success from every point of view and Mrs. W. A. Greenslade, under whose direction it was given, is to be congratulated upon the splendid work of her choir, each member of which is an artist. The choir has been invited to repeat their program on Friday evening, February 28th, in St. Andrew's United Church.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

I HAVE NOTICED that the "smock" as a kind of apron or overdress in an article of the homemaker's wardrobe that seems to have come to stay in Peterborough.

• • • • • • •

And not only are these worn by homemakers, but girls who are in business find them a great help, too, because they help so much in keeping good dresses clean, which might otherwise be ruined, should a smock not be worn.

• • • • • • •

The smock is so easily laundered too, that it can be washed at night and ironed in the morning, ready to be donned again for the day's work

• • • • • • •

Whether it boasts actual smocking as some do, or merely borrows the name from the way it is cut, its making is within the easy capabilities of the home needlewoman, or even the growing-up daughter, who is just learning to sew.

• • • • • • •

Of course they may be bought ready made, but then there is generally something about them you just don't like, and if you make a smock yourself, you know just what you want and the garment is made to your entire satisfaction.

• • • • • • •

And when you are satisfied you enjoy ywearing it much more than if the smock had some little thing about it that you disliked, don't you?

• • • • • • •

Should you daughter wish to make one of these most serviceable garments, by all means let her try. It is an especially good garment to try the untrained needle on, as it is not demanding as to fit.

• • • • • • •

A pretty pattern can be worked in colors on collar and pocket if you desire. Such a trimming on the smock, adds very much to its attractiveness, too.

• • • • • • •

For the young girl, who desires some trimming she might work on a basket of flowers, an old-fashioned girl, or something similar. And if you wish to wear your smock in the kitchen, oranges, a bowl of fruit, with colorful grapes, etc., are appropriate motifs.

• • • • • • •

Sateen and cotton crepe or even broadcloth are advisable and inexpensive materials for making this garment. Cotton crepe launders especially well and for this reason, many women prefer it.

• • • • • • •

Another feature of the crepe is that it may be purchased in attractive soft or brilliant shades.

• • • • • • •

Instead of embroidering you might use applique and if this is the case, it is not essential that the applique be done with the same goods. It is necessary to know, though, that it will not run in washing.

• • • • • • •

I have known some people to make smocks which were very attractive when they were new, but after the first washing, looked simply awful because all the trimming had run. And so this is one thing we must guard against.

• • • • • • •

I believe artists were the first people to wear smocks, but now many other callings rejoice in the garment which affords protection and free movement of the arms.

• • • • • • •

Smocks, too, make a pretty dress for wearing in the garden among the flowers. They are worn in the kitchen, in the office and even in the nursery when mother is attending the tiny tot.

• • • • • • •

I know little girls who just love to wear smocks which are attractively embroidered or appliqued and who would rather don one of these at meal time than the kind of apron mother used to wear.

OLD SONGS

THAT PIECE OF SONG,
That old and antique song we heard, last night.

"Maggie By My Side"
(Contributed by Beatrice)

The land of my home is flitting,
Flitting from my view;
A gale in the sail is sitting,
Toils the merry crew.
Here let my home be,
On the waters wide,
I roam with a proud heart,
Maggie's by my side;
My own love, Maggie dear,
Sitting by my side,
Maggie dear, my own love,
Sitting by my side;
My own love, Maggie dear,
Sitting by my side,
Maggie dear, my own love,
Sitting by my side.

The wind howling o'er the billow,
From the distant lea,
The storm raging round my pillow,
Brings no cares to me:
Roll on, ye dark waves,
O'er troubled tide;
I heed not your anger,
Maggie's by my side;
My own love, Maggie dear,
Sitting by my side;
Maggie dear, my own love,
Sitting by my side;
My own love, Maggie dear,
Sitting by my side;
Maggie dear, my own love,
Sitting by my side.

GREAT ARCHITECT RESIGNS POSITION

Sir Edwin Luyten's Action Comes After Long Fight Over Charing Cross Scheme.

LETTER OF PROTEST.

LONDON, Feb. 24. — (Canadian Press Cable.)—Long and bitter controversy over the great Charing Cross scheme has at last caused the resignation of Sir Edwin Luytens, supervisor of the scheme, from the Royal Institute of British Architects, of which he had been a leading member for 24 years.

The scheme calls for expenditure of $75,000,000 in transferring the Charing Cross railway station from one side to another, building of another Thames bridge, and the development and beautification of the present railway station site on the river bank.

When the bill came up in Parliament last week the Minister of Transportation read a letter from Arthur Keen, chairman of the Thames Bridge Conference, to Sir Edwin. Keen, along with Sir Banisher Fletcher, president of the R. I. B. A., is among the strongest opponents of the scheme.

This letter, written on official R. I. B. A., notepayer, suggested Sir Edwin's reputation would suffer through his identification with the scheme. It expressed assurance that Parliament would reject the bill.

The Minister, Hon. Herbert Morrison, said he was unaware whether the letter was authorized by the R.I.B.A., but in any case the Commons ought to know the tactics being employed against the scheme.

Another factor in the possibilities of this idea is that last year the high regard in which black-and-white prints for daytime styles were held, never did actually materialize to make the minto an extensive vogue.

The choice of sheer chiffon for the major is extremely pleasing in the working out of this idea, while another good thing that makes the selection of black-and-white seem all the more pertinent is the employment of great, sprawling and even spectacular designs with an appeal which might be questionable in colors.

Some of them are done in taffeta, too, with an even more dramatic result, for use of chiffon tends to mute the dazzling effect which black-and-white in certain patterns creates.

For those who have been waiting for grey "to make good" as fashion, over a period of three years, this spring shows more encouraging signs. The color cards, for one thing, are more industrious in giving space to greys, offering shades that are wearable in that they have the warm and becoming overtone of mauve or rose, rather than the cold, clear greys which are objected to on the grounds of their unflattering effect.

Comment has been made recently that the popularity of pink in fashions—and this popularity extends to the accessory and trimming accents of daytime wear—gives further impetus of grey, grey and pink being a combination of unmistakable appeal. Furthermore, in line with the practice of testing style ideas according to their directoire lights, this grey and pink combination is singularly expressive of this mood, in all degrees of formal wear, and has always been in favor during eras of feminine fashions.

Several houses associated with high fashion ideas in evening frocks include a few models in grey, and it is of further significance that they are the very houses who were first to have the right vision about directoire and empire styles.

Patou mauve ought to have some bearing on this movement, for, although the accent on its labeled name is placed on mauve, the shade is instantly identified with grey, being actually a pleasant mauve-grey.

CLOSE WATCH IS BEING KEPT OVER ONTARIO RIVERS

Drop of 80 Feet Into River Threatens Homestead as Bank Crumbles.

MERCURY UP TO 70.

Lumbermen in North Face Heavy Losses Unless Freeze-up Returns.

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 24. (C.P.)—Vigilant watch was kept over the week-end by groups of workmen at the weak spots along the Speed, Grand, Thames and other Ontario rivers. Summer-like temperatures melted snow and ice much faster than the rivers could carry the water away, consequently acres of farm land lie under a foot or more water, basements are flooded, streets jammed with ice and country roads impassable in many localities. Serious ice jams threaten some communities if high temperatures persist and already erosion of river banks is undermining buildings.

A drop of 80 feet into the Grand River faces the Bell homestead at Brantford in which Alexander Graham Bell invented the telephone. Landslides which followed the rosion of the west bank of the river have eaten into the Tutela heights and the Bell home, now a public resort will have to be moved back to keep it from dropping into the river.

Bad Jam at Guelph

Ice had jammed badly at Eromosa bridge near Guelph, and the situation is assuming serious aspects.

Heavy losses may be suffered by lumber operators of Northern Ontario, reports indicate, if winter roads do not freeze up again long enough to allow the season's cut of timber to be hauled to the rivers. Lumbermen had not been expecting a break-up prior to the middle of March

To many winter weary citizens of the province the high temperatures came as a welcome relief. At Port Credit the mercury rose to 65 yesterday and at Long Branch touched the 70 mark. This constitutes the warmest day ever experienced in February in that district, while only last Sunday the same localities were experiencing the coldest February weather in their history.

F. D. KERR SPEAKS AT MEN'S CLUB

Rev. Canon Vernon of Toronto Will Give Address at Annual Banquet.

"OUR COURTS" IS TOPIC.

F. D. Kerr, K.C., was the speaker at the last regular meeting of the Men's Club of St. John's Church when he gave a very witty, graphic and interesting address based on "Our Courts." The dry bones of the subject were given life by the entertaining handling by the speaker.

A short business session preceded the talk by the speaker of the evening, when it was announced by the secretary that the Rev. Canon Vernon of Toronto will give the address at the annual banquet of the society to be held on March 3rd, also that the Rev. T. C. Dwelly of Young's Point will speak in April.

In outlining the procedure of the various courts at law, Mr. Kerr commenced with the Coroner's Court of enquiry, where those who sometimes appear guilty are cleared and those seemingly without stain are accused.

Then comes the Justice of the Peace, who levies fines and the Police Magistrate where those appointed by the Lieutenant Governor uphold the laws of the Dominion. Next in order is the Divisional Court, where those who are tried and found guilty must take the consequences or appeal. In the latter case, they go to the County Court, and their appeal is upheld or they receive a stiffer penalty than that inflicted in the first instance. Next comes the High Court, from whose decisions recourse may be made to the Court of Appeal.

Rarely indeed is the Supreme Court of Canada troubled, for, as the speaker remarked in characteristic fashion, the necessary funds for such a step have by this time been pretty well depleted.

The final step of all is the Privy Council, where the finest judges of the Empire are assembled.

Mr. Kerr referred to a piece of legislation termed the Marine Law, which works to the advantage of fair dealing in damage cases. Formerly, a man suing for damages, and found to be in the least instance wrong, would lose all. Now, these cases are put on a percentage basis, which works out more fairly.

At the conclusion of the address, the Rev. E. R. James voiced a hearty vote of thanks to the speaker. This was seconded by C. H. Ireson. The meeting closed with prayer offered by the Rev. Mr. James followed by the service of refreshments.

"The Isle of Lost Ships" Will Be Presented in Regent Theatre This Week.

The Women's Association of St. John's Church at their regular meeting in the Parish Hall last week decided to sponsor the picture, "The Isle of lost ships," which will be presented at the Regent Theatre this week, beginning on Tuesday, February 25, 26, 27, 28. The picture was especially recommended to the ladies by Mr. Miller of the Regent Theatre. Mrs. C. Brewer gave a description she had read o nthe play. The plot is founded on the novel by Crittenden Marrott. It is directed by Irving Willat, Virginia Valle is the heroine, Jason Roberts the hero, Noah Beery the villain, and Robert O'Conner, Clarissa Fielding and others are in the cast, which takes 80' minutes to show. This excellent picture was presented once before, directed by Maurice Tourneur, and drew large crowds. The present talkie version is even better. This fascinating drama is unfolded in the Saragossa Sea, where the hero and heroine fall into the hands of the king of this seaweed world. Their wrecked ship has been drawn into the kelp world by currents, and the scenes are intensely suspensive. The scenes where the villain attempts to force the heroine to marry him and the subsequent ones where the hero comes to her rescue, the hero talking to the heroine, the villain's man who were friendly to him and assisted him, the fouling of the hawser holding the submarine captive, the hero's bravery in having the crowd shoot him, liberating the submarine and letting it come to the surface, all hold the audience in tense suspense to the end of the picture. Announcement was made by the president, Mrs. J. Comstock, who occupied the chair, that tickets for this show purchased from any member of the C.W.A. or from Kent's Drug Store would benefit the association. Rev. E.R. James gave a splendid talk on "The Anglican Church." At the conclusion of the meeting tea was served and a social half-hour spent. The hostesses were Mrs. Hopwood Mrs. Sauer, and Miss Mary Rogers.

LADIES' AID HOLDS OLD TIME CONCERT

Good Program Provided By Members of St. James' Church Society.

Mark Street United Church Choir presented their fine "Old Tyme" concert on Friday evening in the Auditorium of St. James' Sunday School, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society.

The hall and galleries were filled to capacity with eager and interested music lovers.

Warm applause greeted each number rendered by the versatile performers, who were composed entirely of members of the choir under the direction of their organist and choir leader, Mrs. W. A. Greenslade.

The choristers were dressed quaintly in Period gowns when powder and patches and snowhite wigs were in vogue. The dainty frocks of the ladies with their lovely old-time accessories gave an intimate glimpse of the rapidly returning fashions. The men were in black breeches trimmed with silver buckles. Their long brightly-colored coats were courtly with the lace frills at collar and cuffs.

1—"Hal to the Smiling Morn," an Old English chorus; by the full choir.
2—"When You and I Were Young Maggie"; Mr. L. Agnew and choir.
3—"In the Gloaming"; Miss G. Currie.
4—"Nancy Lee"; Mr. L. Cunningham and Male Chorus.
5—"The Last Rose of Summer"; Mrs. H. Hunter.
6—"There Are Women"; a quartet by Messrs. Binks, L. Agnew, Greenslade and C. Agnew.
7—"Coming Through the Rye"; Miss Reynolds and choir.
8—"Come to the Fair"; Mr. Binks and choir.
9—"The Keys of Heaven"; Mrs. Binks and Mr. Agnew.
10—"The Floral Dance"; Mr. Smith, Mrs. C. Telford, Mrs. Lorne Cunningham, Misses Jean Hurl and Grace Currie.
11—Piano Duet—Mrs. Greenslade and Mrs. Ellis.
12—Reading, "Home, Sweet Home"; Old English; Mrs. Binks with choir accompaniment.
13—"Carry Me Back to Old Virginia," Miss B. Ferguson and choir.
15—"Ye Olde Oaken Bucket"; Mr. M. Pomeroy and choir.
16—"Supposing"; Mrs. E. Wand.
17—"Silver Threads Among the Gold"; Mrs. C. Telford, Mr. Greenslade and choir.
18—"Love's Old Sweet Song"; Miss B. Doxsee and choir.
20—"Lock Lomond"; Mrs. Smith and choir.
21—"O, Who Will O'er the Downs"; Mesdames Wand, Binks, Thornley, Miss G. Currie, and Messrs. Binks, Greenslade, Cunningham and Smith.
22—Reading; Mrs. L. Cunningham.

For the make-up of the performers great credit is due Mrs. Arthur Knott, who was responsible.

The concert was an unqualified success from every point of view and Mrs. W. A. Greenslade, under whose direction it was given, is to be congratulated upon the splendid work of her choir, each member of which is an artist. The choir has been invited to repeat their program on Friday evening, February 28th, in St. Andrew's United Church.

A THREE DAYS COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat trouble. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

MORE TAXES, BUT BETTER SERVICE.

A favorite pastime with some people is comparing the tax bills of to-day with those of a decade or two ago.

They stress the huge increase as evidence of inefficiency and extravagance on the part of the present-day municipal government, forgetting altogether that the people demand services now that were not more than visionary dreams when low tax rates were in vogue.

If municipalities were content to do without garbage collection, ample drainage, adequate sewage facilities and permanent roads, if they were satisfied to let the snow pile up on its streets, if they were content to get along without accommodation for technical education, if they were willing to let the widowed mothers and their families and the needy aged shift for themselves, if in short they were agreeable to accepting the general conditions of bygone years, they could still have low taxation.

The standard of municipal service has, however, been raised, just as has the standard of individual living, and no one, not even the most persistent kicker over his tax bills, would be satisfied to go back to the old conditions.

We pay a lot more taxes, but isn't it equally true that we get a lot more out of what we pay?

And after all that is the acid test.

If we get value for what we spend there is not much cause for complaint.

IMPORTED USED CARS.

The reasonableness of the campaign that is being waged to prevent the importation of used automobiles into Canada seems to have impressed itself upon newspapers generally, and journals in all parts of Canada are joining in the demand that the requested legislation should be passed.

The general opinion is that Canada has enough used cars of her own and does not want the market saturated with second-hand American machines.

The matter concerns every automobile owner, for it is obvious that everybody who drives an automobile drives a used automobile, and therefore owns something that will eventually be sold and that can be sold only in the Canadian used car market.

That market must be conserved for the sale of Canadian-owned cars, if the value of the automobiles now owned and driven in Canada is not to be depreciated greatly.

The request for legislation along that line is to be heard before the Tariff Board this week, and it is believed that there will be no difficulty in convincing the members that it would be good business to keep American second-hand machines out of the used car market on this side of the line.

THE ACCIDENT RECORD.

Chief Newhall's annual report showed that last year the local police department investigated 241 traffic accidents, in only two of which were there fatal consequences.

That is not a bad record—but it is not a particularly good one.

Belleville last year had only 85 traffic accidents, and there were no fatalities—and it must be remembered that provincial highway No. 2 runs through Belleville, carrying a huge traffic.

Why should our own community have three times as many accidents unless the complaint often heard is true that Peterborough possesses an unusually large number of careless and inefficient drivers?

The majority of those 241 mishaps last year could have been avoided by the simple formula of care, common sense and courtesy.

They took place because in most cases somebody did the wrong thing; in more than a few cases, because somebody was reckless and drove too fast or cut a corner or ignored a stop sign.

It should be possible to cut down the accident total this year.

241 accidents is too many—and even if small compared to the number of cars in commission, is a commentary upon local driving conditions.

ONTARIO'S LIQUOR BILL.

It has been officially announced that Ontario spent more than fifty-seven million dollars on liquor, wine and beer last year.

Perhaps it would be more accurate to say that more than fifty-seven million dollars was spent in Ontario last year on intoxicating beverages.

The people of this Province were not the only customers of the Government liquor stores.

Large quantities of liquor were purchased by tourists; nearly half a million non-resident permits were issued, and it is a matter of common knowledge that many parties of visitors made one or two permits do for the whole party.

There does not seem any sound reason why the public should not be told the amount of liquor purchased on resident permits as compared with that bought on tourist permits.

It would be interesting to know just what proportion of that fifty-seven million dollars was contributed by our visitors, and how much came out of the pockets of our own people.

The Government, however, withholds this information and refuses in addition to allow the receipts of the various liquor stores to be made public.

The Examiner believes that the people of Ontario have a right to be informed on these and other points in connection with the Government sale of liquor in this Province.

HERO WORSHIP AT ITS WORST.

Ex-President Calvin Coolidge was in Los Angeles on Tuesday, and while walking near his hotel he threw away the stub of the cigar he had been smoking. Instantly, a crowd of pop-eyed hundred percenters made a dash for the stub, and reporters say that hands were stepped on, kicks were administered, and there was a sort of free-for-all before one woman got her mauleys on the cherished butt, thrust it into her handbag and hurried away.

It was not suggested that she was a poor woman with a husband at home who was unable to afford a cigar, and that she was going to lay the half-burnt offering as an act of devotion at his feet. It was not suggested that she was a convert to the emancipated women who nowadays smoke cheroots. No! The reporters [illegible]

In a country which prides itself on its democracy and on its indifference to rank, people of other nations, nations where royalty is held in esteem, may well hold their sides with laughter at the spectacle of a woman scrambling in the gutter for a cigar-end, merely because a former President of the United States had smoked it. If Calvin Coolidge is an average smoker he probably throws away two or three butts a day, making about one thousand every year, so that as a prize, the Los Angeles woman has nothing to brag about.

What will she do with it. Any housewife knows that there is scarcely anything so objectionable as last night's cigar-end. However fragrant the aroma while being consumed, its post-mortem matutinal odor is anything but pleasant.

The Los Angeles lady has a problem on her hands if she keeps this stub in open captivity. She will have to keep it in a hermetically sealed glass case. And one can picture the awe and reverence with which she will exhibit it to her friends.

STILL PAYING FOR THE WAR.

Although more than a decade has passed since the war came to a close, Canada, in common with all of the countries that participated in it, is still paying for it and will be continuing to pay for it, perhaps in even heavier measure, many years hence.

When the late Hon. J. A. Robb presented his closing budget a year ago, one of the statistical tables which he placed upon Hansard had to do with the principal expenditures attributable to the Great War. For the fiscal year 1928-29 it estimated that the expenditure in this connection would amount to a sum in the neighborhood of $162,000,000, made up of interest on the public debt contracted during the war, pensions, soldiers' civil re-establishment, soldier land settlement, war graves commission, battlefields memorials, etc. This sum of $163,000,000 formed 42.30 per cent. of the total expenditure of the country during the year, and now the Financial Post points out that, while payments on account of war debt interest are gradually falling through the retirement of bond issues in cash, the cost of pensions is increasing and will continue to increase in the years to come.

In the year 1919 the war pensions bill of the Dominion amounted to $17,000,000; by 1921 it had risen to $35,000,000; in 1924 it reached a total of $38,000,000, and in 1929 it increased still further to $40,000,000. It is the expectation that when the fiscal year 1929-30 comes to a close it will be found that pensions have cost the Dominion about $42,000,000 and there is the probability of the bill rising to $45,000,000 when the forthcoming amendments to the Pensions Act, approved by all three parties in the House, are adopted. The total number of pensioners has increased from 63,000 in 1924 to 74,000 to-day. One out of every ten men who served overseas with the Canadian forces now draws a pension and about 12 new pensioners are added to the list each day. So far the Dominion has spent the colossal sum of $375,000,000 upon pensions and a further $204,000,000 on civil re-establishment. Actually, the post-war expenditure on war account has been much greater than the expenditure upon the conduct of the war during its progress. Between 1914-19 Canada spent 1,492,166,548 for war purposes and since the latter year the expenditure on war account has been over two billion dollars.

These figures are not reproduced with any idea of denying to disabled ex-service men the more liberal treatment that is said to be in contemplation for the present session. They are given simply that people may have some conception of the magnitude of the task that confronts the Government in every year finding a sufficiently large sum of money to meet the country's war bill and at the same time assuring that remaining departments of the administration shall not suffer for lack of financial support.

From time to time ambitious schemes, all of them involving very heavy expenditure, are advanced for the consideration of the Minister of Finance and his associates in the Cabinet, and there is an incessant demand for drastic reductions in taxation. So long, however, as the demands upon war account necessitate the finding annually of a sum in excess of $160,000,000, with the prospect of increases in the future, it is evident that expenditures in other directions must be kept in restraint and that taxation must remain in force.

No person familiar with the services rendered by members of the Canadian Expeditionary Force and with the hardships which some of them have experienced in consequence of the hard-and-fast regulations which have hitherto governed the administration of the Pensions Act will, however, regret this expenditure or the even larger expenditure that is in prospect. There is a very general recognition of the principle that the fairest and most liberal treatment of which the resources of the Dominion are capable shall be meterd out to the ex-service men and Canadians, whose Federal rate of taxation is most favorable in comparison with that of other countries participating in the struggle, will not object to finding money to meet this legitimate responsibility.—Brockville Recorder and Times.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

The Ontario Budget is expected this week. If it does not contain any tax reduction proposals it will prove a disappointment to most people.

Ray Best and his Peterborough rink of curlers deserve general congratulations on their fine showing at the Toronto bonspiel last week. They ranked high among the quality rinks in the big event.

The new municipal swimming pool at Hamilton is so well patronized that it has become necessary to limit the time of the swimmers. Hamilton is likely to find the money spent on this enterprise a profitable investment

The press agents are finding it difficult to stir up any interest in the Sharkey-Scott heavyweight championship bout. You can't fool all of the people all of the time.

Ontario's liquor bill amounted to over fifty-seven million dollars last year. It looks as if there shouldn't be any time lost in starting that educational campaign.

A Thought

CHEERFUL WORDS

A sunny disposition is contagious. Brighten the day with cheerful words to those around you. Be cheerful and happy, and you can best be so by making others cheerful and happy.

What To-day Means To You

WHAT TO-DAY MEANS TO YOU
"PISCES."

If February 24th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 8 a.m. to 9:30 a.m., from 2 p.m. to 3.30 p.m. and from 7 p.m. to 8 p.m. The danger periods are from noon to 1 p.m. and from 10 p.m. to 11 p.m.

The astrological indications for this date are slightly unfavorable, but the influences can be easily overcome by conscious effort, and a will to win. A journey may be planned, at the end of which is pictured success.

Children born on this February 24th will be sufficient unto themselves, and they will prefer to suffer the lessons of experience than to listen to those who have "passed the road before." They will have bright and vivacious natures.

You have an excess of imagination which is just as reprehensible as a lack of this same trait. It sometimes leads you into vistas of delight, but other times it causes you undue worry and distress. As you are not an optimist, it is easier for you to paint the unknown in drab colors than bright ones. Be you a man or a woman, you are inclined to set your wife or husband, like Humpty Dumpty, on a wall of idealism, and they are certain to fall off as soon as they are placed there. You refuse to face unpleasant facts about them, or to resign yourself to practical conditions, and to learn to love your mates for what they truly are. Looking upon the highest, you may possibly trip up over the lowest.

You are naturally a very hard and conscientious worker, but you allow things to worry you. If things are not just so," you are all at sea. You have considerable self reliance—in fact it is difficult for you to relegate any of your duties to another. You are always ready to help any one else with their burdens, but you try to carry your own. In no way are you ever a shirk. In health your greatest danger is more mental than physical.

THE GREENE MURDER CASE

By S. S. VAN DINE

CHAPTER 13.

As soon as the cook went out of hearing Markham swung about.

"What's the use of raking up all this history?" he demanded irritably. "We're dealing with things that have taken place within the last few days; and you waste valuable time trying to find out why Tobias Greene hired a cook thirteen years ago."

"There's such a thing as cause and effect," offered Vance mildly. "And frequently there's a dashed long interval between the two."

"Granted. But what possible connection can this German cook have with the present murders?"

"Perhaps none." Vance strode back across the room, his eyes on the floor. "But, Markham, old dear, nothing appears to have any connection with this debacle. And, on the other hand, everything seems to have a possible relationship.

"The whole house is steeped in vague meanings. A hundred shadowy hands are pointing to the culprit, and the moment you try to determine the direction the hands disappear. It's a nightmare. Nothing means anything; therefore, anything may have a meaning."

"My dear Vance! You're not yourself," Markham's tone was one of annoyance and reproach. "Your remarks are worse than the obscure ramblings of the sibyls. What if Tobias Greene did have dealings with one Mannheim in the past? Old Tobias indulged in numerous shady transactions, if the gossip of twenty-five or thirty years ago can be credited. He was forever scurrying to the ends of the earth on some mysterious mission, and coming home with his pockets lined. And it's common knowledge that he spent considerable time in Germany. If you try to dig up his past for possible explanations for the present business, you'll have your hands full."

"You miscontrue my vagaries," returned Vance, parsing before the old oilpainting of Tobias Greene over the replace. "I repudiate all ambition to become the family historian of the Greenes.

"Not a bad head on Tobias," he commented, adjusting his monocle and inspecting the portrait. "An interestin' character. Dynamic forehead, with more than a suggestion of the scholar. A rugged, prying nose. Yes, Tobias no doubt fared forth on many an adventurous quest. A cruel mouth, though—rather sinister, in fact. I wish the whiskers permitted one a view of the chin. It was round, with a deep cleft I'd say—the substance of which Chester's chin was but the simulacrum."

"Very edifying," sneered Markham. "But phrenology leaves me cold this morning. Tell me, Vance: are you laboring under some melodramatic notion that old Mannheim may have been resurrected and returned to wreak vengeance on the Greene progeny for wrongs done him by Tobias in the dim past? I can't see any other reason for the questions you put to Mrs. Mannheim. Don't overlook the fact, however, that Mannheim's dead."

"Don't be so unutterably futile," snapped Markham. "What's going through your head?"

"An excellent figure of speech! It expresses my mental state perfectly. Numberless things are 'going through my head'. But nothing remains there. My brain's a veritable sieve."

Heath projected himself into the discussion.

"My opinion is, sir, that the Mannheim angle of this affair is a washout. We're dealing with the present, and the bird that did this shooting is somewhere around here right now."

"You're probably right, sergeant," conceded Vance. "But—my word!—it strikes me that every angle of the case—and, for that matter, every cusp, arc, tangent, parabola, sine, radius and hyperbole—is hopelessly inundated."

(Friday, November 12; 11 A.M.)

Markham glanced impatiently at his watch.

"It's getting late," he complained, "and I have an important appointment at noon. I think I'll have a go at Rex Greene, and then leave matters in your hands for the time being, Sergeant. There's nothing much to be done here now, and your routine work must be gone through with."

TORONTO PRODUCE.

TORONTO, Feb. 24.—The local egg market continued to drop, and the prices quoted by dealers Saturday to country shippers for ungraded eggs, delivered, cases returned, were lower than Friday's prices. They were paying for: Extras, 38c. to 40c.; firsts, 35c to 38c; seconds, 30c to 31c; and for pullet extras, 34c to 35c. Some dealers are paying the low price and others the high ones. The price to retailers was down 4c. Fresh extras, in cartons, were quoted at 40c.; extras, loose, 44c.; firsts, loose, 42c.; seconds, loose, 38c.; and pullet extras, 41c.

The butter market from the jobbers' point of view was "still terrible." There was very little demand from the wholesalers. Creamery, pasteurized, No. 1, was quoted at 35c. to 35½c.; and No. 2 at 34½c. to 35c.

Churning cream was steady at 38c. to 41c. for special; 37c. to 40c. for No. 1, and 34c. to 37c. for No. 2.

Cheese market remained firm.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, Feb. 24.— Export demand waned Saturday after several promising sessions and Winnipeg wheat prices lost the precious advance they had annexed Friday. Values, sympathetic with a drop at Liverpool, were down 2 5-8c to 3 1-8 cents per bushel.

Moderate offerings emanating from commission houses found little difficulty in rushing downward quotations that were bolstered by only limited demand. Cash wheat inquiry was quite good, but actual trading in the aggregate was slight.

Coarse grain was very dull. The pit was deserted most of the morning.

MONTREAL PRODUCE.

MONTREAL, Feb. 24.— Reductions in price of 1c to 2c per dozen featured the week-end egg market, with little change or activity in other branches of the local produce market. Dressed poultry remained steady, with prices unchanged; the cheese market was dull, and featureless, with no price changes, while butter moved slowly in small lots, with finest New Zealand and Eastern Townships pasteurized going at 35c. to 35½c. The potato sales were light and prices unchanged from those prevailing the past week.

"I don't know anything about holding a husband's love," says Rena Ritzl, "except that it's dangerous if his wife catches you at it."—By Gettler.

HOME TOWNERS

and Humorous Tidbits, Interesting CAMPBELLFORD

The fire fighters received a call yesterday morning to the home of Charles Dunk, but upon prompt arrival found it to be a chimney fire, which was soon extinguished.

George Gadden's new cafe on Front street is now open for business. It is a fine fronted store with spacious accommodation inside and an excellent stock.

Hockey fans are rather dubious about Tuesday's game at Stirling. The ice in the arena here has water on it. Only a cold snap before Tuesday night can save the situation. The Campbellford boys are raring to go after their rest, and are expected to turn the trick on Stirling this time. Stirling's two games this week have been played on heavy ice which means hard work for the team. If conditions are favorable the game is expected to be a thriller.

Sales are very much in evidence these days in Campbellford. The Continental Salvage Corp., Ltd., are selling off the stock of A. J. Armans, T. Lavell and P. A. Tweedie, all of whom were burnt out in the Wallace Block fire.

[illegible] has been found of the person who borrowed Harry Lock's car last Tuesday, to get to Tweed.

Mr. Archie Wood, of Lindsay, Ont., is in town the guest of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Ramsden. Mr. Wood will be remembered as one-time representative here of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company.

Mrs. N. Clarke Wallace and baby have returned to town after an absence of some weeks visiting relatives.

Mrs. Joseph White, of Stirling, is on a short visit to her mother, Mrs. Andrew Hay.

Madoc lost to Frankford on Friday night 4-3. The Stirling game was postponed. Prospects for Tuesday's game do not look bright, unless the weather man sends a cold snap. Games are going to be brisk when hockey weather does come. It is expected that should the soft spell last, the play-off will be held in the Belleville Rink.

The shoe factory is reported to be very busy, and a good year in this industry is expected.

The Mispah Mission Circle of St. John's United Church put on a sale of home cooking, and served afternoon tea and a special supper in the church school room on Saturday afternoon. The function proved very successful. There were five tables of home cooking, which were in charge of Mrs. Fred Phillips, president of the organization. The receipts amounted to $40.00.

Mrs. H. Bell of Perth, Ont., is visiting friends in town over the week end.

MORE TREASURES FOUND.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa.— Ur of the Chaldees has given up more treasures to the joint archaeological expedition of the University of Pennsylvania museum and the British museum. The latest discoveries included delicate little clay figurings of women and a clay image of a flying bird believed to have been connected with the religion of a race which inhabited the ancient city of Ur before the great flood described in the Book of Genesis.

DULL SESSION TORONTO CURB

Lack of Buoyancy on New York Exchange Acts as Setback to Toronto Trading.

STRONG UNDERTONE.

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 24. (C.P.)—Price fluctuations on Toronto Stock Exchange this morning suggested that technically the market is in good shape, but that until an improvement occurs in the commodity market and New York becomes more buyoant, trading locally will not be more than nominal.

Nickel, Brazilian, Ford of Canada Pivotal issues on the listed section and all of them inter-listed, were either unchanged or down a small fraction. Massey-Harris was heavier than most stocks on the big board, striking a new bottom for the year when it weakened to sell below 36. Famous Players sold off from the opening and Canadian Dredge and F. N. Burt were lower.

B. A. Oil, unchanged at the opening, lost over a point, while the new was down more than ½ point. Others in the group eased in slow trading. Supertest, firm the greater part of the morning, finally slipped to show a loss of a point at the noon hour.

TREATIES NEVER STOP

MONTREAL, Que., Feb. 24. (C.P.) Real world peace will never come as a result of strategic technique, signing of treaties or balancing defensive armaments, Dr. Frederick W. Norwood, of the City Temple, London, told an audience here. Peace would not come, he declared, until men's repugnance to war was based upon a shrewd and intelligent perception of its utter wastefulness and stupidity, and, most of all, its moral iniquity.

GENERAL INVESTMENT TRUST PLANS RE-ORGANIZATION MOVE

BUSINESS INDEX HIGHER

TORONTO, Feb. 24 (Special to Examiner)—The index for January business was 95 percent normal as compared with 89 percent for January, according to an analysis of conditions in the United States by Brookmire Economic Service Inc. The Brookmire analyst expresses the opinion that the recovery is only temporary and that a further recession may be expected in the second quarter before a definite upturn starts later in the year. Automobile steel and cotton contributed to the better January figures but the analyst says "the automobile industry cannot continue to support the business index.

In ventures of those new and used cars in dealers hands are higher than a year ago. In the building industry also there is a surplus of practically all types of buildings and the trend of construction is all downward and, the service concludes "it will take time for the force of cheaper capital to make itself felt".

C.G.I.T. Annual Meeting.

Shareholders of the second Canadian General Investment Trust are meeting at the head office here in Toronto this afternoon to consider a proposal for capital reorganization. Directors met Saturday and completed preparation of plans to be submitted to-day. Directors favor changing the common stock of $100 par value into stock of no par value. In a letter to forwarded after the severe market crash last fall, shareholders were told that dividends had been earned, but that on account of the depreciation of the market value of securities in the portfolio, in the value of the company's stock bases on market quotations fell below par and because of such depreciation the board did not feel justified in authorizing the dividend due December 15.

OFFICERS INSTALLED.

Impressive Ceremony Carried Out in Local Loyal Order of Moose Hall.

On Wednesday evening last the annual installation of the officers of the Loyal Order of Moose took place at their beautiful rooms which have been recently renovated, the ceremony of installing the officers being carried out by Bro. Dr. H. Long acting as Deputy Supreme Dictator for the Province of Ontario.

Great progress has been made during the term of office of the retiring Dictator, Bro. J. Poolman, whose interest and service to the lodge has been an ideal and inspiration to all its members.

From the dues paid into the Moose Lodge are provided benefits for the member who is ill. In cases of death a funeral benefit is sent to the member's family. Should the family be left in desperate financial circumstances it is taken intact to Mooseheart. The elderly Moose and his wife on whom misfortune has come, may go to Moosehaven.

The Order takes its name from the great beast of the forest in which habits certain exemplary characteristics are observed. This forest animal does not slay other creatures, but obtains its sustenance from vegetation. It throws a defending circle around its family in time of danger. It is a peaceable creature with others of the forest until aroused by menace. He who wears the Moose button, a circle in which appears the head of a Moose, is known throughout the world as a person of honor, character and stability.

The following officers of this Order locally, were duly installed and will seek to carry on the great work of Moosedom during the coming year: Past Dictator, Bro. J. C. Poolman; Dictator, Bro. W. Smith; Vice Dictator, Bro. W. Cross; Prelate, Bro. A. Rusaw; Secretary, Bro. H. H. Dinsdale; Treasurer, Bro. F. Roberts; Sergeant at Arms, Bro. S. Ladler; Inner Guard, Bro. A. Bromley; Outer Guard, Bro. G. Glayce.

During the installation ceremonies, members of the ladies' chapter were present in the persons of Mesdames Poolman, Roberts, Dorrell, Payne, Cross, Nokes, Huot, Rusaw and Whatley. After the ceremonies of installation were completed, refreshments were served, and the meeting closed with best wishes by all for an even grater and successful year for Moosedom during 1930.

SWEDISH QUEEN VERY LOW

ROME, Feb. 24. (C.P.)—The Queen of Sweden, who has been seriously ill here, to-day had sunk so low that her life was despaired of.

Financial News and Briefs

A Special Service to the Examiner

By Stanley W. Prenosil Associated Press Financial Editor.

NEW YORK, N.Y., Feb. 24.—The stock market turned weak to-day after an early period of irregularity. Liquidation of stocks as generally attributed to the renewed weakness of wheat and cotton futures, which sank to new low levels for the season. Although indications of firming money rates, uncertainties over tariff legislation and lack of an investment demand were also stressed as contributing factors.

Early declines ranged from 1 to 10 points, with rather feeble recoveries later.

There were several favorable developments in the day's news. The annual dividend on Coca Cola was increased from $4 to $6 and an extra payment of 12½ cents a share was authorized on South Penn Oil. The Consolidated Gas Co., of New York, the Pierce Arrow Automobile Co., The Midland Steel Products Co., and the Chesapeake Corporation all reported 1929 earnings in excess of the year before.

High prices industrials and specialties were again the hardest hit in the selling movement. J. I. Case broke 10 points but quickly recovered 5 points of its loss. Auburn Auto sold down 8¼, Gulf States Steel, Safeway Stores 4 5-8 and Atchison, New York and Harlem, National Lead, American Can, Westinghouse Electric common and first preferred, American Telephone and General Theatres equipment sold down 3 to 4 points. U. S. Steel common was hammered down 3½ points to 179½, or 10 points below last week's high.

PRICES SUFFER FRESH SETBACK

Chicago Wheat Drops to New Low Quotation For Present Crop Year.

FOUR CENT DROP.

CHICAGO, Ill., Feb. 24. (C.P.)—Wheat suffered more than a 4-cent fresh break in price here early to-day, and fell to low record quotations during the present crop year. Severe setbacks in prices at Liverpool and Winnipeg, together with stop loss selling here and prospects of a larger end of the season carry over of wheat in the United States than in 1929 were chiefly responsible. Opening 1½ to 3½ down, Chicago wheat future deliveries later went still lower. Corn, oats and provisions fell with wheat, corn starting ½ to 7-8 off, and subsequently continuing to recede.

BAKER ADDS TWO MURDERS TO LIST

Claims He Shot Chauffeur and Detective in Detroit—Killings Confirmed.

TOTAL NOW TWELVE.

NEW YORK, N.Y., Feb. 24. (Canadian Press).—Two additional murders were added to his self-confessed list of ten to-day by James Baker, 23 year old wanderer. He told police he had killed a Detroit taxicab chauffeur Jan. 20 and killed a Grand Trunk Railway detective in Detroit a year ago.

Deputy Chief Inspector Edward P. Mulrooney said Detroit police had confired the fact that the two men had been slain.

Baker told police he killed the chauffeur, whose name, he learned through the newspapers, was South, after the man had driven him from Second street or Second Avenue, Detroit to Joy road.

After shooting and killing the chauffeur in an unfinished garage, Baker said, he robbed the body of $10 in cash and a watch, pawning the latter with an Irish pawnbroker near Grand Circus park, under the name of Edward Nauaroski.

Inspector Mulrooney said Detoit police confirmed the story of the murder in its entirety and the watch, pawned under the name Baker gave, was found.

COMMENT ON MORNING STOCK MARKETS OVER BIGGAR & CRAWFORD WIRE.

New low prices for wheat again brought selling into the market, but trading became dull on the decline, a healthy sign. The pressure on Walkers from New York put it lower. Some profit-taking came into Supertest. In the Mining Market all the Lindsley stocks were lower. New York copper stocks being firm, Noranda held and Waite-Ackerman was steadiest hoping for early good news from the property.

JAILER HAS TURN.

MONTLAUGIER, Que.—When Jailer St. Amour went to the cells with supper for M. Lefebvre, serving a term of three months for theft, the latter stepped out into the corridor and locked the jailor in the cell. Lefebvre walked quietly out of the building and has not been seen since.

INTERNATIONAL AGRICULTURAL CORPORATION

The International Agricultural Corporation was formed as a consolidation of between 25 and 30 fertilizer production and sales companies. The concern and its subsidiaries have deposits of phosphate rock in Florida and Tennessee and own half a potash mine in Germany. The Florida phosphate deposits aggregate some 42,000 acres and although only half ash been prospected, the supply available it is estimated will fill requirements for 50 years at the present rate of mining. The company has some 3,000 acres of phosphate lands in Tennessee and about 20,000 acres additional in Florida without mineral deposits. It has fertilizer, sulphuric acid, amoniate and phosphate plants in 12 states. One plant is used to recover phosphate formerly wasted by a new flotation process.

The profits of the concern have fluctuated according to farm prices, and keen competition. There was a deficit of $352,316 in the fiscal year ended June 30, 1927; a net profit of $1,302,682 for the 1928 year and $1,054,277 for 1929. The volume of sales was good for the latter period but prices left small margins of profit.

Funded debt totals $6,628,600. Capital stock outstanding amounts to $10,000,000 in 7 per cent cumulative prior preferred of $100 par value redeemable at $110 and 450,000 shares of no par common. No dividends have been paid on the present common stock but dividends at the required 7 per cent rate were resumed September 1, 1928, and have been continued since.

As of June 30, 1929, total current assets amounted to $10,753,368. Current liabilities were $745,683 and net working capital was $10,007,685. Book value applicable to the common stock amounted to $20.90 a share after providing for 22¾ per cent accumulated and unpaid preferred dividends.

INSIDE LIQUIDATION BELIEVED CAUSE OF LINDSLEY GROUP DROP

TURNER VALLEY NEWS.

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 24. (Special to Examiner.)—The big question heard in the various board rooms surrounding the Standard Stock and Mining Exchange at the present time is "who is selling the Lindsley stocks" and few satisfactory explanations are heard. Some critics claim it is public, some blame the banks and some attribute weakness of the group to inside liquidation.

With many companies in this country and abroad undecided upon their spring programs, buying of copper and brass products remains quiet, and according to New York advices will probably hold this way for several weeks, however, if there were to be an early spring, this would bring in copper orders in better volume.

There are many signs of interest in the outlying sections of the Rouyn area following the favorable results which have attended the exploration work carried out by Mabel Mines, at the present there is understood to be no open ground within a considerable distance of that camp, every piece of vacant territory having been staked by prospectors either on their own account or on behalf of various development organizations.

Wildcat drilling is now under way in half a dozen other areas in Alberta. Imperial Oil has one or two rigs working outside the Turner valleys but officials not seem unduly sanguine about these particular areas so far as commercial oil goes, possible exceptions are Highwood section to the south where structure is both high and good, though quite separate, and on the merely reserve where structure is also regarded as good.

Although officially unconfirmed, it is reported plans are under way to drill deeper at the Baltic well, which has shown a discouragingly small quantity of gas after bailing from 218 feet in the lime. Drillers may give the well time for the gas to work against the mud.

Prospectors have staked about 1,800 mining claims in the Opemiska Lake according to advices from the field. The stakers are said to be impressed with the extent of favorable rock formation in the district.

Leaseholders who pay potter deal $2 per ton on ore shipped, are understood to have sent out some 18 carloads of copper ore from that property to Noranda. This is reported to contain about 11 percent copper on an average. Some 700 tons have been hauled the 18 miles to the railroad at Matheson.

WORST OVER IN WHEAT MARKETS

Recent Adversities May Yet Be Turned To Good Uses.

WHEAT GROWERS AWAKE.

(Special to the Examiner, Copyright, 1930.)

TORONTO, Feb. 24.—An oft quoted sage, several centuries ago, made certain pregnant remarks concerning the "sweet uses" to which "adversity" might be put, provided you are in the proper frame of mind. It that sage were living to-day, he would find at hand a splendid opportunity to put his philosophy to the test.

Adversity enough, and to spare, has faced the wheat growers of this North American continent in the past few weeks and months, this last week say, in particular.

Just when, a few days ago, after a long series of adverse cicrumstances and untoward marketing conditions it began to look as though the worst was over, and that a new day was breaking, the wheat firmament again clouded up followed by another of those worst storms "in the memory of the oldest inhabitant."

The Crash.

After one or two minor "breaks" and reactions in wheat prices in the early, part of this week, the big crash came in the Wednesday market, when prices made the downward plunge of over six cents in the one day's operations.

"Surely", thought the market optimists, a few of that breed still remaining, "that is the last desperate mad thrust from the "enemy", and honest (?) folk will now have a chance "to make a little."

The Battering Ram.

The "chance" however, faded away as the succeeding "market" saw the battering still in action, and prices were hammered down another couple of cents, by way of full measure, and making a total decline in the week of around 13c to 14c per bushel in Winnipeg May wheat. Other options and other markets of course, down in proportion.

And now for the "jewel in the head of the venomous toad," also referred to by ghe aforesaid venerable sage, in his remarks on the uses of "adversity."

Among the results, apart from the enormous losses in cash values sustained by the growers of and the traders in wheat and its sister, sometimes called the "coarser" grains, must be reckoned a certain world wide movement, clearly discernable among the general wreckage in the world's markets, and which movement, coming as a direct consequence of the aforesaid market wrecking, and which may yet have a far wider reaching effect on the whole system of world marketing than the wreckers ever dreamed of.

An Awakening.

It would be tedious and unavailing to attempt to recount here all the various arguments adduced in explanation of the present abnormal situation.

So many million bushels surplus in this country; so many millions shortage in that; and so on, and so on. The ground has been so much travelled, that the road is full of ruts.

As to who, or what is to blame, outside of Providence, some there are, and they be many, who blame the wheat pool, and in language more vigorous than refined. "These be they" who —but why hurt the poor fellow's feelings.

CHATS FALLS DIVER IS PINNED DOWN FIVE HOURS BY SUCTION

Six Men Unable to Pull Roy Up Till Divers Build Crib Around Him.

STEPPED INTO HOLE.

FITZROY HARBOR, Ont., Feb. 24 (C.P.)—Hector Roy of Hull, Que., well known young diver, had a narrow escape from death at the Hydro power development at Chats Falls near here; he was pinned under water by suction for five hours. Six men pulling on a rope were unable to release him, and three other divers had to descend and build a V-shaped crib about him and re-inforce it with mattresses before he could be freed. Roy suffered intensely from cold, but is recovering.

The construction of the outer coffer dam in the swiftly running water below the Chat's Rapids is a very difficult task and from the commencement of this work the contractors have had four experienced divers engaged.

The duty of these men is to descend to the river bed, arrange the base timbers and chart the bottom for the de-watering operations. Half an hour is as long as any diver can remain below at this season of the year.

Drawn Into Hole

Roy descended in his usual manner at a point near the inter-Provincial boundary line, but when he reached bottom he found himself drawn by the suction into a hole about sixteen feet deep where an enormous quantity of water was pouring under the timbers and he was drawn so forcibly against the timbers that he was momentarily stunned.

Realizing his perilous position, he signalled to be raised, but the man above could not budge him; a heavy rope was lowered and six men endeavored to haul him up, but their efforts were unavailing; in fact, he stated afterward that the rope would have "cut him in two" before the water suction would have released its grip on the lower part of his body.

Finally the three other divers were lowered, built the crib and liberated the prisoner.

OTONABEE COUNCIL.

OTONABEE, Feb. 24.—J. J. Moore was re-appointed Weed Inspector for the coming year at the regular monthly meeting of the Otonabee Township Council held recently.

The whole council was appointed a committee with power to add to its number, to meet other committees in connection with a demonstration farm in the Township of Otonabee in honor of the late David Fife who introduced Fife wheat into Canada.

At this meeting the township insured itself against accidents on roads in the Plaxton, Hueston Insurance Company, for 1930. Mr. Noble, of the Adams Grader Company interviewed the council with regard to buying a leaning wheel grader, but on motion, no action was taken.

The collector's time for returning the roll was extended to the first of April, when all taxes remaining unpaid at that time, action will be taken to recover the same.

Mr. Kennaley asked for a license for one pool table and on motion, this request was granted. Two by-laws were passed, one to provide for expenditure on roads and one appointing a Weed Inspector.

The auditors' report was received and adopted and the following accounts were ordered paid: Work on roads, David Kempt, $17.50; Frank Brown, $23.40; James Shearer, $24; Wm. Crowley, $85; R. MURDERER'S PLANS ARE FRUSTRATED Self-styled Slayer Had Planned to Kill Two Police Officers.

NEW YORK, Feb. 24 (Canadian Press).—James Baker, 23, self-styled slayer of nine men, arrived here last night from Detroit, after having been frustrated in an alleged attempt to add two more deaths to the list of which he boasts.

Detectives George Fitzpatrick and Arthur M. Horey, who guarded Baker on the train, said they found two pistols and a stiletto on his person during the trip and that he had confessed an intention to kill them at Pittsburgh and make his escape.

Shortly after his arrival, District Attorney Thomas C. T. Crain said Baker admitted shooting and killing a railroad detective who tried to stop him from crossing the tracks in Detroit.

SALVATION ARMY HAS FINE FUTURE

the conservative religious bodies did not touch.

The Salvation Army made religion where there was none, which is one of the most striking features of its past history, and a striking tribute to its founders.

Speaking of Catherine Booth and the old General, the speaker said, "God provided these wonderful people—two striking characters in the history of the last century, and He helped them to pursue their objective, to reach the consciousness of the world in a manner which spoke much for their vision, patience, and love of God and their fellows."

Continuing, he said: "The Salvation Army is an interesting fabric for good or ill in the world and cannot be removed. It is your business," he urged his listeners, "to see that the work is furthered as God wants it."

There are now 16,000 corps scattered throughout the world and the Commissioner went on to speak of the wonderful service which the bands and other musical sections were rendering, adding that we have a particularly fine example of it in Peterborough.

Officers From All Ranks of Life.

Speaking of the officers of the Army the speaker exclaimed, "Where have we got our officers from? I had no personal experience of religion as a boy, but came to God through the Salvation Army, and was two months later in the Training College, where we had officers from all walks of life—a strange gathering.

Three thousand of the officers are able to speak four different languages and the fact that your Adjutant does not address you in Greek does not necessarily mean that she cannot speak Greek.

He spoke of several instances of personal self-sacrifice, in diseases-ridden areas, which had been performed by their officers, but added that modesty has always been one of the strong features of their work.

Since the crises when General Booth was removed from his position on account of the fact that he was not physically fitted for the task, people have been asking, what will happen now. The speaker said that nothing would happen, there would be no change in their doctrine or in their policy of working. He thought there had never been a schism since the creation of the organization, which was built not as the result of cleaving to other denominations, but by appealing to the people who were not touched by any form of religion. The Salvation Army started at zero, the old General commenced with nothing. The Salvation Army to-day is as strong as ever in evangelism and there is to be no change in this respect. With the grand old message of the Gospel and the warm-hearted message of evangelism the Army will be right there. There was a day when the message of the Church was of the soul, telling one to be ready for eternity, but the real message of Christianity deals with the whole man. The Son of Man has come to save those which are lost, and we are here to cope with the problems of corruption, of drink, and to look to the needs of the underprivileged people. The Salvation Army is strong on the idea of building for the future. In all work of this character we must face its inherent value—a value which casts itself into the future. The world's condition is calling to-day for a vigorous Salvation Army, and in the future it is going to be a true sign of the Scriptuers, true to the atonement, a great central truth which all the doctrines are preaching.

Army Will Stand by the Needy.

Commissioner Hay spoke of the work being done amongst the children who seemed to enter into it, with thoughtful devotion and enthusiasm, which indicated a great future of service. Christianity is also service as well as worship, and the Army is ever going to be near the poor people—amongst people in distress.

In using the term "poor," he explained that he meant it to imply wherever any great need existed amongst the people.

He paid a tribute to the work which the women of the organization were performing and made particular mention of the efforts which were being put forth by the local adjutant, and in conclusion said: "I hope the Salvation Army will never reach the point where we will gloriify in the splendor of our buildings and settle down to contemplate the work which we have accomplished in the past, but that we will seek more humbly to work with God and to further the work which we are now performing in His name." (Applause.)

During the course of the afternoon several selections were rendered by the band and by the women songsters, whilst Staff-Captain Hay contributed a solo.

The meeting closed with the singing of the doxology and the pronouncing of the benediction by Colonel Adby.

SCHOOL BOARD HOLDS MEETING

Motion Requesting Teachers Absent Through Illness to Notify Board Passed.

AT HAVELOCK.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HAVELOCK, February 24 — The regular meeting of the Havelock school board was held in the school room on Wednesday evening, Feb. 19, at seven-thirty.

The three newly elected trustees, Mr. Brewster, Mr. Alex, Mathison, and Mr. J. L. Squires took the declaration of office.

All the members were present, the chairman, Mr. J. Evans, presiding.

Minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved.

Mr. Coates, principal of the Continuation school, addressed the board, asking permission to use the school room for a reception and tea on Friday, Feb. 21, in connection with the Literary Society. Permission was granted.

A discussion arose over the board not having been advised officially of the reason for absence of one of the teachers who was ill. The members are of the opinion that when a teacher is out of school through illness a notice should be sent to the secretary, advising him of the probable length of time the teacher will be absent so that a substitute can be procured. It will also be necessary that a doctor's certificate be presented to the board on the return of the absentee. Moved by Mr. Squires, seconded by Mr. Anderson, that teachers be advised to notify the secretary, by letter, phone or telegram, in case of unavoidable absence. — Carried.

A letter was received from the Ontario Trustees and Ratepayers' Association advising the board that their convention will be held in Toronto at Convocation Hall, on April 22, 23 and 24, and inviting the board to send a delegate, and in the event of his being unable to do so he is to appoint a proxy. Motion by Anderson, seconded by Mathison.

A letter from Principal Coates was read, advising the board that he had suspended a student in the continuation school for a period of one week for inattention to duties. The pupil has now returned to school and no further action was taken.

A communication was received from Inspector Mills advising the board that he will be in Havelock on Feb. 25 and 26. He asked the board to meet him on the evening of the 25th to discuss the problem of school accommodation and the probable grants for proper accommodation. The members of the council will be invited to be present at this meeting.

A letter was read from Charles E. Pomeroy, of Bancroft school board. This letter was an inquiry regarding the installation of the water flush system in the school. Bancroft school board is considering installing a similar system to the one in Havelock. There was quite a laugh over this letter, as of course the system has not been installed, and the board members do not know what is going to be done about it. The secretary was instructed to write Mr. Pomeroy advising him that Havelock has not a water flush system.

The following bills were presented and ordered paid:

Central Scientific Co., supplies, $4.20; ditto, $2.75; A. C. Denike, 70c; B. Curtis, roller for map, $2; London guarantee, bonding treasurer, $8; J. A. C. Allan, $10; E. S. Hubbell, $75.

A letter was received from the department of education in which was enclosed the grant of $50 to the Cadet Corps. After much discussion it was decided to apply this grant on the school piano, which is a part of the P. T. equipment. Motion by Squires and Andrews.

The reason the Literary Society desires to have the piano in its name is to enable it to use the piano elsewhere if it should desire to do so. The piano in the town hall is a very old one, and if the society should desire to use their piano for a meeting in the hall they would not have to obtain permission from the board. It is their own property and on vote of the students can be moved for the time being. Always it will go back to the school.

All the literature in connection with the proposed new toilets was placed before the chairman, and anything necessary for the enlightenment of the new members, was read by him. He also advised them that he had consulted Dr. Sutton of Norwood, member of the Provincial Board of Health, and had been advised that the proposed sewage disposal bed on the school property would be permissable. The pipe can be connected up with the village drain providing the three tank system of disposal and seepage bed are provided. This will involve the expenditure of approximately $4,500 and is the only alternative to the proposed new building at a cost of $7,000.

The new toilets can be housed in the school basement, if an electric pump is installed to pump the refuse through the various tanks and into the disposal bed. The ideal solution to the problem would be the one storey building north of the school proper, but if the village is unwilling to spend the seven thousand dollars required for building and plant, then the basement to house the toilets is the next best solution. The matter will be dealt with more fully after the meeting next Tuesday evening.

Moved by Anderson, seconded by McLaughlin that meeting adjourn until Feb. 25 at seven-thirty.

Meet With Success

The piano which was procured for the continuation school by the principal, at the request of the students who undertook to pay for it themselves, will soon be paid for at the present rate of going. The students held an open Literary meeting in the town hall and realized the sum of thirty-seven dollars net. The women's institute donated $40 to the piano fund. The Chautauqua committee gave ten dollars for the use of the piano in the town hall during the festival, and now the cadet corps grant has been given to the fund. This brings the total amount to $137.00 to date. It does not look as though the students will have to do much worrying about it.

THOMAS MASON 101 YEARS OLD

Stanhope Township Veteran Celebrates His 101st Birthday.

BORN IN ENGLAND.

The passing of another milestone in the life of one of the world's few centerarians was marked by the centenarians was marked by the Thomas Mason of Stanhope township in Haliburton County, last week.

Physically active and mentally alert old Mr. Mason by no means took a back seat in the celebration which was held on his old homestead to mark the occasion. He gave his personal attention to hordes of congratulatory messages in the form of telegrams, telephone calls and letters, and took great delight in cutting with his own hand his birthday cake heavily laden with 101 candles.

Scores of old friends and neighbors paid personal tribute to Mr. Mason during the day. About thirty were honored as his guests for dinner. He received a gift of spring flowers from friends in Minden.

Mr. Mason was born in England on February 17, 1829. After a few years of adventure in South Africa and Australia he journeyed to Canada and shortly after his arrival took up the homestead in Stanhope, on which he still lives. About 70 years ago he grew the first wheat of the district on this homestead.

GARNET AND GREY SQUAD MEETS FIRST DEFEAT OF THE SEASON IN COBOURG

Lakeshore Town Quintette Holds One Point Lead Over P. C. I. Students in Return Game Which Will Be Played Here Next Saturday—Homesters Lead Play in Individual Efforts.

LOCAL SQUAD OVERCOMES EARLY LEAD IN BITTERLY CONTESTED STRUGGLE

By one point the garnet and grey basketball squad of the Peterborough Collegiate met its initial defeat of the season in the first of two home-and-home play-off games with the Cobourg Collegiate in the lakeshore town on Saturday night. The count was 36-35, and points counting on the round, the local basketeers will work against the one-point lead in the final game with the Cobourg lads in this city next Saturday to win the supremacy of the western group of the Central Ontario section.

It took forty minutes of desperate battling by the P.C.I. men to turn what at first looked like a very lop-sided count into a neck and neck finish. Although they opened up the game with four of the smoothest baskets of the evening, they soon found themselves at a loss on the small floor in St. Peter's church gymnasium, where the game was staged. Their shots at the strange baskets were in vain, while the homesters nicked one after another. Their attacks were disorganized, and they repeatedly lost possession to the Yellow and Blue Boys, who showed exceptional ability in solo efforts, waltzing through the defense with long dribbles for successful close-in tries.

After the first ten minutes it was evident that the new floor formation which the Peterborough lads were attempting was a dismal failure. For the first time of the season they tried out a loafing game instead of the airtight five-man defense with which they vanquished Lindsay in winning the local division of the group. Instead of dropping back on each of the Cobourg drives, the Garnet and Grey boys left the defense work in the hands of Glover and Stanger, who were unable to take care of the homsters' four-man attempts.

After repeated successful solos around the right side of their defense by McIntyre, the lakeshore centre, the Petes began to fall into their old game and matters took on a brighter aspect. The C.C.I. baskets began to come harder and fewer. The fight gradually moved into C.C.I. territory and the Pete men began to ring the bell with well-placed shots.

Many Penalties

Both teams suffered through the extreme strictness of the referee, E. H. Walters of Belleville. From the first moment of the scrap he worked his whistle steadily. The Lift Lock men, unaccustomed to the small court, found personal contact a worry and were repeatedly nicked for offenses. It seemed as though it would not be long until the Petes would have to work without the services of a couple of their first line men on account of the four-personal-foul rule. Despite the training that Coach McClelland had given his men on their small school floor, the Cobourg team began to get hooked also by the referee for personal contact and when the first frame was half over they lost Ravensdale, their strong man on the defense line. For some minutes this hurt their play and the Petes got the upper hand temporarily.

On the whole the first frame was a scramble. No notable combination was displayed on either side except for the opening minute or two in which the Garnet and Grey lads stepped out. Most of the 25 points that the Cobourg aggregation secured were on solo attempts by McIntyre and the Haydens on the firing line. When the visitors started to even up the game it was not through any world-beating combination either that they registered. Routley got five redeeming field baskets but they were almost entirely resultant from his own efforts.

Petes Open Up

Things looked brighter for the Petes as the last session got under way. Routley took a pass from Macdonald and rung in a field basket from the left corner in the first few seconds. But "Doc" Hayden returned the compliment with a long heave from centre floor. Although the centre of the floor in the St. Peter's court is not as far from the baskets as one might think, it was a nice shot. Then Routley, Macdonald and Routley again chalked up six more points in rapid succession for the P.C.I. cause.

About half-way through the last set-to Macdonald, the P.C.I. captain, called a two-minute cessation in an endeavor to stop another scoring avalanche of their opponents and his strategy was rewarded with the rapid scoring of six points by the Petes as soon as play was resumed.

Then Routley was tagged for his third personal foul of the game and matters took on a difficult aspect as the Petes were concerned. The loss of Routley, who scored more than twice the total score of the rest of his comrades, would have put a serious crimp in the Porridge Boys' chances. Working under these conditions, Routley's style suffered near the end of the struggle.

Stanger Out

But Stanger, who had a clean sheet in the foul column until deep into the second half, began to lay on some heavier defence work and attracted four penalties in a short while that sent him to the showers. He was the only loss P.C.I. suffered in this way. Armstrong took his place and worked well.

In the last five minutes, the Petes began to display a bit of stellar ball and got nine points which the C.C.I. squad nicked one on a fluke overhand shot by Harold Hayden. They showed the large gallery of Cobourg fans the real possibilities of the four-man attack and five-man defence.

Final score—Cobourg, 36; Peterborough, 35.

Carlos Routley turned in the most brilliant game of the night. However, his work was for the most part solo, partly due to the general disorganized play on the strange floor which was short and wide. Routley got 24 points for P.C.I. McIntyre hung up 14 points on field goals and two on free shots. His work was also lone wolf style. Macdonald and Preston for the Petes both showed pitiful inaccuracy in their basket attempts getting only two each in the whole contest. But they made many assists. Glover and Stanger, the recruit defense men, both worked hard and effectively, except on the several occasions when they were stampeded.

QUEEN'S WIN GROUP HONORS

Tri-color Sextet Victors in Motor City 4-1 to Take Group Championship.

VICTORY DESERVED.

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 24.—(Canadian Press)—Queen's University won the championship of group No. 1 in the senior "B" series of the Ontario Hockey Association Saturday by defeating Oshawa, four goals to one, in the second of home and home games for the title. Queen's took the round by eight to four and will now meet the winner of the series between Hamilton and Woodstock.

Hamilton Tigers won the honors in group No. 2 by defeating Port Colborne, in a tightly contested match at Hamilton, one to nothing. They took the round, two to one, the previous game at Niagara Falls having ended in a one-all tie. Tonight Hamilton and Woodstock clash at Hamilton in the first of the two game series between the winners of group No. 1 and three.

In the intermediate series Walkerton and Bradford played a two-all deadlock at Stratford. The return game in this semi-final will be played at Toronto to-night.

University of Toronto advanced in the junior series at the expense of Parry Sound, beating the northerners here, three to one, to take the round, three to two.

Important games in all three series will be played to-night. In the senior "A" group University of Toronto entertain Queen's University. A victory for the latter will place them in a tie with Varsity for second place in the stand, while defeat means their elimination and Varsity and Toronto Nationals will play-off for the title.

Jordan and Paris will clash in the other intermediate semi-final game which will be played at Galt. Jordan have a one-goal lead secured in the first game at Grimsby.

In the junior series West Toronto go to Oshawa for the return game of their series. The locals possess a 10-goal lead registered in the first match. In the other contest Windsor-Walkerville Tech meet Niagara Falls in the latter city in the first of their home and home series.

COMPARISONS IN RING GAME

This photo was brought from New York by Playfair Brown, the Shamrock A.C. matchmaker, who says that one of the two is Primo Carnera alias the Ambling Alp alias the Vast Venetian alias the Battling Barge, who is touring the fistic sticks of the United States knocking over a lot of round heels, and giving a lot of canvas kissers a chance to osculate. Two guesses—which one is Carnera,—and here is a tip-off that might help you to win the hand-decorated radish grater—that one that isn't Carnera is the featherweight champion of Europe. Primo stands six feet seven, after seventeen inches of him have been turned up for feet—and he weighs 278 pounds. Still "Young" Stribling spotted him a hundred pounds and put him down in London. But the big boy persisted in getting up.

C. R. U. OUSTS ONSIDE PASS

Changes in Several Laws Ratified—Johnny DeGruchy Elected President.

APPEAL FROM OTTAWA.

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 24 (C.P.) — Following a thorough study of the play as it effects the Canadian game, the rules commission of the Canadian Rugby Union, announced at the annual meeting of the C.R.U., here Saturday, the forward pass had been ousted entirely from Canadian football.

The decision came like a bolt from the blue. Friday, the Commission held its annual meeting, but no mention was made regarding the play. A week previously the Ontario Rugby Football Union, the oldest organization of its kind in Canada, recommenced at its annual meeting the forward pass, as used in United States football should be adopted in Canada with certain modifications. Football unions in Western Canada also favored the play, although there were unions in the East opposed to it. No representations were made by the Intercollegiate Union, the Interprovincial League or Quebec unions.

Practically all members of the rules commission were present when S. C. Holland, Montreal Honorary President, acting in the absence of President Dr. R. M. Bow, Edmonton, called the meeting to order. Mr. Holland, who is chairman of the rules commission, in his report to the C.R.U., said it had been decided to eliminate the forward pass and revert to the rules as they were prior to last year, with minor changes being made.

Heated Discussions

Immediately following this announcement the delegates became involved in some heated discussions. Many were solidly against the forward pass while others were just as solid in their expressions a mistake was being made in removing it.

The chairman said the members of the commission had felt it was the most important decision they ever had to make, realising they might be criticized and were ready to take such criticism. They had studied the play throughout last season and decided it was simply a case now of putting it into the rules for good or leaving it for good.

A letter was read from British Columbia asking for information concerning affiliation with the parent body, but as no official application was received, the matter was tabled pending further news from the West.

Appeal From Ottawa

Ottawa delegates appealed for reducation of the drastic penalties inflicted on certain members of the Ottawa junior team for their misconduct in an Eastern Canada final game at Ottawa last fall with St. Thomas. No action was taken at the meeting.

The report of the Treasurer, R. W. Hewitson, Toronto, showed a balance on hand of $1,927.

At the election of officers, John De Gruchy, Toronto, was chosen President and Dr. R. M. Bow, Edmonton, honorary president. Professor W. P. Wilgar, Kingston, was one of the vice-presidents elected, as was T. Hicks Miller, Montreal. R. W. Hewitson, Toronto, was re-elected secretary.

INDIANS INCREASE LEAGUE POSITION

Second Period Rally Wins For Cleveland 6-1—Olympics Tie With Windsor.

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 24.—(C.P.) —While Detroit and Windsor fought to a three-all deadlock, Cleveland Indians increased their first place lead in the International Hockey League by defeating Toronto, six goals to one. These were the only two contests played over the week-end and the results had no material effect on the standings.

The Indians possessed too much experience and too stout a defence for the youthful Toronto team to successfully cope with. Each team netted a goal in the opening session which was evenly contested. In the second frame the winners notched five markers without a reply. The last session was scoreless.

Windsor and Detroit staged a typical Border Cities match which was witnessed by the record breaking crowd of 14,600 persons. Frank Carson, right winger, put the Bulldogs in the lead late in the first period by scoring on Arbour's pass. He added another early in the second period by tallying unassisted. The Olympics entered the picture seven minutes later when McInenly skated from end to end to secure a clever goal, Bobby Connors tied the count at two-all halfway through the third period. In the overtime Detroit took the lead for the first time when Bernie Brophy registered on Tommy Filmore's pass. Stan Brown tied the score with a bare five seconds to go.

The battle for second place resumes to-night when London Panthers entertain Toronto and Buffalo Bisons, who are leading London by a point are at home to the league leading Cleveland team.

FORMER LOCAL GOALIE PLAYS TUESDAY NIGHT

CANUCK ON SICK LEAVE.

N. H. L. Clubs Agree to Permit Murray to Play for Canadiens and Return to Reds.

MickeyMurray, crack goal tender for the league-leading Rhode Island Reds, of the Canadian-American circuit, will be in the nets for Les Canadiens against the New York Americans at Madison Square Gardens on Tuesday night. Arrangements were completed between the managements of the two clubs to allow Murray to stand between the pojas in place of Hainsworth. President Dooley, of the Canadian-American League, said that other clubs in the loop have agreed to permit Murray to play for the Canadiens and return to the Reds. Hainsworth, the regular Canadien goalie, is sick.

Mickey will thus have a very busy time for the next three days since the Reds play on Monday and Wednesday nights, and he must be between the posts for his own team. It is Murray's great work that has assisted materially in putting the Rhode Island outfit up in first place in their loop.

His work in his first N.H.L. game will be watched very closely by managers of major league clubs, especially Detroit. A deal is already pending that will take Mickey to Detroit for next season's N.H.L. campaign, the only thing that is holding it up is that the Providence team desires players as well as specie for Murray's contract.

BELLEVILLE BEATS LOCAL SQUAD 60-41

By the score of 60-41, a Peterborough Y.M.C.A. basketball squad was routed in an exhibition tilt against the Belleville Intermediate entry in the O.B.A. in the Quinte town on Saturday night.

Better class beat the Petes. The Belleville squad worked with a precision gained from much practice and many clashes in their O.B.A. schedule, but the visitors entered the game with little team practice behind them. They found the small Belleville "Y" court tricky in a number of aspects.

Notwithstanding the large score the clash was a real exhibition of the cage game. It was a hard race for the entire forty minutes for the lakeshore lads, although their lead was at all times substantial, through greater accuracy in their basket attempts.

By the end of the first session the home squad had bagged 31 points through the efforts of Faulkner, Davidson and Armstrong, forward-line men. Ken Kingston worked hard and hung up 10 of the 16 points the Petes got.

In the second frame the Belleville team kept up the pace adding 29 to their count. The Petes gave them a much tougher argument. McLeod got 10 points and Kingston and Sturgeon 6 each. They got a total of 25 points in the second.

The final score was Belleville 60; Peterborough 41.

The teams:

Belleville: Forwards, Davidson, Armstrong, McFee, Weir; centre, Faulkner; guards, Buck, Evony, Alexandra, White.

DEFEATS GIRLS 28-10.

On the same basketball bill, a contingent of Peterborough girls administered a decisive defeat to a Belleville girls' aggregation in another exhibition match by the count of 28-10.

From the early moments the Lift-Lock contingent paved the way towards the win with the rapid scoring of field goals but they were snowed up near the end of the contest by improved defense work on the part of the homesters.

Viola Harvey, Isobel Davidson and Jeanette Allin tagged a total of 22 points with fast combination sallies and accurate shots, while the Belleville girls found difficulty in getting their 10 points. M. Cruji, defense, got 8 of the 10.

Most of the scoring was done in the first session. The teams:

Peterborough—Forwards, V. Harvey, M. Holmes, J. Allin, L. Kingdon; centre, I. Davidson; guards, H. Jackson, H. Carson, F. Fever, E. Beatty.

Belleville— Forwards, P. Melchoir, M. Ross, R. Stenars, N. Litt; centre, C. Cruji, M. Harrie; guards, K. Havre, M. Cruji, S. Melchoir, V. Hobson, L. Melchoir.

Horton Smith Wins; Bobby Jones Second

SAVANNAH, Ga., February 24. —With $1,000 first prize money in his pockets and a victory over Bobby Jones, national open king, in the 72-hole open tournament here to his credit, Horton Smith, young Detroit shoemaker, headed a contingent of professionals who started their trek to the Florida courses yesterday.

The 21-year-old pro., one of the leading money-makers of the season, stroked his way through four rounds of the $3,000 first annual Savannah open in sub-par figures to post a 278 and capture the victor's share of the plunder.

His scores of 71-66-70-71 placed him just one stroke ahead of Bobby Jones, who was participating in his first tournament since he was eliminated in the national amateur championship last September.

GENE SARAZEN WOULD ABOLISH STYMIE RULE

Thinks it Menace to Game and That it Will Increase With Bigger Ball.

GOLF GAME OF SKILL.

Rule Should Be Relegated to Limbo of Forgotten Things.

NEW YORK, February 24. — Gene Sarazen has begun a campaign to free golf from the unfair and discouraging effects of the obnoxious stymie. Before the new lighter and larger ball is placed in play in 1931 the Fresh Meadow professional believes that the stymie rule should be relegated to the limbo of forgotten things.

If the stymie is not legislated out of existence, Sarazen opines, it will raise its ugly head more frequently than ever before when the larger ball supplants the present 1.62 sphere.

There have been many campaigns against the stymie in the past but the agitators never were able to convince the United States Golf Association that it should be abolished. While conceding that it injected a large element of luck into the game, the association has been reluctant to change a rule that has been part of the code of golf for centuries.

Felt its Threat.

Sarazen's determined opposition to the stymie grew out of his experiences during the professional championship at Hillcrest, when he and Hagen and Johnny Farrell all were beaten by Leo Diegel, who was aided and abetted no little by at least a dozen stymies he laid them.

In his encounter with Diegel, Sarazen says he had his path to the hole blocked on four occasions by Leo's ball. The same thing occurred when Diegel met and defeated Hagen, and, in his own match with Farrell the defending champion twice had his ball knocked into the cup by Johnny's failure to steer clear of blockades.

"Golf is a game of skill in which luck plays a prominent part," says Sarazen. "The element of luck makes the sport more fascinating but I do not think that the stymie is always a matter of luck.. A skilled player can manoeuvre his ball into a stymie very often if he keeps on trying. Such a player cannot be criticized if he deliberately seeks aid from the stymie, especially since it is a rule of the game, but I think everybody will agree with me that it isn't the sporty thing to do."

JUNIOR CURLERS ENTER BONSPIEL

LADIES GO TO TORONTO.

The weather has strayed a long way from the path of winter, but even so curling is still claiming a place on the sports page. Three Peterborough rinks packed their stones and brooms this afternoon for Toronto, where they play in Provincial competitions.

Jack Amys and his rink, composed of Don Best, Roger Amys and Billy Howden, will defend the Junior Tankard which they won last year. Earlier reports indicated that fifteen rinks are entered in the final playoffs, and the luck of the draw gave Peterborough a bye.

Two rinks from the Ladies' Curling Club are also bound for Toronto this afternoon for the Ontario Ladies' Tankard finals. They are skipped by Mrs. W. H. Hill and Mrs. A. C. Turner. The personnel of these rinks follows: Mrs. Morrison, Mrs. M. Comstock, Miss Florence Gladman and Mrs. W. H. Hill, skip; Mrs. Reg. Turner, Miss Helen Munro, Miss Hazel Fanning and Mrs. A. C. Turner (skip).

The Peterborough rinks are not playing until Wednesday morning, although the preliminaries were begun to-day. The games are at the Oakwood rink.

MILD WEATHER HALTS PLAYOFFS

Several Games in N.O.H.A. Necessary Yet Before Championship Decided.

NORTH BAY, Feb. 24. — Mild weather of the past week has resulted in outdoor and covered ice surfaces in Northern Ontario unexpectedly changing into water. Scheduled city and town league games throughout the North have been postponed until cold weather again is experienced and the rinks turn into ice. South Porcupine and Sudbury will meet on Monday, Feb. 24, weather permitting in the N.O.H.A. intermediate finals for the Gordon Cup at Sudbury. On Tuesday, Feb. 25, Sudbury will play at South Porcupine. If Sudbury wins they will likely be given another game against Iroquois Falls, senior champions, for the right to represent the N.O.H.A. against the O.H.A. intermediate champions in the Allan Cup playdowns at Toronto on March 6-8.

Cobalt, N.O.H.A. central junior champions, are scheduled to meet Iroquois N.O.H.A. champions, in the Falls on Tuesday, Feb. 25. Iroquois Falls will then play at Cobalt on Friday, Feb. 28.

In the N.O.H.A. southern junior group finals the North Bay Trappers, with George Orfrankos in goal and Ernie Drury, coach, will play the Soo Grey Hounds at the Soo on Feb. 26 and 27. The games were scheduled to be played on Monday and Tuesday, Feb. 24-25, at the Soo; ice was not available.

The winners of the Soo-North Bay games will clash with the victors in the Cobalt-Iroquois Falls series in the N.O.H.A. junior finals on March 3 and 4.

MOTHERS' HOPES

What Chance Have They if Real Music Must Be Sacrificed to Machine-made Sound?

MOTHERS strive valiantly to give their children happiness—a chance to enjoy the richest, fullest lives. Contrary forces forever oppose Mother's hopes.

Today change — speed — unrest work to thwart her longing for contentment. . . . The ruthless spirit of the Machine Age threatens to crowd out all humanizing culture. . . . Men and women whis heedlessly through life to the clatter of the eternal machine. . . . Now, the machine has entered the realm of the musical art. Is this the Song of Progress? No! Machine-made music can never provide a substitute for the mellowing cultural influence of Real Music. Those concerned for the future of the race will resent the strangling of the art of music by a mechanical substitute in the theatre. Yet the art will be strangled if this false economy is not halted by public demand. . . . Here is opportunity for Mother and all who share her hopes to cast a vote for preservation of Living Music. SIGN THE COUPON. Then mail it.

FORTY HOURS AT ST. PETER'S

APPOINTMENTS CONFIRMED.

The Devotion of the Forty Hours opened yesterday morning at St. Peter's Cathedral, when Solemn High Mass was offered, with the Rev. Father Lynch as celebrant, the Rev. P. Costello as Deacon and the Rev. K. Corkery as sub-Deacon. The Boys' Choir, led by the Rev. Father Finn, in procession through the church, sang the 'Pange Lingua."

Last evening, the sermon was preached by the Rev. Father Lellis, of Toronto. This evening, at half past seven o'clock, a sermon will be preached by the Rev. P. Butler, of Cobourg, and to-morrow evening at the same hour, the Rev. Father Gillogly, of Kinmount, will preach the concluding sermon of the Devotions.

His Grace, Archbishop O'Brien, of Kingston, will also be present tomorrow evening at the Cathedral. At the Cathedral yesterday, the Rev. Father Costello read a pastoral letter from the Archbishop, confirming the appointment of the Rt. Rev. Dennis O'Connor of London, Ontario, as Bishop of Peterborough, and congratulating the diocese on the acquisition of a man of such brilliant attainments and splendid character.

Unlike Archbishop O'Brien, who was born in Peterborough and lived here all his life, with the exception of a few years spent in Rome, the newly-appointed Bishop has never been in this city and has spent most of his life in a district far removed from it.

NO BREAK-UP IN DISTRICT RIVERS

23 INCHES DEEP.

Reports from Western Ontario state that the ice on the rivers and streams of that part of the province "has gone out" and indications are that the Spring break-up has really occurred. Floods, as in other years, have featured the great thaw in Western Ontario that in one short week swept away all vestige of King Winter and in many places large areas were inundated by the rushing waters of melted snows.

In Eastern Ontario and in the Peterborough district the ice still remains intact on the rivers and lakes, although it has been well rotted by the warm sun and balmy zephyrs of the past week. Except where the current is very rapid the Otonabee River is still ice-covered, and up until to-day vehicles were crossing Little Lake. The channel of the lake remains ice-bound, but, according to river men, it is now too dangerous to attempt crossing. If the present warm conditions continue for two more days they forecast that the ice will go out in this district.

23 Inches Deep on Little Lake

That the ice on Little Lake has been as frozen to as great a depth, if not a little greater, than other years, was learned from officials of the Allin Ice Company of this city. The thickest ice was twenty-three inches, which is a little too deep for use in refrigerators. At the start of the cut the ice was thirteen inches deep and the majority of the cut was around eighteen inches.

Allin's have completed their cut, pulling out from the bay two weeks ago. The company has stored away this winter 8,000 tons of ice, which is about equal with last year's take, and is is sufficient to guarantee the city's edibles against the Summer's heat.

IN PETERBOROUGH CHURCHES

ST. JAMES' CHURCH.

An interchange of pastors was effected between George Street and St. James' United Churches on Sunday morning, when Rev. J. E. J. Millyard preached to a large congregation on the theme "Weariness." This was based on the words of the Prophet Isaiah. 'The Lord God hath given me the tongue of the learned that I should know how to speak a word in season to him that is weary." Whatever their original interpretation these words were later attributed to Jesus Christ.

Weariness is a common experience of humanity. A saviour must be one who understands and can speak a word of help to the weary. If Jesus did anything while on earth He dealt with this problem of human weariness.

The first great source of weariness comes from the consciousness of sin. We are all bearing a burden of sin, which has caused an intolerable weariness in our souls. In times like these our real feelings are suppressed and we go on in a stereotyped conventional way.

The second source of weariness comes to men in an endeavor to do right and good. There are various causes for this. The first being physical weakness. A second cause may be due to life's sameness and monotony. Life's pathway of well-doing has long level stretches, when the soul grows weary. There are many disappointments and we seem no nearer to those goals of our faith.

The third cause may be sorrow. No burden is quite so heavy as that of wounded and baffled affections. Neither can the sorrow of bereavement be healed by human consolation. This does not mean that we must be engulfed by this tide of weariness. Jesus said, 'Come unto Me and I will give you rest." His deeds were consistent with His words. He proved, and still proves, that He knew how to "speak a word in season to him that is weary."

The gift of the learned, sooner or later, finds an audience. So Jesus in spite of the prejudices of the Jew, the philosophy of the Greek, and the pride of the Roman, found His audience. For He was learned, not in the knowledge of the school, but in the mysteries and meaning of the human heart, and particularly that he might speak to the weary. No task is greater than this. Science or psychology has never been able to deal with this problem of human weariness.

Jesus had that rare and beautiful gift of tact. He spoke the right word at the right moment. Jesus Christ can relieve our weariness whatever it may be. So we must earnestly seek to be His friend.

To the weary He speaks this morning: "The Lord God hath given me the tongue of the learned that I should know how to speak a word in season to him that is weary."

Evening Service.

The second of the series of sermons on the subject, "Where are the dead?" was delivered by the pastor, Rev. J. H. Dudgeon, at the evening service, who took for his text, Luke 23:43: "And Jesus said unto him, Verily I say unto thee, to-day shalt thou be with me in Paradise. Many question are asked about loved ones who are gone from us. Before searching for a Scriptural answer to these queries, let us examine the profound thoughts of the most astute thinkers on this subject. The Agnostic replies to this question, "I do not know." He has no proof of an after life.

Three fourths of the population of of the world are heathen. They have two general attitudes toward this great problem. First, there are those who hold to the theory of transmigration of souls. This means that a man does not really die, but merely changes his physical state. The remainder of heathendom believe in a spirit world—a happy hunting ground.

The Christian world is divided into two great beliefs. The Roman Catholic and the Greek Catholic and the Protestant. According to the first body, the dead pass from life, through death into purgatory, which is not a hopeless state. Here they remain until their hearts are prepared for Heaven. During the period of reform when Protestantism began this idea was discarded by the Protestants among whom to-day the idea is current that the dead pass at once to their final reward. But the Bible does not teach this. Christ died here on the cross for our sins. Here He Shed His blood as our redemptive price. Now must be our day of salvation, not in the future life.

Of interest to Bible students are the divisions of the Book, each consisting of three parts. First the Godhead of Father, Son and Holy Ghost. There were also three creations, the material world, the animal world and man. The latter possesses body, soul and spirit.

There are also three deaths, Spiritual death, which means separation from God, physical death and Eternal death. Following these, are the three judgements. First of sin, second of the Believer, and third, the judgement of the Great White Throne.

Three resurrections are also spoken of. First, with Christ, second of the Just and third, of the Unjust.

Life, too, consists of three distinct parts: the earthy life, the intermediate stage and the hereafter.

The period in which we now live is the formative one, in which we decide our eternal destiny. Here are the two roads, where the great decision is made. There is no other plan whereby we can enter eternal life. In the intermediate stage we are without body. This existence opens at physical death and ends at resurrection. The third, and final life, opens with the resurrection of the body and soul and lasts forever and ever. Where did Jesus go after death? In His own words He tells us. "To-day thou shall be with me in Paradise". The story of the rich man and Lazarus is not a parable but a real incident, a picture of the intermediate stage. The Bible teaches that this stage is divided into Paradise and Hades, which belief was held by the Jews even before the time of Christ.

It is a vivid, conscious life, but in it there is no possible chance of salvation.

A study of this stage of life will be continued in enxt Sunday evening's sermon.

The usual song service preceded the regular service, drawing a very large congregation.

The anthems of the day were "God so loved the world" and "Rejoice, lift up Your Voice" with Mrs. McLaren soloist in the latter.

The junior choir's contributions were "The Everlasting Arm" and "Washed in the Blood of the Lamb". At the evening service Mrs. E. Kitney also rendered the solo "O What a Change."

SOCIAL EVENING.

Stocking Party Held By Ladies' Guild of St. George's Church.

A well attended and very successful social evening, which took the form of a 'Stocking' party, was held by the Ladies' Guild of St. George's church last evening in the church basement. Mrs. H. Wood, president, was general convenor. A program of music, contests and games provided the evening's enjoyment, followed by the service of dainty refreshments. Vocal solos were given by Beatrice Curtis and Doris Dossett, a pianoforte solo by Marjorie Sims, and a recitation by Mrs. Clare.

Prizes for the contests were won by Mrs. H. Ferguson, Mrs. F. M. McBride and Miss B. Curtis.

TRAGIC CAREER OF FILM GIRL

Cody, film actor, to whom she was married in November, 1926, was told of her death by Norman Kerry, at the conclusion of a birthday party in Cody's honor at the Kerry home.

Funeral arrangements have been tentatively set for Friday morning at the Church of the Good Shepherd, with burial in Calvary Cemetery.

Shadows In Career.

A murder, a shooting and an alienation of affections suit brought the first shadow into Miss Normand's life.

February 2, 1922, disclosed the murder of William Desmond Taylor, a prominent Hollywood director, and the shadow of the event cast itself over the life of Mabel Normand as the curve of her screen success veered sharply downward.

She had called at Taylor's home to borrow a book. A few hours later the director's body was found. Miss Normand was the last person to see Taylor alive, and it is yet to be learned who killed him.

In 1923 Courtland S. Dines, a young Denver millionaire, and Miss Normand were at a party at the home of Edna Purviance, screen actress, when Miss Normand's chauffeur came there on an errand. While there the chauffeur shot and wounded Dines. The motive was never satisfactorily explained, although the driver was acquitted.

About a year later Miss Normand was brought into the divorce complaint of Mrs. Georgia W. Church against Norman Church. Miss Normand retaliated with a complaint, charging libel, and asked half a million dollars damages. The divorce complaint later was withdrawn.

Lost Her Nerve.

This series of unfortunate events so hurt and humiliated Miss Normand that she lost much of her nerve and sparkle. Still Hollywood's great and near-great gathered at her home, as always, to listen to her wit and laughter.

Miss Normand was born in Boston, November 10, 1894. She was the tomboy of the neighborhood, and one of her youthful playmates was Louis Coti, now Lew Cody, to whom she was married at 3 o'clock one morning after a gay party.

Miss Normand at 14 posed for artists and modeled clothes. In 1910 she started in motion pictures at the Vitagraph Studio in New York, acting a small role as a diving girl.

NEW BLOOD FOR FARMS IS URGED

was that the settlers brought out by the company would eventually become producers, and thus add to the prosperity of Canada, a prosperity in which the company might share.

The speaker remarked that an investigation of conditions in Canada had satisfied him that the greatest problem in connection with agriculture was that of rural depopulation. The great industrial development of this country had caused an exodus from the land, and the result was vacant or under-powered farms. The only solution lay in filling up these farms with new blood, preferably of British origin, and Mr. Cameron urged his farmer hearers to interest themselves in the question of married farm help and of providing living quarters on the farm for married people. Some of the finest types who wanted to come to Canada were married men with families, and if they could be brought out and opportunities eventually given them of securing land, there would be new life given to agriculture in Ontario, and the present-day conditions with more farms offered for sale than there were buyers would be eliminated.

Rotarian Jim Matthews expressed the thanks of Rotary to the speaker and to Rotarian Gillespie, while Charles E. Moore and Allan B. Mann voiced the appreciation of the farmers for the kindness of the Rotary Club in entertaining them.

Early in the meeting President Dobbin announced that there would be a ladies' night in the near future, and a committee, headed by Rotarian R. J. Bolton, was detailed to make the necessary preparations.

FARM LANDS ARE BADLY FLOODED

tained an all night vigil, preventing the ice from accumulating and maintaining an open channel.

No floods of any significance were reported from Eastern Ontario, and such rivers as the Moira, Harmony, and Pickering, which last year claimed a number of lives, and caused thousands of dollars damage, were reported little higher than normal.

Bad in Brantford

BRANTFORD, Ont., Feb. 24.—The Grand River is on its Spring rampage and throughout the greater part of this morning was running in flood. The rising waters yesterday flooded out several outlying streets in Eagle Place and West Brantford sections and the firemen were called upon to commission the lifeboat for the rescue of several families from homes in the flooded areas. Continuing the rise through the night, the flood reached its peak at 4 o'clock this morning, when it was nine feet two inches above normal, which is eight inches below the 1929 high mark.

Woollen Mills Closed Down

At Paris, both the Grand and the Nith were running very full, and at daylight to-day were within a foot or two of going over the banks. The high point was reached there at 8 o'clock this morning, and was just a foot below last year's high. As the result of flooding the great part of the Penman Woollen Mills are closed down, a portion of the Wincey Mill alone continuing to operate. After 8 o'clock there were some signs that the flooding was slowly receding.

Condition Not Serious

CHATHAM, Ont., Feb. 24—Although the Thames River is several feet above normal Summer level, conditions in Chatham are not serious at the present time. The water at noon to-day was three or four feet lower than the peak of the 1929 Spring freshet. The basements of some of the stores have three and four inchest of water in them, but the merchants, as the result of experiences of past years, have protected themselves by either removing the merchandising altogether or storing several feet of the floor. Water will have to raise another foot, before there will be a serious menace from the damage to goods stored in basements.

Several hundred acres of the low-lying lands along the Thames near Lake St. Clair are covered by a few inches of water; but the situation is not considered serious. Reports from the lake section at noon indicated that the water has dropped three inches during the morning.

There is very little ice running and the channel is open about half a mile out into the lake, so that everything is getting away in good shape.

Reports in the city this morning that the Dover gas fields are flooded, could not be confirmed. Officials of the Union Natural Gas Company, interviewed at noon, had no knowledge of the conditions, while residents in that section stated that the water had not reached the wells as yet.

CROW SEEN IN CITY PARK.

The caw-caw of a black crow was heard in King Edward School Park this morning, and nearby residents, looking out of their windows, saw the ebony visitor flying about among the trees' bare branches and descending to try and scratch a meagre living from the damp ground.

AUTO IS STOLEN.

A curious feature of an automobile theft over the week-end is that the vehicle was accidentally recovered by the owner, whilst out for a stroll on Sunday evening.

It appears that the car, a sedan, belonging to Messrs. Aldous & Metcalf, was parked outside the Capitol Theatre whilst the first performance was in progress, and to the driver's intense surprise was not to be found when he came from the theatre prepared to drive home. The loss was reported to city police and in the meantime the owner, Mr. Metcalfe, of necessity walking down George Street past the C.P.R., was delighted to espy his "chariot" parked alongside the station buildings. Possibly someone having but a few minutes to catch a train had "borrowed" the car and had not even had the chance to stop and say by your leave and thank you.

CARS COLLIDE.

Warsaw Bridge was the scene of a smash-up on Sunday forenoon. Tom Rose of Peterborough and Mark Lonsberry of Warsaw were driving in opposite directions across the bridge when somehow the two vehicles clashed. Although the car driven by Mr. Rose was very slightly damaged, the other was severely damaged. Neither of the men was hurt.

CRITICS OUT IN SUN

Their ranks were badly shattered by winter's icy blasts. Only the most courageous and stalwart of them put in belated appearances at the daily conferences. But now their meetings are fully attended. These warm days with a blushing Sol have again brought the city's sages together. In the bright sunlight on the south side of the weighing building on the market square they sat this morning in various postures of ease and contentment while words of wisdom flowed freely from their lips. Briefly the Market Square critics are again in session and seats were at a premium this morning.

Mrs. Ethel Bruder Praises Bon-Tone For Stomach Trouble and Nerves.

L. TRAYNER,
Bon-Tone Representative

It has been estimated that one out of every five persons you pass on the street suffers from some form of stomach trouble—either digestive or kindred organs. The herbs in Bon-Tone assist Nature in the proper functioning of the vital organs — stomach, kidneys, liver and bowels. Don't yearn for good health—take Bon-Tone and have it. Read what Mrs. Ethel Bruder of 387 Church Street, Toronto, has to say: "For the past year I have suffered with nervous indigestion. My appetite left me and I only ate from force of habit and directly after each meal I would bloat terribly with gas which also crowded around my heart at times and made it difficult for me to breathe. I was extremely nervous and the least little thing would upset me. Nights I was very restless and it was impossible for me to sleep on my right side, due to severe gas pains. I took laxatives every night, but of course got but temporary relief. I read so much about this Bon-Tone and what it was doing for people right here in Toronto, so decided it must have merit. After the first bottle I could readily see why it was called Nature's Own Remedy, for it quickly restored my appetite—I can hardly wait for meal time now, and best of all, can eat without the least bit of distress afterward. My nerves are very much improved and constipation has been corrected entirely. I sleep well and feel fine, and all this is due to Bon-Tone—I cannot praise it too highly."

Don't try new remedies. Bon-Tone is not an experiment, but a definite proven remedy and will surely give results if directions are followed carefully. Call or write to the Bon-Tone representative who is meeting the public daily at Bond's Drug Store, George and Hunter Sts., Peterborough, Ont., for more information about Bon-Tone, and ask for the free booklet, "The Road to Success."

TAX RATE FOR 1930 IS SET AT 39.2 MILLS

Board of Education Is Unable to Reduce Estimates by $4,000

Finance Committee of City Council Battles With Estimates For Over Three Hours in Attempt to Set the 1930 Tax Rate at 39 Mills, an Increase of One Mill Over Last Year.

DR. J. J. CRAIG CLAIMS MOST BOARD'S ESTIMATES ARE FIXED EXPENDITURES AND COULD NOT BE CUT

One Mill in City's Taxation Represents About $20,000 and the Increase in Taxes Collected This Year Will Be About $24,000 More Than in 1929.

Peterborough's tax rate for 1930 will be 39.2 mills, an increase of 1.2 mills over last year's rate.

For three hours and fifteen minutes last night the Finance Committee, a Committee of the Whole City Council, considered and reconsidered, argued and debated, slashed here and then pared there, in an attempt to keep the city's tax rate down to 39 mills. It proved futile, and at 10.45 they emerged from the committee rooms with frayed nerves, and the tax rate fixed at 39.2 mills.

The attempt to talk the Board of Education into cutting their requirements of $255,400 by $4,000, also failed.

The members of the Board, who attended the meeting at the invitation of the Council, were adamant. They stated that their estimates could not be reduced at any point without education in the city suffering.

Chairman J. J. Craig gave a full explanation of the Board's position in which attention was drawn to its increasing difficulties and expenditures. He stated that the Board's estimates were all fixed expenditures, and that they had been cut to the bone in an attempt to co-operate with the Council to keep the tax rate down.

Sought $4,000 Reduction.

The Council's request for a $4,000 or $5,000 reduction by the Board, hinged around the $4,000 outlay for equipping a laboratory in the Collegiate Institute and Vocational School. It was there the aldermen thought that the reduction might be made, but the members of the Board maintained that this laboratory was a necessity, and was being demanded by the Department of Education.

That the failure of the two municipal bodies to see eye to eye on the

FIRST NEW COAL SAMPLES ARRIVE

TESTS TO BE MADE.

TORONTO, Feb. 25.—(By the Canadian Press.)—First samples of lignite coal to be shipped out from the recently-discovered field at Blacksmith Rapids on the Abitibi river, arrived yesterday at the Ontario Department of Mines. Preparations are under way in the north to ship a carload to laboratories in Ottawa so that commercial tests may be made.

The main shaft has been sunk 14 feet, revealing coal deposits in excess of former estimates, officials on the Department of Mines say. Although the coal is of a low grade, various processes may be used to bring it to a commercial content. Development work in the north is not sufficiently advanced to allow experiments in this direction to be carried out.

Old Labor Member Surprised by King

LONDON, Feb. 25 (Canadian Press Cable).—Will Thorne, veteran Labor member of the House of Commons, had certain objections to wearing Court dress, so in consequence the King invested him privately with the Order of Companion of the British Empire, conferred on Thorne in the New Year's honors list.

"You would be surprised to know the number of subjects the King raised afterwards in conversation," Thorne said after the ceremony. "I ventured to congratulate the King on the restoration of his health. At the end of the interview I added:

"'I know something about the American and French Republics, but this is the freest country in the world, Your Majesty'."

NAVAL PARLEY IS CALLED FOR NEXT THURSDAY

MacDonald Issues Invitation Assuming Chautemps Will Get Majority on Vote.

BRITISH CONFIDENT.

Mediterranean Pact Proposal Has Not Appeared Before Parley as Yet.

(By George Hambleton, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent.)

LONDON, Feb. 25. — Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald plans to resume the Five Power Naval Conference discussions on Thursday. He assumes the French Government under Camille Chautemps will secure a majority on the crucial division in the Chamber of Deputies this evening, consequently as chairman of the conference, Mr. MacDonald has invited the heads of all the delegations to a consultation on Thursday.

Meanwhile the experts' committee has completed its report on the classification of special types of auxiliary and supply ships. The report will go to the "Fist Committee" of the conference.

British Hopeful.

Despite the air of pessimism during the last few days, British official circles maintain their faith that a Five Power Pact will result from the conference. It is officially intimated there has been no discussion at the conference except perhaps in casual conversation—of a Three Power Pact, and that neither the French nor any other delegation has formerly proposed a Mediterranean security agreement. That have been reports that such a proposal was being considered and statements that the United States could not become a party to such security pacts. But to-day the British spokesman said such a proposal does not appear in any document before the conference nor has it been submitted in any official conversation in connection with the conference.

In any event, the British view is that a Mediterranean Security Pact can only be brought about in consultation with all Mediterranean Powers, and that its discussion is definitely outside the conference as at present constituted. Furthermore, it is added, there has been no proposal to bring the freedom of the seas, or the question of neutral rights, within the scope of the conference discussions.

No Formal Proposal.

The statement that there has been no formal proposal of a Mediterranean Pact may give rise to a piquant situation. The guarantee pact was suggested in a resume of the French position handed out at a press interview with former Premier Tardieu, and read aloud to the press by Mr. Tardieu himself. When this was pointed out to the British spokesman to-day, he replied that a press summary was not an official conference document, and that in no official document before the conference has a Mediterranean pact been proposed

GRAND RIVER OVERFLOWS BANKS INUNDATING TOWN OF DUNNVILLE CITIZENS FLEE HOMES IN BOATS

Factories and School Closed and All Train Services Stopped.

HIGHWAYS BECOME CANALS.

Jam at Cayuga Breaks, Relieving Situation—Losses Prove Heavy.

HAMILTON, Ont., February 25 (Canadian Press).— The greater part of the town of Dunville was under water to-day when an ice-jam formed on the dam and the water in the Grand River rose so rapidly that householders were trapped and had to be removed from their homes in boats. After the break at Cayuga, the torrent swept down on Dunnville with relentless force and backed up behind the dam, covering a huge area.

Train Service Stops.

With tracks covered and bridges menaced, train schedules in and out of Dunville have been cancelled. Schools are ordered closed, factories shut down, and boats are travelling up and down the streets where automobiles usually make their way.

Towards noon, it was reported that the water had reached its height and was gradually receding, the ice-jam showing signs of giving way.

The jam below Cayuga went out with a roar about six o'clock this morning, and relieved the situation which was becoming nothing short of disastrous. The water yesterday afternoon had risen level with the high bridge spanning the river, and had travelled up No. 3 Highway for a distance of more than half a mile. Whole square miles of the country around the village were under water to a depth from a few inches to ten feet.

Yesterday, all persons in the zone were removed from their homes by rescuers in flat-bottomed boats, some of the marooned householders climbing down from second storey windows into the boats.

Water to Cattle's Shoulders.

One amusing feature of the flood on number three highway was a lone chicken standing disconsolately on the top of a coop which alone protruded above the level of the water. The bird clucked uneasily, but remained still, and was finally able to leave its perch in safety when the water receded. In a lone large barn, the torrent rose to the cattle's shoulders, but receded before it drowned the beasts.

Losses in Cayuga vicinity are reported as very heavy. Furnishings of many homes have been utterly ruined, and foundations of houses and barns smashed by the heavy cakes of ice.

Ferry Menaces Bridge.

The ferry operated by the Six Nations Reserve from Middleport, which has been adrift in the river, has lodged against the railway bridge, constituting a menace to that structure. Two watchmen have been posted to observe any signs of weakening, and an order to trains not to cross at above six miles an hour has been issued.

The Michigan Central pump house was badly damaged by ice and water, and remaining power lines were swept away last night, leaving Cayuga to-day wholly without power or light.

Losses of cattle and chickens were reported by farmers. One disturbing factor was the flooding and partial destruction of the old Cayuga Riverside Cemetery.

GREAT CANADIAN IS LAID TO REST

Only Few Relatives Attend Last Rites Over Hon. P. C. Larkin.

SPECIAL SERVICE SUNDAY.

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 25 (C.P.).—Lacking the customary pomp and ceremony accompanying funerals of most prominent men, the remains of the Hon. P. C. Larkin, Canadian High Commissioner at London, were quietly interred at St. James' Cemetery to-day. A short service was conducted at St. Paul's Church by Rev. Dr. H. J. Cody, of whose church Mr. Larkin was a parishioner. At the conclusion of the short Anglican ritual, the ashes of the High Commissioner were carried in a small silver casket to the cemetery.

In accord with his wishes, only immediate relatives attended the services, but tribute will be paid by the nation as a whole Sunday afternoon when a memorial service will be conducted in the church, at the request of Premier W. L. Mackenzie King. Premier King will attend, as well as several members of the Dominion Cabinet; Premier G. Howard Ferguson of Ontario, and other members of his Government; a representative of the Governor-General, and the Lieutenant-Governor.

Sugar Bushes Still Remain Untapped

Spring is singing in the hearts of men, waxing the buds of the poplars, rilling in the roadside brooks, kindling the sun to a new warmth, and stirring the sap in the maples, but in the country where the sugar bushes have yet escaped the axe there are no signs of the usual activity when winter is breaking up.

One of the prominent producers in Peterborough County is Adam Humphries, Reeve of Asphodel Township, has not yet tapped his trees, waiting for another week or 10 days to drive the spiles and hang up the buckets. Warden Hawthorne of Dummer told The Examiner there has been a light run of sap, but that generally it is still too early to begin making syrup.

MILLER MYSTERY BELIEVED SOLVED WITH CONFESSION

Sixteen Year Old Lad Alleged to Have Admitted Accidentally Shooting Employer.

HELD ON MURDER CHARGE.

Ruich Says He Was Playing With Gun When it Went Off—Threw it Away and Left.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., February 25 (Canadian Press). — Following an alleged confession, Steve Ruich, 16, was arrested last night charged with the murder of his employer, Louis Miller. The latter was slain on January 27 last, his body with a bullet wound in the back of the neck being found by his wife.

Ruich, who was employed as odd-job man by Miller, told police the shooting was accidental, and, afraid of the consequences, he had thrown the gun down a nearby well and denied knowledge of the death on discovery of his employer's body.

Played With Gun.

In his statement the boy said he was in the kitchen of the cabin on the morning of January 27, and was playing with an old gun owned by himself. Miller was eating breakfast as he toyed with the gun and played with two dogs. Suddenly the gun discharged, and Miller slumped to the floor. Seeing he had killed Miller, Ruich said he threw the gun away and denied having been near the place for ten days previous to the killing.

At first the police were inclined to believe his story and he was allowed his freedom, but told to attend the resumption of the adjourned inquest to-day. Late last night, however, the police again questioned the boy, who maintained the shooting was accidental. He was arrested and placed in the cells on the murder charge.

He will appear in Police Court today before Magistrate Fraser.

The unsigned letter was believed the work of a crank.

Case of the Crown Presented to Jury By 7 Witnesses

Walter Marcham, Alias Joseph Norman, Goes on Trial for the Murder of Mrs. Everton Switzer at the Spring Assizes of the Supreme Court of Victoria County.

L. M. FROST, COUNSEL FOR THE DEFENCE, INTENDS TO ENTER PLEA OF INSANITY WHEN PRESENTING CASE

Marcham Appears To Be the Least Interested Man in the Crowded Lindsay Court Room—Smiles and Grins Alternately as His Eyes Wander Over Spectators.

LINDSAY, February 25 (By Staff Reporter). — The trial of Walter Marcham alias Joseph Norman, mystery man of the North Haliburton district, who on January 28th trudged into Gooderham from Bear Lake carrying a blood-stained axe, with which he confessed to having slain Mrs. Everton Switzer, on a charge of murder, opened here this morning before His Honor Justice Kelly of Toronto, in the Spring Assizes of the Supreme Court of Victoria County.

At noon all the witnesses for the Crown, seven in number, had been heard, and this afternoon the defence will begin its case.

It is evident that Leslie M. Frost, Marcham's counsel, intends hanging his defence upon a plea of insanity, the whole brunt of his questions in cross-examination were directed at bringing forth evidence of the confessed murderer's ferocious temper. He succeeded in gaining from a Crown witness the fact that Marcham had "cut his dog in pieces" because the animal at one time failed to trail the cows.

6-Year-Old Child Gives Evidence.

A dramatic note was struck when Ethel Switzer, little six-year-old daughter of the murdered woman took the witness stand. Speaking in a high treble voice she said, pointing out Marcham in the prisoner's box: "That's the man who struck mummy with a axe; he knocked her downstairs, and then set fire to our house.

Marcham, a dark small man with frowning forehead and a vacant stare, sat in the prisoner's box still garbed in the leather jerkins of a backwoodsman. He seemed the least interested of any person in the crowded court room in the proceedings. His big mouth smiled and grinned alternately, and his eyes

SALARY BOOSTS ARE SANCTIONED

Beatty Investigators Recommend Raises For Railway and Pension Commissioners.

PENSIONS SUGGESTED.

OTTAWA, Ont., Feb. 25 (C.P.) — Increases in salaries of the Board of Railway Commissions, Board of Pension Commissioners, and the Civil Service Commission are recommended in the Beatty Royal Commission report on technical and professional services in the Dominion Government. Pensions on retirement of these commissioners are also suggested.

Salaries for members of the railway Commission are advocated as follows: Chief Commissioner, $15,000; Assistant Chief Commissioner, $12,000; Deputy Chief Commissioner, $11,000; Commissioners, $10,000.

Annual salaries to members of the Pensions Board and Civil Service Commission are recommended as follows: Chairmen $9,000; Commissioner, $7,500.

Salaries as high as $15,000 for certain Deputy Ministers with technical qualifications are suggested.

Officials with the rank and not the title of Deputy Minister, Hon. Martin Burell and J. DeL. Tache, Joint Parliamentary Librarians; A. E. Blount, Clerk of the Senate, and A. Beauchemense, Clerk of the House of Commons, are recommended "to be known in the future by their official title only but without the rank in question," but at higher salaries of $7,500 annually.

Salary Division Simplified

The report suggests simplification of the salary structure by substituting seven grades for the two hundred and three heterogeneous and over-lapping salary groups into which the technical and professional services are now divided. These grades would offer the mechanism for consistent salary increase to the civil servants.

To deal with the vital question of promotion, the report proposes a bracketing of these grades into two divisions distinguished by the method of advancement within them, the first division to comprise grades 1, and 3, and the second division the senior grades.

PRESCOTT BLAZE MAY MEAN DELAY IN NEW ELEVATOR

Early Morning Blaze Destroys Engine and Cement House, Towers and Conveyors.

LOSS AROUND $5,000.

Huge Structure May Not Be Ready For First Shipments on August 1.

PRESCOTT, Ont., Feb. 25 (C.P.) — Extensive damage was done by fire which broke out late last night in one of the work houses at the grain elevator and terminal under construction here. The blaze raged until well into the morning, destroying the engine house, adjoining cement house, one of the conveyors and towers and three box cars filled with cement. A large quantity of cement was lost.

Pending a survey of the damage this morning, Fire Chief George Henry declined to place an estimate on the total.

Passerby Sees Flames

The night watchman for the Atlas Construction Company of Montreal, contractors engaged on the elevator, had just completed his rounds of the many work houses when a passerby drew his attention to flames shooting high into the air from the engine house. Chief Henry and his men were on the scene a few minutes after 11 o'clock, at which hour the alarm was raised, but owing to lack of a water pumper to step-up the water pressure they were handicapped in stemming the rapid spread of the flames. A call for assistance was sent out, and at 2 o'clock this morning the pumping engine and several members of the Brockville Fire Department arrived at the scene.

Fire Chief Henry declared the origin of the blaze had not been de-

WOUNDED MAN IS SHOT IN HOSPITAL

RETURNS FIRE.

CHICAGO, Ill., Feb. 25 (C.P.) — Frank McErlane, whom gangland knows as its "toughest," was shot three times, probably fatally, by enemies last night as he lay already wounded on his bed in a private hospital room.

With his right leg in a cast and swung high with pulleys and weights, McErlane grabbed a revolver from beneath his pillow and fired back at his assailants as they fled into the corridor.

As "Charles Miller," McErlane gained entrance to the hospital Jan. 28, for treatment of a bullet wound, which he said he accidentally inflicted. Although once a partner in the flourishing south side bere business of Joe Saltis, McErlane has been known as an ally of "spike" O'Donnell and his gang.

CITY WORKMAN IS HURT IN ABDOMEN WHILE BREAKING ICE JAM IN CREEK BYSTANDER STRUCK IN FACE BY ICE

CREEK IS CLEARED.

During blasting operations being carried out by the City Engineer's Department, in an endeavour to relieve the ice jam on that section of Jackson Park Creek between Brock and Hunter streets, yesterday afternoon an onlooker, Valentine Carroll, sustained a bad face laceration and contusions involving the left eyes and slight injury to the bone, whilst one of the city workmen, Nicholas Delarrow, was apparently struck in the abdomen by a piece of ice, which resulted in his removal to St. Joseph's Hospital. It was learned that his condition is not regarded as at all serious, but that he is being kept under observation by Dr. J. McCulloch, in the event of internal injuries being present which are not at present suspected.

As a result of the recent thaw the ice commenced to pile up in the creek on Sunday on which day the city workmen commenced blasting. The work was carried on all day yesterday at different sections of the creek and shortly after two o'clock p.m. the little army of men were transferred to Hunter street bridge, where the ice had concentrated immediately outside Coughlin's Monumental Works.

City Engineer Parsons in command of his "army" equipped with pike poles, peevis and dynamite launched a determined attack and as each blast succeeded blast the group of onlookers increased. The scene offered a midly exciting diversion from the prosaic daily round. The usually quiet-flowing creek, stemmed in its meandering course by the huge ice blocks, rose in rebellion overflowing its banks in a swirling eddying fury, meanwhile the men attacked the ice floes with all their might, hopping from one block to another in a manner which would have well-

CHICKEN THEFTS ATTRACT NOTICE

Hon. J. S. Martin Reminds Gov't of Promise to Increase Penalty For Offenders.

PROBE INTO FARMING.

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 25 (C.P.).—Chicken stealing in this province that is gaining ground and causing increased losses to farmers engaged the attention of the Agriculture Committee of the Legislature to-day.

Hon. J. S. Martin, Minister of Agriculture, informed the members that Premier Ferguson and Hon. W. H. Price some time ago had secured a promise from the Federal Government that the penalty for chicken stealing would be changed and increased under the criminal code.

"Nothing has been done," said Hon. Mr. Martin.

"The trouble is that people look upon the chicken as being nothing. They think it is just 50 cents or so and that's all. We are getting better action from the Magistrates, however. They are giving chicken thieves prison terms. It used to be optional."

Thos. Kennedy, Peel, declared everybody agrees there is something wrong with farming. It was agreed the committee will have a day to discuss "what is wrong with farming."

Thos. Mahoney, asked that Professor Speakman, agricultural representative in the Research Foundation, be requested to inform the committee what the Foundation is doing for agriculture.

The Dominion Government will be asked to compensate farmers who have their stock destroyed through rabies.

Mr. Laughton declared that around Parkhill he knew of 15 cases where farmers had been quarantined through rabies, losing their stock and being unable to operate their farms for six weeks, the guaranting period.

Six Perish in Two Old Country Fires

LONDON, Feb. 25 (C.P.).—Six persons are known to be dead, several are missing and many were injured in fires which occurred to-day in Luton, Bedfordshire, and in Glasgow, Scotland.

The Luton blaze was in a large hat factory employing 150 persons, mostly women and girls. The fire raged so furiously that the roof soon fell in, and firemen concentrated their attention on adjoining property. It is known that four girls are dead, and it is feared that other bodies may be in the wreckage.

The Glasgow fire was in a tenement building. Two children were burned to death and three women were seriously injured.

CAMPAIGN OPENS TO RAISE $3,000 FOR RED CROSS

Sum of $800 Has Already Been Received in Answer to Letters.

READY FOR DISASTERS.

Dr. F. W. Routley Outlines Work of Red Cross in Ontario at Banquet.

A campaign to raise $3,000 in Peterborough for the Ontario Division of the Canadian Red Cross Society was launched last night by the advisory board of the local branch of the Society, and a canvass is now being conducted by the members of the board among the citizens.

The opening of the campaign was marked by a banquet in the Empress Hotel and the delivery of an address to the members of the advisory board by Dr. F. W. Routley of Toronto, medical director of the Ontario Society. Preparation has been going forward for two weeks under the direction of James Hamilton, chairman of the campaign committee, and a generous response amounting to $800 has already been received as a result of the preliminary circulation of literature and letters in the city.

Mr. Hamilton presided at the banquet last night.

The address of Dr. Routley was an outline of the work and needs of the Red Cross in Ontario. In answer to the question, "Why should I give to the Red Cross?" Dr. Routley summarized what the Red Cross has already done and what is hopes to do in the future.

Suffering Mitigated.

"Nearly 30,000 sick soldiers in hospital have received the untiring care which only a great voluntary organization can give. From lives of misery and dependency, 1,468 children have been saved and given a chance to enjoy life like other children. In districts isolated from any medical help, 8,408 pioneering folk have been given expert care in sickness by the Red Cross Outpost Hospital Service. Ten per cent of school children have already been trained to maintain good health. Quick relief has been given to 20,170 victims of disaster and epidemic.

"The Red Cross hopes to fulfill its destiny of improving health, preventing disease, and mitigating suffering in every corner of the province, where the need is not being

The Weather

Yesterday the temperature rose to 54 degrees. This is the highest point to date, and while I cannot state positively, I believe it is the highest temperature in February Peterborough has ever had. A year ago yesterday morning we had it 9 degrees below zero. A year ago this morning it was just zero. The breaking up of the ice in the Jackson Park creek yesterday, with all its accompanying excitement, was about three weeks ahead of the usual date. There is no decidedly cold weather in sight. —W. Premier Hints at 1930 Election

DATE DEPENDS UPON FACTORS NOW UNKNOWN

Gov't Leader Defends Administration in Heated Debate.

GALLERIES ARE FILLED.

Bennett in Two Hour Address Roundly Scores Gov't From Many Angles.

OTTAWA, February 25. — (C.P.)— References to a general election focussed attention in the House of Commons yesterday. It was the beginning of the debate on the address, and well filled galleries listened to the leaders of the great political parties in strenuous debate. Mover and seconder of the time honored motion were, as usual, brief. Then Hon. R. B. Bennett, Conservative leader, took the floor. For two hours he attacked the government, directing his criticism of the administration from many and widely differing angles.

Bennett has Many Subjects.

Unemployment, depressed condition in the country, the wheat marketing situation, unsatisfactory tariff arrangements, failure of the government to assist the Canadian farmer —these were some of the matters which Mr. Bennett brought to the front and laid at the door of the administration, and then he turned to the coming Imperial Conference.

To the demand for an election, the Prime Minister Mackenzie King responded speedily when he rose to reply to the Opposition Leader. No time had been determined for an appeal to the country, he said. But the Government did not intend to wait until it could wait no longer. The date of the next election would depend on certain factors yet undetermined and perhaps unknown. It might result from some occurrence in Parliament. On the other hand, he could imagine a situation arising, possibly out of the tariff, on which an appeal to the people should be based.

"What I want to make clear to the House and to the country is this. The time that an election will take place, whether this year or next, will depend upon developments which take place in this Parliament and in this country. Or in relation to things which may happen in other parts of the world, but which have an immediate bearing upon conditions here. The Government will reach its own decision with respect to what in the public interest it deems the best time to make an appeal."

Tariff Question.

Mr. Bennett's remarks on the tariff situation were featured by his protests against Canada being "bullied" by the United States, or any other power, in respect to fiscal issues. A leading economist, he averred, had asserted that the United States had, for many years, treated Canada as a bully treated a small boy. Canadian tariff policy should be dictated by the needs of this province. He was demanding legislation against any other country legislation for Canada.

Mr. Bennett's reference to bullying brought response from the Prime Minister. Quoting extensively from the authority referred to by Mr. Bennett, Professor Totsigg, of Harvard, the Prime Minister took the ground that this writer had been endeavouring to promote International unity. The Opposition leader, in the opinion of Mr. King, was using the Professor's words to stir up ill will against the United States.

There had been failure on the part of the Government in connection with the wheat marketing situation, Mr. Bennett charged. He declared that the situation had demanded a clear statement from the Government as to just what the facts were and how the country was affected by the failure to dispose of the crop. But no such statement had been forthcoming. Again, when confronted with an unemployment situation which, he contended, was abnormal, the govern-

McLaughlin Boat Hits Sea Monster

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., February 25 (Canadian Press). — R. S. McLaughlin, of Oshawa, president of the Canadian Division of the General Motors Corporation, returned here yesterday aboard the chartered yacht Shadow K., after being badly shaken when the craft ran full speed into a sea monster estimated to weigh more than 10 tons.

Captain Hewes, of the Shadow K., said he believed the fish was a rhinodontycus. The yacht was cruising at full speed when it ran into a school of fish.

Mr. McLaughlin was on his way to Bimini and Nassau at the time.

CHAUTEMPS ASKS CONFIDENCE VOTE

Wishes to Send Briand and Naval Delegates Back to Parley Immediately.

ADOPTS TARDIEU'S POLICY.

PARIS, Feb. 25. (Canadian Press) Camille Chautemps, new French Premier, to-day presented his ministerial declaration to the Chamber of Deputies and asked a vote of confidence so that Foreign Minister Briand and the rest of the French naval delegation might go to London tomorrow.

In his declaration of policy upon which the fate of his cabinet hangs, the new Premier took over Tardieu's naval policy and his economic construction programme but promised lower taxes.

He asked ratification of the Young Plan and the Hague accords on reparations and gave his approval to the Briand project for a "United States of Europe."

Particularly is the new ministry concerned with measures "to avert the economic crisis which is manifesting itself in industry as well as agriculture."

Premier Chautemps described the farm problem as "a painful crisis of overproduction and under consumption which would soon become dangerous" especially in wheat and in addition he mentioned the "catastrophal" stagnation of the vineyard districts.

Parley Comes First.

The Naval Conference was accorded prime importance, the Premier's declaration, touching on this and anticipating a vote of confidence, said:

"To-morrow our delegates will be present in London to continue with the approval of Parliament French policy at the Conference for naval

FOUR DROWNED IN DAY'S FLOOD TOLL IN ONTARIO

Two Tiny Tots Swept Away in Swift Currents—Rum Runners Upset With Load.

GALT SUFFERS WORST.

Highways Inundated, Telegraph Lines Down—Farmers Happy at Warm Turn.

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 25.—(Canadian Press). — Four deaths from drowning, highways and farms inundated in many sections of the province, meetings of at least two city councils to discuss means of combatting the situation, telephone and telegraph services disrupted in many localities and narrow escapes from death, were aftermaths of floods in Ontario yesterday.

The Grand, Speed, Thames and South Nation rivers, presented the most serious problems, while other streams and rivers all over the Province added their contributions to the swelling waters threatening cities and farm-dwellings alike.

Little Lads Fall in Creeks

The first victim of the flood waters was Bobby Cunninghom aged two. He was drowned in the Maitland river, nine miles from Guelph. His body was recovered four hours later lodged in a wire fence, half a mile from the spot where he fell into the water. At Harriston, the two year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Grice was drowned when he slipped into a flooded creek.

Windsor rum runners last night were reported dragging for the bodies of two associates, Edward Kyle, 28, Wyandotte, Mich., and John Bourgena, 30, Fort Wayne, Ind., who are believed to have perished when a sudden rush of ice floes overturned their frail and heavily laden craft in the Detroit River.

Six hundred telephones were put out of order in Sault Ste Marie, Ontario, as a result of flood waters seeping through a conduit bearing one of the main cables from the telephone building through the business section of the city.

At Brantford firemen rescued several women stranded in their homes early yesterday as the Grand River swelled over its banks. Galt, Kitchener, and Paris all reported rivers in the vicinity of those cities to be at high level. Galt suffered the worst as the Speed river flooded downtown factories, shops and homes.

Bridges Threatened

The little town of Cayuga put in an anxious day as flood waters poured over highways and threatened bridges. Telephone and telegraph poles were mowed down by the raging torrent, on the crest of which, rode large ice floes crushing everything in their path. Nearly a mile of highway in this district was covered by six feet of water.

While the spring-like atmosphere melted the snow at a far greater rate than creeks and rivers could carry the water off, farmers in many parts of the province were enjoying the prospect of an early start in their land operations. Ploughing was reported in full swing in the vicinity of London and Ingersoll. At Kingston the citizens were startled by the appearance of robins, bees and the bursting of buds on trees. Brockville reported pansies in full bloom, caterpillars were seen taking sun baths on the sidewalks and crows and robins flew about with much gusto.

R.C.M.P. TRACE GUN LOST 6 YEARS

THIEF IS ARRESTED.

OTTAWA, Ont., Feb. 25 (C.P.) — How after six years a Lewis gun, property of the Department of National Defence, which had been stolen from the Armouries of a Vancouver Militia Regiment in 1923, was eventually traced and returned to that unit by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, is told in the annual report of the force, which was tabled in the House of Commons yesterday. In the six years of its existence in other hands, the Lewis gun had been used by American smugglers. It was in Sept., 1923, that the weapon was missed, and all trace of it lost. Several cues were followed, without success; and the years passed, but the Royal Mounted neither despaired nor relinquished their task. Finally in May, last year, a none-commissioned officer of the force, Corporal Healey, learned that an automatic rifle was in the possession of a man who had some connection with boats engaged in smuggling liquor to the United States. He found the weapon and turned it over. The American had desired to have a machine gun in case his craft was overhauled by an American Customs cutter; and he had bribed an employee of the Armouries to steal it. Apparently, the report says, it had been carried in several smuggling vessels, but had been ashore in concealment for some time.

"Both the principals in the case fled to the United States and difficulty was experienced in ascertaining their whereabouts. However, the former caretaker was apprehended on Nov. 28, in Los Angeles; and at the moment of writing," concludes the report, "there is a possibility of the other man being arrested."

BALDWIN CLAIMS FREE TRADE NOW IS NOT POSSIBLE

No Statesman Could Tell Electorate It Would be Introduced If He Were Returned.

DOMINIONS OPPOSED

Beaverbrook's Policy May Result in Laborites Winning Next Election.

LONDON, Feb. 25.— (By Thos. T. Champion, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent.)— Free trade within the Empire is the Conservative ideal. But it is impossible at the present time. This is Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin's attitude. The leader of the Conservative party, former Prime Minister, issued a statement of Conservative policy yesterday. It gave the attitude of the party to the new United Empire Party of Lord Beaverbrook, formed to press the latter's appeal for free trade within the Empire and a tariff wall around it.

Free Trade Is Ideal.

"I hold Empire free trade as the ideal for which every Conservative should work," declared Mr. Baldwin. "As a practical policy to-day, however, it is impossible. No responsible statesman could go to the country and tell the electorate it would be introduced if he were returned to power. It cannot be done. The Dominions will not have it. They have said so in the clearest terms."

Mr. Baldwin added that within the last few weeks, responsible political leaders in Canada and Australia had stated categorically that free trade within the Empire was not possible.

"In the face of such declarations from Dominion statesmen," Mr. Baldwin declared, "declarations in which there is complete unanimity, no political party in this country can honestly adopt Empire free trade as a platform on which to fight the next general elections."

Expanding Industries

Mr. Baldwin proceeds in the statement to point out that the Dominions are to-day engaged in creating and expand their own industries behind their own tariff walls. "We might prefer that they should be content to produce food and raw materials, buying their manufactured goods from us" he adds. "But that is beside the point. They have decided to become manufacturing countries on the basis of protective duties, and on that fact alone any immediate policy of Free Trade within the Empire crashes at the outset."

He notes the suggestion that the scheme begins by being limited to the non-self-governing crown colonies. This suggestion is based on a misapprehension, he says. For the

BABY DIES WHILE UNDER OPERATION

IMMEDIATE PROBE.

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 25.—(C.P.)— Four deaths in a week is the toll anaesthetics have taken in this city. The fourth victim, Michael Stancheson, aged two, died in hospital yesterday shortly after an operation had been performed.

In connection with the four deaths, Hon. Dr. Forbes Godfrey, Ontario Minister of Health, and Dr. Crawford, held a conference to-day and later announced an investigation from every angle would be conducted into the deaths.

"This is going to be a clear-cut investigation, and let the chips fall where they may," Dr. Godfrey stated. The probe will begin with the inquests, he intimated, and preparations for these were made yesterday.

From information he had received the Ministry of Health said he had formed the belief the anaesthetics had not been properly analyzed. In the cases under investigation the anaesthetics used have been sealed and locked up and will be analyzed by some person thoroughly competent to do so, he said.

Mrs. Myrtle Rogers, 40, Louis R. Mill and James O. Buckley were the other three to die under anaesthetics.

FINLAYSON HAS RURAL DISTRICT HYDRO SCHEME

Introduces Bill to Set Aside $2,000,000 Out of Consolidated Revenue.

LOANS TO FARMERS.

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 25 (Canadian Press).—To stimulate the use of Hydro in rural Ontario, Hon. J. R. Cooke, ministerial representative on the Hydro-Electric Commission, yesterday in the Legislature introduced a bill to set aside $2,000,000 out of consolidated revenue to be expended by the Commission as loans to farmers. The fund would be operated on the lines of the rural credits scheme.

The bill provided that the Hydro Commission could draw on the fund for rural installation. A farmer, desirous of obtaining Hydro, would apply to the Commission for the necessary funds. Under the bill, the person applying must swear that he is the owner of the property. If there is a mortgage or other encumbrance on the property, the application to the Commission will not be dealt with for two weeks after the owner of the mortgage has been notified. Power is given the Government to prescribe the terms and conditions upon which the advance may be made.

No Loan Over $1,000.

No advance will exceed $1,000 and will be repayable in twenty years. Where default in repayment is made, the Government would be given the power to notify the clerk of the municipality in which the property is located. The amount due would be inserted in the tax collector's list and collected as an ordinary municipal tax. A chattel mortgage, lien, note, or other registered instrument, shall have priority over the Government's lien.

Another Bill, in respect of Hydro, also was introduced by Hon. Mr. Cooke. It would give the Commission power to fix a minimum service charge for any class of services rendered in a rural power district. The Bill provides that where such a service charge is not sufficient to meet the ordinary expenditures, the deficit shall be paid out of the consolidated revenue fund. It would create a new fund, the "Rural Power Service Suspense Account." Any surplus arising from the maximum service charge would be paid to the Provincial Treasurer and added to this fund.

26 Planes in Use.

In reply to questions, Hon. William Finlayson, Minister of Lands and Forests ,said that the Government owns 26 planes, four being purchased in 1929 at a cost of $41,223. None was discarded in 1929, although one was completely destroyed and three partially dstroyed with a 50 per cent. salvage.

The cost of repairing and overhauling planes used in forestry work in the fiscal year was $89,449. No planes for patrol duty were hired from private sources, although four planes were hired for transportation to fire areas. The cost of this was placed at $93,686. The Pigeon Timber Company receiving $14,431, and the Western Canada Airways Limited, $79,255.

Premier G. H. Ferguson told the House there are 16 Provincial Government employees in Great Britain and Ireland. Of these, seven are former residents of Ontario, including practically all who come in contact with the public.

The Premier also stated that of the 206 barristers recommended to be King's Counsels last year, 179 accepted the Government's offer.

Deputy-Reeve Question

Second reading was given a bill sponsored by T. L. Kennedy (Cons., Peel), which would amend the Muncipal Act in respect of the number of deputy reeves a municipality may elect. At the present time, a municipality is entitled to elect one first deputy reeve when it has between 1,000 and 2,000 electors. Where there are between 2,000 and 3,000 electors, one first deputy and a second deputy may be elected, and where there are more than 3,000, a second and third deputy may be elected. Under the bill, a municipality with from 1,500 to 3,000 electors would elect one first and a second deputy reeve.

SCHOOL CADETS NEED UNIFORMS

Re-roofing of Campbellford Public School Fully Discussed at Board Meeting.

EXPENSES FOR YEAR.

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 25 (Examiner Staff Correspondence).—The regular meeting of the School Board was held last evening in the Public Library, with the following members present: G. O'Sullivan, Dr. O. C. Watson, I. Loucks, Rev. N. Clark Wallace, W. Henson, Dr. H. B. Longmore, I. C. Birmingham, W. Cock, W. M. Stevens and Secretary W. Steven. The chairman, Dr. H. Richardson, presided.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read by the secretary, their adoption being moved by G. O'Sullivan and seconded by I. C. Birmingham. Carried.

I. C. Birmingham reported that construction work was in progress at the Public School. New cupboards for books had been erected and desks and forms fixed, old material being used for this purpose. This work was not yet completed.

A discussion followed with regard to the roofing of the Public School, the best method to apply and material to use. It was finally moved by Dr. Watson and seconded by I. Loucks that the matter be left to the Property Committee, who would report back to the Board. Carried. The question of finance was also discussed, the chairman stating that the total expenditure for the year should not exceed $500. It was thought that this amount would not cover the repairs necessary, so Dr. Watson made a motion, which was seconded by W. Cock, that the Finance Committee investigate and ascertain the maximum expenditure allowed. Carried.

Cadets Need Uniforms.

E. H. Greig, principal of the High School, presented a petition to the Board for the purchasing of more uniforms for the Cadets. He stated that the number of boys at school had increased considerably in the past year. "There are only 54 complete suits," he said, "and over 90 boys in the corps." Mr. Greig suggested the purchase of thirty complete outfits, thirty caps, fifteen pairs of pants and thirty pairs of putties.

It was moved by I. Loucks and seconded by Dr. Watson, that Mr. Greig's request be accepted and that a committee, consisting of the chairman of the Board, Rev. N. Clark Wallace and Dr. Watson, be appointed, with Principal Greig, to handle the matter. Carried.

Dr. Watson moved a hearty vote of thanks to the Principal and teachers of the High School in making the commencement exercises so great a success, seconded by Rev. N. Clark Wallace. Carried.

Mr. Greig, on behalf of the teaching staff, thanked the Board for all past favors and for their splendid spirit of co-operation.

The motion for adjournment was given by W. M. Stevens and seconded by W. Cock. Carried.

Home Use of Pleasant Hospital Method Helps Many Here End Head Cold, Cough, Chest Cold

Peterborough people no longer feel miserable and needlessly risk pneumonia by neglecting colds. For hospital doctors have made it tempting to end colds promptly at home by a quick method used to help reduce fever, remove congestion, and clear out the cold.

Miss Alice Ryan, hospital nurse, contracted a severe head and chest cold. Examination by the doctor showed a pulse of 86, respiration 20, and temperature 100°.

Within a short while after the doctor gave her double strength doses of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral she was surprised to find how quickly the cold started to clear up. That night she slept comfortably and woke up feeling greatly relieved. When she returned for medical examination the next day, her temperature, pulse and respiration were normal again and Cherry Pectoral had cleared up the cold completly.

Cases reported daily in this paper by the attending physician show that Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is ideal for adults and children. It is peasant, quick and positive in action—featured by A. G. Harris, all Peterborough druggists.

colonies have their own legislative assemblies; their revenue is based almost entirely on the taxes on goods entering and leaving. Mr. Mr. Baldwin also calls attention to the treaty obligations with other countries in respect of mandated territories.

Devotion Not Weakened

"While I am compelled in all honesty to point out these obstacles, do not imagine they weaken my devotion to what is the great Conservative ideal" he continued. "But I insist on facing the facts. Nevertheless Empire Free Trade is the ultimate vision of Empire which we can all keep before our eyes. I am convinced the policy of the Conservative party is the only business-like method with which to start on the journey."

Mr. Baldwin then declares the official Conservative policy embraces safeguarding duties for industry. Imperial preference, imperial rationalization of industries, and imperial co-operation.

"I see Lord Beaverbrook has taken upon himself the responsibility of leadership of a new political party, called the United Empire Party," Mr. Baldwin adds. "This can only be regarded as a most regrettable step which can do nothing but harm to the cause we have at heart.

"Lord Beaverbrook as a propagandist might have done a great deal of work for the Empire. As the leader of a new party in this country, he may undo much of the good work that has been done in the last few years. If he established a new organization and attracts some measure of support, he will have succeeded to a greater or less extent in achieving a split in the Conservative ranks.

Mean Labor Victory

"Lord Beaverbrook, I am sure, knows what his policy has been repudiated by political leaders in all our Dominions. In the circumstances it can only confuse the issue in our home politics, and present the Laborites with what they will welcome as an unexpected chance of winning the next general election.

"Speaking as leader of the Conservative and Unionist party, it is on national grounds that I appeal to our supporters to stand together and work for a practical policy of safeguarding, imperial preference and imperial development."

It is noteworthy that Mr. Baldwin throughout his statement makes no mention of Lord Rothermere, who has thrown the full support of the mighty circulation of his newspapers to the cause of Lord Beaverbrook's party.

CAVAN INSTITUTE ACCEPTS INVITATION

Mrs. R. S. Staples Hostess to Members of Society at Regular Meeting.

(Examiner Correspondence)

CAVAN, Feb. 25.—The Cavan Women's Institute met at the home of Mrs. R. S. Staples on Thursday afternoon. The president, Mrs. R. M. Howden, presided, opening the meeting with the singing of the Institute Ode, followed by the Lord's Prayer, repeated in unison.

After the reading of the minutes of the previous meeting, unfinished business was discussed. The secretary announced that the proceeds of the play "Miss Somebody Else", after expenses were paid was $8.27. An invitation was read from Mount Pleasant Women's Institute to join with them when they have a summer delegate in May. The invitation was accepted. A letter from the District Secretary concerning joining the "Federated Institutes" was read. This letter had been read at the January meeting, but for lack of time was left over.

It was decided that as the Institute year was so near its close, no action should be taken until the beginning of another year. The committee who had been appointed to plan for some means of adding to the funds in the treasury, reported that they had not decided upon anything yet. A communication was read from a society desiring to present a play in Cavanville. This letter was turned over to the committee. A number of plans were discussed but left over for future consideration.

A letter was read from Mr. Putnam requesting warm clothing for use in the north country. Miss M. E. Hunter said she had a quantity of good clothing which she would give if a committee was appointed to help her sew. This was done and a number of the Institute members will have a sewing bee next week to prepare clothing. Any other members who have any second hand clothing in good condition, which they will donate are requested to notify the secretary, Miss M. E. Hunter.

In February the group composed of Mrs. Kennedy, Mrs. Milton Carr, Miss Touchbourne, Mrs. Braithwaite, Mrs. Seeney and Mrs. Pritchard will be responsible for the place of meeting and providing the lunch. The program group will be Mrs. Paul, Mrs. Lamb, Mrs. Matchett, Mrs. Rowen, Mrs. E. Syer and Mrs. M. Sutton.

The roll call was answered by helpful hints for Saturday. After the business session, Mrs. R. S. Staples read a splendid paper on the League of Nations. The singing of the National Anthem brought the formal part of the meeting to a close.

The lunch committee assisted the hostess in serving lunch, and a short social time was enjoyed.

Among those present were: Mrs. R. M. Howden, Miss M. E. Hunter, Mrs. J. C. Swain, Mrs. J. H. Snider, Miss W. Cathcart, Mrs. M. G. Matchett, Mrs. D. J. Hunter, Mrs. J. E. Whitham, Mrs. H. ment had thought only of taking steps to ward off the unemployed and maintain power and position.

Gov't Unemployed Policy

This charge, the Prime Minister met by setting forth once more the views of the Government with respect to care of the unemployed. Unemployment was primarily a municipal problem, he contended. If too great for the municipality, it became a provincial problem. Under extraordinary conditions it was a problem for the Federal Government. Such a situation had arisen after the war.

And, declared Mr. King, the Government was at present assisting very materially in an indirect manner. Subsidies were being paid to the Provinces. The Government was contributing to Old Age pensions. Finally, the care of the returned soldier had been assumed from the outset by the Federal authorities. He did not contend that these were not federal obligations, but they constituted important contributions toward the care of the unemployed.

Mr. King seized the opportunity to elaborate on the announcement contained in the Speech from the Throne with respect to pensions legislation. The legislation to be introduced would treat of men who, while not suffering from any visible disability were nevertheless breaking down from unknown causes. The Bill would go to a committee. It was the desire of the Government that full justice be done to the returned men.

Gardiner on Wheat.

Once more came reference to the wheat situation when Robert Gardiner, U.F.A., followed the Prime Minister. He suggested that there should be an investigation into the whole matter of margin trading and short selling of grain, either by a Royal Commission or a committee of Parliament. He hoped and expected that before next August came round the West would have been able to dispose of all the wheat on hand at a reasonable price.

The final speaker of the evening was Ama Heaps, Labor Member for Winnipeg North, who charged the Minister of Labor, with standing idly by in the face of a great unemployment condition.

J. C. Brady, Conservative member for Skeena, will continue to debate to-day.

CATTLE, GRAIN, PRODUCE

MONTREAL PRODUCE

MONTREAL, Feb. 25.—A definitely easier tone was noted on the local butter market yesterday, finest New Zealand being quoted as low as 34½c, although 35c a qound was the average. Some 500 cases of New Zealand butter arrived here yesterday. Prices to the retail trade remained unchanged at 38c and 39c a pound.

The cheese market remained extremely quiet, with prices at 19c for Easterns, and 19c to 19½c for Westerns, continuing to prevail.

Reductions continued to take place on the egg markets, averaging 1c a dozen yesterday on all grades. Prices now range from 36c to 49c a dozen. The dressed poultry market remained unchanged.

The local potato market displayed a somewhat easier trend, reflecting a somewhat diminished demand. New Brunswick Green Mountains were quoted at $1.60 to $1.65 per 94 pounds in bulk, and Quebec at $1.60.

CHICAGO, Feb. 25.—In a sensational collapse of all grain prices yesterday, wheat suffered a vertical drop of 7⅜c a bushel, outdoing records going back 15 years. Whirlwind selling rushes and extreme dearth of buyers tumbled wheat values down to 56 cents a bushel below the season's top figures, barely escaping the old-time landmark of $1 a bushel here, but hitting it squarely at Kansas City. Reports of threatened exhaustion of storage facilities, with no adequate quick export outlet in sight, appeared to have nearly demoralized the wheat trade, forcing corn, oats and rye into upsets of all previous low-price records this season.

Fluctuating wildly, Chicago wheat trading closed excitedly 5¼c to 6½c a bushel lower than Friday's finish. Corn closed 2⅜c to 3¼ down; oats ⅞c to 1¼cc off, and provisions showing 20c to 25c drop.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG, Feb. 25.—Wheat looked in vain for support yesterday. Prices beat an orderly, hurried retreat to its lowest points of the year, and closed down 3⅜c to 2⅜c from Saturday's finish.

Scattered buying a few minutes from the final gong recovered a cent of the more than four-cent loss at noon, and saved the market from its weakest close in several days. Lack of any foreign interest in North American wheat, weakness at Liverpool and Chicago, and continued liquidation in the old crop futures accounted for the show of weakness here.

Support over the entire session was indifferent. A discouraging note was struck when week-end exports from the Continent were reported to be below 400,000 bushels.

Holders of cash wheat stood pat on the low-value market, and spreads were ½c better, with practically no business being done. Coarse grains eased off in sympathy with wheat.

Cash prices:

Wheat—No. 1 hard, $1.07⅞; No. 1 Northern, $1.07⅞; No. 2 Northern, $1.00⅛; No. 4, 93⅝c; No. 5, 89⅝; No. 6, 68⅛c; feed, 56⅝c; track, $1.08⅝; screenings, per ton, $6.

Oats—No. 2 C.W., 59⅛c; No. 3 C.W., 49⅞; extra No. 1 feed, 49⅞; No. 1 feed, 48⅞c; No. 2 feed, 46c; rejected, 42¼c; track 53¾c.

TORONTO PRODUCE.

TORONTO, Feb. 25. — Prices for eggs on the local wholesale produce market took another tumble yesterday and according to buyers the price will be even lower to-day. Toronto dealers were quoting country shippers for ungraded eggs, delivered, cases returned, 37c. to 38c. for extras; 34c to 35c for firsts, and 30c to 31c for seconds. Pullet extras were not being quoted now, as they are about done. The prices to retailers were also down again, and extras in cartons are quoted at 43c to 44c; extras, loose, 41c to 42c; firsts, 39c to 40c, and seconds, 38c.

The Chicago spot market was lower again yesterday at 26c to 26¼c, which means American eggs in Toronto at 31c to 32c. Brokers claim sales made early in the day of graded eggs, free cases, extras, 42c; firsts, 40c, and seconds, 38c. It was difficult to secure these prices later in the day.

The butter market continues dragging; the demand is very light. One sale of butter was recorded: 1,000 boxes at 32 1-8c in Halifax, which cost 34c in Toronto.

The S. S. Surrey, that is due to arrive from New Zealand with 106,000 boxes of butter, will not be so far behind schedule after all. She left New York on Sunday night, and will leave Boston to-night. She should be at Halifax some time Wednesday. This means another great load of butter from our sister Dominion this week.

Ontario potatoes dropped 5c yesterday. The reason given is that the New Brunswick product is preferred here when prices are equal, and as N. B. potatoes came down in price late last week and were selling on a par with "Ontarios" the demand made a reduction in the price of Ontario potatoes essential.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO, Feb. 25. (C.P.)—Bids were a shade lower on the Dominion Livestock Exchange at the opening, but the early sales on cattle were steady. Butcher steers sold from $8 to $10.25. Good butcher cows sold at $7.50 to 8.25. Milker and springer trade is very dull.

Calves opened steady at $14 to $14.50 with a few at $15.

Hogs were unsettled with bids 25c lower at $12.50 f.o.b., for bacons or $13.50 off car.

CLASSIFICATION PRINTING TRADE

S. McGuire Speaker at Weekly Luncheon of Camepbellford Rotary Club.

INTERESTING TALK.

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 25 (Examiner Staff Correspondence).—"Classification as a Printer," by S. McGuire, was the feature at the weekly luncheon of the Rotary Club, held at the St. Lawrence Hotel yesterday. A. MacColl presided.

Mr. McGuire defined printing as "the art or act of impressing figures or characters on paper," traced the history of the art to its first known origin in China. The oldest law book, the speaker said, was printed on a block and bore the date May 11, 868 A.D.

For many years block printing prevailed; in fact, until the invention of movable type. This invention has sometimes been called the greatest contribution to the human race, for it enables the exact preserving and transmission of all the arts and sciences.

"Type," said Mr. McGuire, "is divided into three classes—Raised, sunken, and flat." The art of printing itself consists of three distinct spheres—typesetting, making up the type, and press work. The speaker ably defined the method of typesetting, hand composition. The case with its compartments containing the numerous letters, the frame into which the type is set with its fifteen lines, called a "stick," and the method of make-up and proof-reading. Then the making up of the type into pages, and the completion of the form.

First Known in China

Of the press work, Mr. McGuire stated that the first movable type was known in China in the year 1041. It came to Europe between the years 1425-50, but it was left to the Germans to put it an a commercial basis, with the production of a Bible in the year 1453. In 1476 Caxton had the first printing press at Westminster, England. The press first came to North America in 1540, with its establishment in Mexico and United States was served by the printing device for Harvard College in 1638.

Speaking of the evolution of type, Mr. McGuire said that there was a demand for mechanical type as early as the 19th century. Several patents were brought out at the period, but were found to be unserviceable. Mark Twain and some of his friends lost a fortune in these experiments, he stated.

Typewriter as Forerunner

It was the typewriter, the speaker said, that was the forerunner of the present-day linotype. He spoke of the early Washington press of 1827, and traced its gradual improvement to the modern press now in use, which can turn out 100,000 copies of a 32-page paper, printed, folded and conveyed to the dispatching room in one printing.

SALVATION ARMY REVIVAL

A special campaign and revival is being planned by the Salvation Army here, to take place for March 12 to 18 inclusive, at the Army barracks. The visiting officer for this event will be Major H. Ritchie, Divisional Commander, of Toronto.

The campaign, which is in connection with "The Advance of Vital Things" has for its purpose a ten per cent. increase in all spheres of activity.

Arrangements are being made for the meeting by Captain Mediar, officer in charge of the corps here, and the program of meetings and services will be published later.

The advance Movement closes at Easter.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Hall, Rear street, Campbellford, motored to Toronto and spent the week-end.

Mr. John Hooper of Trenton spent the week-end in Campbellford visiting his parents and friends.

taken care of by the Government or other organizations."

The work the Red Cross is doing among the soldiers was touched on by the speaker. The government, he pointed out, provides merely the hospital care of the nivalid soldiers. It remains for the Red Cross to show to them that the people of Ontario have not forgotten their sacrifices or lost interest in them as individuals. The Red Cross help out with weekly personal visits, little gifts, help for the soldiers' families in times of sickness and monetary need and the provision of a Red Cross summer hospital.

Ready For Disasters.

Speaking of the Society's readiness for emergency and disaster relief, Dr. Routley said, "The Red Cross stands ready to deal with disaster in Canada whenever and wherever it may occur." These provisions include a hospital packed ready to ship at a moment's notice, an army of volunteer nurses ready to serve and understandings with the Militia Department and the railways for the provisions of emergency supplies and special trains.

Continuing, Dr. Routley claimed that the Junior Red Cross was one of the greatest undertakings of the present century. There are 45 nations and between 11 and 12 million children interested in it, he claimed. He explained the object of the Junior Red Cross as the grouping of the children of the nations and the bringing of the club spirit under the banner of the Red Cross in the interests of health, service and citizenship. Through this work the child is taught to take care of itself and form proper habits to extend beyond itself.

On another phase of the work, the speaker declared that there are 10,773 women in the province who have received instruction in home nursing. "I look for the day when every girl before she is through school will be given some real knowledge regarding the care of the sick," he stated.

Relief in Sick Houses.

The work of the visiting house committees of the Red Cross, Dr. Routley told the men, is to give relief in homes where the mother has been laid aside with illness and the bread-earner would otherwise have to stay home from his job. The service was inaugurated in Toronto four years ago and has already been effected in thousands of cases.

Introducing the subject of the Outpost Service Hospital of the Red Cross, Dr. Routley said: "One of our sources of pride is in the achievement of our pioneers. We have thousands of pioneers pushing into the north. He drew for his listeners some impressive word pictures of the great sacrifices and hardships that are undergone by pioneers in the Red Cross outpost hospitals far from civilization.

Closing he said, "We have embarked upon a great service, not only a service in the prevention of disease but a service designed to aid materially in the building up of our nation. In 1929, over $307 000 was used and in 1930, $325,000 will be required to carry on our work."

RADIO LICENSES.

Figures from Ottawa show that officially Canada now has 375,000 radios in operation, an increase of 75,000 over last year, and figuring out at the rate of a receiving set for every 27 persons.

The actual number is likely to be very much in advance of this official computation, for in spite of frequent warnings and an occasional police court summons it is a fact that in every section of the country there are receiving sets on which no license has been paid.

Should the proposed radio bill, doing away with privately-owned broadcasting stations, come into force following the present session of Parliament, it can be taken for granted that there will be an increase in the cost of individual licenses, in which case the regulation will be enforced with much more vigor than it has been up to the present.

No one objects to paying the small fee now charged for a radio license—but most people who have been careful to a apply for a license each year as required by law have a natural aversion to paying when they know that some of their neighbors have ignored the regulations and got away with it.

The adoption of the new radio bill would probably bring about a decided change in this respect.

DEATH UNDER ANAESTHETICS.

The large number of deaths of persons while under anaesthetics in Toronto hospitals is a matter that calls for a thorough investigation.

While other centres have escaped such an epidemic of sudden deaths, the matter is one that affects all sections of the Province, for undoubtedly the confidence of the public has been severely shaken, and unless the whole situation is satisfactorily cleared up physicians everywhere will be put in an embarrassing position.

So long as the death-under-anaesthetics rate continues to run as high as it has been doing in Toronto recently it is going to be difficult to convince patients that it wouldn't be wiser to put up with the inconvenience of minor ailments than to run the risk of being snuffed out during an operation to correct those ailments.

Even the layman is satisfied that there is something seriously wrong somewhere, and he wants to know just where the trouble is.

Until he is satisfied he is going to fight shy at least of minor operations, for he would rather carry around an over-ripe tonsil or a few adenoids than to be unable to carry around anything.

The medical profession should take the lead in demanding a rigid investigation of the whole problem.

THE DOG ULTIMATUM.

Judging from the number of canines seen on local streets, the order calling upon owners of dogs to keep them chained up would seem to be regarded by many people as meaningless.

The authorities should see to it that that impression is corrected.

The order was issued, not as a bluff or a joke, but as a precaution needed to prevent an outbreak of a serious disease that might threaten human life in this city.

The minimum fine for allowing a dog to run at large in defiance of the formal warning issued by the mayor is $50, and it may be necessary to show the teeth in the order by inflicting a few such fines on dog owners who persist in ignoring the precaution insisted on by the Dominion authorities.

We cannot afford to wait until the lives of citizens are in danger before making it plain that a rigid order to protect the public must be obeyed to the letter.

Those people who defy the law and allow their dogs to run the risk of rabies will have to be taught a lesson; it appeals to their common sense fail they must be hit in the region of their pocketbook, which may be a more sensitive spot at which to aim.

BRIDGING THE GAP.

The Peterborough Rotary Club held its annual farmers' Day yesterday, and more than fifty representative farmers enjoyed the hospitality of the local service club and listened to an address of more than usual interest on a subject of great moment to the farming community, i.e., the question of rural depopulation and what immigration can do to improve conditions in that respect.

These get-together luncheons, which are a yearly feature of Rotary activity in this district, are designed for the purpose of improving the relationships existing between the farmers on one hand and city dwellers on the other.

The welfare of each class is bound up in that of the other; what benefits the farmer benefits the urban resident, what hurts the man in the city hurts the man on the farm.

More and more these facts are being realized, and out of just such gatherings as promoted by the Rotary Club here yesterday is arising a new spirit, a better understanding and a more cordial relationship.

Such a development is welcome; it means a great deal to all classes in the community, for it will lead inevitably to great prosperity for Canadians generally.

The service clubs undertake many worth-while efforts, but none is more deserving of success than this sincere attempt to bridge the gap between city and country.

BIG BUSINESS AND FOUR CENTS.

The British Postoffice Department is one of the biggest businesses in the world. In addition to the gigantic postal work, it handles savings bank deposits, and has a complete monopoly of all the internal telephone and telegraph services in the country. Many billions of dollars' worth of transactions pass through its hand every year, and one would hardly expect that such an undertaking would care twopence about a mere twopence.

But a Londoner had an experience the other day which commands the respect of the Britisher who is apt to grouse about the public services.

A man called up a friend from a public telephone booth, and after putting his two pennies in the box was unable to obtain contact. He then went into a store near by and sought the use of the telephone. He pre- [illegible] at the booth. The girl apologized profusely and said she would take the matter up.

A little later the occupier of the store received a ring from the operator asking if he knew the name and address of the party who had spoken to her as she had forgotten to ask. The occupier did know, and furnished the information.

Two or three days later the telephone customer received a letter from the head office saying: "Enclosed please find stamps value 2d. as refundment of the amount expended by you in call office —— in respect of an ineffective call to —— on the ——. Any inconvenience occasioned you in the matter is regretted."

Whatever faults the telephone branch of the British Postoffice Department may have, it is scrupulously honest and courteous.—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

REVENUE FROM LIQUOR SALES.

The revenue derived from liquor sales profits has come to be a very considerable item on the credit side of the annual budgets of the various Canadian Provinces. Ontario and Quebec treasuries benefited to the extent of about $8,000,000 each last year, while other Provinces profited in proportion, with the people of British Columbia, only 600,000 in number, more than holding their own by consuming $20,000,000 worth of wines and spirits, $4,500,000 of which is represented in revenue. Indeed, the citizens of the Pacific Province are prominent candidates for the doubtful honor of the drinking championship of Canada. In fairness, however, it must be said that the Government of Victoria only pockets 50 per cent. of the latter figure, public hospitals receiving 15 per cent., school boards 10 per cent., and municipalities 25 per cent. But even the $2,250,000 remaining represents a considerable percentage of the provincial income. According to the Hon. W. H. Price, Attorney-General, Ontario's total drink bill last year exceeded $56,487,000 without counting more than a million dollars spent for wines.

While it is evident that, for the present, the majority of Canadians are satisfied with the system of Government liquor sale now in vogue, it would be absurd to say that the liquor question is settled once and for all. It may well be that some or all of the Provinces will have a change of heart some day, and desire to return to a stricter system, or some other scheme which would be less lucrative from the point of view of the provincial treasuries. In view of such possibilities the wisdom of depending so heavily upon liquor revenue in the balancing of provincial budgets is a doubtful one. The sudden elimination of this source of revenue would demoralize provincial finances. Furthermore, the various Governments, human nature being what it is, are not to be expected to bend every effort to carry out the declared policy of discouraging, rather than encouraging drinking, if every bottle sold means more money to spend in any way they may see fit.—Brantford Expositor.

GUARD THE ROSE BUSHES.

That keen observer of the seasons, Jack Miner, sees all about him the evidences of an early spring; but there is a delicate note of apprehensions in his comment: "Just the same, I am not uncovering my rose bushes yet." He notes that down in Essex the bees are humming, tulips are shooting up, "cardinals are chanting their notes of good cheer," the sparrows are chirping, and the wild geese are stopping in large numbers on their journey north to enjoy the hospitality of his halfway house. But he is not uncovering his rose bushes.

There is general rejoicing over the advent of spring—it is always a season of rejoicing—but it is well to remember that the early arrival of the season of growth is accompanied by danger. All the living things in nature that have been slumbering during the winter months respond to the touch of balmy weather, and even the birds of the air and the wild denizens of the forest pay no attention to the calendar when the soothing wind and the warm touch of the sun herald their season of renewed activity.

This may turn out to be an unusual year. Winter began weeks ahead of its customary schedule, and has been steady and severe—an "old-time winter," such as the veterans love to recall. For many years past the weather at this season has been unworthy of the term winter, with the result that well on toward June there has been a discouraging chill in the air. Should there be an early spring, with continued warmth, all well and good. Nature may have this in store. But the general experience has been that early growth suffers from later frosts. Farmers know better than other people the danger of this, and will hesitate to "go on the land" until the usual time, no matter what the conditions may be. They will not uncover their rose bushes.

It also will be a time of uncertainty and timidity for the fruit-growers, with the fear always uppermost that an early and promising crop may be ruined by one night of frost. Should nature be in a generous and consistent mood this year, the advanced arrival of spring will be welcomed; but the sage of Kingsville has set a good example for all Canadians who grow things: Don't uncover the rose bushes just yet.—The Globe.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

This may not be spring, but Western Ontario farmers have been tapping their sugar maples.

About the only time some of those little rivers throughout the Province get their names in the papers is when they go on a rampage in the spring. Real rivers like the Otonabee don't let a little thing like a thaw bother them.

Aerial bombs are to be used in the border rum war But it is a safe wager that supplies for thirsty Americans will continue to go forward.

The Attorney-General must have rubbed his eyes when he saw a "Well Done, Mr. Price" heading in the Globe the other day.

A member of the Ontario Legislature yawned and got his name in the papers. At that rate those fellows who drop off to sleep ought to get at least half a column on the front page.

A Thought

LOVE AND LIGHT

Love and light and peace are just the elements of character least susceptible of verbal exposition. They represent an atmosphere rather than any ponderable or identifiable entity; one must live in them and as it were, feel the play of them to realize their power and beauty when embodied in a plenary nature and lovable personality.—Dr. C. M. Stuart.

What To-day Means To You

"PISCES."

If February 25th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 11 a.m. to 12.30 p.m., from 5 p.m. to 6.30 p.m. and from 11 p.m. to midnight. The danger periods are from 7 a.m. to 9.30 a.m. and from 3 p.m. to 4 p.m.

The benign influences of Jupiter will be felt on this date—you will feel as though you were sitting on top of the world. Financial and worldly success are the order of the day. Social activities will be numerous.

The child born on this February 25th will be naturally well mannered and well behaved. It should cause its parents considerable pride and little worry and should make shining place for itself in the world. It will not be found lacking in either grit or courage.

You are cursed with two weaknesses which cause you untold misery, envy and jealousy. You have fastidious tastes about your surroundings and your personal adornment, and you choose to eat only foods fit for the gods. The meals for the mind should be just as fastidiously chosen, but unfortunately, you often fill your head with poisoned thoughts. Mental toxins are as dangerous as physical toxins and as hard to counteract. You allow revengeful, hateful, jealous thoughts to derange the rhythm of your life, and to destroy the sweetness and goodness of your nature. Envy keeps dissatisfaction forever at your door—you are never able to "catch up" with your friends—to you their good fortune and prosperity are always greater than yours.

You have an inquisitive nature, and you love to dig to the roots of all things, although many times it would be better for your own peace of mind, if you were willing to take things as they seem. Money has great value in your eyes, and you have a great deal of respect for its power; you are rather inclined to think that it will buy all things, including happiness. Your generosity is limited; it will never permit you to scrimp "number one." The person who captures your love, will have considerable influence over you and your life. You should marry someone whose birthday is in the same month as yours, or in July.

By S. S. VAN DINE

"Yes; and one of the first things to be done is to go over this house with a fine-tooth comb for that revolver. If we could find that gun we'd be on our way."

"I don't want to damp your ardor, Sergeant," drawled Vance, "but something whispers in my ear that the weapon you yearn for is going to prove dashed elusive."

Heath looked depressed; he was obviously of Vance's opinion.

He went to the archway and yanked the bellcord viciously. When Sproot appeared he almost barked his demand that Mr. Rex Greene be produced at once; and he stood looking truculently after the retreating butler as if longing for an excuse to follow up his order with violence.

Rex came in nervously, a half-smoked cigarette hanging from his lips. His eyes were sunken; his cheeks sagged, and his short splay fingers fidgeted with the hem of his smoking jacket, like those of a man under the influence of hyoscine. He gave us a resentful half-frightened gaze, and, planted himself aggressively before us, refusing to take the seat Markham indicated. Suddenly he demanded fiercely:

"Have you found out who killed Julia and Chester?"

"No," Markham admitted; "but we've taken every precaution against any recurrence.

"Precaution? What have you done?"

A cackling laugh cut him short.

"A lot of good that'll do! The person who's after us Greenes has a key. He has a key, I tell you! And he can get in whenever he wants to, and nobody can stop him."

"I think you exaggerate a little," returned Markham mildly. "In any case, we hope to put our hands on him very soon. And that's why I've asked you here again—it's quite possible that you can help us."

"What do I know?" The man's words were defiant, and he took several long inhalations on his cigarette, the ashes of which fell upon his jacket unnoticed.

"You were asleep, I understand, when the shot was fired last night," went on Markham's quiet voice; "but Sergeant Heath tells me you were awake until after eleven and heard noises in the hall. Suppose you tell us just what happened."

"Nothing happened!" Rex blurted. "I went to bed at half-past ten, but I was too nervous to sleep. Then, some time later, the moon came out and fell across the foot of the bed; and I got up and pulled down the shade. About ten minutes later I heard a scraping sound in the hall, and directly afterward a door closed softly—"

"Just a moment, Mr. Greene," interrupted Vance. "Can you be a little more definite about that noise? what did it sound like?"

"I didn't pay any attention to it," was the whining reply. "It might have been almost anything. It was like some one laying down a bundle, or dragging something across the floor; or it might have been old Sproot in his bedroom slippers, though it didn't sound like them—that is, I didn't associate him with the sound when I heard it."

"And after that?"

"After that? I lay awake in bed ten or fifteen minutes longer. I was restless and—and expectant; so I turned on the lights to see what time it was and smoked half a cigarette—"

"It was twenty-five minutes past eleven, I understand."

"That's right. Then a few minutes later I put out the light, and must have gone right to sleep."

There was a pause, and Heath drew himself up aggresively.

"Say, Greene, know anything about firearms?" He shot the question out brutally.

Rex stiffened. His lips sagged open and his cigarette fell to the floor. The muscles of his thin jowls twitched, and he glared menacingly at the sergeant.

"What do you mean?" The words were like a snarl; and I noticed that his whole body was quivering.

Rex's mouth was working in a paroxysm of fury and fear, but he seemed unable to articulate.

"Where have you got it hidden?" Again Heath's voice sounded harshly.

"Revolver?—* * * Hidden? * * "At last Rex had succeeded in formulating his words. "You—filthy rotter! If you've got any idea that I have the revolver, go up and tear my room apart and look for it—and be damned to you!" His eyes flashed, and his upper lip lifted over his teeth. But there was fright in his attitude as well as rage.

Heath had leaned forward and was about to say something further, when Vance quickly rose and laid a restraining hand on the sergeant's arm. He was too late, however, to avoid the thing he evidently hoped to forestall. What Heath had already said had proved sufficient stimulus to bring about a terrible reaction in his victim.

"What do I care what that unspeakable swine says?" he shouted, pointing a palsied finger at the sergeant. Oaths and vituperation welled shrilly from his twitching lips. His insensate wrath seemed to pass all ordinary bounds. His enormous head was thrust forward like a python's; and his face was cyanosed and contorted.

Vance stood poised, watching him alertly; and Markham had instinctively moved back his chair. Even Heath was started by Rex's inordinate malignity.

What might have happened if don't know, had not Von Blon at that moment stepped swiftly into the room and placed a restraining hand on the youth's shoulder.

"Rex!" he said, in a calm, authoritative voice. "Get a grip on yourself. You're disturbing Ada."

The other ceased speaking abruptly; but his ferocity of manner did not wholly abate. He shook off the doctor's hand angrily and swung round, facing Von Blon.

"What are you interfering for?" he cried. "You're always meddling in this house, coming here when you're not sent for, and nosing into our affairs. Mother's paralysis is only an excuse. You've said yourself she'll never get well, and yet you keep coming, bringing her medicine and sending bills." He gave the doctor a crafty leer. "Oh, you, don't deceive me. I know why you come here! It's Sibella!" Again he thrust out his head and grinned shrewdly. "She'd be a good catch for a doctor, too—wouldn't she? Plenty of money—"

Suddenly he halted. His eyes did not leave Von Blon, but he shrank back and the twitching of his face began once more. A quivering finger went up; and as he spoke his voice rose excitedly.

"But Sibella's money isn't enough. You want ours along with hers. So you're arranging for her to inherit all of it. That's it—that's it! You're the one who's been doing all this. * * * You've got Chester's gun—you took it! And you've got a key to the house—easy enough for you to have one made. That'show you got it."

Von Blon shook his head sadly and smiled with rueful tolerance. It was an embarrassing moment, but he carried it off well.

"Come, Rex," he said quietly, like a person speaking to a refractory child. "You've said enough—"

"Have I!" cried the youth, his eyes gleaming unnaturally. "You knew Chester had the revolver. You went camping with him the summer he got it—he told me so the other day, after Julia was killed." His beady little eyes seemed to stare from his head; a spasm shook his emaciated body; and his fingers again began worrying the hem of his jacket.

"That'll do, Rex!" The words were a sharp command. "If you carry on this way, we'll have to lock you up in an institution."

The threat was uttered in what I considered an unnecessarily brutal tone; but it had the desired effect. A haunting fear showed in Rex's eyes. He seemed suddenly to go limp, and he dociley permitted Von Blon to lead him from the room.

THE TOONERVILLE TROLLEY THAT MEETS ALL THE TRAINS — 25

CO-OPERATION AMONG FARMERS NECESSARY TO INSURE SUCCESS OF INDUSTRY, STATES SPEAKER

INTERESTING TALK.

BAILIEBORO, Feb. 22.—(Examiner Correspondence.)—It is seldom that the citizens of Cavan and South Monaghan have the privilege of hearing so gifted and eloquent a speaker as was their privilege on Wednesday evening, when William Irvine, M. P. of Wetaskawin, Alberta, addressed a large audience in the council hall at Centreville.

Mr. Irvine spoke on co-operation among the great farmer class of Canada. His lecture was made more concrete with assistance of a blackboard on which he had many diagrams which formed a basis for the lecture.

In making a beginning, Mr. Irvine traced through the development of the "amoeba" (the lowest form of life); also the development of music from the simple monotone singing of a savage, to the production of great symphonies. To these two development he likened the development of society. Society in Canada is divided into five groups: Planciers, manufacturers, professionals, farmers and laborers. Sixty-five per cent. of the population are farmers. All the other groups have some form of union or understanding but the farmer carries on competing with, rather than co-operating with, his fellow farmers.

Higher Production.

Mr. Irvine stated that the production of the Canadian farmers, far above that of other countries, was quite satisfactory, but not without room for improvement. The trouble with Canadian farmers is that they are not doing their trading in a practical way. When a professional man does work he tells you what he wants for his services. When a tradesman is selling merchandise he states his price, and you may take it or leave it. When the farmer, however, wishes to sell his produce, he asks how much he can get for it. Wheat pools, co-operatives, etc., are trying to solve this serious problem, but without the backing of all farmers they are restricted in their powers to solve the problem.

The division of Canada's annual production was likened to a raffle. All classes or groups have a hand on the bag containing the produce, and begin to shake it for their respective shares. When all is done the farmer alone holds the bag, but there is nothing in the bag, not even the bottom.

At the close of the address J. C. Campbell moved a hearty vote of thanks to the speaker for his instructive, interesting and entertaining address. This was seconded by the local U.F.O. president, Mr. Harold Dawson.

The remainder of the program consisted of readings by Wm. Reich, Miss D. Hall and Miss Darling. Piano instrumentals by Miss Grace Johnstone and Mrs. H. Dawson, and a solo by K. Barnard, accompanied on the piano by Miss V. White.

Lunch was served by the ladies at the conclusion of the program.

WHEAT GAINS LATE SESSION

Prices Rebound After Panicky Drop Below the Dollar Mark.

ADVANCE AT WINNIPEG.

CHICAGO, Ill., Feb. 25 (C.P.) — Wheat prices crashed down below the dollar mark to-day in a panicky drop five cents below yesterday's figures and then as sensationally rebounded in the last hour of trading to finish at ⅝c decline to 58c advance.

The mid-session prices were the lowest for this season and below any offers at this time of year in many seasons. March futures dropped as low as 98¾ cents a bushel, and May sold down to $1.02¾.

The final quotations were: March $1.04⅞; May $1.08½ to ⅞; July $1.10⅛ to ½, and September $1.13½ to ¾.

Advance at Winnipeg

WINNIPEG, Man., Feb. 25 (C.P.)—Wheat prices on the local exchange, after descending to new season's low quotations, bounded upward within a few minutes of the close to-day and were only ¼c to ¼c below yesterday's final figures.

The last minute rally resulted from a sharp upswing at Chicago, where prices came back from low points to the extent of five and six cents. The rally was credited to reports that the United States Farm Board was buying wheat in the Chicago Pit.

LAUDER'S RIB IS O. K.

GARY, Ind.—Sir Harry Lauder, today dissipated reports that he had been playing before Chicago audiences with a broken rib. In the first place, the comedian said, his rib was not broken. In the second, the slight injury he sustained had been adequately treated. Third, he's now in good shape and was while in Chicago.

FURTHER CHARGE HEARD

SIMCOE, Ont., Feb. 25 (C.P.). —A new charge has been laid against Charles Rockefeller, resident of Port Rowan, who was recently sentenced to one year's imprisonment for indecent assault against a nine-year-old girl. The new charge involves the 14-year-old sister of the younger girl. The new count provides a penalty of five years' imprisonment.

HIGH-GRADE BOND HOLDERS WILL PROFIT DURING YEAR

Matthews and Company Predicts Optimistic Business Outlook For 1930.

DEPRESSION ON MARKET.

TORONTO, Feb. 25. (Special to Examiner.)—Matthews and Company say the relaxation in money rates has not yet exerted its full influence on the price of high grade bonds, attractive yields are still obtainable and believe that the investor in such securities will profit during the coming year. This house believes that 1930 will be a good business year, although the level of business will undoubtedly be considerably lower than that of 1929. It must, however, be borne in mind that last year's volume of business in Canada was substantially greater than even the peak of war time activity, consequently a recession from the peak would not necessarily mean a business depression. The commercial demand for money is already less urgent than at anytime during the past year and money rates should continue to show easing tendencies, which in time will reflect itself in higher price levels for fixed income bearing securities.

Slight Depression.

There was not much of a market in early trading on the Toronto stock exchange to-day. Prices gave way slightly in sympathy with Wall Street and there was nothing that could be properly described as liquidating pressure here and there losses ran to a point but most declines were fractional in character. Buyers were taking stocks at recessions and sellers had to take what was offered or withdraw. The market has become stagnent and the public is without enthusiasm and offered a little encouragement in the way of leadership. The old popular favorites can get nowhere and have been slipping for weeks. Too much is being heard of the depression in general business to give the trading public an opportunity to become bullish. Otherwise the local market is in a good technical position with the floating supply of the good stocks being gradually diminished by purchases for investment account.

Strength in Durant

Recent strength in the shares of Durant Motors of Canada on the local market is experience by the fact that a substantial order had been placed for the stock and not to developments within the company itself. It is stated certain interests were out to secure a size-able block and had been picking up the shares over an extended period only disturbing the market near the end when the bid price was raised to unlodge sufficient stock to complete execution at the time a report of earnings was published based on an estimate earlier in the year which did not give full consideration to the changes that have since taken place in the motor car industry generally.

Shareholders of Canadian corporations are learning the extent which the partial crop failure and the holding of wheat from the market hurt business in the final months of 1929. Financial statements appearing of late in many cases have carried remarks of executive heads stating the first half of the year was excellent for profit but that the latter six months were not so good. At the annual meeting of B. A. oil shareholders were told the first six months operations resulted in a gain of 39.5 per cent in profits while the final half of 1929 practically wiped out this advantage and the same is equally true of others. Invariably, all concluded with more optimistic remarks on the outlook for 1930 and officials are looking forward to normal business in the current year.

WHEAT AND COTTON BREAK UNSETTLED NEW YORK MARKET

Early Gains in Public Utilities Section Wiped Out in Later Section.

HEAVY LIQUIDATION.

By Stanley W. Prenosil Associated Press Financial Editor.

NEW YORK, N. Y., Feb. 25.—A fresh collapse in wheat and cotton prices to new low levels for the season, coupled with a sharp break in rubber futures, unsettled the stock market again to-day after an early interval of strength which was featured by a brisk demand for the public utilities and a selected assortment of specialties. Early gains of 1 to 3 points, were quickly cut down or wiped out, and by early afternoon the general market was reactionary, losses of 1 to 5 points being scattered over a broad list.

A firm opening of the commodity markets provided the background for the early recovery in stocks, with buying also influenced by a series of favorable dividend and earnings reports. The break in March wheat to $1 a bushel, or nearly 4 cents below Monday's close, together with the decline of about $1.50 a bale in May cotton which sold below 15 cents a pound for the first time this year, started a renewal of selling pressure against stocks.

CRUDE OIL HOLDERS LIQUIDATING STOCKS

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 25. (C.P.)—Consistent declines in commodity markets have cast a pall of gloom over securities markets. When the price of wheat tumbled to around yesterday's lows the Toronto Stock Market to-day sagged and losses occurred in practically all classes of stocks.

Stocks like Brazilian, international nickel, Ford of Canada, changed by only small fractions, but nearly always on the down side. The oils have been heavy for some time now and there is no indication of an immediate improvement in the crude oil situation, tired holders are lightening holdings with the result that the principal oils are down around their lows for the year. At midday to-day, B. A. oil was selling at 36, the new at 18½, Imperial at 23 and international petroleum at 18½.

Massey-Harris, affected by the psychology of the wheat situation to a greater extent than most other stocks, declined to a new low at 34½, while Cockshutt Plow was down to its previous bottom of 20.

Selling renewed in Walkers to-day, the price slipping back to 9 after having been up to 10½ recently.

BLIZZARDS SWEEP WEST.

ST. PAUL, Minn.—Thunder storms and blizzards gave the North-west a wide variety of February weather yesterday and was blamed for three drownings in Minneapolis.

From one-half to three inches of rain fell in parts of North Dakota, Minnesota and Wisconsin. The rain in North Dakota was followed by a snow storm that covered the ground with a nine-inch blanket.

McGILL COPS HONORS

LONDON, Ont., Feb. 24. (C.P.)—Defeating McGill University, 53 points to 41, University of Toronto captured the intercollegiate girls basketball championship here Saturday for the fifth time in the eight years of its existence. In the consolation event, Queen's University lost to University of Western Ontario, 30 to 2.

Central Mexico is to have a new airway line.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE.

NEW YORK, N.Y., Feb. 25. (C.P.)—Foreign exchange steady; demand rates (Great Britain in dollars; others in cents): Great Britain 4.85 13-16; Canadian dollar 9-16 of one per cent discount.

CHICAGO GAINS FAIL TO HOLD

Prices Suffer Setback in Face of Continued Dearth of Export Business.

PROVISIONS EASIER.

CHICAGO, Ill., Feb. 25. (C.P.)—Wheat scored moderate early upturns in price here to-day, but the gains failed to hold well in the face of continued dearth of export business. Relative firmness of wheat quotations at Liverpool and Buenos Aires helped to bring about the rallies here, the effect in Chicago however, being minimized by reports that the Liverpool advance was largely due to Argentine shippers purchasing future delivery contracts at Liverpool.

Opening unchanged to 1¼ higher, Chicago wheat afterward rose all around, and then at times receded to below yesterday's finish. Corn and oats averaged higher, with corn starting unchanged to ¾ up and subsequently reacting. Provisions were easier.

LIST DROPS IN HEAVY SELLING

Lindsley Group Continues to Show Outstanding Weakness in To-day's Session.

ON STANDARD EXCHANGE.

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 25. (C.P.)—Little effort towards support was evident in the mining market during the early session to-day, recessions in the face of some particularly heavy liquidations being general throughout the list.

The Lindsleys continued to display outstanding weakness, Falconbridge, hitting a new low of $3.80 for a loss of 45. Sudbury basin dropped 20 to $2.75, Ventures 14 to $1.52 and Sherritt Gordon 5.

The golds were easier, Lake Shore selling off a quarter, Dome and Hollinger 10 each and Teck Hughes 15. Howey weakened badly, dropping 7 to 81, Wright-Hargreaves was off 15 to $1.70 and Vipond 3. Kirkland Lake gold, on the strength of favorable reports firmed up 3 to 80.

The higher priced stocks did not escape, International Nickel receding a half to $37.25, Noranda 60 to $38.65 and Hudson Bay 45 to $12.05. The Pacific Coast group was quiet, premier easing a point to $——

Amulet and Abana were the weak spots in the general list, the former dropping 7 to $132 and latter 6 to $1.12.

The oils continued particularly weak.

CHICAGO WHEAT.

CHICAGO, Ill., Feb. 25.)Wheat, March, 1.04 3-8; May, 1.08 7-8; July, 1.11½; Corn, March, 82½; May, 86 1-8; July, 88 5-8; Oats, March, 40¾, May 42 3-8; July 42 3-8.

Solloway Company On New Cash Basis

CALGARY, Alta., Feb. 25. (C.P.)—The future policy of Solloway, Mills and Company, Limited, will be to conduct their mining and oil business on a cash basis, effective March 15, said I. W. C. Solloway, president of the company, on arrival here last night. The statement was made following a Winnipeg despatch declaring that all margin accounts of the company were to be taken up by March 15.

"The grain business of the company," explained Mr. Solloway will be carried on as heretofore, as well as a bond investment, financing the better class mining and oil companies."

DOWN TREND IS DUE TO LACK OF PUBLIC INTEREST

Traders Holding Off From Active Market Participation at Present.

Short Question Answered.

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 25. (Special to Examiner.)—Absence of public interest was blamed in many circles for the outstanding weakness of the mining list during the early session to-day, the evident liquidation being met with little buying support at any stage. The general character of the movement would seem to indicate that whatever buying had been adding buoyancy to the board has been discontinued, and that the selling which has been under way for several weeks was gaining the ascendency.

Traders are at a loss to definitely decide their present market position and, as a result, appear to be holding off from active participation at present. Speculators want to know who is entitled to sell short and whether it is lawful or not to do so.

It is legal to sell short. The security, however, must first be borrowed and then delivered, and the short selling client must place sufficient funds in his account to protect the broker against loss and assure of sufficient money to permit of the buying back of the security sold when the party lending the stock in the first place demands delivery. This latter operation is what is termed covering.

There are no restrictions as to who may sell short provided it is done legally. The question of whether the broker may go short against his clients is under consideration by the government at present and legislation will be brought down in the provincial house in the near future to prohibit this action.

Wright Hargreafes Meeting.

The annual meeting of shareholders of Wright Hargreaves mines is being held in Buffalo this afternoon.

The probable date at which the annual report of the Ontario Department of Mines will be available for publication has been the subject of enquiry. It is understood copies will be released first to the meeting of the Canadian Institute of Mining Metallurgy on the first day of their convention, March 5th.

It is understood that the installation at Newbec larger mining equipment is going ahead in a promising manner. Raising is now under way from the 125 level and it is intended to take out a considerable amount of the high grade ore indicated on this horizon. This ore will be shipped to Noranda smelters.

A good deal of the weakness in Home oil is attributed to the fact that numbers 1 and 2 wells have been frozen over and off production for several days. This is only a temporary condition and while earnings suffer to some extent, it is doubtful if they will be affected sufficiently to interfere with the companys dividend plans for policy.

CASE OF THE CROWN PRESENTED

roved all about the room. At the noon recess, at Marcham's earnest request, the reporter smuggled him a cigarette just before his guard handcuffed him and led him away. As he was going out he said, "You ain't heard the worst of it yet."

First Witness Called.

Mrs. Annie Reill, who stated she had lived for ten years in the Gooderham district, and had known Norman for two years, was the first witness called by the Crown. She said that Norman worked in the bush. About two months ago the Switzers with their three children had come to live with Norman, whose small house was two miles from her place. Mrs. Reill said she was Norman's closest neighbor, and had told her several times that "things weren't going well between him and the Switzers." At noon on January 28th, the day of the murder, Norman rapped at her door, and said "I have killed Mrs. Switzer and set fire to the house. Go up and get the Switzer children." 'He carried a big axe over his shoulder," Mrs. Reill stated. He told her he was going into Gooderham to give himself up. Mrs. Reill said she found the three Switzer children half way between her place and Norman's. They were plowing through the snow in a bitterly cold wind.

No Shoes on his Feet.

"The youngest child," she said, "had only a pair of stockings on his feet. They were all nearly frozen."

Cross-examined, Mrs. Reill said that Norman was very bad-tempered. He got mad about little things, and on one occasion, she said, he killed his dog in a fit of temper when the dog would not chase the cows.

"He told me he had cut the dog up," she explained. Norman was also subject to fits of moody depression, but these she stated did not last long.

Found Remains of Body.

Dr. C. E. Frain, a young doctor, and coroner of the Gooderham district, who was one of the first to come upon the still smouldering ruins of Norman's shack, was next called.

Dr. Frain said he found the remains of a body in the ruins. The remains were only two feet long, there being no arms or limbs on the body. There were evidences of the head and limbs but they had been pulverized by the flames. There was no evidence at the time of an injury to the body by an axe that might have caused death.

A resident of Gooderham, Mrs. Maggie Billings was next called. She said she had met Norman on January 28, about 12 o'clock, on the road to Gooderham.

"When three rods from me he shouted—'Stop!'" she said. 'I checked the horse, and he came up and said, "In the name of the Lord God, I have committed murder—I was driven to it," he said. "I asked him if he had killed Mrs. Switzer. He said 'No,' Mrs. Billings continued. "He asked me to drive him into Gooderham, as he wanted to give himself up. He said he wouldn't hurt a hair of my head.

She was not cross-examined.

Officer tells his Story.

"I got a phone call from Switzer at Bear Lake, about 11 o'clock on Jan. 28," said Provincial Constable Dovell, of Gooderham, who had arrested Norman. The officer said he came back to the house in answer to a phone call from his wife to find Norman standing on his porch.

"Norman said to me, "I guess you will have to arrest me. I have committed murder." He said he had killed Mrs. Switzer with an axe, Constable Dovell said.

"Norman had the axe with him" the witness continued. Norman said, pointing to the axe, "I brought this along, you will need it". The axe was a big one. Its blade was covered with blood to within an inch of the back. Norman said he had struck Mrs. Switzer in the back" said the officer.

"I put him under arrest and then set him at the table for dinner. He told me he had been driven to commit the murder. He said he had gone upstairs to make a fire and Mrs. Switzer had come up and he had killed her. "He said that later he had set fire to the house.

Constable Dovell described finding the burned remains of Mrs. Switzer's body in the ruined shack. Cross-examined he said that Norman had claimed that he had gone up stairs with an axe to break up the furniture. "He said he was in a temper" the witness continued. "Mrs. Switzer, he told me, had come upstairs to try and stop him. He hauled off with the axe and struck her, he said. Later he set fire to the house."

"When I placed him under arrest his lip dropped" Dovell said, in describing Norman. "Afterward he seemed quite normal and happy. When I put him in the lockup he asked me if I had a good book to read. I borrowed With Wolfe in Canada for him and I saw him reading it."

Came in at Dinner Time

Clifford Reill, 16-year-old son of Mrs. Annie Reill, was the next witness called. He said he had known the accused for two years and always as Norman. About noon on January 28, when the Reill family were at dinner, the witness said he saw Norman coming down the road.

"He was walking fast and he had an axe over his shoulder," Reill said. "He bolted through our door and shouted, "I've killed Mrs. Switzer, I'm on way now to give myself up."

Norman had then asked Mrs. Reill to go up and get the Switzer children, the witness said. Then he left, taking the axe with him.

Cross-examined, young Reill stated "Norman did have a very bad temper. It was worse than other men's tempers. Often when he was working in the bush, if he tripped over a log or anything he would get mad and swear. I've seen him hammer his axe against a stone.

"He chopped up his dog when it wouldn't run after the cows. He cut it with his axe. When I said that wasn't the right thing to do to a dog he said, "Sure it is, if a dog don't do what you want him to do."

On the morning of the murder, he said, Norman did not appear excited but he had a black, threatening look.

Tiny Daughter Tells Story.

Judge Kelly gently questioned Ethel Switzer, six-year-old daughter of the murdered woman, to discover her views. "Daddy told me to always tell the truth," she said in a wavering voice.

She pointed Norman out in court, saying, "That's him there." On the morning of the murder Norman had come in and said that he was going to make the house a little warmer, she said. He went upstairs and into his room.

"Then," she said, "Mummy went upstairs. Mr. Norman hit Mummy on the shoulder with an axe. Mummy fell downstairs. She didn't get up.

"I got my little brother and sister, and told them to go into the woodshed; I then took them down the road towards Mrs. Reill's. It was cold and I wanted to get them warm.

"Our house was burning," she said, "Norman had gone across the fields."

Switzers Had No Trouble

Her father, Everton Switzer, was the next witness called. He told of the deal entered into with Switzer about the house. For finishing the house Switzer was to have two years' rent free and Norman was to supply fire wood. The Switzers moved in on October 17.

Norman was to pay twenty-five cents a meal as board. Relationship between the witness and the accused were good up until December 28. "We never had a word" Switzer said. There was a little quarrel on December 17 about some wood but this was settled and there was nothing more until the morning of January 28.

FUNDAMENTAL ELEMENT IN DRAMA IS THE CREATION OF SUSPENSE

Adrian Macdonald Delivers Fourth of Series of Lectures in Y.W.C.A.

MODERN PROBLEM PLAY.

The modern Problem Play, with especial reference to the work of Henrik Ibsen, was the subject of the fourth lecture on the English drama, delivered by Adrian Macdonald last evening at the Y.W.C.A., where there was a good attendance in the green room and library. Mrs. E. E. Harvey, president of the "Y", was in the chair.

Commencing with a reference to Ibsen as a familiar figure in the cafes of Munich, whede he went at a certain hour every day for lunch, Mr. Macdonald described him as a short man with a massive head, mutton-chop whiskers, large glasses and a slight stoop. He bore no visible ear-marks of the genius which made him a poet, a prophet and one of the outstanding dramatists of modern times, whose plays have the power to arouse his audiences to a high pitch of thoughtful emotion.

In England, Ibsen's work was slow in obtaining a footing, owing possibly to the inherent conservatism of the people, to the insular position of the island country and perhaps, more than all to the great Shakespearean tradition. Bernard Shaw, in his position of a dramatic critic on a great London daily, went out "like a knight in shining armor" to battle for the cause of Ibsen and finally, Ibsen was accepted in England, where he exercised a tremendous influence upon the form of English plays.

The fundamental element in all drama, declared Mr. Macdonald, is the creation of suspense through conflict of one type or another. The speaker illustrated this by a lengthy recital of the nursery story of the Three Little Pigs, in which the quality of suspense and interest as to the fate of the three piglets at the hands of the wolf, is sustained until the very last moment. In Dumas' story, "The Black Tulip," another outstanding demonstration of this quality is given.

Comedy and Tragedy

In older times, playwrights depended upon two themes in their work; the comedy, which had often a strongly-marked love interest, and the tragedy, which was tragic from beginning to end. Modern playwrights handle situations differently. They combine with a tragic story all the little elements of love and humor and fun that arise in daily life. In modern drama, also, the sphere of conflict is different to that of another age, when hand-to-hand encounters were the program, or when ancient feuds, like that of the houses of Montagu and Capulet, occupied the centre of the stage.

In the modern play, the emphasis beneath the surface of the mind of man, and the cuttain is drawn aside is laid on the conflicts that take place in many of these production to show the tragic influences that mar the lives of many people.

"There are two great relations that influence all our lives," said Mr. Macdonald, "the relation of man to man in the business world and the relation of man to woman in social life, in marriage and as to children.

Within the past few generations, the economic structure of society has shifted considerably and the introduction of machinery has changed the status of the work who often plied his trade in solitude, as did the weaver in Mary Webb's novel, "Precious Bane." And woman's status has altered wonderfully, also, through her demands for freedom of every sort. In older times, one career only was open to women; that of marriage. If an eligible man did not appear on the scene, she was reduced to dependence on male relatives or she might go out as a governess or take in sewing or open a Dame School, as did the ladies in Barrie's "Quality Street." Women were humiliated by their position in those days and they have revolted. Just where their demands for freedom are going to lead them is a problem of the age. Carlyle, in his "Sartor Resartus" said that clothes were a symbol of the inner life. If that is so, then the trend toward comfort and wholesomeness that is most marked in modern feminite clothing must be symbolical of a newer freedom. The cynic declares that women will tire of this freedom, and that it is a pose, just as it was a pose for women, a few generations ago, to regard public nourishment in the pantry or their rooms."

Change in Drama.

In the modern drama, said Mr. Macdonald, there is a great change from older habits of playwrights, in the staging, the acting, and the character of the play itself. Intense realism is the keynote of the present-day play. This was illustrated by the differing treatment given to death, for instance, in Macbeth's wonderful soliloquy when he heard of the death of his wife, and in the silent grief of Stanhope, in "Journey's End," when his chum, Raleigh, passes into the silence.

Then there were the little, artificial means resorted to in other days, to gain efects on the stage. These were tricks that drew the attention of the audience, like the soliloquy and the 'aside.' These have been scrapped now, "although I must admit that the 'aside' is used frequently in Eugene O'Neill's play, "A Strange Interlude"." Players now talk in the crisp, broken colloquial English that is the language of the times and they do not hesitate to turn their backs on the audience, if the action of the piece demands a more realistic attitude.

Mr. Macdonald closed his talk with a quotation from Ibsen's "Doll's House," in the final scene where Nora, after being disappointed because her husband has failed to measure up to her mental standard, goes out to leave him and her children behind here. In this was demonstrated the revolt of the modern woman against custom which demanded that she conform to certain set masculine standards in conduct and thought and it gave a glimpse, through the genius of the author, into the mental shock experienced by the man who had clung always to stereotyped conceptions of womankind.

MONTREAL, Que. — Damage sustained by the Atlas Construction Company through fire at its construction works near Prescott, Ont., last night was slight, and would amount to about $4,000 or $5,000, E. W. Wall, Vice-President, stated to-day. Mr. Wall said the reports which listed the damage as high as $250,000 were "absurd."

May Not Be Ready August 1.

OTTAWA, Ont.—The loss which the Atlas Construction Company of Montreal sustained in the fire which last night blazed through its construction works below Prescott may delay the completion of the elevator being erected at that deep water terminal. The Department of Public Works here has been informed that the losses include the construction towers, the cement shed, part of the mixing plant and the conveying plant. Engineers of the Department did not think the total loss would reach anything like $250,000.

The Atlas Company had the contract to erect the superstructure of the elevator after the foundation had been installed. The company was to have the elevator completed for August 1 of this year, and was making good progress. The plan was that the elevator would be ready to receive the grain from the big Upper Lake boats after the completion of the Welland Ship Canal enables these ships to reach the St. Lawrence River.

NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—The Associated Press in a despatch received via Ogdensburg, N.Y., estimated the damage to the constructing plant of the Atlas Construction Company, building the Canadian Government grain elevator near Prescott, Ont., at $250,000

LAKEFIELD COUPLE CELEBRATE GOLDEN WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Carter Honoured By Friends at Informal Reception.

DISTRICT NEWS.

LAKEFIELD, Feb. 25. (Examiner Correspondence)—Mr. and Mrs. Robert Carter celebrated their golden wedding on Tuesday, February 18, at their home on Water street, holding an informal reception both afternoon and evening, which was attended by a large number of friends of the bride and groom, who have been residents of the village for many years. Mr. Carter was born in England and came to this country in his boyhood, living with his parents first in Port Hope, later in Peterborough, Bridgenorth and Selwyn and moving to Lakefield, where he has remained except for nine years spent in the States. Isabella McWilliams was born in Peterborough, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John A. McWilliams, Rogers street, Peterborough, and was married to Robert Carter on February 18th, 1880, by Rev. N. Clarke, who was at that time Presbyterian minister in Lakefield.

Their only child, Roland Carter, who served in the South African War and in the Great War, was killed in action on May 27th, 1918.

Mr. and Mrs. Carter were members of the Lakefield Presbyterian Church, going into the United Church at the time of the union. Mrs. Carter was made a life member of Knox United Church W.M.S. a few years ago, honoring her as one of the older members of the society. Mr. Carter has been a member of the Orange Order for many years and is always a prominent figure in the annual "walk" with Beresford L.O.L.

Mr. and Mrs. Carter received the congratulations of their friends on the happy occasion and also on their good health, which Mr. Carter affirms is due to their living a simple life.

Mrs. R. W. Carter assisted in receiving and in serving tea to the visitors. The dining table was centered by a bouquet of golden yellow daffodils, and looked very pretty.

LECTURE ON SCOTLAND

On Tuesday evening, Rev. J. B. McCormack gave his very interesting illustrated lecture on "A Trip to Scotland via New York and Liverpool," in the Baptist Church, which was well filled with a highly appreciative audience. The lecture was interspersed with "auld Scots songs," which gave even more of a flavor of the land of cakes and heather. Rev. Mr. McCormack, who possesses a fine baritone voice, sang several selections, and Mrs. G. Craig Bell's sweet soprano was heard to advantage in the songs of her native land. Mrs. McCormack played her husband's accompaniments, and Mrs. T. M. Weslay played for Mrs. Bell.

The pictures were beautiful, showing the beautiful scenery and historic landmarks of Scotland, although one of the smallest countries of the world has a glorious and colorful history; the land has run red with the blood of patriots and martyrs and has known centuries of border strife and clan feuds. From all this has come a strong virile race of people, who have made good in every quarter of the globe. Mr. McCormack's address was given in a chatty manner, which rendered it very entertaining and besides describing the scenery he dwelt on the historic side, telling very vividly tales of the Covenanters, those "iron men" who are so closely associated with the establishing of the Presbyterian Church in the land. Theirs was the time when religious strife and persecution was the rule rather than the exception, and in no quarter of the world was it more bitter than in Scotland. Mr. McCormack told interesting tales of the romantic history, of how the Crown regalia was rescued and hidden and many other interesting stories.

The audience thoroughly appreciated the lecture and pictures, and the hope was expressed by many that it would be repeated at not too distant a date.

REGENT STREET CHURCH

A meeting was held on Monday evening in the schoolroom of the Regent Street United Church for the purpose of organizing a Young People's Society, with Rev. S. A. Kemp in the chair. The attendance was good and the society got away to a good start with a live slate of officers and an attractive program. The following are the officers:

President, Mr. N. Wannamaker; Vice-president, Mr. Vanstone; Secretary, Mrs. Stanley Richardson; Treasurer, Mr. Norman Lemay; Organist, Mr. Holley Jewell; Convenor Christian Fellowship Department, Miss Greta McColl; Convenor Missionary Department, Mrs. A. E. Higgins; Convenor Christian Citizenship Department, Mr. Stanley Darling; Convenor Literary and Recreation Department, Miss Lulu Darling.

The society has received an invitation to visit Mark Street branch in Peterborough on Monday evening next and all are looking forward to a very pleasant time.

ST. JOHN'S CHURCH

Dr. Gisbourne, Chancellor of the Diocese of Ottawa, was the special preacher in St. John's Church on Sunday evening, being one of the three members of the Anglican National Commission appointed by the General Synod to make a survey of the church in Canada. This is the 17th diocese visited by the commission which consists of Right Rev. Bishop Owen of Niagara and Canon Gould of Toronto tnd the speaker. The General Synod was formed about forty years ago as a means of uniting the various dioceses in this great country and of strengthening the church as a whole. In all this, the General Synod has met with success and the laymen are awakening to their responsibilities as never before and in all the tour of the commission the prospects are most encouraging but there is much yet to be done for if this land is to be a happy land it must know and love Christ and serve Him. How many of us are loyal and true to our baptismal vow and are doing our part for the extension of Christ's Kingdom? We did promise in our baptism to fight the deceits of the world, the flash and the devil, and to remain Christ's faithful soldiers and servants unto our lives' end. These vows are to be taken literally [illegible] our obligations. Our Mother Church cares for us every one and we have our responsibilities; let us look backward at the traditions of our Church which brought the British people from being barbarians to be the leading race in the world. Saints and martyrs innumerable gave their lives for it and we are only asked for our service; let us give it as gladly and readily as they who have gone before yielded up their lives, braving death in horrible form that the church might go on from strength to strength.

WOMAN'S INSTITUTE

On Wednesday last at the regular meeting of the Woman's Institute, a sale of towels and hankercrafts netted a nice sum which will be used in the relief work of the society. The idea of the sale, which was carried out in a most original manner, was introduced by Mrs. W. G. Morrison and proved to be both pleasant and profitable. The program for the afternoon consisted of a paper on the history of Lakefield by Miss Blanche Graham.

Lakefield's history as an incorporated village goes back to January 1st, 1875, but for many many years previously it was settled, although sparsely. Major Boulton was the first Reeve of the village, elected by acclamation, and the first Councillors were John Hull, George Shields, John Sherin and R. A. Strickland. The first Clerk was W. C. Saunders and Samuel Sherin was the first treasurer.

William Hamilton was the first station agent, and Peter Baptie was the first fire chef; the first school in Smith was opened in 1831. A post office, known as North Douro, was opened in 1847, with Robert Casement as post master, an office which he held till his death in 1875; a few weeks after the name of the post office was changed to Lakefield; his nephew, W. H. Casement, was appointed in his place and has held the office ever since.

The first county bridge was built in 1854 over the Otonabee at this point; James Hogan was the first school teachers and Miss Mary Traill (afterwards Mrs. Muchall) was the first lady teacher. John Sherin was the first business man in Lakefield, coming to the village in 1859. James Thompson had the first grist and saw mill in the village.

An interesting fact about the first Reeve is that on leaving Lakefield, he went West, setting in Portage La Prairie. He, with Thomas Scott, was made prisoner by Louis Riel during the rebellion and narrowly escaped death with Scott.

EUCHRE PARTY

The progressive euchre held on Monday evening in the Town Hall under the auspices of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Canadian Legion was a successful and pleasant social event with thirteen tables played. Prizes were won by Mrs. J. H. Sherin and Mr. W. E. [illegible] while Mrs. [illegible] and Mr. George Fairbairn won the consolation prizes. Mr. J. R. Hill, president of the Lakefield Post of the Canadian Legion presented the prizes.

Supper was served by a splendid committee of ladies.

MOCCASIN DANCE

(Examiner Correspondence)

MADOC, Feb. 25.—The Bannockburn Women's Institute and the Eldorado Hockey Club held a very successful Carnival and Mocassin dance on Friday evening, the seventh on the Eldorado skating rink.

The night was ideal and old and young from far and near came to participate in the fun. Mr. Strebe contributed to the pleasure of the evening by donating wood for a huge bonfire which cast a ruddy glow over the scene lighting up the gay costumes of the skaters and later warming the fingers of the musicians.

The Institute booth was well patronized as they served steaming coffee and hot dogs.

The judges, M. Reynolds Cooper, C. B. Simmons, Bannockburn and Dr. F. J. Nickle, Eldorado awarded prizes which were given by A. E. Strebe and Delbert Sine as follows:

Best comic—Arthur Abbott, policeman.

Best skaters, adult—June Strebe Wilson and R. Rollins.

Best skaters, children—June Strebe and Vera Simmons.

Fastest lady skater—Miss Vera Gordon.

Fastest gentleman skater—Douglas Bailey.

After distribution of prizes, music for both round and square dances was ably supplied by the local orchestra which continued long after midnight. Everyone went home well content, hoping that the carnival would prove an annual event.

Airplane service has been inaugurated between the Magdalena River port of Barranca and Bucramanga, in the interior of Columbia.

JOLLY SLEIGH DRIVE

Members of Madoc Women's Institute Hold Annual Re-union.

MADOC, Feb. 25.—(Examiner Correspondence).— The annual re-union of Madoc Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. [illegible] A. Caskey on Friday evening, 21st, having been postponed one week owing to the busy week with Chautauqua meetings and Home Nursing and First Aid classes.

They used to say "all roads lead to Rome," but on this night truly all roads led to Caskey's and members with their friends assembled from all points of the compass. Several good old-fashioned loads were made up for an old-fashioned sleigh ride which all enjoyed very much and hearty thanks were extended to those who so kindly furnished teams and sleighs; some came in autos in spite of the wet slippery roads, and many walked, enjoying the exercise.

The genial host and hostess stood ready to welcome one and all and soon a jolly crowd was gathered.

Sixteen tables were played of progressive euchre and a most interesting and enjoyable game was played, filling the earlier part of the evening and entertaining both the elder and the younger crowd. Prizes were won by Mrs. Rutherford and Mr. W. E. Connor. At the close of the game dainty refreshments were served, to which full justice was done by every person present.

At the close of the supper hour, order was secured by the president, Mrs. C. N. Whytock, and a very hearty vote of thanks tendered to Mr. and Mrs. Caskey for their generous invitation and kindly reception at what has grown to be not only an annual affair, but the evening always looked forward to and heartily enjoyed by the Institute members. This vote was moved by Mrs. W. Ross and heartily seconded by Mrs. E. West, and very vigorously responded to by all present, and all joined in singing "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows." Mrs. Whytock gracefully tendered the thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Caskey and Mr. Caskey replied for his wife and himself, heartily insisting that the pleasure was their's as well as that of the Institute and they both hoped to welcome all to this re-union social evening many times and often.

Music and dancing was then the order of the evening and young and old participated in the pleasure of music and social chat. Good-byes were beginning to be said soon after midnight but we hear many say that the best of the evening was had for two hours after that time.

W.M.S. AFTERNOON TEA.

The ladies of the W.M.S. of Trinity United church held a most successful afternoon tea on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mr. D. A. Moorcroft.

A very beautiful and varied program was provided, consisting of solos, duets, trios, etc., including vocal, piano and orchestral music.

The Reception committee of Mesdames Moorcroft and Ashley, greeted the guests while all were made comfortable in the music and reception rooms and enjoyed an hour of social intercourse.

Presiding in the tea room were Mesdames Fox and Rivers, assisted by Mesdames Smith, Wallman, Scruttan, Parks, Hough, Maybee and Whytock, and Misses Phillips, Moorcroft, Lubrook, Fox.

Tea was served from three to six o'clock, with visitors coming and going during the whole time. About ninety persons were served during the afternoon and a substantial sum added to the treasury of the society.

LAD KILLS COMPANION.

JERSEY CITY, Feb. 24 (Canadian Press).—Thrilled more by a stolen pistol than by the other loot — a pocketful of jewelry, and a toy bank jingling with dimes and nickels — John Sidor, 13, aimed the weapon at the head of his accomplice, pulled the trigger, and Stanley Rublewski, 16, fell dead.

MRS. MARY HENDREN

NORWOOD, Feb. 25.—(Examiner Correspondence).—The funeral of the late Mrs. Mary Hendren was held from her residence on Thursday afternoon. The services at the house and grave were conducted by her pastor, the Rev. R. F. Stillman of the United Church. Interment was made in the Norwood cemetery.

The bearers were Messrs. I. Puffer, E. Laing, T. J. McConnell, J. Weir, M. O'Keefe, J. McLaughlin.

The late Mrs. Hendren was Norwood's oldest resident. She was in her ninety-third year and even at that advanced age had retained all her faculties. Born in Ireland, she came with her parents to this country at the age of ten. During the stormy passage across the ocean, her father became ill and died and was buried at sea. The mother and family settled at Hastings. It was here that the deceased's marriage to George Hendren took place. They took up residence in Norwood and were pioneers of this village. Mr. Hendren died about twenty-three years ago. Of their family of eleven children four sons survive, George of Creston, B.C., William of Calgary, Alta., Fred of Prince Albert, Sask., and John of Norwood.

Reduce the Acid

In sick stomachs—instantly

Sick stomachs, sour stomachs and indigestion usually mean excess acid. The stomach nerves are over-stimulated. Too much acid makes the stomach and intestines sour.

Alkali kills acid instantly. The best form is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia, because one harmless, tasteless dose neutralizes many times its volume in acid. Since its invention, 50 years ago, it has remained the standard with physicians everywhere.

Take a spoonful in water and your unhappy condition will probably end in five minutes. Then you will always know what to do. Crude and harmful methods will never appeal to you. Go prove this for your own sake. It may save a great many disagreeable hours.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. Each bottle contains full directions—any druggists.

INSTITUTE PLANS SOCIAL EVENING

Other Business Transacted at Regular Meeting of East Durham Branch.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved.

"Helpful Ideas for Saturday" was the topic of the roll-call, and many helpful suggestions were given by the ladies.

A letter was read from the secretary of Bethany's Women's Institute accepting the invitation from Mount Pleasant to attend the summer series meeting.

After some discussion regarding social activities in the Institute, it was decided to have a social evening.

The following ladies were appointed in charge of the arrangements for the evening: Program Committee—Mrs. G. Shield, Mrs. H. Gardiner, Mrs. G. Jamieson, and Mrs. N. Fee. Refreshment Committee — Mrs. G. Jamieson, Mrs. C. Morden and Mrs. H. Sisson.

LIFFORD LINE.

About two hundred friends and neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. J. Clarke gathered at their home previous to their departure for Peterborough, and presented them with the handsome sum of eighty dollars. Rev. Mr. Walker, pastor of Ballyduff Presbyterian church of which Mr. and Mrs. Clarke have been exceptionally active members for a number of years, read an address to which Mr. Clarke made a neat reply. The latter part of the evening was spent with dancing, cards and the service of dainty refreshments.

James Neals has purchased a barn from Robert Kerr, Eighth Line, which he intends having erected on the site of the barn destroyed by fire last summer. Carpenters Verle McMullen and David Wilson of Yelverton, along with neighbours assisted Mr. Neals in taking the barn apart and preparing it for being hauled home.

Mr. and Mrs. Chris. Cummickey and daughter of Fleetwood were visitors on this line on Tuesday last.

A large number attended the oyster supper given by the Independent Order of Foresters in the Foresters Hall, Janetville, on Tuesday evening for members of the Order and their families. After a bountiful supper cards and dancing were enjoyed, Mrs. Thomas McMullen being the lucky winner of first prize.

Mr. Offa and Charles Staples drove to Necketon on Tuesday last to secure some repairs for machinery.

Mr. Herman Thorne of Omemee has been covering his annual route on the east end of the line, sawing wood for several farmers.

Mr. and Mrs. Alban Sisson, Eighth Line entertained a few friends from Lifford Line on Saturday evening.

Our Mail

Conducted by ANNE WILCOX

Dear Anne:

Let me thank you indeed for the nice article you wrote in your column especially for me. I shall not feel such an oddity now. I have cut out the article and laid it away and whenever the word different crops up and it seems to annoy me, I shall read your article and take comfort from it. It was awfully kind of you Anne to take such an interest in my problem. I have been anxiously waiting for letters from the neighbors to get their point of view but whether they write or not, you have taken away the uncomfortable feeling I had, when I was referred to as being different. It made me shy, diffident, loath to give an opinion, but now I shall try to be more serene and take comfort from what you have said. Again thanking you, your friend,

Ad Nauseam

I am so glad that the article was of some comfort to you Ad Nauseam, and I'm sure after you have read some of the letters which the neighbors have written you will be doubly assured. We should love to see you often, as I'm sure your letters would be worth reading.

• • •

Dear Anne:

It is a long time since I have written to our page but I read the letters from the neighbors with as great an interest as when the page started. I see where V. M. B. would like an old fashioned reading or recitation. I am enclosing one out of an old scrap book. It may or may not be suitable but is an old timer. I also am sending for you to send me a pattern. I have been watching for one suitable and I like this one, also the fashion magazine. Thanking you for your trouble, I remain,

Yours sincerely,

Nanette

Thank you for lending V. M. B. your reading. I will send it back to you. As it is quite old, I thought you would prefer to keep it. I have ordered your pattern and book and you should receive them within a few days. The book will not arrive with the pattern, but you will get it shortly after.

• • •

Dear Anne:

I have been a silent admirer of your page, but I see here where I may be of a little assistance to two in particular of my neighbors. A recipe for cream puffs asked by Live Wire in January 11 paper. I waited for a while as I thought perhaps others would be sending in their recipes. This is an XXX recipe.

I am very much interested in Ad Nauseam. I will tell my experience of being different, although I feel I am in a much lower grade than she. When I was in my teens I received a leather postal saying, "There are nice girls in—but they are not like you, kid." I never knew who sent it, but I felt it a compliment. Again when one of my girl friends was broken hearted with grief and worry, she told me, "Oh, I can write or tell you anything, you are so different." Was that not a compliment?

Later when I was a physical and almost mental wreck, from over work and worry and a death in the family, my clergy told me, not to worry "you are the very finest type of person."

One thing particularly comforts me is the thought, "If all stands well 'twixt thee and God, that is all that is necessary.' We don't need to care whether we are admired or please everyone, because our dear Lord Himself couldn't or at least didn't when he was here. I should like to have Ad Nauseam for my next door neighbor.

Elizabeth

Thank you Elizabeth for coming back to the page, and for sending the recipes for Live Wire.

Dear Anne:

Thank you for the suggestions re Valentine parties. I'm quite sure the neighbors all enjoyed them. In fact, Just Between Us Women is always splendid. None of us are as prompt as we should be in response to neighbor needs, we are a busy group of women and even though we wish to assist we somehow don't get the letter written.

Here I am with cheese recipes for Al. I hope they are of some use to her. We have had some splendid letters recently from our faithful writers and my thoughts run often to Jay Jay—I do hope she is feeling happy—the spring is just around the corner and to quote Bliss Carmen's poem:

IN APRIL

Spring beauty is a gypsy
Who travels by my road,
And makes my April pasture,
The place of her abode.

Dark trillium in purple,
Hepatica in grey,
Spread mystery of their coming
Through woodlands where they stray.

The windflowers that gather
Along the orchard wall
In welcome flutter toward me,
Yet never speak at all.

But after all the wilding,
I only love the more
The golden hearted daffies
That crowd about my door.

With thoughts on the delights of spring we will forget we have had such chilly days lately. Best regards to all the neighbors and our leader,

Yours,

Peter

Yesterday and the day before certainly made us feel great—I don't think I would want to be in Florida or California and miss all the beautiful days which we will have when Spring arrives. Thank you for the recipes for Al.

Dear Anne:

Our friend who is different has an advantage over most of us—one who is different gives others great pleasure usually. There are so many people who run true to form, we meet them and pass on our way, pleased but not deeply impressed. Now to be different—in any sense of the word seems to be what many of our generation are striving for proving ridiculous in many cases, which, of course Ad Nauseam is not, for her letter gives one the impression that her difference is desirable.

To be yourself is one way to be different and I believe if we all could be ourselves there would be more like Ad Nauseam. People absorb styles, manners, speech and gestures of others quite unconsciously. We would be much better without many of them. Different people have an indescribable something that we ordinary people lack—usually a strong character although not a dominant one. They choose wisely their path through life and do not require the style of others.

I find it very hard to keep from doing, saying and being like other people—it is not necessary to admire people or to take on their ways. Children are mirrors of the adults with whom they associate. The different people I know are mirrors of their own souls, open true and admirable.

Esse Quam Videri,

Marjory

Another new penname added to our list! My our list is growing. Let me thank you for Ad Nauseam for your cheerful note to her.

Dear Anne:

I was much interested in Quo Vadis' letter of her cure by faith. We are told if we but have the faith of a grain of mustard seed, we can remove mountains. There is truth in the Christian Science since mind indeed has much to do with matter and the confidence one has in doctor or nurse has a great deal to do. After all we are all in God's hands and what is best for some reason in some way comes to us. Sometimes in our rebellion, we demand certain things of God, and to our sorrow He grants them. Sometimes we pray the affliction be removed as Paul did about his eyes, and we are denied a direct answer. Sometimes we plead and it is granted as a blessing as in Quo Vadis' case.

One thing is certain, where there is Christian co-operation among God the afflicted and friends things are better in some way. Very often had God's help been sought as well as the physician's there is success, where with the physician alone would have failed. Asa trusted in his physicians and not to the Lord, and Asa slept with his father. God has given us means of healing and he expects us to use them, and asks His blessing along with that use.

If we keep our eyes open we can see the workings I have mentioned all around us. Of course, we cannot say much about it but we can learn our own lessons and profit by them, and help others.

Why did you take such a terrible name for yourself Ad Nauseam? As a man thinketh in his heart so is he, and you may end by making a nervous wreck of yourself. I judge you must be between forty and fifty and a bit worn out, and not feeling up to the mark or the good sense you must have to be different would assert itself. The different person is, as Anne said, a Christian, use your Christian faith and get rid of that name's idea. You spoke in such a way you must be past girlhood.

Indeed be thankful you are different. Different people are never in the maddening crowd, swayed by every wind that blows. They usually realize there are two sides to every question. My father and mother were both different, we often felt badly because we were not allowed to do what many other children did. Oh! But I have since been thankful for that training. The term is no insult if meant to tease, it shows respect. No one would attempt to bribe you, to tell a smutty story just for fun to you, expect you to deliberately do anything you consider wrong. You stand pat on your own feet and many other enviable traits you have if you are different.

Perhaps you are a bit shy. Try to forget yourself and you will get over that. We must be some different, else we will suffer in the effort to keep up with the Jones, and that is worse.

In my own life there have been four dear women all about the same age, now over eighty no two have met, except in greetings through me. I often wished they could meet. They never will in this world. One is my mother, a strong Protestant, gone to her reward, one a nun of a partially cloistered order, whose friendship for the twenty years she lived after I knew her is one of my treasured memories. The other two are living, one a maiden lady but financial circumstances turned out such that she is now in a home. Her life is and has been an inspiration to the many who knew her, but her chosen friends are few and we who are among them are the envy of the many. She has always been different and calmly thankful she is. She is nearing the end now—the end of a most useful life. The other people in the home look up to her, so other friends write me, and I know it would be so. Her manners are simple, her English perfect, but simple, so simple that one of the women told her she liked her because she was not educated. There are few better educated women. She considered it a huge joke. She certainly is not pedantic.

Another is an aged cousin, whose only son was killed in the war. She too is different, but wonderful. Oh! there are so many different people in the world. You have the inborn courage to be different; do not wish to be otherwise. Carry the courage with your Christian faith to conquer your shyness if that be the trouble, and put that awful name down deep, deep in the bottom of the sea. Take some name that is bright, cheerful, good—you will find it will help you.

QUID EST.

I think Ad Nauseam will change her name, Quid Est, after she has read all these encouraging letters. I don't think she is the kind of a person who will let it worry her to the extent that she will be ill!

• • •

Dear Anne:

I have been thinking of Ad Nausam's letter and have not felt that I really understood the difference sufficiently to write concerning it. I looked for the paper in which the letter appeared that I might read it again, but found that it had disappeared. Probably was used to light the kitchen fire. In thinking of her letter, I have decided that it must have been in temperament that she was different. She says that from childhood she was characterized as different and that it continued through girlhood and to the present leaving her often feeling alone. No two peas in a pod are alike, no two apples on a tree, and no two persons are exactly alike in appearance or disposition and oh the extreme difference we see even in our own families!

Isn't it a great thing for this grand old world that the Creator saw fit to create such individuality? Wouldn't it not have been boredom in the extreme, to have to look upon too much sameness. There are never two sunsets precisely alike and what beauty in the colors of each!

Probably when Ad Nauseam was a child she was not like the average rollicking carefree child ready for a game or anything, in fact, which promised fun or variety. Her disposition may have been more reserved—perhaps she preferred the company of older persons and as she grew older preferred reading or music, instead of mingling in games with other children. I have seen children who were of that nature and naturally when they were older it was not so easy to acquire the habit of being sociable, or making new acquaintances. For children the C.G.I.T. with its four-fold program and other juvenile organizations are a great factor in helping a youth to live a balanced life. For older persons if we want friends we must be friendly. If a person feels they are too reserved and are apt to feel lonely, it is a good idea to make a business of taking an interest in other people and being friendly.

After all, it is a good thing that some are more thoughtful and earnest than others. It would not do for all to be alike. It keeps the pendulum of life balanced. Ad Nauseam may rather feel it a compliment that she is different. Perhaps in this day there is too great a tendency to go with the crowd. Many things which a few years ago were looked upon as 'askance', are now quite the thing because 'everybody does it.' Probably Ad Nauseam being different takes time to do many things carelessly passed by others.

RURALITE.

And still another opinion—thank you Ruralite.

Soft rose wool lined with natural kasha makes this coat which has been designed for the Redfern collection. The small collar is of American opossum.

PASTEL TONES FAVORED FOR SPRING WEAR.

By Monsieur Edmond Courtot.

Pastel tones are favorites for early spring and southern wear. Although I have many models exploiting these delicate shades, there is none which I consider more successful than the coat sketched above, in a soft rose wool, lined with natural kasha, and with a small collar of American opposum. The dress which I have designed to accompany this coat has a skirt of natural kasha and a bodice of kasha in a fancy weave. Many such ensembles are being worn on the Riviera, and this you know is a sure indication that they will be worn fur the north later on.

GOOD PROGRAM IS PROVIDED

Wide Awakes C.G.I.T. Group Holds First Regular Meeting for Some Time.

PLEASANT SOCIAL HOUR

(Examiner Correspondence)

MILLBROOK, Feb. 25.—The Wide Awakes C. G. I. T. group held its first meeting for some weeks past at the leader's home on Friday evening, local events having interfered to a considerable extent recently with the regular gatherings of the group.

The president, Miss Marian O'Brian took the chair, and the special offering for the National Girls' Work Board was taken up; as the attendance was smaller than usual owing to other community events, the envelopes given out for this purpose will continue to be brought in at the regular meeting on Wednesday evening of this week.

A look-out committee was appointed to supervise the membership list, give notice of the time of meeting, and invite new members to join the organization.

The missionary item on the program was the story of a hike trip across Persia by a woman traveller, and besides the regular scripture lesson, each girl read a verse with comments thereon, the whole leading up to the topic, "Refusing the second Best", which preceded the prayer period during the devotional part of the session.

The social hour at the close was featured by a contest, "A T Party", with music and the service of light refreshments.

W.M.S. DELEGATES MEET AT HAVELOCK

HAVELOCK, Feb. 25. Wedding Anniversary

On Friday evening, Feb. 21st, about one hundred and twenty-five friends and relatives of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Curry assembled at their home on Mathison street, Havelock, to celebrate the twentieth anniversary of their marriage. Cards and dancing were the order of the evening and a pleasant time was enjoyed by all present. Music for the dancing was furnished by a three piece orchestra composed of Messrs. Harry and Harold Fife of Norwood and Mrs. S. Rylott of town. At midnight a substantial lunch was served and a three storey wedding cake, reposing on the same silver tray as twenty years ago, was cut by the bride of twenty years before. Many beautiful gifts, mostly china, were presented to the happy couple, testifying to their popularity, and the esteem in which they are held. Little Miss Dorothy O'Carroll presented Mrs. Curry with a large bouquet of roses on behalf of the family. The bridesmaid of twenty years ago, Mrs. W. Rice, was present, as were many others of the original wedding party. The guests departed in the "wee sma' hours" after wishing the wedded pair many happy returns of their anniversary.

The regular meeting of Belmont Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Wm. Anderson on Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, when a large number of members were present. The president, Mrs. Arthur Russell occupied the chair. The meeting opened in the usual way with the Lord's Prayer and opening ode in unison. Minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved. The roll call was, "My favorite fowl and why". Most of the members responded, and it was afterwards decided that any one who did not respond to the roll call at future meetings should be fined one cent

A number of letters were received from members and others in the district who had received delicacies or flowers during times of illness, expressing thanks and appreciation for the same. It was decided to send some delicacies to a lady in the vicinity who is recovering from a serious illness, to brighten her convalescence.

Ten dollars will be sent to the Red Cross outpost at Apsley; this was in response to a request for a donation. The business being concluded. Mrs. Smith gave a very fine paper on poultry raising, which was the result of a great deal of experience in that line, and showed much thought in assembling the facts. Mrs. S. Rylott entertained the audience with a number of selections on the piano. Hostesses for the day were Mesdames Elmhirst, G. Smith, A. Russell and Miss M. Williams.

The March meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. George Smith, on Wednesday 20th, at 2 p.m.

From Mother of Six

"I think Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is wonderful! I have had six children of which four are living and my youngest is a bonnie baby boy now eight months old who weighs 23 pounds. I have taken your medicine before each of them was born and have certainly received great benefit from it. I urge my friends to take it as I am sure they will receive the same help I did."—Mrs. Milton McMullen, Vanessa, Ontario.

PRESENTATION MADE

Miss Mary Pickins Entertained by Friends on Eve of Departure for Peterborough.

HASTINGS, Feb. 25.—(Examiner Correspondence).—On Friday evening about sixty friends and neighbors gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Pickens, to express their regret and with the best of luck and success to their daughter, Mary who has entered the Nicholls Hospital training school for nurses at Peterborough.

During the evening an address and presentation of a purse was made following which Miss Pickens made a very suitable reply, thanking her many friends for their kindness.

A very enjoyable social evening was had by all present.

THE FINAL TEST.

The intelligence tests give us some information about the children, but they do not tell us the whole story. One test is not enough. The result of any test is likely to be the response of the child at that time. It may be his consistent response, it may not. His mood, his attitude toward the test, his background of emotion, motive, and immediate environment may influence him one wayor another. It is unwise to take one test rating as the basis for interpreting the possibilities of growth for any child.

Give him several tests of different sorts. Sound out his intelligence in as many fields as possible. Test him year after year and interpret the results in the light of the whole child. I mean by that, let the test ratings be a part of the summary of what you know of the whole child.

The whole child is a most complex creature and no test ever contrived will catch all of him. At best a lifetime study will give us but a shadow notion of what he may be. But there is one test that I consider about the final one in its importance. Can this child live happily with other people? Can he get along n the usual sense of the word? If he can he will be a success in whatever field his talents permit. If he cannot get along with people though he be clever as clever can be, he will be a failure.

This is a quality that no test can discover save the actual test of experience. If a child can make people like him he is a success from the start. If he succeeds only in having them turn their backs on him what can he do? Where can he go?

I have in mind Sunny, our newsboy, or newsman, now for he is growing gray. His I.Q. was very sad. School held little for Sunny. Into the bargain he got mixed up in street traffic and lost a leg. But even a catastrophe didn't stop Sunny. His berth is at the foot of the L stairs and rain or shine he is there smiling and kindly with a word of cheer for everybody who comes along. You never have to ask Sunny for your paper. He knows the time you are due and the paper you take and he is ready to hand it to you folded just as you like it the instant you turn his corner.

Friends have been Sunny's stock. They have remembered him when good luck came their way. Any kindness they could show him pleased them mightily. Sunny has been successful in the true meaning of the term, and his material fortunes have not suffered.

In the same neighborhood there was a boy who was credited with being a genius. He ate up the book education as fast as it could be fed to him. He lacked the great gift and grew up in isolation. In the true sense of the term he has failed and his material fortunes have not benefitted.

The I. Q. of the genius promised much while that of Sunny prophesied disaster. Sunny had the gift and surmounted his lack of all the others. There is hope, you see, even when the I. Q. fails us.

One Proviso

(2nd Chronicles, 15th-2nd)

The Lord is with us, passing sweet
That promise pledged by Truth Divine,
And with Him we shall rest secure,
Though all the powers of ill combine;
Safe in His care from every foe,
Temptations, snares and sin's dark blight,
His presence is both sun and shield,
His smile our everlasting light.

Ne'er will He fail us, or forsake,
Or cast us off what ere betide;
He is our refuge and retreat,
Where we from life's rude storms may hide;
Gladness is in His service found,
Riches untold His blessing brings,
All unalloyed, Heaven's shining gold,
To which no shade of sorrow clings.

Then our it is what ere befall,
Long as this transient life shall last,
To Him, our shepherd, guardian, guide,
By His good grace, to still cling fast,
The Lord is with us, 'tis His word;
Close, close beside us all the way,
Until the shining goal is won,
Still with us, while with Him we stay.

CATARRHAL DEAFNESS MAY BE OVERCOME.

If you have Catarrhal Deafness or are even just a little hard of hearing or have head noises go to Bond's Drug Store or your druggist and get 1 ounce of Parmint (double strength), and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful four time a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucus stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone losing hearing or who has Catarrhal Deafness or head noises should give this prescription a trial.

SOME HOUSEHOLDS can be run by routine with schedules adhered to, but there are those in which meals at all hours are an unavoidable necessity.

• • • • • • •

The problem of the cook in the latter instance is a different one for there are few foods which remain at their best after being kept waiting for a considerable length of time, and there is certainly no housewife whose temper is any better for having had to postpone their serving!

• • • • • • •

Some suggestions are given here in order that both food and temper may be in the best state under such trying conditions.

• • • • • • •

But the matter can sometimes be adjusted so that it is not such a hardship.

• • • • • • •

Instead of keeping dishes waiting, one solution is to have those that take brief cooking, for instance, rice will cook in seven minutes if a large kettle is used for the quantity and the water very actively boiling when the rice is added.

• • • • • • •

Potatoes cut one-fourth inch thick and plunged into boiling water when the hour approaches will be done in less than ten minutes. Put butter on them when they have been drained of water, after cooking, and have a little chopped parsley ready to sprinkle on top.

• • • • • • •

Baked potatoes are among the kinds that are not improved by waiting. However, they can be kept hot for half an hour or even three-quarters of an hour without loss of flavor.

• • • • • • •

Stews and scalloped dishes, rather than being harmed by the process of waiting are improved by continued gentle boiling. If potatoes are cooked with the stew they should be removed and set aside when done, to be added just before serving. And then we find that the flavor of fish does not allow much time to elapse between cooking and serving.

• • • • • • •

Steak and chops are the frequent resort of those who have to serve meals at all hours, as they can be cooked quickly at the last minute, unless they are very thick.

• • • • • • •

A roast already cooked and on hand, can have the opportunity of being served cold, or done in 'minute' fashion in a pan with butter or gravy, and served hot, in what is really very little over an actual minute.

• • • • • • •

And so we try to assist the housewife who is serving members of the family at different times. Probably one member of the family comes at eleven-thirty, the children from school at twelve, and another at one. Is it any wonder mother needs a rest!

• • • • • • •

The woman who can serve a complete meal for all members of the family at one time ought to be very thankful, for her neighbor at the same time may be serving three different ones!

Sunday Night

(Contributed by Virgie)

The lamp is in the parlor, the fire is in the grate,
The clock upon the mantel ticks out its getting late,
The curtains at the window, are hung in snowy white.
The parlor is a pleasant place to sit on Sunday night.

Nice books are on the table, and pictures on the wall,
And there a cushioned sofa, but I don't think that is all,
If I am not mistaken I think that I am right;
Some persons now are sitting there, this very Sunday night.

They sit so close together, at first you cannot see
How many there are of them, but I don't think there are three.
The clock upon the mantel, ticks out with all its might.
It will be Monday morning soon, instead of Sunday night.
The lamp is in the parlor, the fire is getting low.
Somebody says to someone its time for me to go.
And then I hear a whisper, so gentle and so sweet.
Don't forget to come again, another Sunday eve.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D

CAN YOU CHANGE YOUR BODY

A professor in one of the colleges of the United States has written a book advising us that it is foolish to bother with health habits, that our whole life is laid out for us at birth and there is nothing we can do about it. We are going to live just so long, have just a certain degree of health and strength, and when our time comes we will die.

What did the great war show us?

"Thousands of flat-chested, narrow-waisted, round-shouldered, short-winded, constipated, sickly-looking young men from the store or the counting-room have gone into the camps and in three months have come forth new men. The reconstructed man walks with firm and elastic step. He can run or double-quick for miles with a pack on his back. His muscles are like rubber bands. His nerves are as steady as threads of steel. His heart is a tireless dynamo of energy. His brain is alert, his eye is bright, his tongue is clear and his breath is sweet. He is every inch a man—splendidly well, marvelously efficient, ready to meet the enemy on the firing line, or enemies in the rear or at home."

I believe those of us who examined recruits and then had an opportunity of examining them again before they proceeded overseas, will agree that the 'reconstruction' of these young fellows, as so graphically described by Dr. J. H. Kellogg, was a challenge to the entire human race—to every man, woman and child to try to be in fact what one is in possibility.

If this transformation, this reconstruction, of these young men could be accomplished in a few months—the months of preparation before they proceeded to the seat of war, what might not be done for all of us if we followed the same simple sane rules?

Good wholesome food, with an appetite developed by the outdoors and exercise. If the teeth were not good they were made good, or new ones supplied.

Exercise that was so simple that it was learned in a few days. But it came as regularly as the day.

And sleep that was so refreshing that the waste products of the day, due to exercise, were all swept away before morning.

You will get more out of life, and put more into life because you will live longer and fuller, if you watch those three essentials—food, rest, and exercise.

A new road material, consisting largely of petroleum oil shale, has been perfected in Australia.

Daddy Robin Returns From Southland Bringing Glad News of Spring Days

The robins are back in Peterborough. At least a few of the most hardy and venturesome of these welcome feathered-emissaries of Spring have arrived.

Mr. Robin was perched on one of the low limbs of a sturdy maple and the conversation was interesting and enlightening. The bird seemed very willing to relate his adventures in performing the great feat of flying from the warm Southland to Canada.

"Yes," he said, "I checked in here on Sunday morning, early. No, I didn't bring the 'missus' I left her back in a cosy nook down on the banks of the Mississippi. She'll be along later when I get things set to rights."

Here the robin took a peek at the bark and brought out a grub. Elated with this success, he continued. "How do things look to me up here? Well promising, very promising" and he wagged his head sagely. "If old Sol continues to shine like this it won't be long until the dew worms will be rolling in the grass. Oh, I admit its going to be rather tough for the next couple of weeks, but", confidently, "I'll manage all right. I did before. Yep, I was one of the first up last year, too."

He took another peck at the limb, but this time he didn't land anything. Then he looked at me with his head one one side and said rather accusingly, "I notice someone has broken down our nest while I was away. That's bad, very bad.

He then flapped his wings and let out his lungs in a rollicking "Cheer up. Cheer up!" Then he hopped off the branch saying, "Well see you later." And with this a shis adieu he flew over to somebody's back porch to look for crumbs.

NEWEST FASHIONS REMINISCENT OF OTHER DAYS

PAJAMAS GET INTO THEIR STRIDE AT PALM BEACH

NEW YORK, Feb. 25. (U.P.)—What Palm Beach wears is invariably of importance as well as interest to those who remain in the frozen north. That pajamas are being worn, at first glance does not seem to register as startling news. One has learned to associate pajamas with beaches with any pretense to smartness. Palm Beach is, however, wearing pajamas hither and yon, in shopping areas, for strolls, wheel chair rides, and for motoring. Needless to say the cottage colony wears them about their patios and porches, so that pajamas really dominate the fashion reports from there.

Perplexities over what length skirt to wear are advanced as one reason for the acceptance. When in a quandry over skirts—wear pajamas seems to be feminine logic. Pajamas as expressive of a greater freedom.

Whatever the reason, pajamas have arrived and are welcomed by the smart set who incidentally have found shorts also to their liking. Shorts, with a mannish shirt have become the tennis uniform of the year, entirely reversing last year's decree, that women players should be as feminine as bare backs and frivolous dress details could make them. Whatever may be said for or against shorts, even the most harping critics cannot score the pajama on either the score of immodesty or masculinity. They are feminine in every sweeping line, and certainly in their color expression.

Beat four eggs until the yolks and whites are well mixed but not light. Add one-half teaspoon salt, a little pepper and one-quarter cup of hot water. Melt a tablespoon of butter in a frying pan, turn in the egg mixtures and cook slowly, picking up the mixture with a fork while cooking to let the uncooked part run into the place of the cooked. When firm and slightly browned fold double and serve on a hot platter. Or before folding spread with bits of left-over bacon which has been reheated or with grated cheese.

CLASS ENTERTAINS YOUNGER MEMBERS

Rev. John Riddell Takes Part in Jolly Millbrook Gathering.

(Examiner Correspondence)

MILLBROOK, Feb. 25.—The Sunday school auditorium of Grace Presbyterian church was the scene of a pleasant social gathering on Friday evening, when the "Larger Circle" organized Bible Class entertained the members of the Young Ladies' and the Young Men's organized classes.

A particularly pleasing feature of the evening was the fact that the pastor, Rev. John Riddell, who has been seriously ill in Toronto for the past two months, was once again able to meet with the members of his own Bible class, and with them greet the guests of the evening.

Good Program

Contests, games, music, social converse, and the service of dainty refreshments provided entertainment that rounded out the evening with pleasure for everyone, Mrs. W. McKee Bingham being present and discussing with the hosts and hostesses and their guests the preparation of a new play, which will probably be undertaken in the near future, to be ready for presentation in the Town Hall by the end of March.

Mrs. Bingham trained the young people of Grace Sunday school for the very successful play which they gave toward the end of last year, and which they have repeated, with equal success, at a number of places in recent weeks, and there is no doubt that the new undertaking will meet with a full share of popular approval when it is presented before the public in another month.

Hearty thanks were extended to the officers and members of the Bible Class responsible for the entertaining on Friday evening, by the younger folk who were their guests community singing being a final number of the program before dispersal to the various homes.

Entertains Junior W. A.

Mrs. Howard W. Jordan, assisted by her sister, Miss Helen Crealock, entertained the members of the Junior W. A., of Saint Thomas' church to an enjoyable social gathering at her home, Anne street, on Friday evening, over twenty of the girls of varying ages being included in the guest list.

Games, contests, and music, with the service of dainty refreshments, filled out the hours happily, the young folk thoroughly enjoying the delightful occasion which their hostess, who is also superintendent of the junior organization, had provided.

Many of the 'teen age girls of the community belonging to other denominations have joined the Junior W. A. of the Anglican church under the joint superintendence of Mrs. Jordan and Mrs. Hilton, and an excellent work is being accomplished along the line of practical missionary education through the able leadership which is being given, and which is an essential feature if success is to be assured.

The winners of this series will then meet the winner of the Senior "B" championship, which rests between Queen's University, Hamilton and Woodstock.

Shaded For Four Rounds, Rocco Stages Comeback to Easily Defeat Pablo Dano.

TORONTO, Ont., February 25 (Canadian Press). — After being shaded in the first four rounds of the bout, Steve Rocco, of Toronto, last night finished with a fierce attack to win the unanimous decision of referee and judges over Pablo Dano, flyweight champion of the Philippines, in a ten-round feature match of a benefit show for the Canadian Legion.

The show was sponsored by the Shamrock Athletic Club of Toronto. There was little difference in the men's weights—Rocco weighed 112 and Dano 111½.

OGLETHORPE DISCOVERY CALLED TRIPLE THREAT

ATLANTA, Ga., (U.P.)—The honor of being the first "Triple threat" footballer discovered for the 1930 season belongs to Ray Walker of Hammond, Ind., Oglethorpe University athlete.

Although the season is a spring and a summer away, Walker already is being touted as a "find" of the first water. He has been getting off punts of 50 and 60 yards, with machine-like regularity, passes long and accurately, and has made many a gain through line and at end while carrying the ball.

Vance Accepts Salary Cut of $5,000

FAMOUS COACH RETIRES

Joe Wright, Sr., one of America's greatest rowing coaches, has retired from his position as coach of the famous Argonaut Club of Toronto. The loss is a serious one, not only to Argonauts, who have figured so prominently in international competition, but to the rowing enthusiasts al lover Canada. His son, Joe Wright, Jr., it is understood, will again make a bid for the diamond sculls at the Royal English Henley this year, and it is likely that Joe Sr., will be along to supervise his son's training activities. He undoubtedly has confidence in the ability of Joe Jr., to again carry off the prized sculls. The Argonaut Club intend to put a new senior eight into competition this season to take the place of the former one which is unable to organize this season. This move should not injure their championsip chances in the least as there is some mighty good material in the younger generation of oarsmen in the club.

HERMAN IS NOW SOLE HOLDOUT OF ROBIN LIST

SLUMPED LAST YEAR.

Vance is Now Thirty-six Years Old and is Renowned For Strike-out Records.

NEW YORK, Feb. 25. — Arthur "Dazzy" Vance, premier speedball pitcher of the National League, accepted terms with the Brooklyn Robins for the 1930 season.

After weeks of dickering, Vance capitulated to a considerable salary reduction in a telegram to Frank B. York, president of the club.

The big right-hander agreed to a one-year contract at a salary of $20,000. He received $25,000 for the 1929 season, a sum that set a major league salary record for pitchers.

Vance is now at Cristal River, Florida, about sixty miles from Clearwater, where the Robins will start their Spring training on Monday. "Dazzy" promised to report next week.

Vance earned his record-breaking $25,000 contract in 1928, when he led National League pitchers with a record of twenty-two victories and ten defeats. He slumped gadly in 1929, winning fourteen and losing thirteen.

The first contract offered the pitcher for the coming season called for a reduction of $10,000 in the 1929 figures, but the Dazzler let out a howl that shook Florida from one end to the other. The directors were a little frightened by the vehemance of his objections and finally tilted the ante to $20,000, which was what they intended to give him in the first place. That mollified Dazzy quite considerably, and he finally accepted after giving it six weeks of heavy thought.

Vance is thirty-six years old, and is renowned for his strikeout records.

With the surrender of Vance, the Robins now have only one serious holdout. Babe Herman is still dissatisfied. He wants $26,000 for the season.

BOSTON BRUINS HOCKEY STAR

Aubrey "Dit" Clapper, rugged right-winger of the Boston Bruins, is leading all scorers in the National Hockey League in point of actual goals, with 28 to his credit, though closely pressed by Nels Stewart of Montreal Maroons and "Cooney" Weiland of Boston. Clapper started to play hockey at Hastings and after coming to Toronto turned out with the Parkdale O. H. A. juniors, for whom he was substitute defence player. Eddie Powers got him to turn professional, and after seasoning in the Can-American League, joined the Boston team, for whom he has starred this season.

BUFFALO BISONS MAINTAIN POINT LEAD OVER PANTHERS

Herd Disposes of League Leading Cleveland Indians, 3 to 1, While London Club Has No Easy Time in Downing Toronto Millionaires 4-1.

LEECH-LIKE CHECKING OF THE BISONS DISORGANIZES COMBINATION OF INDIANS

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 25. (Canadian Press).—Buffalo Bisons kept a notch ahead of London Panthers in their struggle for second place in the International Hockey League. Last night the Bisons defeated the league leading Cleveland Indians, three goals to one, to maintain their one point advantage. London kept pace with their rivals by beating Toronto Millionaires, four to one.

The Panthers experienced no easy task in disposing of the lowly Toronto team, who held them to a two to one count for two periods. In the final frame the winners scored a pair of goals to pack the game away.

Johnny Sorrel and Eddie Rodden combined for the first London tally, the former nipping Rodden's perfect pass into the cage from a sharp angle. The losers tied the count in the middle frame when Gregg converted White Fields' pass into a net goal. Steve Rice and Pete Palancio combined to put London in the lead before the period ended. Toots Holway accepted Rodden's pass to add to London's lead early in the final period, while Archie Bridgen scored on a solo effort to conclude the scoring.

The Buffalo-Cleveland contest was bitterly fought throughout with the Bisons surprising their supporters by the manner in which they disorganized Cleveland's speedy thrusts as the result of leech-like checking. Carl Voss opened the scoring a few seconds from the end of the first period when he hoisted the puck from the blue line for a goal. Martin and Huard added two more in the middle session while the Indians' lone counter came in the last frame from the stick of Alex Gray.

Three games will be played to-night. London have a chance to get back into second position when they visit Detroit Olympics while Windsor go to Hamilton to meet the Tigers. Toronto will entertain Cleveland, this match being advanced from Feb. 27.

ONLY TWO UNIONS IN FAVOR OF PASS

President DeGruchy Issues Statement to Clarify Misunderstanding.

TORONTO, February 25. — President John De ruchy of the C.R.U. has issued the following statement for publication to clarify what appears to be one or two misunderstandings in connection with the rulings made at the meeting held here last Saturday:

"Notwithstanding press reports to the contrary, the C.R.U. at its annual meeting on Saturday decided to officially do away with the 'onside pass' in Canadian football.

"There were only two Unions who had expressed any definite desire to retain this play.

"It is possible that any Union particularly desirous of using this play may be granted permission on application to the Canadian Union, but if such permission be granted the rule to be used will be one that secures the sanction of the C.R.U. Rules Committee.

'Outside of the clearing up of some ambiguous points in the wording of the present rules, no changes of any particular consequence were made, except in the case of a block kick going into touch of an opponent. The change only affects such a play on the third down. Formerly the kicker's side regained possession of the ball and first down regardless of where the ball went into touch. Now a block kick by an opponent that goes into touch on the third down, not having crossed the line of scrimmage shall belong to the blocker's side at the spot where the kick was blocked A further rule was added whereby a player who deliberately goes outside the limits of the field of play must be considered to be out of the game and must not interfere with any play until the ensuing down.

"The case of Morrison, the suspended Ottawa player in the Rideau-St. Thomas game last fall was brought up in the course of business pertaining to the meeting. The rule of the Board of Governors was approved and concurred in. The matter will not be further considered by the C.R.U. Should the Board of Governors of their own accord consider Morrison to have been dealt with too severely, they alone may reconsider the sentence imposed. The C.R.U. meeting, however, were unanimously in accord with the action taken by the Board of Governors.

"The approval of the personnel of the existing Rules Committee and a desire to ensure some degree of permanency was shown by the unanimous decision to concur in the appointment of the present members for a period of three years, and the personnel of this committee can only be changed by the wishes of the committee itself.

"It was also decided to add one other member to the Rules Committee thus making an odd number, which it was felt would better balance any close decision. At the urgent request of every delegate present and after considerable pressure William C. Foulds kindly agreed to act.

'The personnel of the Rules Committee is as follows: J. DeGruchy (President of the Union), D. McCann, R. P. Isbister, K. S. Forbes, H. Cassells, R. DeGruchy, W. Foulds. (The appointment of the latter six confirmed for a period of three years."

Leaders Unchanged In N.H.L. Statistics

MONTREAL, February 25. — Substantial scoring throughout last week's National Hockey League campaign saw all the leaders increasing their points totals, and no changes of consequence resulting, according to figures issued last night from the office of President Frank Calder, covering the games up to and including February 23.

Frankie Boucher, of the New York Rangers, holds the leadership of the entire league in point-making. The agile centre has scored 26 goals and is credited with the remarkable total of 33 assists—in itself a league record.

The actual scoring leader continues to be "Dit" Clapper, right wing of the Boston Bruins. Clapper has notched 35 goals and is closely pursued for actual scoring honors by Nels Stewart, centre-ice star of the Montreal Maroons.

INFANTRY SCHOOL OPENS IN MARCH

Officers and N.C.O.'s May Get Qualifications Without Attending Royal School.

LAST SIX WEEKS

Through the efforts of Lieut.-Col. M. H. Park, commanding officer of the Peterborough Rangers, a provisional school of infantry instruction will again be established in this city to enable warrant officers and N.C.O.'s to attain full qualifications without the necessity of attending a Royal School.

In the fall of last year the first provisional school was established in Peterborough, and in December about 18 students wrote off examinations for part one of the courses. At the provisional school, which is about to be established, the students who have passed the theoretical course, part one, will be entitled to study part two, the practical part of the course

The provisional school has been authorized by National Defence Headquarters. Only a few of such schools having been granted even to larger centres in Canada in the past few years, the granting of one to Peterborough is exceptional.

Opens on March. 10.

Commencing on Monday, March 10, at the Armouries, the school will continue for six weeks. Captain J. Edwards will be in command, and Q.M.S.I. Thomas will be instructor in charge. Both are of headquarters staff, M.D. No. 3, Kingston.

Indoor work that will be taken up will be squad, platoon, company, and batttalion drill, weapon training, section leading, and other pertinent work. The outdoor work of the course will consist of instruction in such lines as tactical exercises in the field, protection, attack, defence and compass marching.

About 30 are expected to take the course. The school will enable Lieut.-Col. Park to have his unit up to strength with fully qualified warrant officers and N.C.O.'s. Ever since taking over the regiment last spring, Lieut.-Col. Park has been striving to secure these provisions. A large number of his warrant officers and N.C.O.'s are unable to go to a Royal School for this work.

MIC TO MAC.

Dear Editor: In answer to Mac's letter of Thursday last may I ask with whom Lakefield would like to play? Are you thinking of turning "pro.?" I think that Nassau would give you a good battle. Why not try them? Lakefield ought to feel honored to play with a team like Peterborough. Just in passing, why doesn't Lakefield get some clean players? For instance, in the last game between Lakefield and Peterborough in Lakefield, the two Sabatino brothers netted fourteen penalties between them. Anyway, what does a hick-town like Lakefield know about hockey? Not much!

By the way, Mac, some night when your milking is done come down and we will show you just how to play hockey.

Thanking you for your valuable space, I remain,

MICK.

Speaking Of SPORT

By Frank Getty

The first football game ever played in the United States between elevens representing American and Mexican universities is slated for September 26th, 1930, in Los Angeles.

• • •

Final arrangements are now being completed between the University of Mexico, Mexico City, and Occidental College, Los Angeles.

The battle will be staged either in Los Angeles itself or in the Rose Bowl at Pasadena, and may be played at night.

In addition to being the first U.S.A.-Mexico football game played on American soil, the event will mark the first time that an athletic team representing a Mexican university ever competed in the United States.

• • •

Added interest is attached to the event, which is expected to attract better than 50,000 fans, because California and Mexico are geographical neighbors and because of the addition fact that Los Angeles has approximately a quarter million Mexicans itself.

• • •

The movie city has been called the "third largest Mexican town," ranking after Mexico City and Guadalajara in Mexican population. The Mexicans of both nations are enthusiastic sport fans.

• • •

The University of Mexico eleven will visit the United States with the prestige of having made a new record in football in 1929. In its game at Mexico City with Mississippi College on November 20, the University of Mexico completed 23 out of 28 forward passes. Harvard completed 19 out of 29 against Michigan last year.

• • •

Landa, the University of Mexico right end, received 17 passes in the Mississippi game—another record.

• • •

"Yale football" is the brand offered by Mexico. In August of 1929 Reginald D. Root, Yale '26 tackle on the Yale varsity elevens of 1924 and 1925 (and also a member of the Yale coaching staff), assumed direction of football at the University. Root has undertaken to drill Yale technique and ethics into his charges, with a sound knowledge of the fundamentals of the sport.

• • •

The sport of football is only three years old in Mexico. It was adopted by the students of the University of Mexico in the late summer (football weather existing the year round in Mexico) of 1928. They asked the prep school and college students in the American colony of Mexico City to organize a team, and a game was played on August 5. The University of Mexico won, 13 to 6.

• • •

The first football game ever played in the southern republic, however, dates back to October 10, 1896. Two teams made up of former prep school students—Mexicans who had learned the sport in the United States—played a game at Jalapa, the capital of Vera Cruz. Between that time and August of last year only three other games were played: one at the Mexico City country club in 1906 between two scrub teams made up of Americans and Mexicans, a second between two teams of Americans in Mexico City on Thanksgiving Day of 1911, and the third at Tampico in 1920 between teams made up of American employees of the oil companies.

• • •

The first American college to play in Mexico was Louisana. It played the University of Mexico at the National Stadium in Mexico City on October 5 of last year, and won 59 to 0.

Mississippi College played the University of Mexico at Balbuena Athletic Field, Mexico City, the following month, and won 28 to 0.

This year, the University of Mexico will play a regulation American college schedule of games, opening the season with the Occidental College event at Los Angeles. Other games include Louisiana College, Union University of Kentucky, Mississippi College, Louisiana Tech and, probably, Spring Hill College, of Alabama. A game may also be scheduled with Loyola College of New Orealns.

"THE BIG JEWEL CASE" SOUND NEWS "COW CAMP BALLADS"

GARDEN OFFICIALS STAND BY DECISION TO DISALLOW BROADCASTING OF FIGHT

Carey Firm Despite Pressure Brought About By Foreign Broadcasting Concerns.

FIGHT THREE DAYS OFF.

4 to 1 Odds Favor Sharkey to Win By Knockout Inside Four Rounds.

MIAMI, Fla. Feb. 25 (C.P.).—Although the strongest kind of pressure has been brought to bear, the Madison Square Garden Corporation to-day apparently had resisted all efforts to bring about a reversal of its decision not to broadcast the Sharkey-Scott and Campolo-Risko fight show Thursday night.

The impression that the Garden magnates would change their minds and permit the fisticuffs to be wafted out of the arena gained circulation after information was received the National Broadcasting Company were sending two men from New York.

It was learned, in addition, that strong influence had been brought to bear, not only by United States radio interests, newspapers and listeners-in, but also by foreign broadcasting concerns anxious to obtain hook-ups because of international character of the bouts.

Great Britain, represented by Phil Scott, and Argentina, by Victorio Campolo, in the two main bouts of the evening, especially have been anxious to arrange for the blow-by-blow returns by radio.

Sticks By Decision.

However, William F. Carey, president and spokesman for the Garden directorate, flatly said last night, before taking a train for New York that there would be no broadcast, under any circumstances.

The second battle of the palms is only three days off, with the box office making a gallant struggle to get the enterprise "out of the red" and the principal combatants through with intensive training going through the motions to keep in shape until the gong sends them into action.

Odds Favor Sharkey.

Nothing has happened thus far to alter the one-sided aspect of the Anglo-American main event. If anything, the impressive charter of Jack Sharkey's last workout with the gloves yesterday strengthened the general belief that he will polish off the lanky Scott. Betting has been conspicuous by its absence. Roughly, the odds were at 4 to 11, that Sharkey wins by a knockout inside four rounds.

The rush of fight fans from the north has been nothing like the expected, but special trains and extra accommodations on the regular hauls nevertheless have brought a substantial influx.

Tunney To Witness Sharkey-Scott Bout

He will be at the ringside for the Scott-Sharkey fight Thursday night but Jack Dempsey, conspicuous a year ago in the promotion of the first bout fight here, will not be among those present. Carey received a telegram yesterday from Dempsey, who is in Chicago, saying the former heavyweight king regretted business would keep him away but sending his best wishes.

A message of good wishes for Phil Scott from the Prince of Wales was conveyed to the British heavyweight yesterday by Major Melcalf, former royal equery, who will witness the fight.

FOUR TEAMS COMPETE FOR SENIOR HONORS

Each Team Will Be Matched With Each Other in Play-offs.

SAINTS BEAT ELEMENTARY.

St. Paul's Take 17-10 Count Out of "Y" Squad in Fast Tussle.

The first part of the schedule of the Peterborough Ladies' Basketball Association is now complete and play-offs for the supremacy of the two groups, senior and junior, will go ahead according to the decision made at a meeting last night in the Y.W.C.A.

Eight teams competed in the first part of the schedule. Four have been chosen to compete for the senior honors. They are "Y" Seniors, 7 wins, no losses; Westclox, 6 wins, 1 loss; St. Paul's, 5 wins, 2 losses; and De Laval, 4 wins, 3 losses.

The four teams which will compete for the junior honors are "Y" Elementaries, 3 wins, 4 losses; Wohelos, 2 wins, 5 losses; Senior School Girls, 1 win, 6 losses, and "Y" Intermediates, no wins, 7 losses.

Three Trophies.

In the play-offs each team will be matched with each other in its group. There will be three games each Friday night and one on Monday night. There are three cups. A cup will be given to the winners of the senior group and one to the junior group winners. There is also a runners-up for the seniors.

The last game of the old schedule was played last night when the St. Paul's entry took a round out of the "Y" Elementary squad by the count of 17-10. The game was a fast race and it was not until after the last half was under way that the St. Paul's crowd got the upperhand. The score at half time was 9-8 with the Elementaries on top.

The teams:

St. Paul's—Forwards, C. Patterson, M. Cowan; centre, A. Comstock; guards, G. Comstock, E. Morrow, S. Jackson.

"Y" Elementary—Forwards, E. Ecobichon, H. Forster; centre, J. Pattison; guards, B. Roberts, M. Deannard, G. Roseborough.

The games this Friday will be "Y" Seniors vs. De Laval, Wohelos vs. "Y" Intermediates, and Westclox vs. St. Paul's.

On Monday at 9.30 in the evening the "Y" Elementary will clash with the Senior School Girls.

WOMAN GOLF PRO HAS JOB WITH CLUB IN OHIO

CAMBRIDGE, O. (U.P.).—A woman golf professional is a rarity, but in Cambridge there is Virginia Hayes who is a real pro in every sense of the word.

With fewer than a dozen women in the United States endeavoring to earn a living from the ancient Scotch pastime, Miss Hayes resolved to become a pro and took up golf seriously. In less than four years she has mastered the game and become pro of the Cambridge Country club which position she has held for the past four years.

Shortly she will assume the duties of the professional of the Monroe Country club located near Woodsville, O.; a town of 10,000 with an active club membership and a sporty course.

GUY CANTRELL SIGNS WITH LEAFS

Some good news emanated from the Toronto Baseball Club headquarters last night when it was announced that Guy Cantrell, leading pitcher of the Leafs last season, had returned his contract signed. Cantrell agreed to the terms sent him, which called for a cut under his last year's salary. He states that he is looking forward to the coming season and declares that he will win twenty or more games for the Leafs. He is anxious to be among the first to report to Tarpon Springs, and intends motoring there, starting in a few days. He also promises to keep in condition this season, and assures the Toronto club there will be no further need of suspending him, such as occurred last year in the middle of the campaign.

In addition to Cantrell's signed contract the Toronto club has also received the signed contracts of Harry Davis, first baseman, and Carson Carr, a young infielder from Wheeling, who was one of the recruits picked up last fall. "Bucky" Burke is still a hold-out. He has returned for the second time his unsigned contract. When he was here a couple of weeks ago he asked the Toronto club to dispose of him, and believed an advantageous deal could be made for him with one of the other teams in the league. He reiterated his determination not to sign at the terms offered him, and also repeats his former request that he be sold. If he continues to remain a holdout he will be put on the suspended list.

ROOKIE WEARS OLD UNIFORM OF SWAT KING

Baseball Reporters Scent Dark Plot to Force Ruth Into Yankee Camp.

GIANTS ENTER FRAY.

Lefty Grove Arrives in Athletic Barnyard—Dodger Invalids Recovered.

Jack Scott's Tamales took the measure of Sam Leslie's Tortillas, 15 to 10, in the first joust of the New York Giants' spring training season at San Antonio, Texas. Six pitchers lobbed the ball up during the nine inning fray and gave up 36 hits.

A deep and dark plot to force Babe Ruth to put his signature to a New York Yankee contract has been scented by baseball reporters covering the Yankees' spring training at St. Petersburg, Fla. At the first workout of the season yesterday, it was discovered the Babe's famous uniform, with its well known "3" hemstitched on the back, was being worn by a rookie, Allen Cooke.

Connie Mack, major domo of the Philadelphia Athletics, ordered a fair sized squad of athletes to the ballyard to-day for the first spring practice at Fort Myers, Fla. Some of the regulars, eager to get going, have been in the south more than a week and a half dozen others, including the famous Lefty Grove, arrived yesterday.

News was strictly bullish at the opening session of the Brooklyn Dodgers' spring training season at Clearwater, Fla. Three invalids of 1929, Glenn Wright, del Bissonette and Jumbo Jim Elliott, all apparently have recovered from the ailments that made them practically useless to the Dodgers last year.

The size of the Cleveland Indians' recruit batterymen has brought a glow of satisfaction to Manager Roger Peckinpaugh at New Orleans, La., with the exception of Salvatore Gliatto, Fort Wayne midget, all of the club's new pitchers and catchers are six footers.

AN OPEN LETTER TO PRIMO CARNERO

Mr. Primo Carnera, U. S. A.

Dear Mr. Carnera,—Although the adding machines in this office have not yet cooled off, a rough estimate of your earnings during your first month in this country seems to be approximately $75,000.

Congratulations, Primo, and keep the change (if your board of managers has allowed you any).

More than anything else, you have served to show up boxing in the United States, and have done your bit to demonstrate that the once noble art of fisticuffs is 90 per cent. showmanship. Presumably Jimmy Johnston has the other ten per cent. He usually has.

What must you really think of us, Mr. Carnera, when you look back to the day when Paul Journee found you laying mosaic floors in a French village? They tell us that in those days you couldn't afford shoes, and as a matter of fact, few of us can these days, even with smaller feet than yours.

The American public, knowing you to be nothing more formidable than a big, good-natured clown, has showered you with dollars and still is ripe for more punishment. Those subterranean rumblings registered on the nation's seismographs of late certainly must be old John L. Sullivan turning over in his grave!

Tell us, Primo, does the good Signor Mussolini cut in on your purses, or have Billy Duffy, Abe Attell, Pete the Goat outsmarted "Il Duce" in this instance?

It is true, of course, that your previous career (ED NOTE: Why the "previous"?) was that of a circus clown and so-called strong man, and that you never pulled up trees by the roots and wouldn't know your way around Venice if the gondola upset. But nobody knows, and, as the old song used to say, nobody seems to care.

Go right on slapping them down, Mr. Carnera, since the public likes it, and pays. But when you run up against a real heavyweight, don't forget to duck. And keep away from Madison Square Garden for as long a time as possible. There's an old negro porter up there whose wool has grown white and whose eyes are dim, but in his day how he used to dote upon big boys about your size and shape.

I mean Joe Walcott, now busy with a broom in the musty corners of the big sports arena. Never more than middleweight at his heaviest, Joe used to pop over the largest heavyweights to be found, and from the way his Senegambian fingers tightened on the broom handle when you were boxing Big Boy Peterson in your American debut, I could tell that old Joe would have given his last remaining gold tooth for one swing at you.

A riverdici, Primo, and mucho lire to you.

FRANK GETTY.

PICTORIAL GOLF

A SUGGESTION OF FLAT SWINGERS

Sandy Hurd is a consistent golfer and has been during the long years that are just now drawing to a close. At sixty Hurd can hardly hope to win any big events, but he can still go on making holes in one and now has eighteen to his credit. Just recently he holed out in one to make this record complete.

Hurd is neither upright nor flat, a sort of a cross between the two, but favoring the flat style. He does not believe that it is necessary to put the left wrist under the shaft as so many good golfers do—Vardon for example. No flat swinger needs to place the left wrist under the shaft as it would be exceedingly awkward. There is no dishonor in being rated as a flat swinger. Most all short statured men can get more out of golf swinging this way.

WHAT!! NO BUNIONS?

Word has just come to us of a youth in Ashland, Kentucky, who has been training all winter, as well as seeking financial backing, in anticipation of competing in the C. C. Pyle transcontinental foot race this coming spring.

• • •

Recently, upon returning from a brisk 20-mile run through the frosty hills, the youth has inquired when and where the race would start, and other pertinent details.

• • •

No one, as yet, has been able to tell him. The one man who could answer his questions is reported still well in the lead in another kind of foot race, with a group of sheriffs well bunched in second place.

• • •

Rumor has it that there won't be any C. C. Pyle transcontinental foot race in 1930. Not in any year to come. And rumor, for once, is right.

• • •

AN OPTIMIST TO THE END.

Two years ago we attempted to persuade Charlie Pyle not to start his first transcontinental foot race, since it was obviously doomed to financial failure and ridicule. The ridicule didn't worry Charley a bit, while financial failure was, so to speak, right in his alley.

• • •

The first race was a flop, Pyle and others losing scads of money and a number of runners losing their health. But Charley wasn't convinced and went right back at them the following year with another "Bunion Derby," which headed westward instead of eastward, but did not otherwise differ greatly from its predecessor.

• • •

This time, the financial disaster was complete. The rosy plans of the promoter, who will ever remain my favorite optimist, failed to materialize and Pyle had to outsprint his foot runners to escape the collectors.

• • •

SCHEMES OF GRANDEUR

Charley Pyle is just about as grand a guy you would want to meet in a month of pay-days, but he is a confirmed bad guesser.

• • •

One thing you have to hand him, however, he is not a second guesser. His ideas, whether good or bad, are his own. His mistakes are never the mistakes of a piker, and they're seldom based upon some one else's judgment.

• • •

The last time I talked to Pyle, he had a scheme for hooking up parking places and camping sites with community improvements right across the continent, so that motorists on tour would spend their nights with him, and their money, too.

• • •

But, like the transcontinental foot-runners, the scheme developed bunions.

A BEDTIME STORY

by Howard R. Garis

UNCLE WIGGILY'S FROSTY WINDOW.

"Where is Jingle?" asked Uncle Wiggily one mornin as he began counting pink roses around the breakfast table, to ee that all the little rabbit children were up and down.

"And where's Jangle?" went on Mr. Longears, for neither those little twin rabbits were neither up nor down. And when I say up and down, I mean that their father didn't see them downstairs, and yet he wasn't sure they were up out of bed. So you see it is possible, for a rabbit child, at least to be up and down at the same time. That is they may be up out of bed and down in the breakfast room eating their carrot oatmeal mush cereal.

"Jingle and Jangle aren't feeling very well this morning," said Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy, who was helping Mrs. Longears serve breakfast so the forty sixteen little bunny boys and girls wouldn't be late for school.

"Not feeling well? That's too bad!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily. "What seems to be the trouble; measles, mumps or chickenpox?"

"I can't tell you just yet," said Mrs. Longears. "I have sent for Dr. Possum. But I thought it best to keep Jangle and Jingle in bed so they won't be going to school."

"And, I'll take their breakfast up to them later," offered Nurse Jane, the kind muskrat lady housekeeper.

"Oh, I wish I could stay home from school and have my breakfast in bed!" cried Buster.

"So do I!" cried Custer, "Oh, what fun!"

"Nonsense!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily, who did not want his little rabbits to get wrong thoughts. "It isn't fun to be ill."

Buster and Custer hadn't thought of this, but when they did they knew it wasn't really fun to stay home from school if you didn't feel well enough to go out and play. And of course if you were well enough to go out and play you were well enough to go to school.

So all the little bunny boys and girls except Jingle and Jangle hopped off to the hollow stump to recite their lessons for the lady Mouse Teacher. Uncle Wiggily finished his breakfast and then he went up to the room where Jingle and Jangle were in bed.

"Well, how are my little bunnies?" he asked cheerfully.

"Oh, Daddicums! I don't feel nice at all!" sighed Jingle.

"Will it be bitter medicine?" asked Jingle.

"I feel terrible!" sighed Jangle. "I'm cold and hot and my throat hurts and my nose sniffles and my eyes ache and oh, dear!"

"I think you both have caught cold from playing out in the snow yesterday," said Uncle Wiggily. "But if you stay in your warm bed and take the medicine Dr. Possum is going to bring I am sure you will be well in a few days."

"Will it be bitter medicine, Daddicums?" asked Jingle.

"If it isl'm not going to take it!" cried Jangle.

"Tut, tut now!" chuckled Mr. Longears. "The bitter in medicine is only a short taste. It doesn't last as long as a cold. Besides, perhaps Dr. Possum won't give you bitter medicine. We shall see."

So Uncle Wiggily sat beside his two ill ittle rabbit girls, and talked cheerfully to them while waiting for Dr. Possum. But the bunny children were cross and fretful and Jingle said:

"Oh, dear! There's nothing to look at in this old room!"

"Nothing at all!" said Jangle. "Nothing but the walls. Can't we sit up and look out of the windows, Daddicums?"

"Oh, no indeed!" exclaimed Mr. Longears. "It's too cold near the windows. But why do you say there is nothing to look at in this room? I see some wonderful things—some magical, fairy things."

"Where? Where?" cried Jingle and Jangle eagerly, half sittin : up in the bed, for they were both under the same quilt.

"On those frosty windows," answered Mr. Longears, "Talk about nothing to see in this woom! Why just look!" He pointed to one window, the glass panes of which were covered with white frost left there in the night. Jingle and Jangle looked and Jingle said:

"I only see' Frost! That's nothing! I've seen it before! Oh dear! I want to get up! I don't care if I am sick!"

"I'm going to get up too!" cried her sister.

"No, No! You must stay in bed!" said Uncle Wiggily. "Wait and listen to the story I am going to tell you about these frosty windows. Why here is a giant's cave, a magical mountain and—Oh, what's this?"

Jingle and Jangle were so interested that they forgot about getting out of bed down under the warm quilt—they snuggled and listened to Uncle Wiggily's story of the red flower.

Uncommon Sense

By John Blake

YOU CAN'T BUY AN EDUCATION.

I once knew a man who wanted above all other things to play a crack game of golf.

After trying himself for a time, he gave up self-instruction.

He knew nothing of how to stand, how to hold a club, or how to swing at the ball.

"But I'm going to learn anyway," he said. "I can't care how much it costs me, I'm determined to learn. I'm sick of making an exhibition of myself on the course. "All my friends play. I want to play with them and not make an exhibition of myself.""

So he went to the club professional and took lessons.

But the lessons didn't do him any good.

He paid no attention to what he was told, and constantly argued with his teacher as to how he should play.

Making no improvement, he joined another club where a well-known player, noted as a successful teacher, was the "pro".

This man charged him a higher price for the lessons, and gave him a great many of them. But at last he gave it up.

"I'm afraid, sir,' he said to his pupil, "that you do not really want to play golf. You could play if you would listen. But you won't. You refuse to do what I ask you to do, and you refuse to practice when I am not teaching you. You can't buy a golf game."

Many rich gentlemen, now "off" of golf forever, have found that out.

But many parents still think that they can buy an education for their children, and educations are less purchasable than golf.

No matter to what college you go, or how long you stay there, you have got to work for the education or you will not get it.

All the tutoring in the world will not give you an understanding of arts of sciences or languages.

No matter how much money you spend on extra instruction, it will not put anything in your head unless you are willing to make an effort to put it there.

I know a great many people who have been through college, and whose minds are so innocent of education as if they had never been there.

Also I know many people who are well educated who have never crossed a college campus except on a visit to the children they had sent there.

I suppose there is no way of telling in advance whether an education will "take" if certain boys or girls are exposed to it.

I am sure that it cannot be bought with money, but only with ambition and interest and eagerness to learn.

Given that, a college will do a great deal toward making education easier.

Without it, without the will to learn, any young person may get entertainment and fun out of college life (until dropped) but never anything that remotely resembles an education.

Before and After Baby Comes

STRENGTH and tranquil nerves are most important during this critical period.

The mother should be cheerful. Her vitality should be high. For nature demands that she nourish two instead of one.

The expectant mother is usually weak and nervous, and often continues so after baby is born.

A reliable tonic is then of definite help, for labor and strain always deplete the body's supply of mineral salts.

Born in Canada—this fine old tonic is now prescribed by physicians in 58 countries of the world.

WHAT PRICE DUTY? ASKS MEMBERS OF THE TWEED COUNCIL OF 1929

Passes in Toronto

Thomas McQueen, for over 30 years Toronto secretary of the Board of Control, who died following a serious operation recently. He was in his 70th year.

New Sewage and Waterworks System Rapidly Nearing Completion.

COST ALREADY $60,068

Ask the members of the Tweed council of 1929.

In the classic phrase of a municipal vernacular unapproved by Webster "they seen their duty and they done it." But their doing of it was flagrantly contrary to the expressed wishes of the ratepayers, and when the day of reckoning came, as it does annually around the end of the year, and the time came for an accounting of their stewardship, they were swept from office, sunk without a trace except the extensive work which they had started.

They had sought the sanction of the ratepayers for the construction of a complete water and sewerage system, and the vote had been adverse. Then, with a sacrificial gesture they adopted the expedient of proceeding under the Local Improvement Act.

Everybody Satisfied

For the presumption, call it idealism if you like, they ultimately walked the plank; but today the new sewerage system and the waterworks, with the huge storage standpipe, an outfall disposal plant, fire protection hydrants and other trimmings and gadgets, are nearing completion. The job is generally regarded with civic satisfaction and pride, something that was needed and apparently has been well done. But a new council is directing Tweed's municipal affairs.

A year or so ago an examination of quite a number of the local wells revealed an unexpected contamination in spite of the town's comparative freedom from infectious diseases, especially typhoid fever, which in the condition of the water, might presumably have been endemic. This report emphasized the desirability of modernizing the town, which, with a river and a lake at its back door, was not confronted with any serious problem of sewage disposal.

At any rate, last year's council tightened their determination, let the general contract to the Simone Construction Company of Toronto; and some time this Spring water will be flowing in the new mains, and the private water systems will gradually be connected with the public sewer. The Simone Company's contract price for the sewer and water mains, the disposal plant and the foundation of the standpipe was $30,600 with extras for work through rock and boulder formation.

Cost Already $60,068

Up to January 31 the Simone contract amounted to $42,090; the standpipe cost $6,100; cast iron pipes from the National Iron Corporation cost $8,518; hydrants and valves from the Kerr Engine Company cost $2,183; the bill of the Neptune Meter Company was $612.50; and brass and copper pipes accounted for $565, a total of $60,068. The final expenditure may reach $65,000 or $70,000; this statement is a mere approximation, however.

The water and sewer pipes have been laid in the same trench, the one above the other; and in some sections the excavation through rock required considerable blasting. The trench on Victoria Street, the business street of Tweed, was filled in only a short time before winter arrived, leaving a long snow-covered mound up the center of the street which was converted into a parking space. Traffic flowed along on either side of it. That is only a temporary arrangement until Spring comes and the street is restored to its normal level.

Mile and One Half Sewer

The total length of sewer under the initial contract is about one mile and a half, including 2,800 feet on the main street, 1600 feet on Metcalfe, 800 feet on Jamieson, nearly 400 feet on Colborne, 600 feet on Bridge street and three hundred from the foot of Victoria street to the disposal plant.

Instead of pumping their water supply from the river, the council decided to erect a standpipe on the hill west of the town and drive wells for water. The top of the hill is 140 feet above the main street level, and the standpipe is 80 feet high by 20 feet in diameter, with a capacity of 160,000 gallons, assuring a down town pressure of 90 pounds per square foot. The first wells that were driven tapped a rather disappointing flow of water, but further work uncovered a plentiful supply. The final analysis of the water last week gave it the highest rating of purity.

Already twenty-five applications for sewer connections have been filed. The disposal plant is of an enlarged septic tank type, and is situated on Stoco Lake three hundred feet east of the new memorial park. James, Proctor and Redfern were the town's consulting engineers.

OBLIGING FIRE

A motorist driving in the vicinity of the Fire Hall last evening, was caused some consternation by noticing wisps of smoke curling around him in a suspicious manner. Parking his car in front of the Fire Department he enlisted the aid of the firefighters, who emptied the contents of an extinguisher on the seat of the trouble, after which the thankful owner was able to drive away and complete his somewhat extended trip in safety.

Jabs and Jottings as Picked Up by an Examiner Reporter

POLICE CAPTURING DOGS

One lone, diminutive pomeranian pup was in the tells of the law this morning at the police station as a result of the proclamation issued by the Mayor last week to the effect that all dogs in the city must be kept tied up with chains for three months. The pomeranian was picked up through the complaint of a woman in whose neighbourhood the dog was loose.

The roaming population of dogs on the city's street has practically disappeared in the past few days as a result of the proclamation. The police report that citizens have taken heed of the order in most cases although there still is the occasional "mutt" at large.

Several dogs each day have been been taken by the police and handed over to Veterinary Inspector Dr. T. Johnston. He is holding them under surveillance to make sure that none of them are affected with rabies.

IT IS NOW PUSSIES' DAY

The pussies of the town are stepping high, wide and handsome, although there are blue days for the canines of the city. The merry springtime is upon us and the law has decreed that the dogs be tied up. No more scampering about, no more chasing of cars and stray cats, and no more walks with friendly humans. They gloom at the end of chains, in back yards, and haven't even the consolation of knowing that all their doggy friends are in like durance vile.

But the cats are wearing a broad and collective smile. A black and white pussy walked across George street this morning, its tail going up like a flag at a passing salutation. It walked with ease, as if it knew that its hereditary enemies were in disgrace.

CONTRACTS NOT LET.

Contracts for the superstructure of the Ovaltine plant in this city have not yet been let by the A. Wander firm on account of alterations that are being made in the plans. The awards are expected within ten days.

The work on the sub-structure of the plant which is being done by the T. A. Brown Company of Toronto, is progressing smoothly now that serious quicksand difficulties have been overcome, and it is expected that the original contract time requirements will be approximated.

The awards for the superstructure were at first to be announced early in January, but have been postponed several times. Most of the firms that have tenders on the job are of Toronto, and the list includes the T. A. Brown Company, Limited. R. Sheehy & Son, of Peterborough, are bidding.

CREEK IS BRIDLED

Jackson Park Creek, in rebellion for the past day or so is at present running its course free from ice although with much greater volume than is its custom.

The stoppage zone extending from Murray street to Brock and Aylmer bridge, gave the City Engineer's men a hard fight early this morning, but around ten a.m. the ice gave way to the attack and proceeded down stream in an orderly fashion.

The extent of the stoppage can be gauged from the fact that Murray street in the vicinity of the creek is covered with scores of ice blocks of varying sizes, whilst the banks on each side of the creek also bear evidence of a complete block at this point.

It is said that Jackson Park Creek is regarded as a "barometer" by the Trent Canal officials, who are able to judge the conditions in the upper lakes by the volume of water which is carried down each Spring.

CRAWLERS AND CROAKERS

The bright sunshine and balmy air has caused a great stir of activity among the insect life of the district. Caterpillars, the furry, fluffy kind, were noticed on the Port Hope highway yesterday by Fred Coulson and Joe Brown, and two, alive and wiggling, were brought into The Examiner office. It was also stated that the frogs had come out of their winter quarters and were striking up their pipes yesterday in the pools along the Highway.

BOARD OF EDUCATION IS UNABLE TO REDUCE ESTIMATES BY $4,000

matter was a disappointment to both was most evident. The members of the Council expressed the opinion that had the $4,000 reduction in the Board's estimates been made the mill rate would not have gone above 39 mills.

The increases that came last night were: Old Age Pension Board, $650; F. J. A. Hall, city's auditor, $200 increase in salary; special grants, $1,075; City Solicitor, $300 increase in salary; and an additional $1,700 added to the Board of Works.

The $650 to the Old Age Pension Board will be required to pay the Board's members at the rate of $5 per meeting for the current year, which remuneration was fixed by the Finance ommittee at last night's meeting. The members of this Board will not be paid for any work done in 1929. The increase of $1,700 to the Board of Works still leaves that department with $7,800 less than was spent for its work last year.

It was explained that 1 mill on the city's taxation represents about $20,000. Thus the increase in taxes collected this year will be $24,000 more than last.

Dr. Craig Addresses Aldermen

In addressing the Finance Committee on the question of reducing the Board of Education's estimates, Dr. J. J. Craig, chairman of the board, said:

"The Board of Education is asking you to provide $255,400 for the maintenance of the Public Schools and the Collegiate Institute for the year 1930. This demand will mean an increase of .29 of a mill in the tax rate for the Public Schools and Collegiate Institute.

"The tax rate in 1929 for Public Schools and Collegiate Institute was 13.58 mills. The tax rate for Public and Collegiate Institute for 1930 will be 13.87 mills, making an increase in the tax rate of .29 mills, or 29 cents on every thousand assessment, or $1.45 on a $5,000 assessment.

"You have asked us to confer with you to see if it is possible that we might in some manner reduce our estimates. I cannot see how we can in any way make a reduction. The majority of our estimates are based on fixed expenditures. Our salaries are a fixed expenditure, and it is just a matter of figuring out the annual increase on teachers' salaries who have not reached their maximum. Our insurance is another fixed expenditure. Our fuel account is estimated on the amount required in other years and the present prevailing price of coal. This year there has been a slight reduction in our fuel estimate, repairs and furniture. This estimate is practically the same from year to year, as we have a definite plan that we work to in taking care of the school property. Text books and supplies run about the same every year. Our general expense account does not vary materially from year to year. I am pointing these things out to show you that there is no opportunity for a reduction in our estimates; they are already cut to the bone. Any attempt at a reduction would be at the expense of efficiency.

"You have asked if we could not dispense with the $4,000 in our estimates for the equipping of a laboratory in the Collegiate. This is an industrial laboratory for the industrial classes in the Vocational Department of the Collegiate:

Memorandum Respecting Laboratory Accommodation

1. "It was stipulated when the new wing was built that there should be an Industrial Laboratory for the Vocational pupils. Room 102 was designated for this purpose, but it has been used as a classroom the past year and a half and has not been equipped as a laboratory.

2. "Science can be taught as it should be taught only in a properly equipped laboratory.

3. "During the present school year (1929-1930) we have eight classes in the Vocational Department requiring science. Three of these classes have five lessons per week, and the other five have four lessons a week, or thirty-five lessons in all per week out of a possible forty. These classes are:

Commercial:
IA	5
IB	5
IC	5
III	4
Industrial Arts:
IA	4
IB	4
IIA	4
IIB	4
	35

"Last year (1928-1929) we managed to get along. We had only first year pupils in Industrial and Household Arts and hence we had only eight instead of sixteen lessons in Science. The teacher who teaches Science in the Commercial Department also helped by taking the classes in the ordinary classrooms, but, this, of course, was unsatisfactory and was criticized by the Inspectors.

"Personally I think it would be very unwise to delay the equipping of th's Laboratory that is so greatly needed, if the Vocational Department of the Collegiate is going to give efficient instructions to the Vocational pupils. Next year we will have students in the first year, second year and third year in the Industrial and Household Arts Course. I do not think it would be in the best inteerests of those whom we serve to try and get on without this very necessary expenditure.

"In order to correct the impression that may be in the minds of some of you as to the cost of education per pupil, owing to the figures that appeared in The Examiner last week, I can tell you that the cost to the ratepayer in the City of Peterborough is $51.10 per pupil in the Public Schools, and in the Collegiate $101.67.

"When the Board came to you in 1927 asking you to grant the permission of an expenditure of $308,000.00 for building and equipping an extension to the Collegiate, we pointed out to you that it would not increase the cost per pupil to the rate-payer. At that time it was costing the ratepayer $121 per pupil. From the figures I have given you, you will see there has been a reduction in the cost of education per pupil to the ratepayer in the Collegiate.

1,027 Pupils Enrolled

"We have an enrollment of 1,027 pupils in the day classes of the Collegiate as against 600 in 1927, and 814 in the night classes. I give you those figures to show you that the figures in The Examiner last week were misleading. To take the total cost of all schools in the city and divide that by the number of pupils attending school for one given month is a wrong way to arrive at the cost of educating a child, for you cannot educate a child in the Collegiate for what you can in the Public Schools.

"With reference to the increase of teachers' maximums; this matter was dealt with by the committee on appointments that brought in a recommendation to the board that the maximum be increased. This recommendation met with the approval of the whole Board. I think the Board has dealt with the salary question in a manner that has been satisfactory to both teachers and parents. This, we hope, will keep the splendid staff of teachers in the Public Schools and Collegiate intact, because the continual change of teachers on the staff does not make for the best results. A teacher who has spent several years in reaching her maximum must be of greater service to the City of Peterborough than one who is just commencing. One who is in business realizes that it is worth something to that business to retain those who have reached a high point of efficiency. I think the move was timely.

"When Mr. Jamieson left the Commercial staff in the Collegiate, the Board then discovered the fact that we were faced with the situation of having to pay a much higher salary to replace him, to his successor we are compelled to pay a maximum exceeding Mr. Jamieson's salary by $150. We realize that there is a scarcity of teachers at the present time, and with the higher salaries being paid elsewhere, if our teachers were to send in their resignation we could not possibly replace them.

"The Toronto Board of Education is now searching the Province for teachers for their new technical and commercial school in North Toronto.

"I feel sure that the manner in which the Board dealt with the salary question has met with entire satisfaction, that it was both timely and wise.

"At the present time we have only three unoccupied classrooms in the Collegiate, and the present condition in the Academic Department is such that we will have to provide two more class rooms and another teacher. In several forms of the Academic Department we have an overcrowded condition, having as high as 46 pupils to a classroom, when the normal number is 30. We can easily have two more class rooms and still be over the normal number of students per class room. So you see that the Board is doing everything to carry on and meet the demands placed upon them with the utmost economy.

"If one makes a survey of other cities that are providing Vocational, Academic and Commercial education you will see that our municipal expenditure for education is not out of proportion.

"Toronto spends 33½c per cent. of her municipal expenditure for education. She is spending over $10,500,000 on her schools. You will notice that Oshawa is asking for an increase of $30,000 this year, so I think the Board is trying to provide for education just as economical as is possible to do so, and I cannot see where we can make any reductions in our estimates this year.

"The Board is an elective body responsible to the people. We all are ratepayers, and as ratepayers, like yourselves, we are just as vitally interested in securing education for our children and the other children in the City of Peterborough at the lowest possible cost.

Dr. Craig gave the following figures on the demands by Board of Education from the City Treasurer for the purpose of maintenance of the Public Schools and Collegiate Institue over a period of six years.

1925	211,900.00
1927	220,600.00
1928	227,500.00
1929	237,500.00
1930	255,400.80

Increase in the cost of maintenance over a period of 6 years:—

Public School	$ 9,870.40
Collegiate	35,000.00

Increase in the demands of the Board for the Public Schools and Collegiate Institute from 1927-1930, inclusive, $44,870.00.

Balance Sheet, 1924	$621,709.03
Balance Sheet, 1928	928,523.00
	$307,185.97

Positions Difficult

Mayor Denne said that the Council had not asked the members of the Board of Education to the meeting to embarass them or try to force them into anything. Their position, he said, was similarly to the Council's a difficult one, but he hoped that a sincere effort would be made to cut the estimates down.

James Dutton, chairman of the Property Committee and Advisory and Vocational Committee of the Board, stated that his regret was that the laboratory had not been equipped at the time the new school was built. Now the Department was demanding its immediate equipping.

I. P. McNabb, chairman of the Board's Finance Committee, said that the Board was just as sincerely interested in keeping the tax rate down as the Council, but that no further reductions could be made in the Board's estimates.

Replying to a question of Alderman Stocker, Dr. Craig explained that the vice-principals' salaries had not been increased $500 but that their maximum had been increased that amount, and that it would take the vice principals five years at an annual increase of $100 to reach the maximum.

Chairman Phelan of the Finance Committee stated that it was the Council's idea to ask the Board to meet with them and see if something could not be done together to keep the tax rate to 39 mills.

It was explained by I. P. McNabb that the Board hoped and expected the Department to pay part of the expense of the laboratory but whether they would do so or not when the payment would be made was not known.

Alderman McNabb stated that the Council had cut their estimates in every department and he thought that the Board could hew off a $200 here and another $100 there to make a $4,000 reduction. Alderman Tuggey was of the same opinion and he begged the Board to make the reductions.

Stating that he was speaking as a private citizen, James Dutton, asked leave to offer a suggestion. He said that because the City Council was under heavier expense because of matters they could not control as the Old Age Pensions and Mother's Allowance and after they had one their utmost to keep the mill rate down, he would suggest that they courageously increase the mill rate to cover the increased expenditudes. "I will leave it with the thinking people of Peterborough to realize that you have done all in your power to keep the rate down and they will realize that the increase was inevitable" he said.

In drawing up the estimates, the only flare up that occurred despite the intense efforts of the Council to make reductions was when the Police Department's estimates came up for a final passing. Alderman Stocker stated that they should be reduced by $500 and when his statement was challenged by Mayor Denne he started in to do so.

The estimates were passed under Alderman Stocker's disapproval and, as final shot, the dissenting councillor declared, "I want it known that I'm not one of Chief Newhall's stool pigeons."

Deputations were heard from the Chamber of Commerce, Canadian Legion and Automobile Club in regard to grants.

James Dutton spoke for the Chamber of Commerce, emphasizing the work that the Chamber was doing and the load they were lifting from the shoulders of the Council. Other members of the deputation were: G. A. Gillespie, J. A. McKone, J. J. Turner, Jack Dewart and Fred Hills.

Jack Dewart spoke for the Canadian Legion and Tom Dutton and James Juby for the Automobile Club.

Grants for all these organizations were made in the estimates, the Chamber getting $800, the Canadian Legion $500 and the Automobile Club $225.

Particue of Ice Strikes Bystander.

The method of placing the dynamite under the ice jam, must have been quite a revelation to many of the onlookers, and so many charges were successfully exploded that it was but another instance of familiarity begetting contempt. The dynamite fastened to the end of a long pole contained a lengthy fuse, which was lighted and then placed deep in the water under the stubborn obstacle.

A few second of suspense and a dull explosion accompanied by a fountain of water and minute particles of ice, followed by the dislodging of a mass of ice, showed that the method was beginning to have some effect. Countless charges were exploded in the course of the afternoon, one right near the bridge over which the onlookers were peering so interestedly and not long afterwards a charge was placed in a stubborn obstacle twenty or thirty feet from the bridge. Nicholas Dellarrow held the end of the stick, all eyes were centred on him as the crowd waited expectantly for the report—it came—Bang! and the next minute Dellarow was in the water to scramble out a few seconds later wet to the skin and holding his stomach in evident pain. He had apparently been struck by a piece of ice and without more ado he was taken in hand by a willing group of men who rushed him off to St. Joseph's Hospital; but in the meantime there was something else had happened to occupy the attention of the crowd, a man, Valentine Carroll had collapsed on the sidewalk with blood spurting from a nasty wound below the left eye, and running down the front of his clothing. He was helped to his feet, somewhat dazed by the suddeness of the accident and barely realizing that he had been also struck by a fragment of ice. Willing hands were on all sides to assist him and he was bundled into a car and taken to Dr. J. M. O'Brien's surgery where this doctor, assisted by Dr. F. P. McNulty, put two stiches in the wound after which he was taken to his home, 509 Bolivar street.

His Worship Mayor Denne, who was on the scene with members of the council, requested Alderman Fred T. Tuggey to phone the police department, notify them of the accident and have them place an officer on duty to disperse the crowd. The request was immediately complied with and the crowd melted into oblivion on the arrival of the officer.

A glance over the bridge at about seven o'clock, last evening proved that their efforts had been entirely successful at this point, although at Brock and Aylmer street bridge immediately outside Selkirk and Elliott's garage ice was jammed tightly in on a level with the top of the bridge. The water seemed to be finding adequate outlet, however, and did not seem to be offering any immediate danger of flooding.

MRS. PARSONS IS RE-ELECTED HEAD OF LEAGUE

Ashburnham Patriotic League Holds Annual Election of Officers.

SUCCESSFUL YEAR.

During Year Large Amount of Work Was Done in Memorial Park.

Re-election of all the officers of the society marked the holding of the annual meeting of the Ashburnham Women's Patriotic League last night at the home of Mrs. R. H. Parsons, Douro street. Reports were given by the secretary, Miss E. Scott, and the treasurer, Mrs. T. H. Glover, the latter showing a satisfactory balance on hand.

Officers re-elected are as follows: Mrs. John Butcher, honorary president; Mrs. R. H. Parsons, president; Mrs. R. F. Sedgewick, first vice-president; Mrs. H. Morgan, second vice-president; Mrs. T. H. Glover, treasurer; Miss E. Scott, recording secretary; Mrs. T. N. D. Kelly, corresponding secretarly. Telephone committee members are: Mrs. W. Mein, Mrs. J. B. Gillespie and Mrs. John Kerr. Social Committee: Mrs. A. S. Couper and Mrs. D. A. Lawrence.

It was decided to hold a Spring tea on March 26th at the home of Mrs. McNabb, Senior, George street.

In her report, Miss Scott recorded a very successful year just ended, both as regards finances and work done in the park. Nine regular meetings were held, also several special meetings.

During the year, a large amount of work was done in the Park, in the way of transplanting trees and caring for those planted. The work finished this year with the opening of an entrance road from Hunter street to the top of the hill, the work being done by the Warren Paving Company with their large steam shovel.

In the Old Home Week parade, the ladies prepared a float. Finances were augmented during the year by putting on a play entitled "The Bride Breezes In," presented by the Trinity Dramatic Club in the P.C.I. hall and netting the League the sum of $106.06. In March, a tea and bridge held at the home of Miss Scott brought $46.25. A pair of pillow-cases donated and raffled by a member, also talent money received from another member, increased the funds by $10.30 and $5.

A quilt donated by Mrs. Ada Craig and rafled by the society, realized $68.30.

Reference was made to the pleasant picnic held at the summer home of Mrs. T. H. Glover, and Miss Scott concluded with the paragraph:

"We feel that the success of the society is greatly due to the president, Mrs. Parsons, and also to her husband, who is always such an able assistant, and we wish to convey to them our sincere thanks and appreciation."

LINDSAY JURY DECIDES MARCHAM IS SANE

DELEGATION NAMED TO APPROACH FEDERAL CABINET FOR HEARING PETITION TO HONOR DAVID FIFE

Suggested Original Farm Be Purchased From Pioneer's Grandson, Edwin Fife.

REPRESENTATIVE MEETING.

Farm Would Be Great Benefit to the Farmers of This District.

Representatives of the city and county of Peterborough last night expressed unanimous approval of the proposal to request the Dominion government to establish a demonstration farm in Otonabee township as a memorial to David Fife.

Concluding a thorough discussion of the project and the possibilities of its successful fulfillment, a committee composed of Warden James Hawthorne, Mayor Denne, Reeve Fred McIntyre of Otonabee and J. J. Duffus was appointed to go to Ottawa in the near future for the purpose of arranging with the Minister of Agriculture and probably other members of the Federal Cabinet for an interview by a larger local deputation some time next month.

The idea suggested by The Peterborough Examiner three months ago that the monument to David Fife, which had been publicly recommended two or three times in the last forty years might take the practical and living form of a Demonstration Farm was endorsed by every one of the thirty men from the city and county, who joined in declaring this country's great debt to David Fife, the Otonabee township pioneer farmer whose Red Fife wheat contributed so abundantly to the development of Canadian agriculture and to the national prosperity of this Dominion, especially during that marvellous epoch in Empire building from 1885 until 1915.

Utilize Fife's Farm.

Another suggestion tentatively put forward last night and depending upon the response of the Government urges that the original David Fife farm, now occupied by his grandson, Edwin Fife, be purchased for the proposed demonstration farm. George Fife who was present as a representative of the Fife family, whose number he estimated at twelve hundred, stated that such a memorial would be highly pleasing to the Fife sentiment.

Reeve McIntyre, general chairman of the committee authorized by the county council, presided last night. Present with him were Samuel Armstrong of Otonabee who in 1906 had advocated the erection of a Fife monument, Alex Houston deputy-reeve of Otonabee, Councillor J. A. Burns also of Otonabee, Reeves John Leahy of Douro, Harry Parker of Harvey, Thos. Cavanagh of Ennismore, County Clerk Ed. M. Elliott, Mayor Denne, Aldermen Stocker, McIntyre, Fitzpatrick, Holland and Tuggey, Morley E. Smithson, R. R. Hall, K.C., E. G. Patterson, Vincent Eastwood, George Gillespie, J. J. Duffus, Dr. Holloway, Dr. Craig, A. A. McIntyre, Duncan McFarlane, George Fife, Robt. A. Wilson.

Reeve McIntyre asked for the opinion of everyone, and for the most part the speeches reiterated a desire to assist in obtaining a demonstration farm as a memorial, to David Fife and also their conviction that the proposal was not only a moderate one but also that it would be a great benefit to the farmers of the large district of which Peterborough is the centre.

Samuel Armstrong.

Sam Armstrong said his farm adjoined the one on which David Fife first grew his wheat.

"I have been in favor of a monument to his memory for a good many years. Twenty-four years ago I took a trip out west at harvest time. For mile upon mile the wheat was in stooks, Fife wheat everywhere I looked; and towns and villages here

BANDIT SLASHES JEWELER'S NECK FOR 'SQUAWKING'

Wounded Man Had Identified Thug's Girl Friend as One Who Robed Store.

NOW ON TRIAL.

Trio Face Long String of Hold-ups—Two Men Plead Guilty.

BUFFALO, N.Y., Feb. 26 (C.P.) — Crying out, "This is what I always do with squawkers!" Peter Dombkiewicz, self-confessed bandit companion of Sally Joyce Richards, on trial for her alleged participation in a series of hold-ups here, slashed David Glickstein, a jeweler, in the throat this noon. Clickstein, who had identified the girl as the leader of a gang that robbed his store, was standing near the witness box at the time.

Dombkiewicz slashed Glickstein's throat several times with wide sweeping strokes with a weapon which consisted of a broken tooth brush handle fastened to a knife blade.

Glickstein was hurried to emergency hospital, bleeding profusely, but it was announced there later to-day that his condition was not serious.

Dombkiewicz, who was arrested in Montgomery, Ala., with the girl, and Eddie Izy Dorczak, and brought here to face charges in connection with a long string of hold-ups, yesterday pleaded guilty as had Izy Dorczak.

The girl's trial on a first degree robbery charge started yesterday. Her counsel announcing he would attempt to prove that "circumstances beyond her control" accounted for her alleged misdeeds.

FRENCH LEADERS PLAN FUSION CABINET

RAYMOND POINCARE

ANDRE TARDIEU

Andre Tardieu to-day accepted the onerous duty of trying to form a new Cabinet to direct the affairs of France following the swift end of the Chautemps ministry. He undertook the responsibility only on the promise of Raymond Poincare's assistance in a joint effort to effect a "broad union" of the left and right wings of the House of Deputies that are now of almost equal strength and numbers. Premier Tardieu has recently been an outstanding figure in the naval conference in London.

GRAND RIVER FLOODS DUNNVILLE REFUGEES SLEEP IN TOWN HALL TWO FEET OF WATER IN STREETS

Heavy Property Loss — Monarch Knitting Company Suffers.

MOTORS MAROONED.

Boats Carry Only Traffic—People Isolated in Homes.

HAMILTON, Ont., February 26. — (C.P.) — Dunnville counted the damage to-day after the most disastrous flood ever to strike a town in the Grand River valley. Thousands upon thousands of dollars loss have been suffered, besides the great hardship inflicted upon the people.

Those who did not see the town at the height of the flood would find it hard to realize the extent of the mass of ice and water which covered the area. Streets were filled two to three feet deep, motor cars marooned and people penned in their houses while only boats and canoes were to be seen travelling along the flooded roads.

Refugees in City Hall.

The hospital was pumped free of water by the fire department as the river receeded during the night, and this morning other important buildings were being freed of their burden of slush and ice. The city hall has been turned over to refugees and a number of people made their home in the municipal building last night.

The big bridge across the river was wholly blocked but to-day the highway department had a large squad of men at work who succeeded in cutting a path for pedestrians through the miniature mountains of ice. Motor traffic is not yet possible.

With the coming of colder weather, and the breaking up of the ice jam, the river is steadily receding and Dunnville was almost free of water, except in low-lying spots, to-day.

Knitting Company Suffers

The heaviest loss was suffered by the Monarch Knitting Company whose stores of materials in their basement were soaked. Individual losses will be heavy, besides the damage suffered by the railway to right of way and their buildings.

NO EFFORT MADE TO SAVE FAMILY

Lonsway Held Responsible For Wife and Children's Deaths By Coroner's Jury.

CORBETTON, Ont., Feb. 26. (Canadian Press).—Because he did not attempt to extinguish the blaze or rescue his two children when he discovered fire ravaging his farm home near here early on the morning of Feb. 15 last, Roy Lonsway was held responsible for the fire which caused the deaths of his wife and two children by a coroner's jury investigating circumstances surrounding the tragedy here last night.

The jury's verdict follows: "We, the jury empanelled to enquire into the deaths of Hazel Lonsway, Arthur Lonsway and Emily Lonsway, find they came to their deaths by burns, suffocation and shock, and we find Roy Lonsway to be responsible for the fire by not trying to put it out or trying to get the children out of the room."

First Lady Senator Is Heard in House

OTTAWA, Feb. 26. — (C.P.).— Crowded galleries greeted Hon. Cairine McKay Wilson, Canada's first woman Senator, when she delivered her maiden speech in the Red Chamber yesterday. She was tendered an ovation by the staid Senators when she rose to second the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne. She spoke fluently in French and then in English for 15 minutes and when the Senate adjourned, staid members crowded round to congratulate her. She was dressed in a smart knitted suit of dark brown and bore her honors modestly. Her husband and two of her eight children, members of the diplomatic colony, and several Cabinet Ministers were in the gallery.

ANDRE TARDIEU AGAIN DRAFTING FRENCH CABINET

Workable Fusion of Both Wings of Chamber is Planned.

SCENE SHIFTS QUICKLY.

Poincare Declined Leadership But Agrees to Assist Tardieu.

PARIS, Feb. 26 (C.P.)—With the Chautempts Cabinet down in ruins, President Doumergue to-day entrusted the task of forming a new Cabinet to Andre Tardieu, who will seek to form a wide Union Cabinet with the aid of Raymond Poincare, veteran French statesman.

The President first called in Tardieu this morning and asked him to form a ministry, but Tardieu refused and suggested former Premier Poincare, offering to take a portfolio under him which would include his returning to the London Naval Conference which has been marking time pending solution of the French Cabinet crisis.

Poincare Refuses

Poincare, however, also refused the post, pleading that his health would be wrecked if he took the reins now before his strength was restored. He is still convalescent from his recent illness. He advised President Doumergue to insist on Tardieu serving as the new Premier.

Later, Poincare announced on leaving the Elysee Palace that Tardieu had been charged with the mission of forming a new Cabinet and that he would begin consultations at the Poincare residence this afternoon regarding the membership of the new Ministry.

Poincare said he had promised President Doumergue he would help Tardieu form a wide Union Cabinet. Such a Union Cabinet appears to offer the only possible solution of the present deadlock, inasmuch as the Chamber of Deputies now has de-

Hearing of Murder Trial Is Proceeding At Lindsay Assizes

Psychopathologist From Whitby Asylum Pronounced Prisoner "Crazy"—Walter Marcham Accused of Murdering Mrs. Everton Switzer—Trial Before Mr. Justice Kelly in Lindsay Assizes.

PRISONER OVERSEAS IN CANADIAN ARMY ALSO SERVED IN THE IMPERIAL FORCES

Was Released From Army in 1904 Because of Fits of Melancholia—Case of Dementia Praecox.

(By Staff Reporter)

LINDSAY, Ont., Feb. 26—The hearing of the trial of Walter Marcham, alias Norman, charged with the murder of Mrs. Everton Switzer, will continue this afternoon. This was decided at 1.40 p.m. here to-day when the jury returned with verdict: "We, the jury, agree that the prisoner is fit to go on with the trial."

For more than an hour and a half the jury was in retirement considering whether Norman is or is not, on account of alleged insanity, able to stand trial.

At 12.10 the jury filed out to ask Mr. Justice Kelly further details on the knotty problem of Marcham's appreciation of the details in his trial. One juror was commended by the judge when he said, Your Honor "We have to find whether the accused knows the difference between good deeds and bad and if he can appreciate the fact that he is on trial for murder"

The jury will now hear the addresses of counsel and will then decide whether Marcham is guilty of murder or whether mental disease from which doctors state he is suffering was responsible for him killing Mrs. Switzer.

Dr. Stephenson said that he has had thirteen years' experience studying insanity and is now Superintendent of the Ontario Hospital for the Insane at Whitby. He had examined Norman and found him afflicted with a mental disease, Dementia Praecox. This is the most common mental disease. About forty per cent. of the people in asylums are suffering from it. Saying that dementia praecox is a progressive disease, Dr. Stephenson expressed the opinion that Norman's case was progressive for some time, and then was stationary for some years. He thought Norman should be confined to a hospital for the insane now.

Those suffering from Dementia praecox often suffer from delusions, and persecution is one of the most common delusions, said the witness.

Dr. Stephenson said he thought Norman is suffering from a delusion of persecution, but despite that believes "he is competent to instruct his counsel."

"Goat" of Regiment

Dr. F. A. Logan, of Lindsay, had examined Norman last night and the Crown Attorney said he would put him in the box for the benefit of the Court. Dr. Logan reviewed Norman's life briefly from when he was a child in an orphan asylum until the present. Norman had told Dr. Logan that he had been the "regimental goat," preferred to be by himself, playing the flute when a youngster, loafed for a while in this country and worked for farmers, but never got a square deal.

Norman had explained that he couldn't get on with his wife because she was cross-eyed, and "You can't trust a cross-eyed woman."

Justice Kelly, in addressing the jury, said they must decide the question, "Is or is not the accused, on account of insanity, unfit to take his trial?"

Each juror was sworn in again for the new issue.

This condition of making the jury first decide whether Marcham is a sane man or a lunatic was brought about yesterday afternoon. Crown Attorney Anderson asked Dr. Stephenson, supervisor of Whitby asylum: "In your opinion is this man sane or insane?" and the doctor replied: "I think he is crazy."

Immediately Justice Kelly adjourned the trial to settle the question of Marcham's sanity. All witnesses were ordered to be in court today.

Startling evidence of Marcham's strange behaviour, indicating insanity, was brought out by the defence. The strange allusions which

ANOTHER LIFE IS SACRIFICED IN FLOOD TOLL

Drowning of Young Man at Hamilton Brings Total Victims to Five.

TWO RIVERS RISING.

Thamesville Main Streets Under Foot of Water—Dunnville Still Submerged.

TORONTO, Ont., February 26 (Canadian Press). — Turbulent waters in Ontario rivers and streams subsided yesterday with but two exceptions. At Dunnville, the town and a large part of the surrounding district was submerged in the flood waters of the Grand River. Anxiety was felt at Thamesville when the waters of the River Tames overflowed and covered the main corner of the town to a depth of a foot or more. The river is steadily rising.

The floods took a fifth life yesterday when Elmer Book, 25, Hamilton, was drowned. His body was recovered several hours later. Two Windsor rum-runners were drowned on Monday and two young boys perished at Guelph and Harriston.

A steady downpour of rain earlier in the day had resulted in strict patrols being kept along the banks of many streams, but reports indicated danger was past in most localities. At Dunnville an ice-jam at the Feeder Dam backed the water up until it overflowed into the town. Many thrilling rescues were made of citizens trapped in their homes. Factories and schools were closed and train schedules cancelled. The ice-jam broke at Cayuga and relieved that village of threatened danger. Heavy damage, however, was done nearby property as the large ice-floes crumpled practically everything coming in their path.

Traffic on No. 2 Highway from border points at Windsor East is being detoured at Maidstone over No. 3 Highway to Talbotville and London, owing to the flood waters of the Thames making the highway impassable.

HEROIC SISTER SUPERIOR DIES WITH EIGHT YOUNG INDIAN GIRLS SCHOOL BURNS IN MANITOBA

55 MILES FROM STATION.

Plane Being Sent to Bring Bodies Out—Cause Proves Mystery.

THE PAS, Man., Feb. 26 (C.P.)—Sister Superior Margaret of Mary and eight young Indian pupils perished in a fire yesterday at the Cross Lake Indian school. Sister Jeanne Deschantel broke her spine in a leap from the second floor.

A Consolidated Mining and Smelting plane may start from here soon to carry Bishop Ovide Charlebois to the scene of the disaster, and the plane will bring here the injured Sister Deschantel.

Word of the fire was brought to The Pas by a man who had driven from Cross Lake, 55 miles southeast of Wabowden, the nearest railway station.

Cause Unknown

The cause of the fire is not known. It is thought that it started on the third floor of the building, in the west part of the main section, as that is where the Indian girls were quartered.

The Sister Superior died in a brave attempt to lead some of the children through the flames to safety. All of the children who perished were under nine years of age.

Bishop Charlebois estimated to-day that the property loss would reach $200,000. The school was a three-storey stone structure built in 1914. An addition was built in 1920.

Buried at The Pas

The bodies of the Sister Superior and her eight pupils will be brought to The Pas on Friday. Probably they will be buried here.

The heroine of the fire, the Sister Superior, was born in a little village near St. Boniface, Quebec. She was an Oblate Sister of St. Boniface. She came to Northern Manitoba in 1914 when the school was built at Cross Lake, remaining there until 1920 when she returned to Quebec. Three years later she came back to Cross Lake to take charge of the school.

The names of the children are not available.

Heart is Bothering Millionaire in Jail

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Feb. 26 (C.P.)—Alexander T. Pantages, theatre magnate, convicted of assault, was reported to be seriously ill in the county jail here to-day. The multi-millionaire suffered the most serious of a series of heart attacks Sunday, and attendants declared his condition shows no improvement.

"He is a very sick man," attendants said late last night.

Pantages was convicted last October of attacking Eunice Pringle, 17-year-old dancer, and confined in the country jail to await the outcome of an appeal from a one to fifty year penitentiary sentence.

NAVY DELEGATES DECIDE TO OPEN PARLEY AT ONCE

Work Will Continue Except Where it May be Inimicable to French Interests.

BRITAIN RESTLESS.

Reject Consideration of Tripartite Conference Without France and Italy.

LONDON, Feb. 26 (C.P.)—The chief delegates to the Naval Conference today decided to resume work immediately on their negotiations and to continue on the work except where it might be inimical to French interests.

The delegates decided that the recess which was taken on the defeat of the Tardieu Government in Paris would cease to-day.

Ambassador Aime De Fleuriau of France attended the meeting on behalf of the French, and explained that former Premier Tardieu had been to the Elysee Palace with the view of forming a new Cabinet.

Britain Wants Action

Great Britain wants to get along with the job of naval reductions. Despite the second setback to the Naval Conference, in the defeat of the French Ministry last night, the British Government is preparing to make another effort to get something tangible from the conference.

In Premier Ramsay Macdonald's room in the House of Commons this afternoon, the heads of all the delegations in London met to discuss the situation. They had before them one of three main courses if the Conference is to continue:

Further delay of a week to enable the new French Ministry to be chosen and to allow for arrival of a French delegation;

Continuance of the Conference without France;

Or a tripartite conference of the principal naval powers—Britain, the United States and Japan.

U. S. Discusses Subs

The United States delegation was to-day considering the plan for "humanizing" of the submarine. It was felt they might take cognizance in any draft agreement, of a strong feeling in some quarters that responsibility should be placed on the Government concerned, instead of the officers who in the last war were frequently acting under specific orders when the code of war was violated.

FOOTBRIDGE CLOSED BY CITY ENGINEER

Pier Dislodged By Action of Ice at Stewart Street.

Damage to the foot bridge over Jackson Park creek at Stewart street was so extensive as to result in the issuing of an order by City Engineer Roy H. Parsons to the effect that the bridge is unsafe for pedestrian traffic and is therefore closed.

Ice blocks came swirling down in the swollen waters recently and jammed against the wooden piers which support the two iron girders which form the foundation for the bridge, carrying one of them from its support, and causing the girders to pivot around on the remaining pier.

The order declaring the bridge closed is likely to remain in effect for some time, at any rate until the waters have sufficiently subsided for the engineer's men to repair the breech.

A few planks in the C.N.R. bridge on Bethune street, where it crosses the creek are also seen to be missing, having, presumably, been carried away when the creek was on its annual rampage.

Indian Native Princes Should Lead Delegation to Geneva Every 3 Years

NEW DELHI, India, February 26. (Canadian Press Cable via Reuters.)—The native states of India want foreign representtion. The Chamber of Princes, which has declared its settled policy of loyalty to the Crown, adopted an important resolution last night, urging that the Indian native princes should lead an Indian delegation to the League of Nations at least once every three years.

India, like the other members of the British Commonwealth of Nations, is an independent member of the League.

The Chamber's action indicated its belief that the native states should be preponderant over British India, so far as the League is concerned, on certain occasions.

Lord Irwin, the viceroy, assured the Chamber the resolution would have his sympathetic consideration, but he pointed out the difficulty of promising any commitment. Any such move will have to await the conclusion of the round table conference and the Simon Commission's report on statutory reform.

Hanging of Valuable Hound Provides Interesting Session in Appeal Court

TORONTO, February 26. — (C.P.) — The hanging of "Virginia Skipper," the black and tan fox hound of Provincial Constable Cecil Taylor, engaged the attention of Second Divisional Court at Osgoode Hall to-day.

Judge Ruddy in Oshawa, awarded $120 damages and to-day Norman Samells of Cartwright township, who hanged this valuable import from West Virginia appealed. The Appeal Court will decide at a later date what it will do about it.

Samells admitted hanging the dog just before he and his mother left for a funeral on April 14, 1929. He said he did so because "Virginia Skipper" was straying and not under control on premises where his sheep are habitually kept. "Virginia Skipper" had also paid visits to the Samells' dining room, as Justice Riddell put it, "making love."

John E. Harris, Port Perry, counsel for Samells, admitted that it was "a great shock" to his client when he found he had hanged such a valuable dog.

Mr. Harris based his appeal on the right of Samells to kill the dog because it was a nuisance and found killing sheep.

FERGUSON GOV'T GETS MAJORITY OF SIXTY-FIVE OVER OPPOSITION GROUPS AFTER INITIAL SKIRMISH

Progressives, Labor and U.F.O. Back Sinclair in Attack on Fraud Act Policy.

BUDGET ON TUESDAY.

Price Defends Policy and Accuses Federal Gov't of "Sharp Trick."

TORONTO, February 26. (C.P.) — The Ferguson government emerged from its first skirmish in the Legislature yesterday with a majority of 65 over the combined opposition groups. The amendment to the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne, moved by W. E. N. Sinclair K. C., Liberal leader, was defeated by 85 to 20.

Hon. Dr. J. D. Monteith, Provincial treasurer, informed the House at the conclusion of the voting that the budget would be brought down next Tuesday.

The Liberal and Progressive groups and the single representatives of Labor and the U.F.O. voted solidly against the government. The amendment constituted a want-of-confidence motion and denounced the government largely on the alleged failure of Hon. W. H. Price, Attorney-General, to administer properly the Security Frauds Prevention Act.

Price "Put on Lid."

The Liberal Leader last night issued a statement to the press criticizing the Government for what he termed the "closing down of the lid" on the debate. Col. Price was the last and only Government speaker yesterday and, contrary to expectations, did not move an amendment to the amendment. This automatically shut off the Liberal Leader from speaking again. Mr. Sinclair said it was the first time in his Parliamentary life that a Government "put the lid on" a debate without giving the Opposition Leader an opportunity to speak in rebuttal.

Col. Price, in a speech lasting almost two hours, defended the administration of the Security Frauds Prevention Act by his department. He traced the various efforts of past Governments to cope with the "brokerage situation" and gave credit to the present administration for having gone farther than any other in the way of Government control of brokers, their trading method and of stock exchanges.

Col. Price charged the Federal Government with having "played a sharp trick" in respect of information sent to his department gained in auditing the books of certain Toronto stock brokers. He said that, in company with Provincial auditors, officials from Ottawa, investigated several brokers on tax-evasion charges. This information, he said, was taken back to Hon. W. D. Euler, Minister of National Revenue, and also went to the Provincial Treasurer. From Ottawa, it was relayed back to him but, he said, the communication did not contain the name of the company in which the "bad situation" was revealed.

Who Supplied Information.

"The day after I received that letter," Col. Price continued, "Mr. Sinclair proceeded to hire a hall at Waterloo and there he told of the whole fraud business. What I would like to know is: Where did he get the information.

"The next day, the one following the date of his Waterloo meeting, I received a letter from Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice at Ottawa, which contained the following: 'I am in receipt of the following from the Secretary of the Minister of National Revenue. Just before leaving Ottawa last evening, the Minister asked me to advise you that he had omitted to mention in his letter of January 15 that the name of the firm of stock brokers in question is the H. S. Gibson & Company, Limited, Toronto, Ontario.'

The letter, Col. Price said, was dat-

Wheat Makes Rally After Heavy Drop

WINNIPEG, Feb. 26.—(C.P.)—(C.P.)—After a drastic break of from two to three cents, during which prices touched new lows, Winnipeg wheat made a strong come-back shortly before the final gong on the local Exchange yesterday. REFUSES TO NAME ASSAILANT.

DETROIT, Mich., Feb. 26.—(Canadian Press).—Refusing to name his assailants or make any statement regarding his shooting, Roy Gennaro, 25, died at receiving hospital yesterday apparently the victim of a gangster execution.

Gennaro was found lying on East Grand Boulevard, near Kercheval avenue, at 1.15 a.m., by a taxi driver. There were two bullet wounds in his back and one in his head.

Aeroplane "Barnstorming" Becoming Popular Among Residents of Arctic

OTTAWA, Ont., February 26 (Canadian Press). — The Arctic is getting too crowded. At one isolated post of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, somewhere in the neighborhood of Great Slave Lake, an airplane is arriving almost every other day. The whirl and bustle of this hectic rush is telling on the nerves of one of the constables of this detachment, and that distressing fact is duly recorded in the annual report of the force, just issued.

Airplane "barnstorming" is also popular in the Arctic Circle, and last summer C. H. (Punch) Dickins, chief pilot of the Western Canada Airways, ran a show for the Eskimos at Aklavik. For an honorarium of $10.00 a head, he gave the aborigines joy rides lasting ten minutes each.

"The Eskimos, reports the report, were [illegible] entertained, and paid their $10.00 most cheerfully." Mr. Dickins would not take up all the passengers who wanted to go, as he had to conserve his limited supply of gasoline for his return trip south.

SPECIAL TREAT FOR RADIO FANS

Ben Alley and Helen Nugent To Be Heard in the Songs From "The Love Parade."

OTHER SPECIAL ARTISTS.

Ben Alley and Helen Nugent, two singers new to Philco listeners-in-, will join an augmented ensemble which will bring the music of "The Love Parade," one of the most talked-of talking pictures of the year, to the microphone during the Philco program on Wednesday, February 26. The program will be broadcast over the nation-wide Columbia network at 10 p.m. (Eastern standard time).

The broadcast of the musical hits of the Paramount super-production comes just at the time when the picture is at the peak of its popularity, being exhibited in Paramount theatres all over the country. It is playing at the Rivoli Theatre in New York City after a capacity run in Paramount's feature presentation house, the Criterion.

John Barclay, nationally-known baritone, will sing the numbers originally presented in the picture by Maurice Chevalier, Paramount's Parisian star. Barclay's voice is familiar to the Philco Hour fans; he was heard last in the radio premiere of "The Plumber's Opera," presented by Philco several weeks ago. His featured number will be the tuneful "Oh, Paris, Stay the Same."

Lois Bennett, featured soloist of the hour, will be heard in the soprano solos of the picture. Her charming voice will blend with that of Barclay in the melodious theme number, "My Love Parade," which is considered the outstanding musical composition of the production.

The two newcomers to the Philco Hour, Ben Alley, tenor, and Helen Nugent, contralto, have probably done more duet work together than any two other radio singers. On the Philco program they will sing the sprightly "Let's Be Common."

The musical numbers will be bound together by a running resume of the plot of the picture by Henry M. Neely, Philco's "Old Stager." An added feature of the program will be the Columbia Grenadiers, popular male quartette, who will sing "Nobody's Using It Now." The Philco Orchestra will be under the direction of William Artzt.

UNDER THE FLEUR-DE-LYS.

Being Collection of Scout Miscellany.

As I write it almost seems as if spring has suddenly come upon us in mid-winter. During the week-end the weather has had a decidedly spring-like flavor, and has induced cheerful and welcome memories and anticipations of summer camps. Somehow, in Scouting one comes naturally to associate sunshine with camps, and the great out-of-doors wood smoke, and bacon frying in the pan, a cold, invigorating breeze stirring into warm activity a fellow's blood; and the prospect of a whole day's hike, with nothing to worry about, no thought of the work-a-day morrow; concluding with a rousing camp fire beneath the stars, and good old songs and yarns, and finally, a snug and cosy bed under canvas. A lullaby of gentle whispers of the breeze, the flapping of the canvas and a sleeping potion of happy, happy memories.

It's surprising what thoughts arise at the appearance of a few bright days. We're still in mid-winter, and summer is in the future. But no harm is done by allowing our thoughts occasional freedom. Plans can be made and routes planned, and the joys of summer enjoyed in anticipation.

Old Wolf to Cubs—Good Turns.

"Charity begins at home" is a rather well-worn saying. Love is the real word, not charity. A Cub's home should be a happy one; at any rate it ought to be all the happier because the boy there is a Cub. If the tone of the Pack is right, if the Cubmaster knows his boys' parents and home, he will often be rewarded by hearing some mother say, "Jack's been a different boy since he joined the Cubs," or "Bill is such a good boy at home." The difference or goodness referred to being so many exhibitions of piety, but just shown by the fact that Jack no longer teases his little sister, or Bill gets up and attends to the fire for his mother on a wintry morning. I once heard a Cubmaster talking to some Cubs about good turns and trying to explain it to them in this way. If a Cub does a good turn he makes somebody happy. Therefore, when a Cub goes to bed at night he ought to be jolly happy by remembering how he has made someone else happy. The Cubs seem to like the idea; then one asked, "How many Cubs and Scouts are there in the world?" "I haven't the least 'idea' the Cubmaster replied, "But I should think well over a million." The Cub looked rather eager, then he cried: "Say, wouldn't it be fine if every day we made a million people happy?"

I will finish these notes by asking a question to which any Tenderfoot ought to give at least six answers:

What uses can a Scout's neckerchief be?

Cheerio, good Scouting is the wish of

OBITUARY

JOHN A. WYLIE

OMEMEE, Feb. 26 (Examiner Correspondence).—News of the death of John A. Wylie, of Toronto, came as a great shock to his many friends in Omemee and vicinity on Monday evening. The late Mr. Wylie, who was manager of the drug department of the T. Eaton Company, had been enjoying fairly good health until suddenly stricken with a heart attack in his office on Monday afternoon. Medical aid was immediately summoned, but despite their efforts, Mr. Wylie succumbed.

The deceased, who was 52 years of age, was born near Omemee and received his education in Omemee High School. Later he attended the College of Pharmacy, University of Toronto. After his graduation, he opened a drug store in Omemee where the Bell Telephone office is now located. This he conducted for a few years, when he disposed of it to join the Eaton staff some twenty years ago.

During the time he lived in Omemee, he made many warm friends and by his frequent visits in holiday time and numerous other occasions he renewed the good fellowship that previously existed. Through his genial and kind disposition, he won for himself much popularity.

In 1915 he enlisted and served with the 4th Canadian General Hospital, at Salonika, Greece, until the end of hostilities.

In politics the deceased was a Conservative, and in religion a member of St. Matthew's Anglican Church, Toronto. He was a member of the Masonic Lodge A. F. and A. M., Omemee.

In 1904 he was united in marriage to Miss Ethel Bennett, daughter of Mrs. and the late Henry Bennett, of Toronto.

Surviving is his widow, two adopted children, Master John Eric and Mrs. S. S. Grecille of Toronto; his stepfather, Mr. Langton Wilson of Emily; one sister, Mrs. Stanley Sluggett, and one brother, Mr. Lorne Wilson, both of Peterborough. His mother predeceased him a few years ago.

The funeral will be held on Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock from his late home, 39 Riverdale avenue, Toronto. Interment being made in Prospect Cemetery.

DEBATE IN HOUSE CREATES STIR BY UNEXPECTED END

No One Continues Discussion After J. J. Barker Concludes.

MANY SUBJECTS ATTACKED.

Bourassa, Independent Urges Religious Freedom and Racial Quality in West.

OTTAWA, Ont., Feb. 26 (C.P.) — Without division, and after less than two days' debate, the motion for an address in reply to the Speech from the Throne passed the House of Commons a few minutes before six o'clock last evening. The end of the debate came swiftly. Monday saw leaders of the great parties joined in strenuous debate. Yesterday, a sparsely filled chamber listened languidly to half a dozen speeches which occupied only the afternoon sitting.

The final speaker of the debate, J. J. Barber, Conservative member for Fraser Valley, sat down shortly before the six o'clock recess. No one rose to continue. Mr. Speaker put the motion to the House, and it carried without a vote demanded. Then the Commons adjourned until to-day. It was an abrupt termination to the debate which sometimes occupies more than a week of the time of Parliament.

Attack from Different Quarters

Yesterday's speeches came from different quarters of the House. J. C. Brady, Conservative member, for Skeena, voiced criticism of the government from various angles. He was followed by Henri Bourassa, Independent member for Labelle, who urged religious freedom and racial equality in the Prairie Provinces. Mr. Bourassa declared against the practice of hiding the date of an election until a Government felt it might obtain an advantage over its opponents, and then reevaling it. He preferred the United States method of holding elections on fixed dates.

From the Progressive benches, John Evans, of Rosetown, attracted the policy of protection. He believed the tariff killed agriculture. He also took the ground that the Government must shoulder some of the blame for the wheat situation.

The last two speakers, one from the east and the other from the far west, were both Conservatives. R. K. Smith, of Cumberland, informed the House that certain recommendations of the Duncan Commission remained unfulfilled. He referred more particularly to those which applied to coal and steel tariffs. Mr. Barber made a plea on behalf of the returned soldier who is trying to earn a living from the land. His view was that the soldier settler is entitled to every assistance.

Bennett Brings Up Report

Before the debate on the address was resumed, Hon. R. B. Bennett, Conservative leader, brought up the statement made by the Prime Minister Monday respecting a report which had appeared in the London Times. The London Times despatch, he said, did not quote "a Tory paper" as intimated by Mr. King. It quoted the Toronto Star.

Mr. King pointed out that his reference to the "Tory paper" had no connection with the London Times despatch.

STOBIE FORLONG FORTY PER CENT SOLVENT, DENIED

Martin, Firm Trustee, Makes Statement Following Pearlstein's Assertion.

FIGURES NOT RELIABLE.

Creditors Told Claims Amount to $3,300,000 As Against $1,400,000 Assets.

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 26. (Canadian Press)—"Sheerest conjecture," said N. L. Martin, official trustee of Stobie Forlong and Company, Limited, in denying assertions by J. D. Pearlstein, local lawyer at a meeting yesterday of 500 creditors and clients of the company, that Stobie-Forlong will only pay 40 cents on the dollar.

The company, which assigned January 31, following seizure of their books and assets by the Ontario Government, has coast-to-coast connections. With this in mind Pearlstein organized a large number of the Company's clients and creditors and they gathered in a local hotel to discuss the financial aspects of their situation. Addressing the gathering Pearlstein said he had it on "good authority" the Company would only be 40 percent solvent when assets and liabilities were checked. He cited estimated figures which purported to show creditors' claims amount to $3,300 000 as against net free assets of $1,400,000.

Figures Not Reliable

In denying these allegations Mr. Martin said Pearlstein is not an official representative of the creditors. "He could not possibly have obtained figures of any reliability whatever to show the exact or approximate position of the company", continued the custodian, "for even I, as official assignee, cannot say definitely how the firm stands, although I and my staff have been working on the company's books for the last few weeks. There are still important figures to come from Vancouver. When these and other information is obtained, we can draw up the official statement which will be submitted to the official creditors' meeting in Toronto on March 4.

Mr. Martin intimated an official statement would probably be submitted at the meeting bearing on the reported offer for the purchase of whole or partial control of the company.

JURY BLAMES CAMP HELPER

Claim Young Steve Ruich Responsible For Shooting of Louis Miller.

POLICE CONTINUE PROBE.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Feb. 26. (Canadian Press).—Steve Ruich, aged 16, was found responsible by a coroner's jury here last night for the murder of Louis Miller, hunting camp operator, in his lonely cabin at Fraser Station on January 27, last.

The jury found Miller came to his death as a result of a gunshot wound in the back of the neck, "the gun being discharged while in the hands of Steve Ruich."

In the meantime police are continuing to probe Ruich's statement that the killing of Miller was accidental. He maintains he was playing with a gun and two dogs while Miller was eating breakfast at a table in the cabin. The gun suddenly discharged Ruich said last night in an alleged confession obtained by police and the shot struck the deceased in the back of the neck.

The boy was employed by Miller as a handy-man about the camp.

Among those who contributed to an enjoyable program were Mrs. T. E. Curvin and Mrs. W. H. Hohner, in vocal solos, Mrs. P. Blackmore, Miss Thomas and Miss Gwendoline Parnell, with readings, and Mrs. R. Wolstenholme's group, taking part in an old, favorite reading entitled "No Sects in Heaven." The concluding number was an entertaining musical contest in which all the ladies took part and a Grand March, played by Mrs. Hohner, brought the ladies into the tea room. Here the tables were attractively arranged. The large table had a central basket of red roses and red candles in silver holders, while the small tables were arranged with silver bud vases holding spring flowers. A large basket of pussy willows added the final note of attraction. Tea was poured by Mrs. D. Wren and Mrs. T. Barrie.

A charming tea was held at the home of Mrs. H. M. Moore, 422 Rubidge Street, yesterday afternoon and evening, under the auspices of the Women's Missionary Society of George Street United Church. Despite the gloomy day, the handsome rooms were bright and cheery with grate fires, prettily shaded floor lamps and vases of American Beauty roses. The guests were received by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. J. E. J. Millyard, during the afternoon and by Mrs. E. W. Coon during the evening, and were ushered to the tea-room by Mrs. E. E. The tea table was lovely with a lace cloth, and central silver basket of mauve tulips and yellow daffodils, on a reflector, which was surrounded by a graceful wreath of smilax. Tall mauve candles in silver candle-holders and small silver baskets of mauve and yellow mints completed a very effective color scheme. In the afternoon tea was poured by Mrs. E. W. Coon, and in the evening by Mrs. J. E. J. Millyard. Tea room assistants were Mrs. A. I. Brown, Mrs. J. C. Wood, Mrs. W. H. Cunningham, Mrs. W. McMillan, Mrs. McHoull, Mrs. J. Tinney, Mrs. J. Spencer. An attractive table of home-made cooking was in charge of Mrs. W. H. Copp, Mrs. B. M. Frederick, Mrs. Wood, Mrs. Parnell and Mrs. Dulmage, and the candy table, prettily decorated with vases of yellow daffodils, was lovely with pretty frilly baskets of sweets. Mrs. W. H. Morton, Mrs. W. Flannery, Mrs. H. Strong and Mrs. J. Spencer were in charge. In the kitchen Mrs. Dulmage, Mrs Burns, Mrs. Wood, Mrs. F. Redpath and Mrs. A. Stinson were in charge of arrangements. Mrs. G. C. Staples made an efficient treasurer. A splendid program was arranged by Mrs. W. H. Cunningham, assisted by Mesdames Spencer, Bonny and Curvin, and consisted of piano solos by the Misses Pearl Carruthers, Musa Cox, Olive Prest and Mrs. Weames; vocal solo by Mrs. T. Curvin, accompanied by Mrs. W. A. Greenslade; vocal solos by Miss Helen Mulligan and Miss Viola Fusee, accompanied by Mrs. Purdy; several whistling solos by Miss Mignon Mayneord, accompanied by Miss Musa Cox; readings by Miss Evelyn Miller. Miss Ruth Parnell and Miss Frances Clarke completed a very enjoyable program.

Among the guests were the Rev. E. R. and Mrs. James. Excellent music for dancing was provided by Jack Marshall's orchestra. The prize for the spot dance was won by Miss Lily Groombridge and Mr. Bert Wallace, and the prize for the birthday dance went to Miss Annie Shaw and Mr. A. M. Jackson.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

JUDGING FROM the letters which are being received, great interest is being taken in the articles which have appeared lately regarding the [illegible] things relating to the brides-to-be.

• • • • • • •

And even if there are a large number of readers who aren't interested in such things now, I am sure they won't mind me devoting a little time to the [illegible]

• • • • • • •

And while many persons are concerned with the preparation for weddings later in the season, a word is in order about how best to care for the pieces of linen being collected.

• • • • • • •

It may be that you have all your linen collected and put carefully away, and perhaps you are just starting to collect.

• • • • • • •

Should such be the case, you will be very much interested in the column today.

• • • • • • •

I don't know whether you have ever noticed it or not, but doesn't the beautiful freshness of the things pertaining to the trousseau seem to charm you, somehow?

• • • • • • •

And so if an article looks mussed it seems out of place, doesn't it? Today I will give you some suggestions on how to keep your linens, etc., from looking out of place.

• • • • • • •

For your table squares or centerpieces, it is a good idea to get a large, shallow box, preferably square, and pack the linens in this.

• • • • • • •

The centerpiece may not be as much in evidence as it was years ago, but round covers for the surfaces of small tables are always needed.

• • • • • • •

Should you have some circular linen pieces which cannot be laid flat in the box, roll them over a piece of cardboard tubing. You might even make such necessities an artistic gift to your engaged girl friend.

• • • • • • •

Have you ever heard of anyone taking an old broom handle which has been very carefully washed and sawing it into lengths which will fit in the chest or bureau drawers for holding such napery?

• • • • • • •

When I heard of this, I thought it was just a splendid idea and now I pass it on to you, hoping it may help you sometime. Of course if you can get the cardboard tubing, it is much better because it is lighter for one thing, and by reason of a certain roughness of surface it prevents the linens from slipping when they are being rolled.

• • • • • • •

If you haven't much space to give to your linens, you could put several pieces on one roller, although this is not advisable. If each has a separate roll, there is less likelihood of an edge being turned in.

• • • • • • •

Would you not like to make an attractive gift for your girl friend? One which is very easily made is a set of these rollers. Get some mailing tubes and cover them with fancy paper.

• • • • • • •

You can buy fancy paper at the book stores and there are many beautiful Italian and Japanese papers which are exquisite for such use.

• • • • • • •

To make such a gift would cost very little and to make the gift more complete you might also obtain a flat box for the smaller pieces and cover this with fancy paper also.

Teeth decay: Pyorrhea gets its start unless you act

Remove the FILM that breeds bacteria and turns white teeth dull and dingy

Germs are imprisoned in a dingy, glue-like coating on the teeth called film. There they breed by millions in every crevice in contact with the teeth and tissues.

Film clings so stubbornly ordinary ways are not successful in removing it. Use the special formula called Pepsodent. You instantly notice the difference in the way it feels. Film vanishes. Teeth become gleaming white. Yet Pepsodent acts gently. No pumice, harmful grit or crude abrasive—but a soft, creamy paste that is prescribed for the softest teeth and tenderest gums.

COLLEGIATE ECHOES READY FOR PRESSES

Douglas Blagrave Heads Editorial Staff of This Year's Edition.

After many weeks' preparation the 1930 Collegiate Echoes the annual of the Peterborough Collegiate Institute and Vocational School, is almost ready to go to the presses.

The magazine will be made up in the same form as in the past two years but will be dressed in a new cover of simple, unique design executed by Violet Davidson of the school. The editors are striving to better the magazines of past years despite the fact that they have in many cases brought praise from many parts of the Province.

Douglas Blagrave is at the helm in the editorial chair this year. He has a strong staff backing him. Associate editors are Dorothy Henry and Douglas Bethune.

The business end of the publication is in the hands of V. R. Henry of the teaching staff with an advertising staff headed by Jim Turner.

Mr. Henry reports a gratifying response on the part of the advertisers of the city to the canvass of their workers. The opportunity of advertising in a publication with such a wide local distribution as the Echoes enjoys is attractive to many merchants and manufacturers, he says.

Fourteen hundred copies of the forthcoming annual have already been subscribed among the students. About 1,700 will be printed to meet the final demand.

It is expected that the magazine will be published in the first week of April.

MORE EXPENSE THAN JUSTICE.

The Globe introduces a new angle into the discussion in regard to better treatment of Canada's returned soldiers by showing that the Federal Appeal Board, which is the court of last resort for veterans seeking justice, costs the country more in operating expenses than the amount of pensions paid out under its awards.

In salaries and general expenses the Federal Appeal Board costs annually in the neighborhood of $165,000, while the awards and gratuities resulting from judgments of the board amount to some $20,000 less.

As the Globe puts it, "A board that costs the country $20,000 per year more than the amount of its total awards is a too grossly expensive bit of bureaucracy."

With that statement few persons will quarrel.

The Appeal Board has not justified its existence; it has cost the country a large sum of money without contributing a great deal to the just handling of soldiers' problems, and the time is surely ripe for scrapping this inefficient and expensive machinery in favor of a simple, more workable and more reasonable means of seeing that justice is done the men who risked everything for their country when the war drums sounded.

GOING INTO POLITICS?

From Saskatoon comes the announcement that the United Farmers of Saskatchewan, in annual convention there this week, may decide to enter politics in a body.

It is to be hoped that better judgment will prevail at the convention, and that the delegates, remembering the experience of other Provinces with class groups, will turn their thumbs down on a policy that promises to create more trouble than any benefit it can possibly accomplish.

Of the power of the U. F. S. to dominate the political situation in Saskatchewan there is not a doubt; the wisdom of the organization attempting to control as a political body is something else again.

History shows that the path of group government is studded with pit-falls; that once the two-party system is departed from political bargaining and bartering enter into the situation and the welfare of the state is lost sight of in the struggle to advance the interests of some particular class or group.

The group system is ineffective, costly and vexatious, and with the fate of other experiments to guide them, the United Farmers of Saskatchewan would be well advised to let well enough alone and to keep their organization out of the political arena.

They will do more for themselves and for the country at large by supporting one or other of the old parties.

DRINKING AMONG THE YOUNG.

It is stated that the young people of the Province are drinking alcohol as never before.

That there is far too much consumption of alcoholic beverages by young men and young women no one who keeps his eyes open would be so bold as to deny, but it is a nice question as to whether the evil is any greater now than it was under the Ontario Temperance Act.

There are two reasons for the widespread drinking among young people: first, the fact that under the challenge of prohibition it was considered "smart" to carry a flask, and the younger set learned to imbibe, and second, the automobile, which lent itself to the consumption of illegal liquor.

When Government sale began thousands of young people throughout the Province had become addicted to the use of alcoholic beverages, the vendors' stores offered them an easy avenue of purchase, and the motor car supplied the opportunity to indulge.

This is the situation that has existed and to remedy, which Sir Henry Drayton, the head of the Liquor Control Board, has ruled that henceforth no young persons between the ages of 21 and 25 years who are living at home shall be given a liquor permit unless with the consent of their parents.

The new regulation may not bring about the changed conditions aimed at, but at all events it shows a logical and common-sense appreciation of the situation and will be approved of by the majority of citizens.

THE RED CROSS APPEAL.

Peterborough's quota of the amount needed by the Ontario division of the Canadian Red Cross Society to finance its splendid peace-time work in this Province has been set at the modest total of $3,000.

Of this amount some $800 has already been contributed in advance of the campaign, leaving only $2,200 to be raised by the canvassers.

The balance should readily be forthcoming in view of the merit of the cause and the urgency of the call.

Here in Peterborough we have almost at our door a demonstration of the humanitarian service carried on by the Red Cross Society.

The Apsley Outpost Hospital has been a godsend to the people of that section of Peterborough County, supplying hospital and nursing service to a community that had long been in need of just such accommodation.

It is but one of 22 Red Cross outposts in Ontario, which in one year have treated some 6,840 patients.

These hospitals, serving 45,000 people in the outlying sections of Ontario, attending to 443 births and making it possible to perform 1,649 operations, while the hospital staffs have visited 7,010 homes, examined 5,396 school children and held 22 clinics.

That is real service, bringing relief to the unattended sick in the pioneering districts, and it is one of numerous fine activities carried on by the Red Cross in looking after disabled soldiers, home nursing classes, assistance to new settlers, junior Red Cross work, and the maintaining of an organization to deal with emergencies and disasters.

Peterborough should be glad to contribute its bit to this worthy cause.

PROHIBITION IN AUSTRALIA.

Unshaken by earlier defeats, Australian supporters of prohibition are conducting a vigorous campaign to obtain a majority at the compulsory referendum to be held in the State of Victoria on March 29 next. In previous pollings both Victoria and Queensland defeated similar proposals by large majorities, and the last referendum on the island continent, affecting the Federal district of Canberra, the new capital, and the State of New South Wales, held in September, 1928, had a similar fate. When the votes were counted it was found that in New South Wales the wets had out-voted the drys by more than two to one, while in Canberra Territory a little in excess of 200 votes had been cast for prohibition in a total of nearly 4,000.

At present the sale of alcoholic liquors in the State of Victoria is subject to control under a system of local option. Citizens of any ward in any municipality may vote for or against the sale of alcoholic liquor within the ward in which they are ratepayers. The sale of alcoholic liquor was stopped some years ago in one ward of a Melbourne suburb, in the same State. The impending referendum will have for its objective prohibition throughout the entire State.

In the Federal Capital Territory, under the terms of the Provisional Government Ordinance of 1911, no liquor licenses could be granted. For about seventeen years the Territory remained under "no license" conditions, although it was not an offense for an individual to introduce liquor for his own consumption. At the end of 1928 an ordinance was adopted which brought into force the general law of the State of New South Wales respecting the sale of liquor, with modifications adapting it to conditions in the Territory.—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

A LARGER EMPIRE TRADE GROUP.

The question of Empire trade continues to occupy an important place in political discussions throughout the United Kingdom and the various British Dominions. The latest development has been the announcement by Lord Beaverbrook that he and his colleagues had decided to launch a new party called the United Empire Party with free trade within the Empire the main plank in its platform. This decision was reached following Lord Beaverbrook's Empire free trade crusade and its rejection by the Conservative, Liberal and Labor organizations. While Lord Beaverbrook's idea is undoubtedly opposed to what many people may think best or even possible, further details of his plan will be awaited with a great deal of interest.

At the present time much interest has been aroused in the business situation in Great Britain, not only by press cables, but by the pronouncements of speakers like General Smuts, who when in Canada did not minimize the seriousness of the position in which Great Britain is to-day, as far as her trade and industry are concerned. Britons the world over stand ready to lend all reasonable aid to the Mother Country that they can, and among all the feeling persists that Britain will come through successfully. It is possible, however, that the present difficulties could be overcome at a little faster rate than they are at present by a proper study and appreciation of the whole situation.

When Lord Beaverbrook talks of free trade within the Empire he is opening up a subject on which there is bound to be a great difference of opinion and on which it will be difficult to get agreement. The same Dominions which sent thousands of men and millions of dollars to aid the Mother Country in the Great War may not be so anxious to fall in line with the general proposal put forward as regards trade, even when patriotic reasons are urged. That there are great obstacles in the way of free trade within the Empire cannot be doubted. As was shown in an article in the Monetary Times a few weeks ago by Mr. F. A. Carman, of Ottawa, there has been a very strong feeling in some parts of the Empire against free trade or even preferential tariffs with other parts. He instances the feeling of the Canadian woollen manufacturers and of the Canadian boot and shoe manufacturers towards imports from Great Britain, as well as the attitude of some of the Canadian agricultural interests towards imports of butter from New Zealand. In fact, the stand has been taken that free trade within the Empire is impracticable. That conclusion, of course, like many others in the realm of politics and industry, may be shown in time to be wrong, but judged by the present tendencies there would appear to be a great many difficulties in the way of working out a free trade system.

Meanwhile other countries are not letting the grass grow under their feet. In Europe sentiment in favor of the economic solidarity of the continental countries seems to be growing. In event of this taking actual form in some way, it would leave three great economic world groups, namely the United States of Europe, the British Empire and the United States of America. It would seem natural that in time the United States would find its place among the countries in the British Economic Union, to which she is so closely related by blood, language and custom. Anglo-American friendship has made great advances in recent years in spite of the utterances of people like Chicago's famous Bill Thompson, and Canada is generally regarded as the medium through which much of the good feeling has been engendered.

The idea occurs that with Canada as a pivotal point it might be possible to evolve some sort of economic union of all the countries of the British Empire and the United States, which would establish a general tariff against outside countries with an arrangement of preferential tariffs within the union itself (not free trade be it noted), based on considerations of the needs of the different countries the advantages which they have in the production of certain articles, transportation facilities and other things. In any case it would not be much more difficult to harmonize the needs of the United States with those of some of the countries of the British Empire than those which already exist in the Empire as it is to-day, while much advantage might be gained politically and otherwise by compromises and closer trade relations between the two great Anglo-Saxon groups.—Monetary Times.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

It looks more and more like a 1930 election. Signs at Ottawa and elsewhere all point in that direction.

The Ontario Red Cross is still serving, and its varied activities should commend the support of the people of Canada's banner Province.

The Board of Education having refused to carve a dollar off its estimates, the hope of keeping Peterborough's tax rate at 39 mills has vanished into thin air.

Ploughing has begun in the Ingersoll district. And yet the feeling will not down that we may be ploughing through snowdrifts again next week.

The echo of your actions on this date will not be heard for some time, but its report will be sharp and clear when it does reach your ears. Rapid changes and vivid experiences are predicted and both failures and successes. Curb your desires somewhat!

Children born on this February 26 will be born mimics and veritable chatter-boxes. They will have a great deal of nervous energy, for which they must be given legitimate outlets. They will be quick, but not deep thinkers. They will have very extravagant tastes.

You are very much interested in human beings and human nature, and you are genuinely friendly. You have an exceptional gift for estimating the qualities of others, and for expressing your estimates into accurate and vivid phrases. It may be said that you have a delightful way of "realizing" people, and you always listen to what they have to say. When you are talking or listening to anyone, you treat them as individuals and personalities.

You are not inattentive in any phase of your life; you are always able to take your eyes off the horizon and set them keenly on the work in hand. You never dream when you should be doing; you never mix play and work. You are rather slow in your actions, but you do things too thoroughly for swiftness. You are systematic, however, and you never waste a minute.

You know your own mind and you are steadfast in purpose. You have definite ambitions, and you expect to walk and not be carried to your goal. CHAPTER 14.

"A sweet specimen, that Rex," commented Vance. "Not a person one would choose for a boon companion."

Von Blon returned to the drawing-room at this moment, looking troubled.

"I've got Rex quieted," he said. He scanned our faces swiftly. "One of you gentlemen must have said something pretty severe."

Heath looked sheepish. "I asked him where he'd hid the gun."

"Ah!" The doctor gave the Sergeant a look of questioning reproach. "Too bad! We have to be careful with Rex. He's all right so long as he isn't opposed too strongly. But I don't just see, sir, what your object could have been in questioning him about the revolver. You surely don't suspect him of having had a hand in these terrible shootings."

"You tell me who did the shootings, doc," retorted Heath pugnaciously, "and then I'll tell you who I don't suspect."

"I regret that I am unable to enlighten you." Von Blon's tone exuded its habitual pleasantness. "But I can assure you Rex had no part in them. They're quite out of keeping with his pathologic state."

"By the by, doctor," came Vance's indolent voice; "that point about your being with Mr. Chester Greene on the camping trip when he first secured the gun: was that correct? Or was it merely a fancy engendered by Rex's self-protective instinct?"

Von Blon smiled with faultless urbanity and, putting his head a little on one side, appeared to recall the past.

"It may be correct," he admitted. "I was once with Chester on a camping trip. Yes, it's quite likely—though I shouldn't like to state it definitely, it was so long ago."

Vance lapsed into a disinterested silence, and the doctor, after a moment's hesitation, rose.

"I must be going, I'm afraid." And, with a gracious bow, he started toward the door. "Oh, by the way," he said, pausing, "I almost forgot that Mrs. Greene told me she desired to see you gentlemen before you went. Forgive me if I suggest that it might be wise to humor her. She's something of a dowager, you know, and her invalidism has made her rather irritable and exacting."

"I'm glad you mentioned Mrs. Greene, Doctor." It was Vance who spoke. "I've been intending to ask you about her. What is the nature of her paralysis?"

Von Blon appeared surprised.

"Why, a sort of paraplegia dolorosa—that is, a paralysis of the legs and lower part of the body, accompanied by severe pains, due to pressure of the indurations on the spinal cord and nerves. No spasticity of the limbs has supervened, however. Came on very suddenly, without any premonitory symptoms, about ten years ago—probably the result of transverse myelitis. There's nothing really to be done but to keep her as comfortable as possible, with symptomatic treatment, and to tone up the heart action. A sixtieth of strychnine three times a day takes care of the circulation."

"Couldn't by any chance be a hysterical akinesia?"

"No! There's no hysteria." Then his eyes widened in amazement. "Oh, I see! No; there's no possibility of recovery even partial. It's organic paralysis."

"And atrophy?"

"Oh, yes. Muscular atrophy is now pronounced."

"Thank you very much." Vance lay back with half-closed eyes.

"Oh, not at all; and remember, Mr. Markham, that I always stand ready to help in any way I can. Please don't hesitate to call on me." He bowed again and went out.

Mrs. Greene received us with almost unctuous cordiality.

"I knew you'd grant the request of a poor, old, useless cripple," she said, with an appealing smile; "though I'm used to being ignored. No one pays any attention to my wishes."

The nurse stood at the head of the bed arranging the pillows beneath the old lady's shoulders.

"No one understands my needs, the way Ada does, Mr. Markham. What a relief it will be when the dear child gets well enough to care for me again! But I mustn't complain. The nurse does the best she knows how, I suppose. Please sit down, gentlemen * * * yet what wouldn't I give if I could only stand up the way you can. No one realizes what it means to be a helpless paralytic."

Markham did not avail himself of the invitation, but waited until she had finished and then said:

"Please believe that you have my deepest sympathy, madam. * * * You sent for me," Dr. Von Blon said.

"I wanted to request you to drop this investigation. I've had enough worry and disturbance as it is. But I don't count. It's the family I'm thinking of—the good name of the Greenes."

A note of pride came into her voice: "What need is there to drag us through the mire and make us an object of scandalous gossip for the canaille? I want peace and quiet, Mr. Markham. I won't be here much longer; and why should my house be overrun with policemen just because Julia and Chester have suffered their just desserts for neglecting me and letting me suffer here alone? I'm an old woman and a cripple, and I'm deserving of a little consideration."

Her face clouded, and her voice became harsh.

"You haven't any right to come here and upset my house and annoy me in this outrageous fashion! I haven't had a minute's rest since all this excitement began, and my spine is paining me so I can hardly breathe."

She took several stertorous breaths, and her eyes flashed indignantly. "I don't expect any better treatment from my children—they're hard and thoughtless. But you, Mr. Markham—an outsider, a stranger; why should you want to torture me with all this commotion? It's outrageous—inhuman!"

"I am sorry if the presence of the officers of the law in your house disturbs you," Markham told her gravely; "but I have no alternative. When a crime has been committed it is my duty to investigate, and to use every means at my disposal to bring the guilty person to justice."

"Justice!" The old lady repeated the word scornfully. "Justice has already been done. I've been avenged for the treatment I've received these many years, lying here helpless."

There was something almost terrifying in the woman's cruel and unrelenting hatred of her children, and in the cold-blooded satisfaction she seemed to take in the fact that two of them had been punished by death. Markham, naturally sympathetic, revolted against her attitude.

"However much gratification you may feel at the murder of your son and daughter, madam," he said coldly, "it does not release me from my duty to find the murderer. Was there anything else you wished to speak to me about?"

For a while she sat silent, her face working with impotent passion. The gaze she bent on Markham was almost ferocious. But presently the vindictive vigilance of her eyes relaxed, and she drew a deep sigh.

"No; you may go now. I have nothing more to say. And, anyway, who cares about an old helpless woman like me? I should have learned by this time that nobody thinks of my comfort, lying here all alone, unable to help myself—a nuisance to every one. * * *"

Her whining, self-pitying voice followed us as we made our escape.

"Y' know, Markham," said Vance, as we came into the lower hall, "the Empress Dowager is not entirely devoid of reason. Her suggestion is deserving of consideration. The clarion voice of duty may summon you to this quest, but—my word!—whither shall one quest? There's nothing sane in this house—nothing that lends itself to ordin'ry normal reason. Why not take her advice and chuck it? Even if you learn the truth, it's likely to prove a sort of Pyrrhic vict'ry. I'm afraid it'll be more terrible than the crimes themselves."

Markham did not deign to answer; he was familiar with Vance's heresies, and he also knew that Vance himself would be the last person to throw over an unsolved problem.

"We've got something to go on, Mr. Vance," submitted Heath solemnly but without enthusiasm. "There's those foot-tracks, for instance; and we've got the missing gun to find. Dubois is upstairs now taking finger prints. And the reports on the servants'll be coming along soon. There's no telling what'll turn up in a few days. I'll have a dozen men working on this case before night."

"Such zeal, Sergeant! But it's in the atmosphere of this old house—not in tangible clews—that the truth lies hidden. It's somewhere in these old jumbled rooms; its peering out from dark corners and from behind doors. It's here—in this very hall, perhaps."

His tone was fraught with troubled concern, and Markham looked at him sharply.

"'Pon my soul, I don't know. How does one get at spectres, anyway? I've never had much intimate intercourse with ghosts, don't y' know."

"You're talking rubbish!" Markham jerked on his overcoat and turned to Heath.

"You go ahead, Sergeant; and keep in touch with me. If nothing develops from your inquiries, we'll discuss the next step."

And he and Vance and I went out to the waiting car.

Uncommon Sense

By John Blake

ENEMIES ARE EXPENSIVE.

Of a Canadian who had been making things hot for evil doers it was once said, "We love him for the enemies he has made."

Men, especially if they are in office, are sure to make enemies, and if they make enemies of crooks and grafters it is to their credit.

Private citizens will do well to make as few as they can, for enemies are an expensive luxury.

We hate enemies, if they are really enemies, and hatred is one of the most troublesome and disquieting of emotions.

Having lived part of my life in a little town, I have known a good deal about village quarrels and about their effect on the local populace.

Most of these enmities had their origin in very trivial quarrels—one of them I remember because a man fired a charge of bird shot into a neighbor's cow which had strayed into his corn field.

Another was caused by a quarrel between two children. The children soon forgot what the quarrel was about, but their parents had a wordy row about it over the back fence and the resulting feud lasted many years.

It is better on the whole to abide in amity with your fellow citizens, even if you don't happen to approve of them.

The neighborhood quarrel may give rise to a bitterness which will run into the second and third generations and make all parties to it permanently unhappy.

I suppose the desire to "get even" is behind most of these affairs.

But revenge, while it may be sweet, is better while in the planning, and it pretty well destroys the usefulness of the person who harbors the desire for it.

Enmities of this petty sort, starting with little differences, often get deeper than race hatreds and sometimes set whole neighborhoods by the ears.

Prize-fighters, and often politicians, will fight each other energetically in business hours and be amicable at other times.

But when families get mixed up in quarrels they are slow to forget.

The desire to "get" your enemy lest he may "get" you destroys both peace of mind and discretion, interferes with your ability to do your work properly and sometimes sours your whole existence.

Life is hard enough and sufficiently filled with trouble without adding more by hatreds and spites.

I know a good many people who have the "enemy habit" and they are most wretched.

If you are threatened with such a habit, beware.

Forget injuries, real or fancied, and go out of your way to patch up old misunderstandings.

You will be happier, and probably more successful if you do.

DOLE SYSTEM IS BEING TRIED OUT IN NEW ZEALAND

Payments Provided in Case of Need From $3,500,000 Fund.

ALL OVER 18 CONTRIBUTE.

Men Over 20 Years Get $5.25 Per Week and Women $4.37.

WELLINGTON, New Zealand, Feb. 26.—(C.P. via Reuter's). — Wrestling with an unemployment problem, New Zealand has turned towards the "dole." So-called "sustenance payments" for men of 20 years and over will be about $5.25 a week, and for women of 20 years and over will be about $4.37 weekly.

Men between 18 and 20 years of age will receive $3.75; women between 18 and 20, $3.18. In addition, a married woman will receive $4.37 weekly, along with an allowance of $1 a week for each child under 16 years of age, and not exceeding four children.

These payments will be provided in cases of need from an employment and sustenance fund of $3,500,000 annually. The fund, under the recommendations of the Government's special committee, issued yesterday, will be built up from contributions by all persons over 18 years of age, as well as by companies, municipalities and others.

The establishment of a permanent employment board to administer these provisions is recommended by the committee. "It is the duty of everybody to assist in overcoming the evil of unemployment, and it therefore devolves upon everyone to contribute towards relief," he committee says.

NEW YORK LIST FOLLOWS LEAD WHEAT MARKET

Many Issues Advance to New Peak Prices for the Year.

NEWS UNFAVORABLE.

Call Money Renews Unchanged at 4½ Per Cent. in Plentiful Supply.

By Stanley W. Prenosil Associated Press Financial Editor.

NEW YORK, N.Y., Feb. 26.—A broad upward movement of prices took place in to-day's stock market, with buying stimulated by the sharp recovery in wheat prices from the record lows established yesterday. Scores of stocks were marked up 1 to 8 points, at least a dozen of them to new peakprices for the year. Trading showed a moderate expansion in volume, due largely to a revival of pool activities.

Business news was not entirely favorable in character. The weekly steel trade reviews reported a tapering in the demand for steel, but indicated that no sharp recession was in early prospect.

Freight car loadings for the week ended Feb. 15, were about 5,000 cars above the week before, but nearly 70,000 below the corresponding week of last year.

Call money renewed unchanged at 4½ per cent but the supply was plentiful, and the rate was shaded in the "outside market" to 4 per cent. The time money market was quiet, with rates unchanged.

High priced industrials and specialties again led the recovery in the stock market. Volcan Detinning ran up 8 points, Eastman Kodak 7¾, American Machine & Foundry and Warren Bros., 7½ each, J. I. Case 7, Auburn Auto 6¾ and American Tobacco B, Diamond Match, Westinghouse Electric first preferred and Union Pacific 5 to 5½.

Twin City Stock Drops 3 Points Following Future Dividend Announcement.

TORONTO, Feb. 26. (Special to Examiner.)—An order to buy 20,000 shares of International Nickel at 37 was reported at the opening of the Wall Street market this morning with the stock opening at 37¼. The announcement of this order was taken to mean that the pool was supporting the stock and had no intention of letting the price slip through 37. According to gossip the demand for nickel in February was above that of January, but until the actual figures for the month are available the actual percentage increase is not known.

Twin City Transport.

Twin City Rapid Transit Common shares dropped nearly 3 points in early trading on the local market to-day following announcement that in future dividends would be paid semi annually and not quarterly as in the past. This is being interpreted in some quarters as meaning a cut in the rate from $4 to $2 annually by the declaration of two half-yearly payments of $1 a share against four quarterly payments of $1 in the past. What little news filtering through following the meeting of directors, does not state whether this interpretation is right or not and shareholders are a little uneasy.

Current market prices for the outstanding shares of the leading Canadian distillers are below the actual book value of the stock as indicated by the financial statements for the fiscal year 1928-1929. All three are selling in the neighborhood of $9 a share with the dividend rate on Canadian Industrial Alcohol $1.52, Walker-Gooderham and Worts, $1 and Distillers Corporation, Seagram, $1; permitting of a yield in excess of 10 per cent. Taking the cash and investments of Walker as of August 31, 1929, the cash equity behind the shares of this company, after deducting current liabilities amounts to $3.20 and the excess of liquid assets over liabilities is equal to $6.80 a share. The net book value amounts to $13.14 a share. Current liabilities for Candaian Industrial Alcohol were above cash assets but the excess of liquid assets equalled $5.67a share and the net book value was $15.22. Distillers-Corporation-Seagram had excess liquid assets over liabilities, equal to $2.86 a share and the net book value of the shares is $11.58 a share. It is evident that the liquidating value behind the stock of all three is equal, if not in excess, of the current market price. Talk of legislation prohibiting the export of liquor to United States and the effect this would have on the earnings of the companies has undermined public confidence in these issues to such an extent that officials of Walker-Gooderham and Worts deemed it advisable to issue a reassuring statement as to current operations.

NEW DEFINITION OF WAR NEEDED JURISTS DECIDE

"Concerted International Action" Should Have Some Other Name Than War.

AMEND LEAGUE COVENANT.

Many Are Killed in Eastern Countries With No Declaration of War.

GENEVA, February 26 (Canadian Press). — Need for a new definition of war was remarked to-day by the International Committee of Jurists seeking to amend the League of Nations covenant so as to shut out war entirely.

Dr. F. W. Von Bulow of Germany pointed out that in Far Eastern troubles hundreds of persons have been killed and towns bombarded without a declaration of war.

Lord Cecil of Great Britain agreed and urged that "concerted international action" in the interests of peace should go by some other name than war. To call such concerted show of force by the name that characterizes every kind of armed conflict between nations, he said, as like employing the word "assault" to decribe the arrest of a criminal by a policeman.

Discussion to-day centred on proposed amendments to Article X88 of the Covenant. This provides, in a dispute likely to lead to war, that the parties submit to arbitration, judicial settlement or inquiry by the Council of the League and "in no case to resort to war until three months after an award by arbitrators or judicial settlement or report by the Council."

To close the gap left here for war. The British propose to substitute for the last clause "and they agree that they will in no case resort to war."

ENGINEERS MEET.

Address on "Aerial Mapping" at Thursday Evening Meeting.

The next meeting of the Peterborough Branch of the Engineering Institute of Canada, will be held in the Paragon Tea Rooms to-morrow (Thursday) commencing at 8.15 p.m. The speaker of the evening will be A. N. Narraway, Chief Aerial Surveys Engineer, Department of the Interior, Ottawa, who will present a paper on 'Aerial Mapping." In view of the recent aerial developments along this line, particularly in Northern Canada, this paper should be of particular interest.

Nine Passengers Injured When C.N.R. Train is Ditched at Holland Landing

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 26.—(By the Canadian Press).—Train No. 46 of the Canadian National Railways, bound from North Bay to Toronto, was derailed at 5.45 a.m., today at a point near Holland Landing, on the Newmarket subdivision, according to an official statement issued at noon to-day by W. A. Kingsland, general manager of the Central Region, C.N.R.

Nine passengers were reported as having received slight injuries, but non required hospital attention. The cause of the derailment is reported as a broken rail, the statement said.

The train was in charge of Conductor J. Lee and Engineer Hadden. The baggage car, express car and second class coach left the rails but remained upright, while the first class coach and four pullmans were tilted at an angle of about 45 degrees, the statement said.

A relief train and auxiliary left Allandale immediately upon report of the derailment, accompanied by the company doctor, and the Toronto auxiliary was also rushed to the scene The passengers were transferred to the relief train and continued their journey to Toronto, where the company had arranged to serve breakfast upon arrival, the statement said.

QUEBEC IS WILLING TO SHARE POWER SUPPLY WITH ONTARIO

Taschereau Defends Beauharnois Power Development in Quebec House.

NOT A U. S. WEDGE.

QUEBEC, Que., Feb. 26 (C.P.).—In matters of development of natural resources of this Province there was no intention on the part of the Quebec Government to treat Ontario as if it were a foreign country, declared Premier Taschereau in the Quebec Legislative Assembly last night.

The statement was made in the course of a debate on the bill to amend the Beauharnois Light, Heat and Power Company charter. The company now has power to expropriate a strip of land for its canal six arpents (about an acre) wide. The present bill enables expropriation of 21 argents. The Premier told the House that his information was that the company had already secured most of the land.

No U.S. Encroachment.

Alderic Blain, Conservative (Forion, Montreal), feared that the Beauharnois project was only a commencement of the scheme of the canalization of the St. Lawrence, which would mean losing the river to the United Sttaes. Mr. Taschereau assured him that if he thought such was the case he would not be for it.

He also said that the Government has no intention of increasing the amount of water which the company may divert from the river for its canal, and said that authorities agreed that the diversion of 40,000 cubic feet per second mean only 20 per cent. of the river flow and would not harm navigation. He did not think the Government had made a bad bargain with the company, for it meant $500,000 a year for the first ten years, and more thereafter, perhaps a million a year.

At Power House Price

As to prices, Mrs. Taschereau said it was true that 250,000 horespower was going to Ontario at $15 a horsepower, but it should be remembered that this was the price at the power house, and the cost would be much more at the various Ontario points, and in addition there would be 250,000 horsepower at the very door of Montreal which would mean cheaper power for Montreal. In fact, said the Premier, the price of power had been going down in this province, whereas in Ontario it was going up of late. It was complained that Ontario got the benefit of Quebec natural resources, but after all Ontario could not be treated as a foreigner, for it was a sister province and a greater Canada, and as long as Canada grew, Quebec would grow and be prosperous.

The bill was reported out of committee, and held until next sitting for formal third reading, the Premier saying that if the Opposition later on found they wished to discuss the clauses more fully, he would send the bill back to committee of the House.

J. P. MORGAN'S POOL SHOWED A PROFIT

U.S. Bankers Threw $240,000,000 Into October Market.

NEW YORK, February 26. — Announcement is made by J. P. Morgan & Co., that the banking group organized on October 24th last to assist in stabilizing the stock market had completed last week the liquidation in the open market of the last of its share holdings. Liquidation of these securities, purchased by the group last Autumn during the period of intense disturbance on the stock market, was virtually completed several weeks ago but the pool disposed of its final holdings early last week.

With this announcement an episode unparalleled in Wall Street came to its conclusion. Although Wall street has always been accustomed to talk of "banking support," there never before was an occasion when the public had definite knowledge of the existence and operations of a coalition of bankers acting in support of the market.

The statement revealed for the first time that Guggenheim Brothers, Inc., were originally members of the pool. Last November, when the worst of the stock market decline had been passed, representatives of the leading banking houses called at the Morgan offices one afternoon and it was announced that the banking group had given a brief account of its operations. A representative of the Guggenheim firm was present, but at no time was it made known that the house had been a member of the banking group.

Stronger Quotations On Chicago Market

CHICAGO, Ill., Feb. 26. (C.P.)—Active trading and decidedly higher prices formed the rule in the wheat market here early to-day. Unlooked for sharp upturns in Liverpool wheat quotations were the chief new stimulating factor, but immediate North American export business appeared unpromising and price advances in Chicago met with increased selling pressure causing frequent moderate reactions, starting 1 to 2½ up, Chicago wheat futures afterward receded temporarily in some cases to the same as yesterday's finish. Corn, oats and provisions were also firmer, with corn starting at 3-8 to 1 5-8 gain, and subsequently sagging somewhat.

FIRMER TONE ON STANDARD

Trading Shows Big Improvement During To-day's Session on Mine Market.

GOLDS MIXED.

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 26. (C.P.)—While some issues continued to display weakness, the majority of stocks on the mining market during the early session to-day were considerably firmer, the higher-priced members exhibiting the greatest buoyancy. Trading showed improvement, and support was in evidence at several points.

International Nickel, as the result of reported buying from outside points, moved up a point to $37.75. Noranda was strong at $3 .0 up 65 from last night, and Hudson Bay was firm at $12.

The golds were rather mixed, Hollinger and Teck Hughes showing small recessions at noon. Kirkland Lake eased 3 to 76, losing most of yesterday's gain and Wright-Hargfreaves was off another 6 to $1.69. Vipond moved up 2 to 90 and Howey held firm around 75 cents.

The Lindsleys developed strength towards noon, Sudbury Basin selling up 22 above last night's close and Ventures recovering 19; 59 $1.70. Falcombridge movedra little easier, off 20 at $3.85, and Sherritt Gordon eased 5 to $2.30. Base Metals and Premier gold were both off 15.

Amulet and Abana were the only active members of the general list, the former selling up 9 to $1.39 after displaying early weakness, and the latter 4 to $1.10. The oils were firmer, Home Oil advancing $1.10 to $8, Alberta 22 to $1.47, Dalhousie 10 to $1.25. Chemical Research, Associated and East Crest were up slightly.

VETCRAFT SHOPS SEEK PROTECTION

Legion Will Place Unique Request Before Parliament.

DESIRE SALE POPPY RIGHTS.

OTTAWA, Ont., Feb. 26 (C.P.). — An application for a unique form of protection is to be placed before Parliament. The Tariff Board, since its inception, has had score of requests for tariff protection, but the Canadian Legion of the British Empire Service League, in its legislative program to be presented to the Government, makes a request for a special Act to give absolute protection to the manufacturers of poppies in the vetcraft shops, maintained by the Department of Pensions and National Health, to give sheltered employment to disabled war veterans.

The poppy, the symbol of sacrifice, has now become the standard emblem used in the annual poppy day appeal conducted by the Canadian Legion from coast to coast, and the poppies used by the Legion have been those manufactured in the Vetcraft shops, for which the Legion is the sole distributing agency. In the last Poppy Day campaign, however, it came to light that in certain centres, and in one large Ontario city in particular, the poppies used were not made in the Vetcraft shops, but were secured from a firm which manufactured them commercially. The Legion will ask for the absolute protection of the Vetcraft shops against the manufacture, importation and sale of poppies by Canadian or foreign firms.

LOWER TREND TORONTO CURB

Number of Issues Drop to New Low Yevels For Present Term.

NICKEL FIRM.

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 26. -C.P.—No change was discernible in trading sentiment on Toronto Stock Exchange this morning. Prices went lower all along the line with a number of issues making new lows for the year. The fact that volume fell to-day after having increased yesterday was taken as a good sign, indicating that the market is in a good technical position and that forced liquidation is not to be regarded seriously.

Stocks which were firmest this morning were those interlisted and which lately have been th most active. Brazilian ,Nickel, B. A. Oil and Walkers were chief issues in this group. Progress on the side of the advance was limited in each case to less than a point; still at least it was not a further recession. Walkers improved following annoutcement by officials late last night that earnings are on a satisfactory plane. B. A. Oil snapped back following the jolt yesterday, when it struck a new bottom for the year.

On the other hand, Twin City common, Ford of Canada, Power Corporation, Canadian Oil, Imperial Oil, Hayes Wheel were among those stocks to sell down to or lower than at any time previously since the start of the new year. The fact that Twin City has decided to make dividend disbursements in two semi-annual payments rather than quarterly may have account3d for the loss of between 2 and 3 points in that stock as some quarters except a reduction will also be made in the amount.

SPECIAL COURSE POTATO GROWING

Interesting Lectures Conducted By John Tucker in Millbrook Hall.

CLASSES ON POULTRY.

MILLBROOK, Feb. 26.—(Examiner Correspondence).—A special course in potato growing was held last week at Millbrook, when John Tucker, Chief Inspector of Certified Potatoes, was the official speaker. Approximately forty-five were in attendance, and from the lengthy discussions, and the numerous questions asked, farmers in this vicinity were very much interested in the lectures. Mr. Tucker gave a good outline of the present situation in potato growing, pointing out that in all probability there will be an increase in the acreage planted this year, following the good prices obtained for the 1929 crop.

Mr. Tucker also stressed the necessity of high quality seed, along with good soil, careful spraying, and proper cultivation. He gave, in conclusion, a brief outline of the more common potato diseases, and emphasized grading to obtain the best price when marketing.

Potato Diseases.

Among the potato diseases, their symptoms, cause, and control, as outlined by the speaker, were: blight and rot of potatoes, usually developed in wet seasons, and always worse on low lands and the heavier types of soil; spraying with Bordeaux mixture is the most reliable means of preventing loss of crops from this source, and the best results are obtained by applying under high pressure in the form of a fine mist so as to cover both surfaces of the leaves. Dusting with copper lime dust is sometimes used instead of spraying though results are not as satisfactory.

Early blight is another common disease doing noticeable damage; it is most abundant when the tubers are in blossom, and unhealthy plants, and those attacked by the flea beetle, suffer most from this trouble. Spray with Bordeaux mixture, taking special care that the early applications are thoroughly applied; try also a three to five year rotation of crops, and see that weeds closely related to the potato such as ..ightshade and Ground Cherry are destroyed as they harbor the casual fungus.

Common scab, powdery scab (not apparently found in the southern parts of Ontario), and rhizoctonia, or black scurf, potato canker or wart disease, leaf roll, black leg or soft rot, mosaic, and tip-burn or hopper-burn, were other diseases to which some time was devoted; information regarding these, and their treatment, may be found in a bulletin, issued by the Department fo Agriculture, "Fungus and Bacterial Diseases of Vegetables," which may be had for the asking, and which contains much valuable information for those interested.

Lectures On Poultry.

On Tuesday and Wednesday, G. A. Robertson, of St. Catharines, J. F. Westmoreland, of Guelph, gave special lectures on poultry. About fifty enthusiastic poultryment and farmers were in attendance, and keen discussion took place following lectures on Breeds of Poultry, Housing and Sanitation, Culling and Judging of Utility Birds, Incubation and Brooding, Diseases, Feeding and Management, and Marketing. Mr. Robertson paid special attention to the breeds, flock management and feeding, as well as to incubating; while Mr. Westmoreland stressed the economic side of poultry keeping, making it clear that every practical poultry keeper should keep a strict account of expenditure and receipts.

The Crops and Soil Cars of the Better Seed Train stopped at Bowmanville on Wednesday of last week, when over one hundred farmers visited the train, gathering much valuable information on crops and fertilizers. Special lectures were given by Mr. John McLeod on seed cleaning and weeds, while Mr. N. J. Thomas spoke on soils and fertilizers.

These meetings were arranged by the local Department of Agriculture, J. Y. Kellough, representative for County, and it is felt that the good attendance at all the lectures, as well as at the Seed Train talks and demonstrations, indicates the interest taken by the farmers in the various topics presented and discussed.

MINE MAGNATES WILL PRESENT CHARTER FOR SMALL RAILROAD

Col. C. H. Ackerman of This City Plans Incorporation of Northern Mines Railway.

CONNECT GOLD PROPERTIES.

TORONTO, February 26. (C.P.)—Notice appears in the current issue of the Ontario Gazette that E. J. Lennox, J. R. L. Starr, Colonel P. Rogers, Colonel C. H. Ackerman, of Peterborough and others, will again apply to the Legislature at the present session for incorporation of a company to be known as the Northern Mines Railway Company.

Application was made at the last session of the legislature and evoked considerable opposition, in which Joseph P. Earnpey, then Conservative member for Kenora, was leader. The application was defeated by a small majority.

The purposes of the proposed company are to build a light narrow gauge or standard gauge railway in Northern Ontario starting from Gold Pines, in the District of Patricia in the township of Dent, and to construct and equip branch lines and extensions.

RICHARD HALL, LIMITED

SANITY OF MARCHAM REFERRED TO JURY

gripped the confessed murderer's mind were related. His record as a soldier in the Canadian Army in the Great War and as a soldier in the British Imperial Army was produced, showing that he was released from service in 1904 because of melancholia.

Dr. Stephenson, long experienced in mental cases, diagnosed the cause of Marcham's hallucinations, impetuosity and wild rages as "dementia praecox," a disease of the mind that breaks down the personality and control of actions.

Prisoner Smiling.

Except for one instance during the whole time that witnesses told of his strange conduct, strange beliefs, and mad outbursts, Marcham sat in the prisoner's box smiling and grimacing, alternately. The only time he said anything or showed interest was when Tom Patrick, a young man, who knew him years ago, near London, Ontario, recounted stealing watermelons from Marcham's farm.

"Ha!" said the accused murderer, "so it was you stole those melons. I always wondered who pinched them."

Everton Switzer said he thought that Marcham should have been deported for the protection of the public, and he had suggested this in letters to the Crown Attorney.

Crown Attorney J. E. Anderson said this concluded the case for the prosecution.

Prisoner's Strange Actions.

W. H. Stone, governor of the county gaol, was first called for the defence. He said that the accused had been admitted into jail on January 29, and he had observed the prisoner closely.

When admitted to jail, Marcham said the gaoler, had carried his hands together in front of him as though they were handcuffed, and in reality his hands were free of shackles.

He said the prisoner had a peculiar manner of speech. His voice trailed off, his conversation was disconnected and touched all subjects, and at the same time he had a great desire for conversation. Many of his actions in the cell were strange.

He had discussed various problems, one being what would result if an irresistible force struck an immovable object. Another that perplexed Marcham was whether trees had brains. The jailer said Marcham was considering these problems now.

On religion, too, the prisoner had strange ideas. God, to him, was a devil, but "Abraham was a good old fellow."

Military Record Bad.

Major R. G. Scott, assistant director of records, attached to the Department of National Defence, Ottawa, who had records of the accused's wounds, was the next witness called.

Mr. Frost brought forward a cable received from the secretary of the British War Office, London, stating that Marcham had been discharged from the British Imperial Army in 1907 because of melancholia.

Major Scott showed that in Marcham's regimental and medical certificate made by a doctor at Shorncliff Camp, England, in 1918, it was stated that there were two minute foreign bodies in the accused's brain. These spots were visible in an X-ray plate which was produced in court.

There was no doctor present to read this X-ray plate.

The Medical Board in 1919 had held an examination on Marcham, read Major Scott, from the accused's medical record, and, according to this report, the prisoner had received a gun-shot wound in his head. He had complained to the Soldiers' Medical Board that he had occasional headaches.

Defied Discipline.

Marcham, the report showed, had also exhibited temper and defiance of discipline on four occasions while in the army.

John Craig, timber man, and employer of both Marcham and Everton Switzer, was the next witness. This witness had employed Marcham off and on from 1926, but he found it difficult to get anyone to work with Marcham because of the man's temper.

On certain days Marcham was quite sane, said Craig, but on other days he acted crazy. He often shouted at night as though he were killing Germans. He was most willing to work, and wanted to work on Saturdays and Sundays and from sunrise to sunset. When working he seemed happier.

The witness also told of Marcham's peculiar religious beliefs. Often Marcham had threatened to kill Everton Switzer and burn the house, which the accused had said was worth $20,000. The witness said the house might have had a value of $400. Craig said it was evident that Marcham and the Switzers were not getting along. There were quarrels about money and lumber.

Very Excited.

The last time the witness had seen Marcham before the tragedy he was very excited. The accused was being sued by a man named Raby for a furniture bill. On the morning of the tragedy, the day previous to the hearing of the case with Raby, the accused said he couldn't work. He was too worried and he threatened to commit suicide. When Craig saw him last he was headed up the road at a run.

Asked for particulars concerning a conversation he had with Everton Switzer, following Switzer's phone call to a lawyer, the witness said Switzer had threatened to put Marcham out of the house. Witness advised against this action, saying, "Don't drive Joe (meaning Marcham) too far; you can't tell what he'll do."

Threatened Murder.

Cross-examined, Craig said Marcham had made threats against the Switzers, which included threats against Everton Switzer's life. At one of these times he seemed to have a small hand axe or hatchet under his sweater. Ask if he thought Marcham would carry out these threats, he replied, "Well, I always thought Joe was a little off, but I expected that Switzer could look after himself."

Marcham, according to witness, a few days later, said in a rage, "I'm going to kill Switzer. You had better get Constable Dovell."

Marcham had run for election to the Council of Glamorgan Township two years ago, and was only defeated by a few votes, said the witness.

"Had Cogs Loose."

Thomas L. Patrick, breeder and importer of Sedaraton, near London, Ontario, said he had known Marcham, as Marcham, 20 years.

"I was always of the opinion that Marcham had several cogs loose," said witness. On several occasions Marcham had hoed turnips all day long wearing a winter overcoat and no other clothing when the temperature was about 90 degrees. He was in bare feet.

"On one occasion Marcham had jumped into the river when engaged in cutting ice to see how cold it was for the fish down there" said witness.

"He also had a pet hen which followed him around and to which Marcham would talk all day long," he continued.

The witness related many other instances of the accused's strange behavious.

Marcham Interrupts

Patrick was recounting an escapade in which he, togeter with other lads, had stolen water melons from Marcham's garden. The acused interrupted him by saying, "So it was you who stole my watermelons. I never did find out who stole those melons."

The witness told of Marcham enlisting in 1914 and returning in 1919 with his war bride. Later Marcham's wife went back to England and Marcham's wife went back to England and Marcham one morning went way on the train, having first burned his furniture. That was the last he had seen of him.

More Peculiarities

David Pollard, resident of Gooderham and Municipal and Division Court Clerk of Haliburton county, told of the suit for a furniture bill brought by Raby, of Gooderham against the accused.

The witnesses said that he had received the impression that Marcham was crazy from the serious manner in which the accused took his little court action and repeated times that he discussed the case with the witness.

Doctor Testifies

Dr. Stephenson, superintendent of Ontario for Insane at Whitby, said he had examined Marcham on February 6 at the request of the Assistant Provincial Secretary. He had diagnosed Marcham's disease as dementia praecox, a disease, he said, which occurs in young people and causes the breaking up of the personality, also causing delusions and hallucinations and breaking down of morals. In some cases it becomes restive and is cured.

The final stage, when not cured, is that patient becomes listless and inert and can not take care of his bodily needs, said Dr. Stephenson. "The failure of the adoptation of the individual to circumstance" was advanced as a definition by Counsel Frost and Dr. Stephenson thought it was a correct one.

The witness said he had spent three hours with the accused, tracing his whole background. Marcham's memory appeared to be excellent, and in dementia praecox the memory is not necessarily affected.

Causes Outbursts

Dementia praecox causes impulsiveness and sudden outbursts of passion or violence at very little cause, stated the witness.

Dimentia precox causes the breaking down of the emotional determination which mars his kindness, said the witness. There may be outbursts or there may be absolute disinterestedness.

Marcham had told the doctor that his brother was crazy and the authorities had "done away with him." He said that the accused maintained that he had just missed a similar fate.

At various times in the woods, the accused told the witness, he could hear one part of his brain talking to the other, and then he would wake up to take a new grip on himself.

DELEGATES APPOINTED

and there along the prairie. I worked with friends eighteen days helping in the harvest, and I became more and more impressed with what Fife wheat meant to the west. I wrote to Dr. Fletcher at Ottawa about a memorial to David Fife, urging that something be done, but that was about as far as it went."

"There seems to be a hopelessness among farmers today more than I ever saw before", Mr. Armstrong continued. "I am not hopeless. This country is going ahead, but conditions are such at the present time that many farmers are not making much money. If a demonstration farm were established here I believe it would be a great help and would encourage the farmers to get over their present condition. I wish you God speed in this movement if you can get such a farm."

Mr. Armstrong said that if the original David Fife farm were chosen by the government that in itself would be a sufficient memorial, but if not then he felt that an additional monument should be erected in the Fife cemetery, which is situated opposite the David Fife farm.

As a further tribute David Fife, Mr. Armstrong recalled that he had also introduced a high quality of oats, and as a pioneer farmer was an exceptional experimenter.

City Council's Support

Mayor Denne said the City Council was behind the Fife memorial farm one hundred per cent. A demonstration farm had been talked off for a number of years as a necessity that should be provided for the farming community by either the federal or provincial government.

Ed. M. Elliott—If I were a farmer today I would be behind the Fife memorial farm as strong as possible until we either got it or we found we couldn't get it. The name of Fife is well worthy of the highest possible respect. The sooner we approach both governments the better.

E. G. Patterson—Gentlemen, if there is anything I can do to assist this commimttee I shall be glad to help.

J. J. Duffus—I am quite sure this project will get a great deal of support from the western members of Parliament. Ministers of the Cabinet whom I interviewed last week said they were quite in favor of something being done to honor the memory of David Fife. If we can show apart from sentimental considerations that a demonstration farm is needed in this part of the province then we can also present our claim from the practical standpoint. I remember that Mr. Gillespie spoke of the need of such a farm when he was a member of the Legislature. We should remember also the present generation of the Fife family, and we should be guided by their feelings. Whatever we do, we should be whole-heartedly behind whatever farm might be chosen by the government.

Mr. Eastwood—I have not heard anyone in this community speak of the proposed memorial except in favor of it. Perhaps the best thing would be to have a small committee present this matter to the Minister of Agriculture, the Warden, the Mayor, Mr. Peck, Mr. Duffus, and they could add any members they see fit.

Neglected By Community.

Mr. Smithson—I was one of those who heard Senator McGuire speak of a memorial at the banquet last year, and as a representative of Otonabee I felt rather ashamed that we had never done anything, because from boyhood I have heard the story of the Fife wheat, and I had known the Fife family all my life. I felt that we had been remiss in having to be reminded by a gentleman from Toronto. The demonstration farm idea is an excellent one, and I can speak for Otonabee that we are absolutely behind it. I think that there might also be a tangible memorial apart altogether from anything the government may do. We could erect a monument in some suitable place. We could do both these things, and it certainly is due to David Fife's memory.

G. A. Gillespie.

George A. Gillespie said he agreed with the other speakers. "We should call it a demonstration farm, and it should be operated to show us a profit or loss, and to demonstrate what can be done on a good average farm, and also whether money can be made in its operation. This is a good time to start the ball rolling. I have been in favor of a demonstration farm for this section during the last twenty years. I believe it would do more for what is wrong with farming than anything else, and I am certainly not criticizing what has been done. Conditions are changing in allbranches of industry to-day, and also in farming. Industry of all kinds has to adopt greater economies, and greater production at less cost. That is the only way you can meet world competition today, and it is the only way we can help farming. I believe the Fife farm should be chosen as the memorial. David Fife thought of things fifty years ahead of his time. As his grandson proved by his prizes last year that the farm is still suitable for wheat growing and mixed farming. I think it should be considered. As an old Otonabee boy I shall be glad to give all the assistance I can.

Fifes Are Grateful.

George Fife said that David Fife was his great granduncle. "We thank you for the movement you have started to-day. Away back in 1896 there was a similar movement in the west to collect $10,000 for a monument but it died out. The sentiment of the Fifes is that the memorial should be where David Fife grew his wheat."

R. R. Hall reminded the committee that if the Government approved of the memorial farm there would be the practical side of its selection to which the Department would have to give very great consideration. They would have to consider what site would give the greatest benefit to the general farming community. Possibly such a location should be on the highway, but at any rate it would be advisable to leave the selection of it to the government official who would be delegated to pick out the most suitable farm. Mr. Hall said he had mentioned the same question of a demonstration farm to the Hon. Mr. Fisher who was Minister of Agriculture when Mr. Hall was a member of Parliament.

Dr. Holloway suggested that a small comimttee be named to go to Ottawa and acquaint as many members as possible of the project Peterborough was proposing. Nothing should be left to the chance of presentation by a large deputation on its visit.

A Man From Manitoba.

Dr. Craig said that as a native of Manitoba he could testify to the importance of Red Fife wheat to the west.

"I have sown and harvested thousands of bushels of Fife wheat, and I know what David Fife did for Canada. Since coming east I have realized even more what that meant to the whole of Canada. I am in favor of the purchase of the origipal Fife farm. In regard to the educational effect of a demonstration farm I might add that the Board of Education has been considering the opening of a class in agriculture. The reason we have not done anything is because we could not get a suitable teacher, and also because we had no place to which the students could be taken where they would have a practical demonstration of the theories they would learn in the class room."

The other members of the committee spoke briefly in support of the movement. Duncan McFarlane said there was no better farm than the old one David Fife owned. It is less than a mile off the Norwood road at Pallin's corners, and only twelve miles from Peterborough.

Needless Pain!

The man who wouldn't drive his motorcar half a mile when it's out of order, will often drive his brain all day with a head that's throbbing.

Such punishment isn't very good for one's nerves! It's unwise, and it's unnecessary. For a tablet or two of Aspirin will relieve a headache every time. So, remember this accepted antidote for pain, and spare yourself a lot of needless suffering. Read the proven directions and you'll discover many valuable uses for these tablets. For headaches; to check colds. To ease a sore throat and reduce the infection. For relieving neuralgic, neuritic, rheumatic pain.

People used to wonder if Aspirin might be harmful. The doctors answered that question years ago. It is not. Some folks still wonder if it really does relieve pain. That's settled! For millions of men and women have found it does. To cure the cause of any pain you must consult your doctor; but you may always turn to Aspirin for immediate relief.

JAIL BREAKER WELL KNOWN IN THIS DISTRICT

James Wilson Pries Bars From Windows to Make Sensational Escape From Napanee Gaol.

STILL AT LARGE.

Faces Ten Charges of Robbery in Lennox and Addington Counties.

BELLEVILLE, Ont., Feb. 26. (Canadian Press).—James Wilson, wanted for a series of thefts in Eastern Ontario and in custody at Napanee County jail broke jail Monday night and has not yet been captured. He was not missed by the Warden, William Yost, until possibly three hours after he made his break for liberty. Provincial Police Barret, of Napanee, with other constables in this district have searched the countryside but it is believed the prisoner has slipped through the police net.

Arrested in Toronto

Wilson was arrested a week ago in Toronto, after a robbery had been committed in Brighton. Some of the stolen property was found at Newbrugh, north of Napanee, and Florence Shane, with Wilson, was arrested and charged with the theft. The Shane woman was taken to Cobourg and Wilson to Napance. There were only three prisoners in the jail at the time of the jail break, Wilson being in a corridor. He pried the bars over the window loose and entered the recreation room. By the help of a wrench, presumably secured about the jail, he unfastened seven rusty bolts and let himself into the jail yard. Using the sheets and blankets in the jail, he made a ladder to scale the walls.

Well Known in District

KINGSTON, Ont., Feb. 26. (Canadian Press).—Making a sensational escape from the county jail here Monday night, James Wilson, Toronto, a man with a long criminal record and at present wanted in at least ten places in Ontario on robbery charges is at large in the district. Provincial police combed the Napanee district during the whole night in an unsuccessful attempt to locate Wilson.

His criminal record goes back to 1917 and in April last, he completed a six year penitentiary term. At the present time he is facing ten charges of robbery in Lennox and Addington counties and is also wanted in Brighton, Allendale, Orillia, Barrie, Belleville and Stirling.

The prisoner climbed up a door to the top of the jail wall and then fastened his two blankets together and tied them to the bars on one of the jail windows. He slid down the blankets outside the wall to freedom.

DOMINION MEET IN LAST OF MAY

Will Be Conducted By McGill University at Percival Molson Memorial Stadium.

THREE GROUPS.

The Eighth Dominion of Canada Interscholastic Track and Field championships and the tenth annual McGill Interscholastic track meet will be conducted by McGill University at the Percival Molson Memorial Stadium on Saturday, May 31, 1930. Preliminaries will start at 10 a.m., and finals at 2.30 p.m.

The championships are open to all bona fide school boys who have not reached their 19th birthday on the day of the meet. In addition the usual McGill Interscholastic championships will be conducted for Midgets, Juniors and Intermediates.

Last year, over 400 boys representing 50 schools took part in the McGill meet and it is expected that with the added interest of the Dominion championships, this year's entry will be even larger.

All out of town competitors will be provided with free lodging on Friday and Saturday nights.

Entry blanks are being prepared and will be mailed to over 200 schools in the near future. For further information, apply to F. M. Van Wagner, 3484 University St., Montreal.

DISASTROUS PARTY.

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Feb. 26.—(Canadian Press). — A 16-year-old high school student is dead, a 17-year-old girl is blinded and two other boys are seriously ill following a joy ride and drinking party. Police are searching for a 19-year-old bootlegger who supplied the liquor.

TERRIERS WIN 4-1 IN ROUGH TUSSLE

Free-for-all Mars Canpro Fixture While Wedgewood is Injured.

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 26 (C.P.) — Galt ousted Kitchener from second place in the Canpro Hockey League standing last night by defeating the Dutchmen in a rough game at Galt, four to one. Both teams used their bodies to such an extent illfeeling broke out and the referee was forced to mete out a match foul of McCully of Kitchener for striking Wedgewood, Galt defenceman, over the head with his stick; and major penalties to Heller and Colquhoun for fighting. A free-for-all broke at one stage but was quickly quelled by police.

In the other game the league-leading Guelph Maple Leafs defeated Brantford, cellar occupants, three to one. The winners were minus three of their regulars through injuries, but Goalkeeper Burmister played fine hockey for them, stopping 30 shots in the first period alone.

DETROIT OLYMPICS OVERCOME LONDON

Border City Team Fights Way to Within One Point of Play-offs.

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 26 (C.P.) — Detroit Olympics climbed into contention for a play-off berth in the International Hockey League last night by defeating London Panthers, five goals to two. Windsor Bulldogs kept right on their heels, however, by trouncing Hamilton Tigers, three to one while Toronto Millionaires continued to trip up the leading teams when they beat Cleveland Indians, three to one.

London proved a difficult team for the Olympics to conquer and the score at the end of the middle frame was two-all. It seemed anyone's game until the final period was well underway. London weakened at this stage and three goals, all scored on passes, gave the Olympics victory. The winners are now but one point behind the Panthers, who are in third place.

Windsor Bulldogs, three points behind Detroit, fought grimly for a win at Hamilton. They were held at bay by the stubborn Tigers during the first period, but in the second session both Stan Brown and Frank Carson tallied. In the last frame each team got a point.

The league leading Cleveland team met with a Tartar in the lowly Millionaires, who played much improved hockey. Mike Brophy opened the scoring for Cleveland in the first period, but Cliff McBride evened the count two minutes later. Toronto took the lead in the second period and added another for good measure in the last.

No games are scheduled to-night.

CURLING

LAKEFIELD, Feb. 22.—(Examiner Correspondence). — The Casement Cup which was won by E. H. Northey's rink on Monday evening last was presented by W. H. Casement in 1923 for the Skips' bonspiel in connection with the local club. Following the longer contest in the local competition for the Fitzgerald trohy there is a great deal of local interest in the Skips' bonspiel. Last season the finals were not played owing to the breaking up of the season.

The winners of this cup in past seasons have been as follows:

1924—Rev. J. J. Garvey, M. Coughlin, J. M. Simpson, Rev. P. L. Jull, skip.
1925—F. L. Erskine, W. Watson, J. H. Payne, C. Lake, skip.
1926—Rev. S. A. Kemp, N. Payne, S. J. Charlton, C. Lake, skip.
1927—S. Spence, R. G. Charlton, D. H. Webster, D. H. Charlton, skip.
1928, H. Mills, J. Knox, E. H. Northey, D. H. Charlton, skip.

The preliminary round of the Tanner Cup in the Vice Skips' Bonspiel was played on Tuesday evening with the following results:

ESKIMOS LEAD COBALT JUNIORS

Referee Attacked and Riot Halts Play—Iroquois Falls Five Up.

POLICE CLEAR ICE.

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 26.—(C.P.)—Amateur hockey under the guidance of the Ontario Hockey Association has swept back into the popularity it enjoyed years ago. Unusual interest is being shown in the progress being made by the various teams still in the running for championships in the three series.

No games were played last night, but to-night Paris and Jordan, who have played two games to a one-all deadlock on the round, will play a "sudden death" game at Hamilton to decide who will play Walkerton in the intermediate final. The Walkerton team have decided to play their home game in the final at Toronto Feb. 28. The second contest is scheduled for March 3.

In the junior series Kingston will clash with West Toronto at Toronto in the first of the two game fourth round series. Both teams are in good shape and entered the fourth round by clean-cut victories over their opponents in the third round.

Iroquois Falls juniors defeated Cobalt, six goals to one, in the Northern Ontario Hockey Association semi-finals and will therefore carry a five-goal lead into the return game Friday night. Cobalt lost mainly because of incurring penalties at critical moments. Two of their players were given majors for attacking the referee, while police were called to quell a free-for-all which broke out following their attack.

North Bay Trappers and Sault Ste. Marie Greyhounds clash in the other semi-final, the first game to-night and the second on Thursday night.

Playdowns in Western Canada are also narrowing down to the semi-finals and finals. Weyburn Beavers qualified to meet Regina Aces in the final of the Saskatchewan Senior Hockey Association by defeating Melville Millionaires, three to one, in last night's game and taking the round three to two.

PUBLIC SCHOOL DEFEATS GROVE

Youngsters Retain Early Lead Scored in First Period to Win By 7-4 Count.

HOCKEY NOTES.

LAKEFIELD, Feb. 26 (Examiner Correspondence).—The Grove and the Public school team played an exhibition game of hockey on Monday afternoon with a victory of 7-4 for the Public school. The teams were fairly well matched in size and weight and played a clean fast brand of hockey with just two penalties exacted by Referee T. J. Wood, who very carefully checked up the youngsters, and allowed no liberties with the rules of the play. This, of course, makes for better hockey and improves the form of the players.

The first period was a regular picnic for the Public school as they scored six successive goals, although the Grove scored the first after one minute's play. Nine minutes later Wannamaker scored and again one minute later. Then Kennedy and Chittick caught Miall napping and just in the dying moments of the first period Wannamaker again shot straight and true, scoring another goal.

If the first period was a Public School solo. The Grove got the second as they scored three, the first after fifteen minutes hard fast play, the following two in quick succession. both teams were beginning to show the fatigue of the fast pace set at The third period was not so fast, the beginning but nevertheless they played right through till the last gong said the game was over. Kennedy scored the only two goals of the period.

The outstanding feature of the game was the brilliant work of Kennedy and the snappy combination of both teams. Beardmore, Biggin and Anderson and Wright were stars for The Grove, while Kenney, Wannamaker and Blewett were the high lights for the Public school. Kennedy was the fastest boy on the ice but a little too prone to "play a lone hand." The best results on both sides came from the combination play.

The line up was as follows:

Juvenile Final.

The final game in the juvenile hockey league will be played (ice permitting) next Thursday evening between the Baby Colts and the Trail Rangers. Both teams are keen and it will likely be a good game. A win for the Trail Rangers means another game as the Colts won the first section and a win for the Colts means the Mackenzie trophy for another year.

FINAL GAME ON THURSDAY NIGHT

Frankford Will Clash With Mill Town in Campbellford.

The final clash in the regular schedule of the Trent Valley Hockey League has been set for Thursday night when Frankford will meet Campbellford in Campbellford. After this game the League play-offs will be staged.

Speaking Of SPORT

A LARGE EVENING

Rumblings from the direction of the Florida east coast this evening need not necessarily indicate 'quake, hurricane or tidal wave.

• • •

Tumbling of a selection of fromageous heavyweights may be all that is responsible for the quivernig of distant seismographs.

• • •

For this is the night selected by Madison Square Garden for the annual winter boxing show at Miami, and slightly more than a ton of flesh in the person of ten heavyweight boxers will be on exhibition.

• • •

NOW OR NEVER, PHIL

The tumult and trmpeting and blah-blah which has preceded the match between Phil Scott of England and Jack Sharkey of Boston, main event on to-night's card, has served to confuse boxing fans.

• • •

It is to be hoped, most fervently, that after tonight we will have heard the last of Phil Scott as contender for anything more serious than second prize in the Hackney Wick fire laddies' annual pretzel pull.

• • •

Sharkey, for all his faults of the past, has learned how to act the part of a championship contender, and would have little difficulty in filling the role of heavyweight champion, which he deserves. But Scott is a pain in the neck to most of us.

• • •

"MOST DISTRESSIN'

If by any chance Scott should win tonight (on a foul?), the situation would be "most distressin'!"

• • •

For the British are all set to claim Philip as champion of the world if he gets past Sharkey by hook or crook. They are so hungry for a title-holder, over there on the other side, that they even are ready to recognize a fighter with a record like Scott's, just so long as he is an Englishman.

• • •

There would be some dissension from boxing fans of this country, but from every indication they have given in advance of tonight's affair, the British would talk so loudly, so fast, so insistently and so continuously that no one else could get a word in edgewise. Jimmy Johnston would be an equerry, with ten per cent. privileges, and the entire complement of British first line dreadnoughts would be sent over to escort their Philip home in triumph.

Hitting on All Eight!

Doctor Gives Hint to Lucky Salesman

IT'S a wise man that knows when he is slipping. Mr. R. F. Myers of 711 Rosedale Street, Baltimore, had the good fortune to get his tip straight from one of his doctor customers (he was selling for a pharmaceutical house) and since that lucky visit he has increased his business 50 per cent.

For two years he had been driving from town to town, and naturally this threw his elimination out of shape. He felt himself slipping. Cathartics only made him worse. Then one day he was calling on a wise old physician, and asked his advice. "What you need, my boy," said the doctor, "is a simple, easy, normal way to clean the poisons out of your system—we all have them—and with your kind of work they certainly cut down efficiency. Why don't you try Nujol?"

"Well, believe it or not," says Mr. Myers, "in a few days I felt like a new man. What's got into you?" asked the home office, 'your business has increased 50 per cent!'"

That's the great thing about Nujol. As soon as it begins to clean the poisons out of your system it makes you feel so well that you can almost always do a much better job.

Nujol is not a medicine and contains no drugs. It is perfectly harmless, forms no habit. It is simply bodily lubrication, which everybody needs. You, like everybody else!

Why put off good health any longer? Go into any good drug store and get a bottle of Nujol in a sealed package. Costs so little and means so much! Maybe you can increase your efficiency 50 per cent too!

Tidbits, Interesting and Humorous CAMPBELLFORD

Mr. C. W. Smith returned on Monday from Toronto, where he was visiting over the week-end with his aunt, Miss K. Snodgrass. Mr. Smith attended the Ford School of Instruction last week.

Miss Edna Diamond of the English Line, is visiting her aunt, Mrs. C. Hay, for a few days.

Mr. Allan E. Haw, of Bracebridge, Ont., spent the week-end with his family at Campbellford.

Hockey fans here are getting disgruntled at the trend of the weather. Many think that the play-off in the Trent Valley League should be fixed for Belleville as soon as possible.

Spring is indicated here by the breaking up of the ice in the Trent River. Below the bridge the water is perfectly clear, while the bridge itself is holding up loose ice.

SHOW MANAGER LOSES $1,500 TO DARING BANDIT

Lone Desperado Makes Morning Call at Windsor Capitol Theatre.

MAKES ESCAPE.

Brief Case and Revolver Are Later Found in Downtown Hotel.

WINDSOR, Ont., February 26. (C. P.) — A lone bandit this morning held up Dave Krandle, assistant manager at the Capitol Theatre here, and at the point of a gun forced him to hand over between $1400 and $1500, the receipts of last night's performance. The bandit, a young, well-dressed man, walked into the theatre unmolested. Krandle was alone in the office at the time.

Gun is Found.

Shortly after the hold-up, the police found the gun and a brief case used by the bandit on the stairway of a downtown hotel, and are searching every room in the building for the bandit.

The hold-up occurred just about ten o'clock. The thug, a well-dressed man, walked into the lobby of the theatre, past the scrub woman, who paid not the slightest heed to him, judging from his clothing that he was either an actor or had business with the office, and finally wound up at the manager's sanctum.

When he entered, he carried a handkerchief up to his face, but, after getting in the office, and shutting the door, which is held by an automatic lock, and has to be opened from the inside unless the method is known, he lowered his mask. He then produced his gun, and prodded Dan Krandle, the assistant manager, in the ribs with it, ordering him to "shell out."

Handed Silver First.

He was handed two brief cases, containing the silver taken in yesterday and amounting to a few hundred dollars, Mr. Krandle, hoping that he would be satisfied with this. Catching sight of another bag, he demanded to know its contents.

"Just a few papers," was the reply.

"Lemme see it."

In the bag were the bills, all neatly stacked, and on seeing this, the gunman discarded the silver. He placed the money in his brief case, and then, opening the door made his departure.

Police were immediately notified and patrolmen and detectives responded, Inspector of Detectives Claude Renaud personally taking charge of the case.

The man was described as being well dressed, wearing an overcoat and a slouch fedora.

CALGARY PLANS FOLK CARNIVAL

Frontiersman Lore Will Be Brought to Front in Third "Great West" Fete.

20 NATIONALITIES.

CALGARY, Alberta, Feb. 26.—(United Press.)— Twenty Canadian immigrant nationalities will take part here in the forthcoming Folk-dance, Folksong and Handicraft Festival here from March 19 to 22. This marks the third consecutive 'Great West' festival to be staged within as many years in the prairie provinces by the Canadian Pacific Railway. Impressed by the value of the immigrant's personal gifts to the Dominion, Premier Brownlee of Alberta invited the Canadian Pacific to stage the affair at Calgary so that the native songs and dances of the cowboy and the frontiersman might be added to the cultural factors that are shaping the character of the New Canadian. The affair, a kind of costume pageant of all nations, is under the musical direction of Harold Eustace Key, and will have the co-operation of the Alberta branch of the Canadian Handicrafts Guild.

The object of the festival is to preserve the heritage of traditional songs, dances and handicrafts now known in Canada. Many of these have been brought to Canada by settlers from almost every corner of the Old World and have survived in spite of a vastly changed mode of life—some of them boasting a life span of almost 1,000 years, others enjoying a middle-age of five centuries, while still others rejoice in a green youth of 50 or 60 years. This latter group will give the Southern Alberta Old-Timers' Association their chance to offer the cowboy songs and square dances that drifted up across the border from Texas via Montana

EDMONTON RINK BEATS HALIFAX IN THIRD ROUND

Bobby Munro Preserves Undefeated Record By Downing Murray MacNeill 12-7.

QUEBEC LOSES OUT.

Peter Lyall, of Montreal, Has Easy Victory Over Stratford Representatives.

GRANITE CLUB, Toronto, Ont., Feb. 26.—(By the Canadian Press).—Alberta took the lead in the Macdonald-Brier Tankard Competition for the single rink curling championship of Canada this morning when Bobby Munro's Edmonton rink preserved its undefeated record by defeating Murray MacNeill's Halifax rink 12 to 7 in the third round.

Quebec's representatives, skipped by J. M. Darby, of Huntingdon, who were tied with Alberta for first place with two wins and no losses at the opening of play to-day, lost their final round match to R. G. Hall, of Kitchener, representing the Toronto district, 10 to 8. It was Hall's first victory, the Kitchener skip losing to Alberta and New Brunswick yesterday.

Peter Lyall's Montreal rink had an easy victory over H. A. Bruce of Stratford, Ontario representatives, in the third round, winning 12 to 7 and placing themselves in a contending position with two wins and one loss.

Saskatchewan also registered its first win by defeating New Brunswick, the rink skipped by R. B. McLeod of Saskatoon triumphing over A. C. McWha's, St. Stephens, New Brunswick, 15 to 9. It was McWha's second defeat.

GIANTS BOOKED AS STRONG TEAM

"Gabby" Hartnett's Throwing Arm in Good Condition in Cub Camp.

BIG LEAGUE GOSSIP.

Only four abbreviated practices have been held since the championship Cubs pitched their spring training camp on Catalina Island, yet one of the biggest question marks in Manager Joe McCarthy's mind appears answered favorably. "Gabby" Hartnett's throwing arm, limp throughout the last campaign, seems as good as ever.

John McGraw thinks his New York Giants should finish on top in the 1930 National League pennant race. The "Little Napoleon," on his first day in the Giants' spring training camp, at San Antonio, Texas, prefaced his prediction with the statement that his club "should have won the pennant in 1929."

The Boston Braves have taken to their new manager, Bill McKechnie, with great gusto. He toiled on the mound for the first batting practice of the season yesterday at St. Petersburg, Fla., and base hits rattled all over the field. Two holdouts, Ben Cantwell and Ed. Brandt, came to terms.

A big fellow leaned longingly over the wire fence, behind which the Red Sox were having their first workout of the southern training season at Pensacola, Fla. Then he walked in. In less time that it takes to tell, big Ed. Morris, pride of the lowly Red Stocking mound staff, was signing on the dotted line.

Carl Lind, the Cleveland Indians' sparkling second baseman of 1928, has arrived at the tribe camp at New Orleans two weeks ahead of schedule in perfect condition, and fully recovered from the intestinal ailment which kept him off form last season.

A dozen faces were missing when the St. Louis Browns started the annual limbering up exercises under an azure sky at West Palm Beach, but "Billy the Red" Killefer, manager, declared they were only straggling in and the full complement of 22 who were scheduled to take part in the first workout would be here in a day or so.

Despite Connie Mack's liking for left-handed pitchers, there is only one rookie southpaw in this year's squad of boxmen working out with the champion Athletics at Fort Myers, Fla., Alfred Mahon, a semi-pro from Nebraska. Available literature on Mahon states that he is 20 years old, stands 5 feet 11 inches, weighs 175, and in one of his final High School games struck out 29 opponents in 15 innings. Fourteen pitchers are in baseball harness.

MORE ALARMS IN YEAR 1926

$76,448.20 PROPERTY LOSS.

Some interesting figures are contained in Fire Chief Gimblett's annual report of the workings of the Peterborough Fire Department. In table number 13 he traces the number of alarms, fires and losses since the department was reorganized in 1908 and his chart goes to show that 1926 was the peak year for alarms which numbered 465 with property loss computed at $76,448.20 although the greatest property loss was sustained in 1916 when the damage amounted to $2,262,956.00 with 141 alarms.

The term alarms includes every call which is received by the department in the course of a year's operation and does not necessarily mean fires—chimney fires and false alarms—or any other small fire where the property loss is negligible is not considered as a "fire"; so that in the year 1926 we have listed 465 alarms but only 52 fires of any account, whilst in 1916 we had 141 alarms and only 44 fires.

The year 1909 lists 136 alarms and 33 fires with the damage computed at $66,329.95 as against 378 alarms and 46 fires with the loss fixed at $74,745.58 in 1920.

It will be seen from these figures, that in spite of the increased number of industries and dwelling houses since 1909 that the fire menace is being well-handled in this city and figured out in ratio to the growing population the number of fires and the consequent loss in dollars and cents, is actually decreasing.

The high fire loss for 1916 is of course accounted for by the disaster which befell the Quaker Oats factory. The loss for this fire alone was figured at $2,250,000.00.

Other notable fires since the department was re-organised are the Neill Shoe Store January 1918, with a loss of $256,900.00; J. C. Turnbull Company, March 1923, loss $83,917.40; Peterborough Lock Company, January, 1928, loss $51,835.72; Peterborough Canoe Company, January 1918, and Boston Cafe, January 1918 each with a loss of $45,000.00; Salvation Army, January 1923, loss $40,000.00; Peterborough Lumber Company, July 1909, loss $28,000.00; Canadian Canoe Company, December 1926, loss $25,663.74; A. Botnick, the most recent fire of serious proportions, which occurred on December 28, 1929, with a loss estimated at $22,130.65; Albion Sweets Company, December 1926, loss $18,513.60; L. Yeates, April 1929, loss $18,082.74; E. F. Mason, October 1909 loss $15,685.00; Bell Apartments, March 1920, loss $14,896.00; C. E. Smith, January 1929, loss $14,739.27; Peterborough Planing Mill, February 1918, loss $14,000.00; Bon Marche Coy February 1924, loss $10,988.84; Lundy Gum Company, November 1915, loss $10,100.00; Canadian General Electric, October 1919, loss $10,000.00.

LEGION OFFERS PLAN FOR FLAG

Only Design Acceptable Must Retain Union Jack With Some Symbol Attached.

No Need For Separate Flag.

OTTAWA, Ont., Feb. 26.—(By the Canadian Press.)—Should the question of a distinctive Canadian National flag become a live issue at the coming session of parliament, or at any time in the future, the Canadian Legion, representing the War Veterans of Canada, has a fixed policy ready to submit to Parliament. Believing they should have a voice in the question, the Legion have drawn up this policy, which they believe is the only proper solution of the question should the pressure for a Canadian National flag become so great as to make action necessary.

While asserting the view that the Union Jack should be retained as the official national flag of Canada, the Legion members have put forward a moderate compromise between those strongly opposed to any distinctive Canadian flag, and those who demand a national flag. The Legion policy maintains there is no real need for a separate Canadian flag, but should the agitation become such that it is decided to adopt a national flag, the only design acceptable by the ex-service men of Canada must retain the Union Jack as the predominating figure, with some symbol such as the Maple Leaf or the Canadian Coat of Arms super-imposed thereon.

WIRELESS 'PHONE TO BE RETAINED

Operation of Beam Wireless Divided Between Gov't and Semi-official Service.

50 PER CENT. RATE CUT.

LONDON, Feb. 26. (Canadian Press Cable).—When the Imperial and Internation Communications Limited was formed to combine Imperial Wireless and Cable facilities, it was generally expected it would become an Empire monopoly. But the Daily Herald Labor organ, to-day reports the Government has reached an important decision for the future of wireless telephones, having decided to retain these facilities under the British Post Office. The operation of telephone services by beam wireless will therefore be divided between the Government and the semi-official service.

The company which had resulted from the Empire Cable conference and the merger of the old and individual companies, had been seeking to operate the overseas beam telephone services through it existing beam stations to Canada, Australia, South Africa and India. It was claimed these would eliminate duplication of effort and result in greater efficiency.

But the Government intends to retain the Post Office service operated from Rugby, on the ground it is more economical and more easily expended.

The Postmaster-General, Hon. H. B. Lees-Smith, is expected to make an early announcement in this regard.

It was recently reported that a reduction of 50 percent in the beam telephone rates between Europe and North American points might be expected as a result of increased traffic.

AMANULLAH VISIT KEMAL.

ISTANBUL, Feb. 26. — (Canadian Press).—There was a dramatic meeting yesterday morning at the Angora railway station between Mustapha Kemal, the Ghazi, and Amanullah, former King of Afghanistan.

Amanullah's face streamed with tears as he embraced Kemal, imitation of whose modernizing program cost him his throne.

Amanullah told reporters he was ready to return to Afghanisan in any humble capacity, but he maintained this visit to the Ghazi was merely prompted by the desire to see a dear old friend.

A BEDTIME STORY

by Howard R. Garis

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE RED FLOWER.

Uncle Wiggily was looking at two frosty windows in the room where his little rabbit twin girls, Jingle and Jangle, were in bed with the mumps, the measles or the chicken pox. No one yet knew what it was for Dr. Possum hadn't arrived to make Jingle and Jangle stick out their little red tongues.

Uncle Wiggily looked carefully at the frosty windows, for a little while before that Jingle and Jangle had been fretting because they had to stay in bed, with nothing to look at except the walls of the room.

"Nonsense!" Uncle Wiggily had cried in his jolly voice. "Why, look at all the things to see on the frosty window glass."

Jingle and Jangle had noticed that Jack Frost, as he often does in winter, had painted some queer marks on the glass, but the little fretting bunnies had not thought the marks meant anything.

"Of course they do!" declare l their 'ather, as I told you in the story last night. "Why, here's a giant's cave, a magical mountain and—"

But at that point I had to stop, so I'.ll go on from there and tell you the story of what happened.

"Goodness! What's this?" cried Uncle Wiggily, still looking at the frosty windows, which were madde white and sparkling by Jack Frost. "I see something coming out of the big cave."

"Once upon a time," said Uncle Wiggily.

"What is it?" asked Jingle, staring with all her might as did her sister. And then, so cleverly did Uncle Wiggily talk, that the rabbit children really thought they saw something moving out of the frosty picture on one window—a picture that looked like a cave in the side of a magical mountain.

"Once upon a time," said Uncle Wiggily, "there was a kind, old giant who lived in a magical ice cave on the side of a snow mountain. Now this giant had many things to make him happy. He was big and strong and—"

"Did he ever have to stay in bed and wait for a doctor to come and look at his tongue?" asked Jingle.

"Oh, yes, many times," answered Uncle Wiggily. "But even with that the giant was happy. Here you can see him if you look closely."

With his paw, Uncle Wiggily pointed to what really seemed to the rabbit children to be a big jolly giant made in frost, coming out of the ice cave in the side of Snow Mountain.

"Oh, it's wonderful!" murmured Jangle.

"Yes, the giant was very happy," went on Mr. Longears. "He had everything he wanted, plenty of snow to make balls, lots of icicles hanging around his cave like sticks of candy and when he blew out his breath he could see clouds of steam as if he were a choo-choo engine.

"But one day a little dwarf, who lived in a tiny cave, next door, said to the giant: 'You would be much happier if you had a red flower,' and that made the giant think perhaps, it would be very jolly to see a crimson blossom in his cold, white cave. So the giant asked the dwarf where a red flower was to be found, never having seen any in Forst Land, near the Orange Ice Mountains where he lived.

"'Ha! That is for you to find out!' said the dwarf with a laugh. You are such a great, big giant that it isn't right for me a dwarf to tell you where to look for red flowers.' So the giant—"

By this time Jingle and Jangle were so interested in hearing the story their Daddicums was telling them and in looking at the pictures on the frosty windows, that they quite forgot about being ill and perhaps having to take bitter medicine.

"Did the giant find the red flower?" asked Jingle.

"And did it smell nice?" asked Jangle.

"Well, I'll tell you about that," went on Uncle Wiggily. "For days and days after the dwarf had told the giant about the red flower the big fellow looked here and there and many miles from his cave for a crimson blossom, but none could he find. For flowers do not grow in snow and ice. And at last the giant thought to himself that perhaps the dwarf was playing a trick on him. So one morning when the dwarf came out of his cave to get an icicle for breakfast, all of a sudden the giant made a rush, caught him and took the little man into the big cave."

"Oh, my goodness! Why did he do that?" asked Jingle.

"For this reason," answered Uncle Wiggily. "The giant said to the dwarf: 'You have fooled me about a red flower. Now you shall be the blossom yourself!' And when the dwarf wanted to know how he could be a flower, the giant laughed and said: 'Your nose is red, like a blossom, so come and live in my cave with me and be my red flower. So the dwarf did right gladly, for he liked company. And that's how the giant got a red blossom for his cold, winter cave.

"And after Dr. Possum comes," said Mr. Longears to his rabbit girls, "I'll tell you about the frozen dwarf. But don't if you please, let the snow shovel play in the coal bin and get all black around its ears."

NEW ROBOT BARTENDER MIXES PARIS COCKTAILS

PARIS, Feb. 22. (C.P.)—The Robot barman has come to Paris and French as well as American residents are pushing buttons and shoving levers to get their favorite cocktail mechanically mixed.

Several specimens of the mechanical bar have just arrived from London and are making quite a hit. Press buttons number 1 and 3 and you get a Sidecar cocktail; buttons number 3 and 2 and you get a Martini. If you want a touch of Angostura you push a little lever.

French "aperitif" drinkers and doctors are fighting cocktail drinking in France. The wine interests are alarmed at the waning interest in wine aperitifs. France likes cocktails and she likes the new Robot bar which makes them.

FORMER PETERBORO' RESIDENT GIVES SPLENDID DENTAL TALK

Dentists Have No Need to Cause Pain During Operations, Dr. E. D. Best States.

PARENTS SCARE CHILDREN

HAMILTON, Feb. 26.—An interesting and well-studied address was given by Dr. E. S. Best of Minneapolis, and formerly of Peterborough, a noted dental authority before the Hamilton Dental academy. Dr. Best's subject was one that interested the layman as well as the dentist, namely, "The Elimination of Pain From Dentistry." He spoke for over an hour, insisting that pain in dental operations is as unwarrantable as pain in surgical operations.

"A large practice is not the most difficult thing in the world to build up" he said. "In starting to build your practice, remember that the thing nearly everyone associates with dental work is pain. If you can eliminate that you need not worry about your practice. The problem will be to take care of your patients. You have no business to practice your profession and go on inflicting pain as has been done in the past.

Dentists To Blame

"There are two kinds of pain, physical and mental. Time and again I have heard patients remark on their fear of dental operations, and the dentists who fail to recognize this and to act accordingly will fall short of the highest possibilities. This is especially so in the case of young patients. The outstanding impression of the laity in connection with dentistry is pain. The dentists are almost directly responsible for this condition.

Parents Scare Children

"Young patients are usually accompanied by their parents or nurse, and the elders almost always demonstrate their lack of knowledge of child training by saying: 'Don't be afraid, the doctor won't hurt you,' simply creating an idea of fear. Some dentists now refuse to allow parents into the operating room.

"Nothing is more sincerely appreciated by patients than the elimination of pain. The factor to-day that does most to deter people from seeking the service that mean so much to their health is fear of pain. In the case of children we can help by starting early, and giving treatment every three months to prevent the formation of any serious trouble, by teaching the use of the toothbrush and dental floss. If they are started right children will come to swear by the dentist, and all idea of fear and pain will be eliminated. The work we do in the elimination of pain by giving our patients sound, beautiful teeth, is comparable to the work done in medicine in discovering preventives of such diseases as smallpox, yellow fever, diptheria.

Saving The Teeth

"The fear of pain is common among adults, too, and it may be corrected by having patients come on for treatment every three months. The condition of the average mouth is due to the average care it has received. A few years ago everyone looked forward to feeding false teeth around the age of fifty. Now many keep their teeth until old age. We must spread the idea of keeping teeth healthy and beautiful. Induce your patients to visit you every three months and they will realize you are giving them service they never got before and your practice will benefit as a result.

Easy Of Practice

"You frequently hear people boasting of having been to their dentist, as if they think themselves brave to have survived the ordeal. The dentist can correct this and it is his duty to do so. The dentist has no more right to ask a patient to submit to operations on sensitive tissue without anesthetic relief than has the general surgeon. The general measures are so easy that anyone can master them."

Dr. Best described methods of injecting anesthetic substances into the mouth tissues so as to cause a minimum of pain to the patient.

Uses Stop-Switch

There is a fear in the minds of many patients, he said, that while the dentist is working he may injure them and that they would be unable to protect themselves. He took away this fear, he explained, by installing a stop-switch on the arm of the chair by which the patient can stop the drill at any time.

"You can see a look of relief spread over their faces when you explain about the stop-switch," he said. "After they see it really works they very seldom use it.

"If you doubt the value of painless methods ask any one who carries them out in practice if they are worth while" he concluded.

Tardieu Obvious Choice

After last night's overthrow of the Chautemp's Cabinet on its first appearance in the Chamber, Tardieu was marked by President Doumergue as the obvious choice. The President went through the customary formality of consulting President Bouisson of the Chamber of Deputies and then summoned Tardieu.

Tardieu, however, explained that the political situation in the Chamber, with the right and left so evenly divided, was such that he considered former Premier Poincare most capable of forming a Government "of broad Union" in order to get the support of a wider range of parties than anyone else. He added that Poincare was excellently equipped to govern at the present time when France faces four major problems—the Naval Conference, the Young Plan execution, the Geneva Conference, and the Saar arrangements.

But Poincare had his mind made up when the President's car took him to the Elysee Palace. As he mounted the steps of the palace he turned to the newspaper men and said:

"You can say in advance that it is 'No.' I cannot, I cannot."

Needs Two Months Rest

The former Premier referred to his health which is still somewhat frail. He recently cancelled a proposed trip to South America and has repeatedly said that he must have a month or two of quiet rest before he will be completely well.

It was only leaving the palace that he informed newspapermen that Tardieu had been charged with the mission of forming a Cabinet and that he himself had promised President Doumergue he would help Tardieu form a wide Union Cabinet.

The upshot of these negotiations consequently was that Tardieu, who was overthrown nine days ago, will now again try to form a new Ministry with Poincare actively aiding, although too frail to take a portfolio.

The former Premier, if successful, consequently will return to London to resume the naval negotiatins, where they were brken off when his Cabinet met a five vote defeat in the Chamber of Deputies on a minor budget issue.

BIRMINGHAM, Eng., Feb. 26. — (Canadian Press Cable).—"In spite of all the figures, in spite of all the abuse, I still say I am optimistic," declared Rt. Hon. J. E. Thomas, Lord Privy Seal and Minister of Employment, speaking here Monday night.

"I believe raw materials, which after all are fundamental cause of our position, have touched bottom. I am applying myself to a long-range policy."

WOMEN'S BILL IS READ FIRST TIME

Allows Any British Woman Marying Foreigner to Retain Nationality.

WIDELY FAVORED.

LONDON, Feb. 26.— (By Thos. T. Champion, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent).—Members of Parliament cheered last night while a bill, backed by 52 women's societies of Great Britain and by 70 societies in the Dominions and colonies, was given first reading. It will allow any British woman marrying a foreigner, to retain her own nationality if she so desires.

The supporters of the bill believe that if the British Parliament gives the lead, the matter can be favorably discussed at the Imperial Conference next Autumn. And all parties in Parliament are in favor of the bill. Similar bills have been introduced before, but have never passed further than second reading.

Similarly, the bill makes provisions for the foreign woman marrying an Englishman, in the opposite manner—to ensure that she shall not automatically acquire English citizenship. She will have to fulfill the same citizenship requirements as apply to alien men.

The bill further provides that a woman who has already lost her British nationality by marriage with an alien shall regain it unless she makes declaration of allenage. The position of the alien woman who is already recognized as a British subject by virtue of marriage will not be jeopardised by the bill.

CHECK UP ON MARKERS

City police started a check-up to-day on cars using 1929 markers. Drivers not having 1930 markers on their cars will now be in constant danger of being hailed into court for omitting to make this change.

COLEGIATE PLAY.

Preparation is under way for the annual play to be presented by the Literary Society of the Peterborough Collegiate Institute and Vocational School. The play chosen for this year is "Hobson's Choice", by Harold Brighouse. A cast of 12 is required, 7 boys and 5 girls.

It is now being rehearsed under the direction of F. J. A. Morris, L. J. Pettit, Miss Pearl B. Faint and Miss E. A. Murphy and will be staged early in April.

PLAN SOCIAL EVENING

The first of a series of social gatherings for employees of a number of the city's factories and their friends and also one of the Teco stores will be held on Friday evening at the Y.M.C.A. They are being instituted by the Association for the purpose of promoting social work.

Group games for both men and women will be held in the gymnasium and lobby entertainment will be provided as well as bowling and billiards. The Ladies' Auxiliary will prepare refreshments.

It is planned to hold the gatherings each Tuesday and Friday evening commencing this week when the employees of the Teco stores will be entertained.

NOT DONE YET.

After being melted to the ground, the outdoor municipal skating rinks have been granted a new lease on life, for a short period at any rate, by old man weather. The snow which fell this afternoon will serve to make a new base on which to build ice.

LAZY NED.

A horse pulling a milk wagon across the Market Square about noon to-day discovered that it is much easier to lay down than to pull. It slipped and fell on the slippery ice surface that the sudden weather turn has caused, and no amount of persuasion could induce the animal to get to its feet for some minutes. Finally the harness was removed and the horse consented to rise and resume its duties once more.

SOOT NUISANCE.

It is becoming increasingly difficult to dodge the infinite number of soot particles that seem to be floating about George Street at all times of the day, and it is rare that a pedestrian has the luck to traverse the street without a souvenir of the journey in the form of a couple of smutty beauty spots on his face. A number of suggestions have been heard regarding the matter. Some ask if it would not be possible to prevent the heavier soot from coming out of the nearby chimneys by the use of screens.

LIVE STOCK POOR.

The weekly crop report for Peterborough County from the Ontario Department of Agriculture reads as follows:

"Live stock is not in good condition this winter as a rule. Feed is very short and many of the farmers are running their stock over as cheaply as possible. Some live stock is being marketed but the numbers of both hogs and beef cattle are lower than usual. The better poultrymen have had a fairly satisfactory season this year although the production has not been exceedingly high, prices have been satisfactory. There is still a large quantity of clover seed in the farmers' hands, and the demand is poor. Unseasonably warm weather during the past few days has taken away large quantities of the snow. Most fields are now partly bare and there is a lot of water in the low places."

THE NEW SENATOR

(By J. H. Burnham, ex-M.P.)

Womanhood may well be proud of Senator (why not "Senatress") Cairine Mackey-Wilson. Being neither too forward nor too modest, but just a lovely mother yielding to the urge and march of events, she fits into her new place naturally and effectively. There is nothing commonplace about Canada—as yet—but when Miss Agnes Mcphail, M.P., was the only woman in Parliament, it began to look as if Canadian womanhood was not to rise very high in the political world. Senator Mackay-Wilson, though an English-speaking Canadian, will make her opening address in French and thus pay a well-deserved compliment to that race which helped her father to amass his colossal fortune.

There is but one aristocracy, that of brains and goodness, which together form what is known as culture. But culture is of such a kind that it may flower in the cabin at the roadside and be absent from the palace on the hill. With all the commonplaces, absurdities and glaring inconsistencies (such as getting into Parliament by condemning salaries and then taking them) absent and all the attractions present, it is no wonder that the new Senatress's personality has provided both the charm and the sensation of the year. Mr. King has scored a hit.

DIVORCE AGAIN TO CREATE STIR

Irvine May Introduce Resolution Asking That Bills Be Ceased Entirely.

BE UP TO PEOPLE.

OTTAWA, Feb. 26 (C.P.).—Parliament may be asked at the present session to cease granting divorces. Intimation that he was considering placing a proposed resolution to this effect before the House of Commons for consideration was made today by William Irvine (U. F. A. Westaskawin). At the same time, J. S. Woodsworth (Labor-Winnipeg North Center) declared his intention to continue his attitude of last session of protesting against "wholesale granting of divorces."

There is a probability that a conference may be arranged between the government and members of other parties in the House with a view to avoiding the obstruction of divorce measures as occurred last session.

Against Wholesale Divorce

I am not going to put myself in the public eye as an advocate of wholesale divorces," Mr. Irvine stated. "That is the position which those members who voted against the bill for the establishment of an Ontario divorce court have put us in. Our aim is to get rid of the duty of handling divorce bills, as our constituents send us to parliament for other purposes. Therefore, I am seriously considering introducing a resolution asking that parliament cease passing divorce bills entirely. Then it will be up to the people of Ontario to wash their own dirty linen."

Mr. Woodsworth outlined his position. "My attitude this year," he declared, "is precisely the same as it was last session in that I am opposed to the wholesale granting of divorces. The principle of divorce is not under consideration in any shape or form.

It is a question as to whether divorce will be granted by a non-judicial body such as parliament and subject to the abuses which have crept in and which were revealed last year. Last year the Prime Minister gave the House assurances that the government would seek to find a way out of the present difficulties and we are anticipating that the Premier will make good his assurances.

When the plane, carrying three miners, appeared many of the aborigines fled to their abodes and buried their heads in the bed clothes; one thought it a demon bird and wanted to shoot it. The excitement ceased when the 'plane came peacefully to earth without trying to gobble up any one.

SOCIETY MEETS.

Discussion of Horticultural Society Plans For 1930 Features Wooler Meeting.

(Examiner Correspondence)

WOOLER, Feb. 26.—The meeting of the Horticultural Society was held on Thursday afternoon with the president, Rev. H. B. Neal in the chair. A large number were present to discuss the work in general and improvements for the New Year. A very careful survey of premiums was discussed. Then the auditors, Mrs. Lloyd Dorland and Mrs. S. L. Terrill were to audit the books at the close of the meeting. The election of officers then in order were elected:

President, Rev. H. B. Neal; first vice president, Edward Nelson; second vice president, Mrs. George Adams; secretary treasurer, Mrs. Davis Bull; directors, Mrs. Ashley, Mrs. Irvin Scott, Mrs. H. Richards, Mrs. D. S. Austin, Mrs. D. Bull.

The co-operation from the different churches, Womens Institute, Memorial Park, schools, adds to beautifying the town. Last year the tourists were amazed with the floral exhibit demonstrated at these points. Mrs. Davis Bull specializes in gladiolus and dahlias, while Mrs. Edward Nelson in roses and Mrs. George Anderson in perennials and many more of the residents are cultivating tulips, shrubs, etc.

One of the honored ladies, Mrs. Enas Wessels, celebrated her eighty-eighth birthday anniversary on Thursday, Feb. 20, 1930. Her husband Enos Wessels predeceased her a few years ago, and she is keeping house with her son Lorenzo, and carrying on with the household duties as strong as ever. Her family, Mrs. Norman Easterly, Mrs. John Goodfellow, P. J. Wessels and Lorenzo spent the day with her happily together. Mrs. Wessels has one daughter living in western Canada. Mrs. Wessels lives quietly, does not go out driving or walking, but keeps her strength for her daily routine of home duties.

IN POLICE COURT

For the past two days the dockets at the police court have been very light. Yesterday a clean sheet greeted the Magistrate and to-day there were but three minor matters.

One was a case of domestic troubles. An effort to pour oil on the troubled waters was made by the court.

John Noviski, an immigrant boy, was convicted of petty thievery of articles amounting to $40 in value, and was remanded for sentence by the Magistrate.

For driving a car without an operator's permit Hector Williams was fined $10 without costs.

Theres a home that is now filled with sorrow,
Hearts now are lonely and sad,
When death took from us one year ago,

God only knows how we miss him,
And the pain he so silently bore,
At times our hearts came near to breaking
As we long for him back once more;
Loving and thoughtful always,
Cheerful right to the end,
Real father, true husband always,
To all who knew him a friend.

results from a narrowing of the air passages leading to the lungs. These passages become narrowed when the circular muscle fibres of the bronchial tubes become excessively contracted. All muscle fibres contract and relax, dependent upon messages conveyed from the brain through the spinal cord and nerves. An improper supply of nerve energy to these muscle fibres cause them to tighten up and decrease the size of the air passages, thus reducing the amount of oxygen reaching the lungs.

Liberals Favor Proposed Rum Traffic Curb

NO CLEARANCES FOR RUM BOATS IN ILLICIT TRADE OVER BORDER PREMIER KING INFORMS CAUCUS

Legislation Will Be Brought Down in Commons This Session.

PREMIER APPLAUDED.

Stringent Measure Aimed at Liquor Traffic to United States.

OTTAWA, Ont., February 27 (Special to The Examiner). — The Government of Canada will have no further trouble or trade with rum-runners, and clearances for liquor shipments to the United States will be refused as soon as the necessary legislation has passed Parliament.

The Liberals met in caucus this morning and approved vociferously Government proposals that legislation will be brought down at the present session of Parliament whereby the Department of National revenue will be empowered to refuse to issue clearances to ships or boats with cargoes of liquor destined for the United States.

The Prime Minister, it is understood, made a vigorous speech, denouncing the rum-running traffic, and even the Quebec members who have hitherto been lukewarm on all proposals to prohibit clearances, cheered with the rest. Evidence was given the caucus of the criminal traffic which was going on, and the applause which broke out in the caucus from time to time indicated that there was entire agreement on the Prime Minister's proposals.

When Parliament is asked to pass the necessary legislation which it is expected will drastically curb exports of Canadian liquor to the United States, a big majority is expected for the Bill.

May Direct McMaster

REV. DR. JOHN MacNEILL

Rev. Dr. John MacNeil, pastor of Walmer Road Baptist Church and president of the Baptist World Alliance, who made an eloquent plea for the Foreign Missions in Murray Street Baptist Church last evening, has been offered the position of principal of the faculty of theology and professor of practical theology at McMaster University.

Dr. MacNeil leaves in July for Europe, where as president of the Baptist World Alliance he will, in company with Rev. Dr. Rushbrooke, secretary of the Alliance, visit Germany, Sweden, Poland, Czechoslovakia, the Danubian Countries and Italy, in all of which there are flourishing Baptist communities and churches with which he will hold conference. Should he decide to accept the appointment he will, therefore, not be able to assume his duties at McMaster until next January.

Hope is Abandoned For William Taft

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 27 (C.P.). — Physicians attending William Howard Taft to-day said there was no hope of his recovery.

Called to his bedside, Dr. Francois R. Hagner found that a serious change for the worse had taken place since yesterday.

"Mr. Taft is in a critical condition," said Dr. Hagner. "There is no hope for his recovery. Any improvement will only be temporary."

The physician said he was unable to tell how long the former Chief Justice would live.

The end might come, he said, at any hour, or he might live for a few days.

Premier Macdonald Is Not Discouraged

LONDON, Feb. 27. (Canadian Press). — Premier MacDonald, questioned in the House of Commons whether he expected to arrive at any international agreement for Naval disarmament, today replied emphatically: "Certainly."

The Premier told questioners that the policy of the British Government at the Naval Conference looked to the eventual disappearance of battleships.

The Premier, in his reiteration of the British stand, added however that this aim would have to be attained by international agreement. "We cannot go one pound of avoirdupois beyond that the other powers are prepared to do", he said.

FARMERS VISIT PACKING PLANT

Visitors From Four Counties Conducted From Pens to Shipping and Canning Rooms.

OVER 150 ATTEND.

Large numbers of farmers interested in hog raising made Peterborough their center to-day and spent an interesting and instructive morning at the Canadian Packing Company's plant, where they were conducted by officials of the company through all the numerous departments, from the pens right through to the canning and shipping rooms.

At about noon to-day it was estimated that about 150 farmers were in town for the demonstrations arranged for them by the Canadian Packing Company, the Ontario Department of Agriculture and the Dominion Live Stock Branch. The Counties of Northumberland, Durham, Victoria and Peterborough were well represented.

At the Packing Plant this morning there were two or three pens of different grades of hogs, which were inspected by the farmers, who will be better able to understand the needs of the packer and will be therefore in a better position to co-operate, more fully in the future.

Side Bacon Demonstration.

The afternoon was devoted to demonstrations on sides of bacon by G. S. Foster, of London, in the market hall which was chosen as the meeting place on account of the good accommodation it affords to large gatherings.

A lecture by L. W. Pearsall of Toronto on hog market development and lessons learned from ton litter competition in regard to economical production of bacon hogs was keenly followed throughout.

Dr. Lionel Stevenson, Provincial Zoologist also contributed a worthwhile demonstration on parasites in lambs and hogs and had with him a most unique exhibit of the various parasites and worms that annually cause millions of dollars loss to live stock.

A Cutting demonstration of hog and lamb carcasses by J. Seymour, Plant Superintendent of the C.P.C. was the concluding item to an instructive and interesting program.

Marcham Busy Rolling a Cigarette As Jury Returned With Their Verdict

Understanding grew up between Walter Marcham, alas Joe Norman, and The Examiner reporter during the progress of the man's trial at Lindsay for the brutal slaying of a defenceless woman.

The reporter sat within arms' reach of Marcham, who rested in the prisoner's box, a disinterested spectator in his own trial. Marcham's face was usually a blank and he gazed with a fixed stare at the ceiling. From time to time his forehead would pucker in a frown as he wrestled with one of those "mathematical problems" which witnesses said bothered him, and which he explained to the reporter.

During occasional brief intermissions and delays in the hearing, conversation was exchanged.

"Joe did you hear what that witness said?"

"No; what does it matter? I haven't anything to live for now my house is gone. You know that was a fine little house I built. I bought some furniture for it from Raby. Do you know that furniture was buggy. If those bed bugs had ever got into my house I'd have killed myself."

Another time: "When do you want to swing, Joe?—sunrse or sunset?"

"Oh, while I'm eating my dinner—it doesn't matter. The cards were stacked against me from the first. When your dice are tossed you have to go. Then I'll be 'napoo.'"

Again: "Your hair's getting thin, Joe."

"Yeh! You can't have brains and hair, too."

Two eminent psychopathologists had diagnosed Marcham's trouble as Dementia Praecox, a mental disease. They said, "Crazy." His behaviour throughout the trial bore this out—unless he was a marvellous actor.

When the jury was filing out to decide whether he should live or die, Joe didn't give them a glance. His eyes were on the cigarette he was rolling.

Marcham is now forty-four. He will be sixty-one when he gets out of prison, if he does come out alive.

SOCIALIST GROUP ARE OPPOSED TO TARDIEU AS FRENCH PREMIER

Talk of Forming New Cabinet Bristles With Political Obstacles.

NO PROGRESS TO-DAY.

PARIS, Feb. 27 (C.P.).—Andre Tardieu, aided by the veteran Raymond Poincare, resume to-day his efforts to form a new French Government to solve the crisis, initiated when his ministry was defeated on a trival budgetary item Monday of last week, and continued with refusal of the Chamber to give a succeeding ministry of Camille Chautemps a vote of confidence.

There was every indication the task would be one of the most difficult Mr. Tardieu has ever faced, with the lines drawn so clearly between left and right groups in the Chamber that collaboration of the left with him will be very hard, if not impossible, to attain.

Majority Not Over 20

Without that collaboration he will be forced to organize a Ministry of the centre and right centre, such as that just defeated. The probable majority of such a ministry would not exceed twenty, too slim, most poltical observers felt, to satisfy either of the two who are constructing the new Government.

Mr. Tardieu himself stated his wish for a Cabinet of "Broad Republican Union, where there will be a place for everybody and from which I would exclude nobody."

His announcement was made at about the same time the Radical Socialists were meeting in the Chamber and deciding that they could not collaborate in a Cabinet headed by Tardieu. They added that they would not object to holding office in a "concentration" Cabinet, in which M. Tardieu was a member, provided he did not hold the all-important portfolio of the Interior.

ROUND BY ROUND FIGHT BULLETIN

We can't all hear Jack Sharkey and Phil Scott go through their fifteen rounds for the heavyweight threat at Miami to-night. In view of this fact, The Examiner has arranged to bulletin the wire story of the fight, round by round, just as it comes hot off the wire.

Advices from the seat of war state that odds of 5 to 1 are going begging on Sharkey, with the prevalent one of 2 to 1 that Fainting Phil does not come up for the fifth. Again it is wagered that if Scott lasts four rounds he will win the fight.

There is not a single boxing fan on this side of the line, who would not give a whole lot to see the Briton take the count of the boastful Bostonese.

The Examiner will tell you about it.

A "Scotch" Story Told Under Oath

Chicago, Ill., February 27. (C. P.) — The credulity of Judge Harry A. Lewis was taxed by the case of Johnson vs. Johnson, divorce. Mrs. Helen Grace Johnson testified her husband, Arthur, was a Scotchman; that he refused her permission to use a vacuum cleaner, because it was too severe on the rugs; that he bought all the food very carefully, and that he forced her to wear magnifying glasses at the table, so the food would look like more.

"Surely," interposed the court at this point, "there is a limit, you know, to credulity."

"I am under oath," said Mrs. Johnson, "and I swear it."

She said there was one alarm clock in the whole family. When it rang in the morning she had to rewind and reset it for other members of the family.

RADIO OPERATOR TURNS OUT HERO

Stays at Keyboard Asking For Help to Battle Forest Fire, While Flames Approach.

PLANES ARRIVE IN TIME.

TORONTO, Feb. 27.— (Canadian Press).— With fire creeping slowly toward his tent, Charlie Ward, Ontario Forestry Branch radio expert stuck to his post in the heart of a Lac Suel forest fire last July, and kept hammering away at his little portable set, maintaining contact with the district forestry headquarters played a steady stream of water on him to keep his clothing and his operating keyboard from igniting.

The story was told to the Legislature yesterday by Hon. William Finlayson, minister of lands and forests. It was a vivid illustration of the modern methods employed by the department in keeping down timber losses in Ontario. The fire was discovered by aeroplanes at 2.30 p.m. By 6 p.m. men with pumps and hose were on the spot, transported many miles by two planes. Radio kept them in contact with the district forester. The whole operation was carried on by air — the equipment and men taken to the spot by planes and the radio used to direct operations.

The fire was in one of the few remaining heavy spruce stands in the province. It was put out with the loss of 1,000 acres but the minister said that had it not been for modern science and equipment, it never would have been discovered until probably the whole acreage was lost.

LEGION IS READY WITH PROPOSALS FOR PARLIAMENT

Men With Dependents to Get Living Allowance—Those Without Be Cared For.

QUALIFYING CLAUSES.

Specify That Benefits Go Only to Men Who Actively Served in the War.

OTTAWA, Ont., Feb. 27.—(By the Canadian Press.) — The legislative proposals of the Canadian Legion covering the needs of the "burnt out" or "broken down" veterans of the Great War, who are wholly or in part non-pensionable, recognize the fact that the Department of Pensions' officials have been making an exhaustive study of the question, but have not as yet put forward any specific remedial schemes. The Legion therefore will present their legislative recommendations to the Government as follows:

That to men with dependents, there be made a living allowance.

That for men without dependents, provisions be made for their care and maintenance.

Two Clauses Cover Request.

These two clauses cover the Legion requests, but Legion headquarters believe they will be effective. The Legion, however, has added certain qualifying clauses, largely in an effort to show it desires to be fair and reasonable in all their requests, and it wishes to co-operate to prevent any abuses of whatever remedial legislation may be enacted at the present session as the result of its representations.

The first qualification is that the benefits of this legislation be available only to men who, by reason of age or disability, wholly or in part non-pensionable, are now in necessitous circumstances and wholly unemployable in any available labor market. The Legion inserted this clause as a result of the decision of the last Dominion convention of the Legion at Regina, to the effect that its work should be concentrated on securing relief for the disabled and broken down men, and that those in good health should be willing to make sacrifices for the sake of their less fortunate comrades.

Only Those Who Fought.

The second qualifying clause is that these benefits be restricted to men who have served in actual theatre of war. In this qualification the Legion recognizes the principle that service in an actual theatre of war must be a condition precedent to a man being burnt out or broken down as a result of war service, although there was some agitation that men who were in training on Salisbury Plains during the terrible winter of 1914-15 might well be included in the beneficiaries.

The third qualifying clause asks that the regulations be so framed as to prevent the benefits of the legislation requested being utilized in any way to bonus indolence.

The question of amendments to the Pensions Act will be considered by a special parliamentary committee, and the problem of the burnt out men is expected to be one of the most important to be considered. Premier King has already expressed the desire of the government to make more adequate provision for men who have broken down early in life as the result of their Great War service.

30 Coffins Found In Egyptian Tomb

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Feb. 27.—(C.P.).—The University of Pennsylvania Museum announced today that it has received a cablegram stating that one of the largest collections of coffins ever found in one tomb in Egypt has been unearthed by the University's expedition at Meydum.

The coffins, all of which contain mummies, range from 2200 years to nearly 4000 in age, it was stated.

"Nearly thirty coffins and mummies were found in the new tomb," the cablegram from Alan Rowe, field director of the expedition, stated, it was announced. "One coffin contains a mummy covered with head network over which is a golden flying scarab and a gilded mask. Another coffin dates from the twelfth dynasty, about 2,000 B.C., and is covered with texts. Now opening other great tombs."

Axe Man Sentenced To Seventeen Years In Kingston Prison

Murder Trial at Lindsay Concluded Wednesday Night—Jury's Verdict Reduced the Weight of Penalty—Nothing to Live For Prisoner Declared.

SOME AGGRAVATION FOR THE CRIME
DEFENSE COUNSEL ARGUED IN PLEA

Jury Out Twenty-five Minutes—Verdict Returned at Evening Recess—Eloquent Address to Jury By Counsel—Insanity Not Considered By Jury.

(By Staff Reporter)

LINDSAY, Feb. 27.—The murder trial of Walter Marchan alias Joseph Norman, confessed axe-slayer of Mrs. Everton Switzer, was abruptly concluded here last night when the jury found Marchan guilty of manslaughter. Using few words, Justice Kelly sentenced him to seventeen years in Portsmouth Penitentiary.

A hushed and deserted court room heard the jury's verdict. Surprised and caught unawares by the short time it had taken the jury to come to a decision on this trial which had stretched over two and a half days, lawyers, court officials and Judge Kelly were summoned from lunch and hastily donned robes to hear the verdict.

The jury was only out twenty-five minutes. At 6.45 they retired to consider the mass of evidence, and at 7.10 they filed into the court room with their verdict.

The abrupt conclusion was no less startling than some of the evidence submitted in this trial for murder of a mysterious man, who confessed to having wielded the axe that killed Mrs. Switzer in a lonely shack in Haliburton County on January 28, and who smiled and grimaced and winked as witnesses related details of the brutal crime.

Marcham heard the jury's verdict without visible concern and he smiled when Judge Kelly sentenced him to seventeen years penal confinement.

As he was being led to his cell, he stopped and said to the reporter, "I once read a book 'How To Get Along Without Work'. I guess I've found out. I don't care. I haven't a thing to live for."

In sentencing the man, Judge Kelly's remarks were very brief. He spoke of the serious and ferocious nature of the crime and complimented the jury on their finding.

Addressing Marcham, he said, "You committed this crime in the heat of passion. Had you tried to exercise self-control you would never have brought down that axe that sent a defenceless woman into eternity without a moment's warning and made motherless three small children."

These words seemed to make no impression on the man to whom they were addressed. No sign of gravity or seriousness passed over his face.

Two doctors, one, Dr. Stephenson, superintendent of the Whitby Asylum for the Insane, following examination of Marcham, had stated that he was suffering from Dementia Praecox, a form of mental disease. From a medical viewpoint, they said, he was insane.

The line of cleavage between the medical understanding of insanity and the legal understanding of the disease entered most importantly into this case. The legal view of insanity, as advanced by Crown Attorney Anderson and Judge Kelly, was that a person must be beyond power of differentiating between right and wrong in his action before insanity can form an excuse for crime.

The insanity plea did not enter into the jury's verdict. It was consideration of "provocation" that caused them to lower the homicide from murder to one of manslaughter.

Both defence and Crown counsels had emphasized that there was provocation for Marcham's act. Mr. Frost, for the defence, in an eloquent appeal for Marcham lasting two hours had stressed the fact that Everton Switzer, husband of the murdered woman, had aggravated him and raised him to the summit of fury by trying to force him out of his own house.

Crown Attorney Anderson stated that "Switzer had acted in far from a commendable manner toward this man who was without the advantages of a well-developed mind." He said that it was plain to him that Switzer had tried to have Marcham deported from the country so that he might gain possession of Marcham's house.

On the morning of January 28, the Crown Attorney said, in explaining the provocation, Marcham was told by Mrs. Switzer that he must get out of the house. Marcham had rushed down the road to Mr. Switzer, who also told him that he must leave his own house.

"Marcham, an Englishman used to settling matters with fists, challenged Switzer to fight it out," said Mr. Anderson. But Switzer refused, saying he must get out and he would have him deported. Marcham in a towering rage raced back to the house, determining that if he could

A picture snapped of Walter Marcham, alias Joe Norman, mystery man of Bear Lake and confessed axe-slayer of Mrs. Everton Switzer, as shackled he was taken from the train at Lindsay the day following the slaying and led by Provincial police to the jail to await his trial. The trial, one of the most dramatic ever witnessed in Victoria county, ended last night, Marcham being found guilty of manslaughter and sentenced to 17 years at Portsmouth penitentiary.

WORK OUTLOOK IS VERY BRIGHT

Greater Part of Spring Employment Expected on Construction Lines.

LITTLE FARM DEMAND

The employment outlook for the spring in Peterborough is very bright states Hugh Robertson, manager of the local branch of the Employment Services of Canada, although at present there is little improvement over the past few months. Most of the employment relief is expected to come through construction lines although some of the larger factories have prospects of busy times in the spring.

The unfilled application list at the Employment bears about 150 names on an average. This is only an indication of unemployment in the city as only a portion of the unemployed register at the bureau. The total has remained in the vicinity of 150 since last November.

In the last two weeks a couple of the larger factories have been laying off men. From some a slight demand for labor has come but not great enough to rectify conditions. The thaw created a small demand for farm help but men to do chores temporarily were mostly wanted.

FIVE MINERS DIE

HAYDOCK, Lanncashire, England, Feb. 27 (C.P.).—Five miners were killed and 20 others sent to a hospital, some of them badly burned, after an explosion in Lyne pit near here late last night. Fire delayed rescue operations for some time, but eventually the dead and injured were brought to the surface.

LIST OF DEATHS IN SCHOOL BLAZE TOTALS ELEVEN

Indian Mission School in Manitoba a Complete Loss.

FIVE NUNS INJURED.

Carried By Airplane to The Pas—Story of Heroic Sisters.

THE PAS, Man., Feb. 27.—(By the Canadan Press.))—Eleven lives were claimed by the fire which destroyed the Cross Lake Indian Mission School, 150 miles north-east of here Tuesday morning. To-day the great stone school in the wilderness is in ruins save for bits of standing wall.

Late yesterday five maimed Sisters of Charity were brought into The Pas by airplane. Four Sisters who escaped injury in the disaster remained at the scene of the fire to serve their charges.

The dead:—Sister Superior Margaret Marie; Charlotte Meceredi, 12; Hyla Moose, 11; Nancy Flatt, 11; Martha Scott, 9; Ilia Crait, 8; Ann Crane, 8; Clemence Cook, 7; Christie Carmel, 7; Emil Dumas, 7. Presumed dead, one little girl.

Sister Superior Margaret Marie, after going to the rescue of others, was cut off by a wall of fire and perished.

Searched in Darkness.

Fighting courageously, the remaining Sisters hurried the girls and boys toward the fire escape. They said there was no panic. The Sisters cooly checked each pair of girls as they passed down the fire escapes, ignoring the crashing of stone and plaster about them. In the darkness they then searched for more children when the check revealed that some were missing, and then, as flames enwrapped the entire building, they leaped from the third storey windows in night clothing and bare feet.

Sister Ste. Agathe calmly stood on the rim of the inferno dragging each pair of children to safety, and then fell headlong to the snow and ice below.

Bishop Charlebois, in his 56th year, hurried to the scene by plane and will remain to direct relief operations.

The injured:—Sister Jean De Chantel, broken spine; Sister Marie Des Angels, 50, frozen foot and shock; Sister Saint Agathe, shock, believed suffering from pneumonia; Sister Marie De L'Annonciation, shock and cold.

Estimated loss:—Buildings and furnishings $250,000; equipment $30,000.

The origin of the fire is unknown.

Flames in Stairway.

At two-thirty a.m. Tuesday Brother Lambart, night watchman at the school, banked his fires for the night and after an inspection on the fourth storey, retired. It was shortly after 3 a.m., when Sister Superior Margaret Marie, sleeping on the third floor, awakened to find the building on fire. The flames were sweeping from the basement to the roof via the main staircase.

Struggling through the inferno, the Sister Superior awakened all Sisters, and they fought through the flames to the dormitories occupied by the little girls and then to those occupied by the boys, on the far side of the building.

FLEW FROM SUDBURY.

Local Airmen's Long Trip in Snow Storm.

It was stormy, and wintry winds brought thick snow yesterday, but the weather did not prevent Norbert Miller and his mechanic, P. Preston, from flying the 350 air miles from Sudbury to Peterborough in the afternoon. Leaving Sudbury at noon and stopping at North Bay and Parry Sound, the bird men arrived here at 5 o'clock. They flew at the 1,000-foot altitude, and in the last leg of the trip the visibility was poor.

Miller had the plane in the north for eight days taking up passengers, transporting prospectors, and engaged in photography.

Heart is Bothering Millionaire in Jail

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Feb. 26 (C.P.)—Alexander T. Pantages, theatre magnate, convicted of assault, was reported to be seriously ill in the county jail here to-day. The multi-millionaire suffered the most serious of a series of heart attacks Sunday, and attendants declared his condition shows no improvement.

"He is a very sick man," attendants said late last night.

Pantages was convicted last October of attacking Eunice Pringle, 17-year-old dancer, and confined in the county jail to await the outcome of an appeal from a one to fifty year penitentiary sentence.

COMPULSORY POOLING FAVORED BY FARMERS OF SASKATCHEWAN

Wheat Not Specified in Resolution Adopted at Saskatoon.

VOTES WOULD DECIDE.

SASKATOON, February 27. — Farmers of Saskatchewan — Canada's greatest wheat-growing province — yesterday went on record as favoring compulsory pooling of commodities. After long hours of debate, United Farmers of Canada (Saskatchewan section) gave almost unanimous approval to a compromise resolution presented by the Board of Directors.

By the resolution, directors of the farm body are ordered to "stand ready to work with the wheat pool board of directors or the directors of any other pool in requesting that there be placed in the statute books of Saskatchewan an Act known as the Primary Products Act, whereby the growers of any commodity may obtain control of the marketing of all that commodity grown in the province."

Grain Marketing First.

While no specific product is mentioned in the approved resolution, it is generally considered that first compulsory pool activity will be toward marketing all grain grown in Saskatchewan through the Wheat Pool. Director of the Saskatchewan Wheat Pool, with whom the U.F.C. directors must "stand ready to act," have declared no definite stand. President A. J. McPhail has spoken against the compulsory pool; L' C' Brouillette vice-president, is an avowed adherent.

Formation of a compulsory wheat pool in Saskatchekan — which, of course, would have to be preceded by legislation and by a two-thirds vote of the province's wheat producers—would mean that some 60 per cent. of all Canada's wheat crop would be handled by the Saskatchewan pool. In the 1928-29 season the Canadian pools handled 253,000,000 bushels of a total Canada wheat crop of 547,000,000 bushels—and of the pool total some 157,000,000 bushels were raised in Saskatchewan.

According to this resolution, later substituted in the convention, petition by one-fifth of the producers of any commodity would bring a Government plebiscite among such producers as to whether they desired compulsory pooling. Should the vote result in two-thirds of the vote cast favoring law-enforced 100 per cent. pooling the commodity would be declared a commodity under the Primary Products Act. At a date set by the Government, commodity producers would elect delegates or directors to control marketing of the commodity in question.

A. E. Harris Awarded Humane Society Medal

GORE'S LANDING, Feb. 27.—A. E. Harris, proprietor of the Rice Lake House, Gore's Landing, has been awarded the Royal Humane Society medal for his plucky rescue of Fred Lethern, of Hamilton, from drowning in Rice Lake on the morning of November 4.

Mr. Lethern's canoe had capsized some half mile from shore and the only means of reaching him was by motor launch which was about 400 yards further down the shore and moored some distance out in the lake.

Mr. Harris swam to the launch and proceeded to the scene of the accident, all of which took about thirty minutes. By the time Mr. Harris reached the unfortunate man, he was numb with cold and could not have held much longer.

FINLAYSON PLANS TO INCREASE TAX ON FOREST FIRES

Believes $353,258 Collected From Timber Owners Not Sufficient.

PERMITS COMPULSORY.

Townships Having Fires To Be Charged Only Half Cost of Combating Them.

TORONTO, Feb. 27. — Drastic changes in the regulations governing forest fire fighting in the North and a forecast that the Government intends increasing the fire tax collected from timber owners, were announced in the Legislature yesterday by Hon. William Finlayson, Minister of Lands and Forests.

He introduced a bill which would compel all companies carrying on Summer development work in the woods to secure a permit from the District Forester, who would have power to refuse any request or apply special restrictions. The bill also would give the Minister power to close any fire area to traffic of any kind.

1929 Worst for Number

The Minister announced that last Summer was the worst in the Department's history for the number of fires. There were 1,508 fires and the total acreage burned was 588,450. This latter figure was second only to 1923, when 2,120,149 acres of timber were destroyed.

"Forest fires," he said, "constitute a calamity that is hanging over us all the time. They will continue as a menace as long as we have timber. The only way to combat them is through years of study and experiment and in constantly improving the equipment and staff."

Government has 12 Air Bases.

He went on to say that at the present time the government had 11 district foresters on duty, 12 air bases were maintained, 26 airplanes were owned, 19 radio stations were in operation, 53 motor cars, 115 motor trucks, 106 motor boats, 1971 miles of telephone wire, 365 portable fire pumps, 801,000 feet of hose, 641 canoes, 53 railway motor cars and 117 railway velocipedes were in operation. In addition, 177 look-out towers were maintained in different parts of the country, and 25 were being built each year, together wih 600 additional miles of telephone wires.

In 1929, he said, the government spent $1,674,013 to combat forest fires. The fire tax secured from owners of timber amounted to $353,258, which he did not believe was large enough.

During the last ten years fire had destroyed 4,723,235 acres in Ontario. There have been 10,998 individual fires.

LOCAL CHURCHES PLEDGE FOREIGN MISSION GRANTS

Baptist Church Raising $300,000 For Foreign Mission Work.

WITHIN FIVE YEARS.

Park Street Church Promises $1,037.50—Dr. John MacNeill Speaks Here.

The Canadian Baptist Foreign Mission Board, who have commenced a campaign to raise $300,000 throughout the Dominion in the next five years, launched their appeal in Peterborough last evening when Rev. Dr. John MacNeill, president of the Baptist World Alliance, made an eloquent appeal on behalf of the Foreign Mission "keeping faith" fund, as it is known.

That his plea was not fruitless was evident by the fact that he received promises of $1,037.50 from Park Street Baptist Church and $997 from Murray Street Baptist Church, which does not, however, represent the total sum to be expected from this city as the congregation in Murray Street Church was not a very representative one on account of the snowstorm which kept many people from attending.

The promised sums varied from $4 to $100 and will be paid in varying amounts covering a period of three years.

Rev. J. H. Sutcliffe opened the service with a hymn, followed by prayer, led by Rev. Mr. Edgar, pastor of Gilmour Memorial Church. Also present was Rev. J. L. Harton, pastor of Park Street Church, and Rev. Dr. H. E. Stillwell.

Some time ago the Foreign Mission Board was forced to make a cut of about 20 per cent. in the grants, explained Rev. Dr. MacNeill, to the great regret of the workers in India and Bolivia, who were deeply wounded to the hearts. The matter was laid before the missionary convention at Hamilton, and it was decided that the board should have a clear field for the launching of an appeal within a year's time.

The missionaries were asked to take a careful survey of their fields with an eye to cutting expenses wherever possible, and at the convention the Missionary Board announced that at least $300,000 was absolutely necessary to keep faith with the missionaries and their converts and the generations to come.

The speaker explained that the sum he had mentioned would only be sufficient to consolidate the position which had been built up after 55 years in India and 33 years in

ADVERTISE IN THE EXAMINER

MAXIMUM RATE IN RURAL HYDRO IS SET AT $2.50

Any Operating Deficits Over That Amount Handled By Consolidated Revenue Fund.

SECOND READING GIVEN.

Gov't Has No Intention of Doing Away With 20-Year Contract.

TORONTO, February 27. (C.P.) — The second reading was given a government bill in the Legislature yesterday which would set a maximum service charge of $2.50 a month for rural hydro districts. Any operating deficits over that amount would be absorbed by the Consolidated Revenue Fund of the government. In explaining the bill, Hon. J. R. Cooke the ministerial representative on the Ontario Hydro Electric Commission, said that, based on last year's annual report, the amount that would be paid out of the fund would be $73,000. In a lengthy explanation of the bill, Hon. Mr. Cooke said that the government was aware of the fact that rural power users were paying more than those living in urban centres. The problem, he said, was not one of electricity, but of the heavy cost of transmission lines and equipment. The 5000 miles of rural power lines in Ontario cost on an average $2000 a mile, and they were serving between three and ten persons a mile. In contrast to this a mile of urban line would serve possibly 100 users.

In use over Ontario Shortly.

The Minister believed that it would not be very far in the future before electrification would be possible everywhere in Ontario. Surveys of Southern Ontario, he said, had shown that between eight and nine persons could be served per mile of rural line. If they all took hydro, the service charge would be far below $2, he said.

Hon. George S. Henry introduced a bill that would change the names of all provincial highways to "The King's Highways." It would also increase from 30 to 40 per cent. the government grant to municipalities for the cost of township roads.

Both proposals were pre-election promises of the Ferguson Government. The Minister said that all the posts for the highways bearing the new name were ready for distribution.

Second Reading Given

Before Hon. Mr. Cooke secured second reading for his bill, there was considerable discussion across the floor. Without denouncing the bill, Hon. Harry Nixon, Progressive leader said he took issue with the Minister for the statement that the opposition parties for years had endeavoured to make political capital out of the rural hydro question. It was a case, he said, of an opposition, bringing attention to what was considered an unjust situation.

W. Newman, Lib., North Victoria, suggested to Hon. Mr. Cooke that more "salesmanship" was needed by the commission in securing more users in rural parts. A line was built to serve three or four farmers and no efforts were made afterwards to secure more subscibers.

In reply to a question put by Newman, Hon. Mr. Cooke said that the Government had no intention of doing away with the 20-year contract in respect of rural users. He said that a long-term contract such as that decreased the sinking fund payments to such an extent that the service charge of $2.50 was possible.

J. A. Sangster, Lib., Glengarry, said that Eastern Ontario was being discriminated against in the distribution of power. Central counties in Ontario were receiving more attention from the commission despite the fact that Eastern Ontario possessed unlimited power in the Ottawa and other tributary rivers of the St. Lawrence.

Other Bills To Come Up

F. W. Elliott, Lib. North Bruce commenced asking the Minister for his explanation of the controversy last year between Hydro and the Foshay interests in Bruce County. Hon. Mr. Cooke replied that four or five other Hydro bills were to be introduced later and a better opportunity should be presented to deal with that question.

Just before the House rose, Hon. Mr. Cooke moved the second reading of a bill which would set aside $2 000,000 to be loaned to farmers for hydro installations. He withdrew the motion, however, when W. E. N. Sinclair, K.C., Liberal leader, and several of his followers said they were unfamiliar with it and were not prepared to go ahead.

Second readings were given private bills respecting the Canadian Conference Evangelical church, the cities of St. Thomas, Guelph, Niagara Falls and Galt and Albert College.

COLD WEATHER HINDERS WORK

Wallace Block Will Be Rebuilt to Original Height of Two Storeys.

LABORERS EMPLOYED.

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 27.—(Examiner Correspondence.)— The rebuilding of the Wallace Block, recently partially destroyed by fire, was to have commenced yesterday, but owing to the cold snap has been postponed. The block will be rebuilt to its original height of two stories, and is to be completely refitted and redecorated throughout. Some men have already been hired for the work, which is under the supervision of A. H. McKeel. Work will go forward as soon as the weather turns milder.

LABOR GOV'T FACES CRITICAL VOTE IN COMMONS ON COAL MINES BILL DEFEAT MAY CAUSE RESIGNATION

Situation Similar to December Issue When Gov't Slid Through By Eight.

VOTE EXPECTED TO-NIGHT.

Few Sympathetic Liberals and Split in Tories May Give Laborites Victory.

LONDON, Feb. 27 (C.P.). — The government to-day was facing a critical vote in the House of Commons on the pending coal mines bill and there was some perturbation in political circles where it was predicted a defeat might cause resignation of the government and precipitate a general election.

The situation was somewhat the same as last December on the second reading of this controversial measure which the government just slid through with a majority of 8. Now there is the added complication of the question arising in the midst of the Naval Disarmament Conference.

Crisis Undesired.

So far as could be determined nobody wants a British political crisis at this juncture but it was recognized that circumstances might conceivably produce one.

A vote on the bill is expected to-night.

A vote between the government and its critics is the scheme contained in the Coal Mines Bill for the compulsory regulation and limitation of output, which is opposed by both the Conservative and Liberal parties, except for a few dissentients in each camp. The Laborites regard this scheme as the heart of the measure, which is designed to improve the condition of the coal industry, which has long been in a bad plight.

There were some factors which suggested that the Government would be able to defeat whatever combined opposition is mustered against the bill. The Conservatives are proverbially plagued in divisions by absences among their members. It also is understood that a number of Conservatives are known to be sympathetic to limitation of output and therefore will likely abstain from voting deliberately. A few Liberals who wish to avoid injury to the Government, it is reported, will either vote with the Labor party or abstain.

The Labor rank and file is declared to be strongly in favor of an immediate election if the Government is beaten. The prevailing opinion around Westminster, however, appears to be that the Government will not be defeated but will have a margin of safety so small that there is always the possibility of a serious parliamentary "accident."

NO JOBS FOR RELATIVES

TORONTO, Feb. 27 (C.P.) — Hon. William Finlayson, Minister of Lands and Forests, yesterday in the Legislature, warned the members that it was useless of them to ask his department to find positions for relatives or friends in the forestry patrol. It was equally as useless for university students to apply for Summer work. The fire-fighting force gradually was becoming an expert organization of trained and experienced men. He referred to it as the "most scientific and the finest fire fighting organization of its kind in the world."

PREMIER PREDICTS INSURANCE SYSTEM

King Tells Deputation Plan is Only Way to Aid Unemployment.

OTTAWA, Ont., Feb. 27.—(By the Canadian Press).—Eventually Canada will have a system of unemployment insurance, Premier Mackenzie King predicted yesterday in replying to a deputation seeking Federal aid to municipalities and provinces on unemployment relief. This, he said, was the only constructive way to deal with the unemployment situation and he hoped it would soon be possible to work out an insurance plan.

Seasonal measures in the way of relief and public works were of no permanent assistance and an insurance plan offered the only constructive way of avoiding distress. Under it those who expected relief and those who employed them would be compelled to contribute to a fund during their periods of employment and would receive benefits when out of work.

Red Cross Campaign Is Now On

That spirit of service, which endeared Red Cross to the hearts of all Canadians during the war, has been carried into peace.

One outlet is service to overseas men, broken by the war, in the hospitals of this Province. The Red Cross is paying our promised indebtedness to these men by making their lives brighter and happier.

Another outlet is the 22 Red Cross Outpost Hospitals, which are saving lives and bringing security in sickness to some 45,000 pioneering people in Ontario, who would otherwise be without medical help of any kind.

The Red Cross is responsible for assisting over 1,000 crippled children in the past ten years.

These, and other important services, are why the other cities have and are continuing to support this work.

The Red Cross is asking Peterborough, in its first appeal here since the war, to contribute $3,000. Will you help?

Please send subscriptions to the Hon. Treasurer of Campaign, Mr. G. H. Thompson, 437 George St., Peterborough.

COLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

CATTLE, GRAIN, PRODUCE

MONTREAL PRODUCE

Montreal, February 27. — Eggs continued to seek a lower price level on the local markets yesterday with quotations again dropping from 1c to 2c a dozen on the fresher grades. No further price losses are expected. Prices are now quoted at from 36c to 46c a dozen.

A sharp drop in potato prices was one of the features of the local market. New Brunswick Green Mountains were quoted at $1.50 a bag and Quebecs at $1.45 per 90 lbs in bulk, in carlots ex track here.

The local butter market showed little change with prices steady. Light trading took place at from 34½c to 35c, although a few odd lots were offered at 34c lb. Some 900 cases of New Zealand butter were included in yesterday's receipts, and it is understood that the S. S. Herminius left New Zealand to-day with some 25,000 cases of butter consigned for Halifax.

The cheese and dressed poultry markets remained quiet, with steady prices.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, February 27. — Grain trading recovered comparative poise yesterday from recent wild downward plunges in values. Rushes of heavy stop-loss selling gave place to a general upward movement of the wheat market in particular. This movement was decidedly helped by the fact that among brokers the National Wheat Stabilization Corporation's big purchases of future delivery contracts in Chicago yesterday was construed as virtual admission that grain exchanges are the market place of the world, and that major operations in grain must be conducted upon the exchanges.

Chicago closing quotations on wheat were firm, ranging from 1-8c lower to 2c higher, compared with yesterday's finish. Corn closed ½c to 1 3-4c down; oats ¼c to 5-8c off, and provisions, 1½c to 2c up.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG, Feb. 27.—Turning its nose skyward for the first time in several days wheat made a determined attempt yesterday to move out of its price depths. Unsettled throughout, but always above Tuesday's closing quotations, the market swung up to record an advance in the May future of 3c; it closed 2½c to 1¾c higher.

Continuance of reports of low foreign interest had a certain effect on traders, but the trend closely followed Liverpool and Chicago movements. Early advances here were the result the English market's unexpected strength; later the highs were retained because Chicago's 4c advance could not be ignored.

Better export business in cash wheat did not reflect on the market, where trade was light and spreads unchanged, except for No. 6 wheat, which was about a cent better at one stage. Coarse grains showed fractional gains.

Wheat—No. 1 hard, $1.10½; No. 1 Northern, $1.10½; No. 2 Northern, $1.07½; No. 3 Northern, $1.02¾; No. 4, 96c; No. 5, 92c; No. 6, 72c; feed, 59½c; track, $1.11; screenings per ton, $5.

TORONTO PRODUCE

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 27.— The downward rush of egg prices on the local market was halted yesterday, when winter weather, instead of spring-like weather, was the order of the day. The Chicago market also decided to do a little climbing instead of tumbling, and was firmer at 26c for ungraded eggs, which was a cent higher than Tuesday's quotation. Sales made in a "jobby" way on the local market were reported at 37c to 38c for extras, 35c to 36c for firsts, and 33c to 34c for seconds. Ontario eggs were making their appearance on the local market in larger quantities, and there were some American eggs for sale, but dealers did not lower their prices to country shippers, and were quoting 35c to 36c for extras, 33c to 34c for firsts and 29c to 30c for seconds. The price to retailers also remained firm at 44c for extras in cartons, 42c for extras, loose; 40c for firsts, loose, and 37c to 38c for seconds, loose.

Poultry prices were the same as quoted Tuesday, but will probably change to-day.

The local butter market was still draggy yesterday, and general reports showed very little trade. Some sales were made, of course, and prices varied slightly from the previous day. Dealers are quoting 34½c for finest New Zealand and domestic and 34c to 35½c for No. 2 Ontario. There were offers reported of 32c, Halifax, for butter on the S.S. Surrey from New Zealand, which meant laid down in Toronto 33¾c to 34c. Purchases from this ship should arrive in Toronto in about ten days.

The cheese market was very dull, with no change from the past several days. The market was firm, though, and prices remained unchanged.

TO-DAY!

IT is not so easy to be passed for the Army in peace time. Out of every five recruits in 1924, four were rejected as unfit—yet Cyril Colston, who at the age of 5 was in the extreme state of emaciation shown above, passed this severe medical examination, thanks to Virol. "Once a hopeless case," his life was saved by Virol, and his health and strength built up by taking Virol regularly during childhood and adolescence. Read medical evidence below.

VIROL builds up for LIFE

Extract from Doctor's Report, 3rd January, 1925.

". . . I am fully satisfied that Virol was the factor which enabled him as a child, not only to turn the corner successfully in a very serious illness, but, in subsequent years of development (during which he never ceased to take Virol), enabled him to build up a healthy body and gave him reserves of power and energy. His parents describe the result as nothing less than a miracle."

Landscape Gardener Building Nursery

(Examiner Correspondence)

FENELLA, Feb. 27.—Mr. E. Kay, landscape gardener of Toronto, was in the village on Monday morning, on his way to his farm a few miles west of the village. Mr. Kay has purchased what was formerly the Earnest Turk farm and is fast developing it into an up-to-date nursery. He is also a breeder of four varieties of pure bred big grade fancy hogs.

Mr. Kay intends building a modern summer home this coming season.

not live in his house the Switzers were not going to have it. He seized the axe and was breaking the furniture up to build a fire to burn the home, when Mrs. Switzer interrupted him. "He turned and struck her down with the axe," said the lawyer.

Tears ran down the cheeks of Marcham as Mr. Frost, his counsel, told of his love for the little shack which he had built with his own hands in the north woods. "This man from babyhood had wandered without friends and without a roof above his head. He went into Haliburton, changed his name and prepared to make a fresh start. He built a home and it was his dearest, his one possession in all the world. The Switzers, whom he had befriended, tried to take it from him."

Crown Attorney Anderson stated that Marcham knew he had committed wrong, despite his weak mind, when he killed Mrs. Switzer because he immediatedly raced off to Gooderham to give himself up to the police. Also he had told persons whom he met on the road that, "Before thy God I have committed murder. I'm going to give myself up to Dovell."

Justice Kelly explained to the jury that provocation could reduce a homicide from murder to manslaughter. If a man provoked another into a rage and that man killed his provocator before his temper had time to cool, that, he explained, might be considered sufficient to reduce the verdict to manslaughter.

Throughout the two and half days that the case lasted the court room was crowded and the trial of a deed, which had raised the horror of the whole northern district, was followed with the greatest interest. It was considered one of the most dramatic and important trials ever conducted in Lindsay. Its unexpected conclusion robbed it of spectators at the end. All had gone home to supper with the thought that the jury would not return for at least an hour later than they did.

HEALTH INSPECTOR FOR TRENT RIVER

Cottagers Take Action Regarding Prevailing Sanitary Conditions of Trent River.

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 27 (Examiner Staff Correspondent).—An informal meeting of the cottagers of Trent River was held in the Council Chambers Monday evening for the purpose of discussing the sanitary condition of Trent River.

In a detailed discussion that took place it was felt that the prevailing sanitary conditions are not adequate. A uniform type of closet has to be installed, and the old practice of throwing refuse into the river must stop. Co-operation with the residents of Trent River is being sought, and with this in mind, the Reeve has been appointed to consult with them and to report back to the local Board of Health.

A resolution was passed, moved by A. H. McKeel and seconded by A. L. Riendeau, "That we cottagers of Trent River here assembled memorialize the local Board of Health for the Township of Seymour to appoint a local inspector at Trent River. His duty will be to inspect the premises of all residents and cottagers in the vicinity as to the sanitation of all premises and report to the Sanitary Inspector of the local Board of Health, who shall take immediate action to have any unsanitary or improper appliances removed forthwith."

V. Chaplin was appointed inspector.

Those present were: G. A. Hay, A. H. McKeel, S. Johnston, E. C. Dolman, R. A. Linton, S. Neale, A. L. Riendeau, O. C. Watson and Councillor W. J. Duncan.

Annual St. Patrick's Day Entertainment

Local playgoers and patrons of the annual St. Patrick's concert will hail with delight the announcement that the St. Alphonsus Lyceum's Dramatic Club is determined to offer this year a play that will stand comparison with the best of the old-time offerings.

For several weeks the members of the Club have been examining a large number of promising plays that were proposed for production this year, and the ultimate selection, "The Heart of a Shamrock", is thought by the committee to be eminently adapted to the requirements and ability of the members who will take part.

"The Heart of a Shamrock" is a lively Irish comedy-drama in three acts, full of amusing situations, and built along lines that will enable all the members of the cast to appear to good advantages. It has never been seen in this city and will therefore be of much greater interest to the general public, it is thought, than the offering of a play from which time has taken the keen edge of novelty.

Tickets will shortly be distributed throughout the city for sale and the play will be given at the Grand Opera House on Monday night, March 17th.

Mr. Archer assisted the president in the opening exercises. Minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved. This was followed by the roll call. Next came the hymn "There Is a Green Hill Far Away," the guests of the evening Khaki's singing the last verse alone. Sides were then chosen for the competitive games arranged by Rev. Mr. Archer. These games were greatly enjoyed.

This was followed by a vocal solo sung by Miss Barbara Fennell. Miss Isabel gave a reading, "Reverie in Church" which was well received. Miss Aileen Butters gave a piano solo. This was followed by a humorous recitation by Mr. Joseph Falkner. A solo by Miss Bessie Patton brought the program to a close. A delightful lunch was then served by members of the Reds and Blues. CUTTING DOWN THE DEBATE.

The speedy wind-up of the debate on the Address in reply to the Speech from the Throne in the Federal Parliament, which saw the Address adopted after a day and a half of oratory, in which only ten members participated, will be satisfactory to the people of Canada, who are glad to notice the new trend in the carrying on of public business.

The time saved by this quick handling of the preliminary debate can be used to much better advantage later on in the session when matters of importance are to the fore.

There is a heavy program before Parliament, and all parties are to be commended for the common sense showed in dispensing with unnecessary speech-making in the early stages of the session.

Last year the first debate lasted only a day, an even better showing than registered in the present session.

It used to be the custom to devote weeks to the preliminary phases, and for most of the members in the House to put their ideas on every topic under the sun into the pages of Hansard, supposedly for the benefit of the people back home, few of whom, however, had the opportunity or the desire to wade through the columns of oratory to see what their own member had to say.

The new plan is greatly to be preferred and is obviously more businesslike.

POWER FOR THE FARM.

A long step forward in the direction of the greater use of electric power by rural sections of Ontario is represented in the legislation introduced on Monday before the Ontario House, to authorize the payment by the Government of any difference between the maximum rural power rate that is to be created and the actual cost of delivering power to any particular district.

The importance of such a policy can readily be realized, for it means the adoption by the Government of an undertaking that puts the rural power question upon an entirely new footing and goes a long way toward wiping out the difference that has existed between rural and urban power users.

The maximum rate, beyond which no district will be asked to pay, will be lower than the prevailing rates in many rural sections.

Where the cost of delivering power exceeds this rate the difference will be made up out of the consolidated revenue funds of the Province.

At the same time provision is being made for loans up to $1,000 for farmers who desire financial assistance in bringing the blessing of electric power to their farms.

The scheme promises to create entirely different conditions in many districts, and should lead to a rapid development of Hydro's rural power system.

THE COST OF GOVERNMENT.

The Citizens' Research Institute in its study of the cost of government in Canada reports that for the year 1928 Provincial Governments throughout the Dominion continued to show a rapid increase in expenditures.

Fortunately, however, in the majority of Provinces revenues increased sufficiently to take care of the needs.

The jump in expenditures is explained by increased expansion in public welfare functions, such as grants to hospitals, old age pensions, etc., and to the building of highways.

The Institute looks for further increases with the development northward of industry and settlement and the continuation of the highway building program, but points out that in so far as these expenditures are productive and do not add any ultimate burden upon the taxpayer, they are a real stimulus to the progress of the country.

A study of the figures shows that expenditures increased on a per capita basis in every Province but Prince Edward Island, the increases ranging from $4.71 per capita in British Columbia to 43c per capita in Ontario.

At the same time, the per capita revenue increased in every Province save British Columbia, where the decrease was 8c per head of population.

The increases ranged from 39c per capita in Ontario and Nova Scotia to $4.13 in Alberta.

Six of the nine Provinces had a surplus, the exceptions being British Columbia, with a per capita deficit of $5.86; Manitoba, 33c, and Nova Scotia, $1.58 per capita.

TILTING AT WINDMILLS.

The attitude of the Ontario Prohibition Union in deciding to inquire into the Children's Cheerio Club, promoted by a Toronto broadcasting station, with a view to possible action under the law which prohibits manufacturers of alcoholic beverages from advertising in Ontario, throws light upon the difficulty of the Union in getting the bulk of public opinion behind it.

So far as the Cheerio Club is concerned anybody who has listened in to its broadcasts knows that there is absolutely nothing to advertise the sponsors of the hour.

Of the thousands of children who have become members of the club, it is doubtful whether there are a dozen who know that the station from which the program comes is owned by a distillery.

It is a wholesome, bright, worth-while hour that is popular with the children and that has already awakened in them a desire to help others, with the result that hundreds of dollars have been subscribed by the members to brighten the lives of the little sufferers in the Sick Children's Hospital.

The Examiner has no hesitation in saying that the children who have become interested in the Cheerio Club are better and less selfish children as a consequence, and to attempt to stop such a wholly meritorious effort because the station from which it originates is owned by a firm of distillers is to exhibit a spirit of blind narrowness that will be resented by thousands of parents who have no interest in distilleries or their products.

The Prohibition Union should quit tilting at windmills.

EXIT UNCLE TOM'S CABIN.

Some person, looking over the record of shows now playing in this Continent, finds that there is not one company out with "Uncle Tom's Cabin." It is no use arguing the point because the person making the discovery had the records before him. All that remains to be done is to hence a sigh for the good old days.

We don't know how "Uncle Tom's Cabin" used to go over in the big places; perhaps the people there were sophisticated and hard-hearted, but we do know that in the small town it was right up to the best that Guy Brothers minstrels ever did and quite equal to anything that Marks Brothers ever played.

Sometimes it was in the hall; quite often it was in a tent on the market square. We always did have a preference for the tent, because in those times when tents had the faculty of having spaces near the bottom where it was quite easy to get in. But whether in the tent or hall, people used to weep copiously when little Eva up and died right there before them, and there were plenty of the boys around town who were ready to meet Legree outside after the show was over for the way he used that black whip.

Then, too, there was always the parade in the afternoon just before the show and again in the evening, and several boys were needed to help in that parade. Two or three could always get jobs leading those vicious looking bloodhounds, and then a couple more would be taken on to be blacked up so they could stand around the little cabin that the local drayman used to draw around at the head of the parade.

It was a great old play; it lived and throbbed, made people weep and churned them up generally about the hard times of an oppressed people. It was good for them, too. Most of the shows that are about nowadays entertain people; they don't churn them up at all; they don't make a mean old beggar sniffle, nor do they give a sympathetic lady who is just aching for a chance to cry a good chance to do so.

But Uncle Tom's Cabin was different. It was a real show, and every boy who led around an ugly looking bloodhound in the parade was actually doing his bit for the betterment of humanity and the preservation of wholesome drammer.—Stratford Beacon-Herald.

BRITAIN NOT DOWN AND OUT.

While the British Empire was in the throes of a struggle to death for preservation of its principles and ideals with the right to live and evolve in its own fashion, the United States eagerly seized the opportunity to cut into its trade and usurp its position as the centre of world exchange. Time and again it was confidently announced that the monetary sceptre had passed from the failing hands of Great Britain to its younger and wealthier rival. Less of that boastful spirit is shown to-day, but the hope and confidence remains that the burden carried is proving too much for the weary Titan and that naturally the Republic will become the unchallenged inheritor of its position and prestige. Because of the present depressed condition of certain basic industries and the volume of unemployment and labor troubles it has become the vogue south of the border to paint the Empire as fast hastening to decay. Nor can they be blamed as entirely responsible for that belief, for certain British commentators have provided it with plentiful support by expressing their convicton that Britan's fight for life must end in defeat.

On the other hand a quiet but persistent voice can be heard declaring that the situation is not so hopeless as the pessimistic critics represent. For it is difficult to reconcile their opinion with statements such as those contained in a recent statement of the Imperial Economic Union. Its reports show that the British Empire has increased its trade by 20 per cent. since the pre-war period and is now doing almost 30 per cent. of the world's total international business. The foreign trade of the Empire, excluding inter-imperial transactions, is greater than that of either the United States or Continental Europe. Nor can it be argued that this preeminence is due entirely to the great growth of trade in the Dominions, for while the expansion of the commerce of England itself has not altogether kept pace with that of Canada or New Zealand, the volume of whose exports in 1927 was respectively 100 per cent. and 40 per cent. greater than in 1913, it still accounts for by far the major part of Empire commerce.

Also against these figures may be set those which give the percentage of America's share in world trade. Against the British Empire's 30 per cent., as reported by the Imperial Economic Committee, we find that the Federal Department of Commerce credits the United States in 1928 with 15.6 per cent. of the world's imports. And while these figures represent a considerable increase over those of 1913, they are actually lower than those of as distant a period as 1923.

Statistics are often misleading and are apt to create false impressions, if not calculated on the same bases. But plenty of evidence is available that from any point of view the British Empire is still far from down and out. On the contrary it is very much in the race for commercial supremacy with the United States, and so long as it can point to growth in its trade, as it now can, more rapid than that of the rest of the world, its rivals will have a hard time to overtake its present lead.—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

A Thought

THOUGHT

The plant has the power to procreate, spread its seeds to the winds and accomplish wonders through natural instinct. What can we not accomplish by thinking, by realizing and using our own powers?

What To-day Means To You

If February 27th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10:45 a.m. to noon, from 5 p.m. to 6 p.m. to and from 10 p.m. to 11 p.m. The danger periods are from 6 a.m. to 8 a.m. and from 2 p.m. to 3 p.m.

The influence of Neptune will be felt on this date, and a great deal of uncertainty hovers over the outcome of material affairs. Your pride may suffer a fall, but an awakening may broaden and sweeten your outlook. Experience may be an excellent, but severe teacher.

The child born on this February 27th will have a most practical nature, and will be lacking in both a sense of humor and in imagination. It will have an iron will which will carry it over most of its difficulties. Force and not tact will be its weapon.

Every ounce and every atom of your being throbs with vital energy; while you are alive, you make a struggle to keep alive. An active and an adventurous existence is your choice. You are not afraid of failures, but you are afraid of falling into a rut or of being bored by conditions or surroundings. You are more anxious for knowledge than for fame or wealth, not the knowledge learned from books, but the education gained from travel and adventure. Your interests are extremely varied, and you will never tie yourself up to either a place or thing. You have decided likes and dislikes, but are not easily prejudiced. You can find "cronies" in people from all classe of life. You have a heterogeneous bunch of friends, all of whom are loyal admirers of you.

You started life on the sunny side of the road, and you have a gay courage which will hold you there. You will meet with both good luck and bad luck, but circumstances will never rob you of your cheery and optimistic nature. Life will test you, disappoint you and please you, but it will never beat you. You speak out, work hard, laugh and fear nothing.

Tweed

(Examiner orrespondence)

TWEED, Feb. 26.—I. O. O. F. No. 293 and Crescent Rebekah Lodge No. 139 held a very enjoyable social evening recently when seventeen tables of progressive euchre were played.

Competition for the prizes was keen and resulted as follows: Ladies prize, a box of writing paper, won by Irvine Bateman playing as a lady with consolation award going to Mrs. Ish; gent's prize, a bowl of Hardley's shaving soap, won by Stanley Webb and the consolation prize went to James Brown.

The ladies served a dainty lunch after which dancing was indulged in for a time.

THE GREENE MURDER CASE

By S. S. VAN DINE

CHAPTER 15.

The inquiry was pushed according to the best traditions of the police department. Captain Carl Hagedorn, the firearms expert, made a minute scientific examination of the bullets. The same revolver, he found, had fired all three shots: the peculiar rifling told him this; and he was able to state that the revolver was of a style whose manufacture had been discontinued.

"But, while these findings offered substantiation to the theory that Chester Greene's missing gun was the one used by the murderer, they added nothing to the facts already established or suspected. Deputy Inspector Conrad Brenner, the burglar tools expert, had conducted an exhaustive examination of the scene for evidential signs of a forced entrance, but had found no traces whatever of a housebreaker.

Dubois and his assistant Bellamy—the two leading finger-print authorities of the New York police department—went so far as to take finger prints of every member of the Greene household, including Doctor Von Blon; and these were compared with the impressions found in the hallways and in the rooms where the shootings had occurred. But when this tedious process was over, not an unidentified print remained; and all those that had been found and photographed were logically accounted for.

Chester Greene's goloshes were taken to headquarters and turned over to Captain Jerym, who carefully compared them with the measurements and the patterns made by Snitkin. No new facte oncerning them, however, was discovered. The tracks in the snow, Captain Jerym reported, had been made either by the goloshes given him or by another pair of the exact size and last. Beyond this statement he could not, he said, conscientiously go.

It was established that no one in the Greene mansion, with the exception of Chester and Rex, owned goloshes; and Rex's were number seven-three sizes smaller than those ound in Chester's clothes closet. Sproot used only storm rubbers, size eight; and Doctor Von Blon, who affected gaiters in winter, always wore rubber sandals during stormy weather.

The search for the missing revolver occupied several days. Heath turned the task over to men trained especially in this branch of work, and supplied them with a search warrant in case they should meet with any opposition.

But no obstacle was put in their way. The house was systematically ransacked from basement to attic. Even Mrs. Greene's quarters were subjected to a search. The old lady had at first objected, but finally gave her consent, and even seemed a bit disappointed when the men had finished.

The only room that was not gone over was Tobias Greene's library. Owing to the fact that Mrs. Greene had never let the key go out of her possession, and had permitted no one to enter the room since her husband's death. Heath decided not to force the issue when she refused pointblank to deliver the key. Every other nook and corner of the house, however, was combed by the sergeant's men. But no sign of the revolver rewarded their efforts.

The autopsies revealed nothing at variance with Doctor Doremus' preliminary findup. Julia and Chester had each died instantaneously from the effects of a bullet entering the heart, shot from a revolver held at close range. No other possible cause of death was present in either body; and there were no indications of a struggle.

No unknown or suspicious person had been seen near the Greene mansion on the night of either murder, although several people were foundwho had been in the neighborhood at the time; and a bootmaker, who liqedon the second floor of the Nardoss Flats in 53d street, opposite the house, stated that he had been sitting at his window, smoking his bedtime pipe, during the time of both shootings, and could swear that no one had passed down that end of the street.

However, the guard which had been placed over the Greene mansion was not relaxed. Men were on duty day and night at both entrances to the estate, and every one entering or leaving the premises was closely scrutinized. So close a watch was kept that strange tradesmen found it inconvenient and at times difficult to make ordinary deliveries.

The reports that were turned in concerning the servants were unsatisfactory from the standpoint of detail; but from all the facts unearthed tended to eliminate each subject from any possible connection with the crimes. Barton, the younger maid, who had quitted the Greene establishment the morning after the second tragedy, proved to be the daughter of respectable working people living in Jersey City. Her record was good, and her companions all appeared to be harmless members of her own class.

Hemming, it turned out, was a widow who, up to the time of her employment with the Greenes, had kept house for her husband, an iron-worker, in Altoona, Pa. She was remembered even there among her former neighbors as a religious fanatic who had led her husband sternly and exultantly in the narrow path of enforced rectitude. When he was killed by a furnace explosion, she declared it was the hand of God striking him down for some secret sin.

The summer gardener of the Greenes—a middle-aged Pole named Krimski—was discovered in a private saloon in Harlem, well under the benumbing influence of synthetic whiskey—a state of beatific lassitude he had maintained, with greater or lesser steadfastness, since the end of summer. He was at once eliminated from police consideration.

The investigation into the habits and associates of Mrs. Mannheim and Sproot brought nothing whatever to light. Indeed, the habits of these two were exemplary, and their contact with the outside world so meager as to be regarded almost as non-existent.

Sproot had no visible friends, and his acquaintances were imited to an English valet in Park Avenue and the tradespeople of the neighborhood. He was solitary by nature, and what few recreations he permitted himself were indulged in unaccompanied. Mrs. Mannheim had rarely left the premises of the Greene house since she had taken up her duties there at the time of her husband's death, and apparently knew no one in New York outside of the household.

These reports dashed whatever hopes Sergeant Heath may have harbored of finding a solution to the Greene mystery by way of a possible accomplice in the house itself.

"I guess we'll have to give up the idea of an inside job," he lamented one morning in Markham's office a few days after the shooting of Chester Greene.

Vance, who was present, eyed him lazily.

"I shouldn't say that, don't y' know Sergeant. On the contr'ry it was indubitably an inside job, though not just the variety you have in mind."

"You mean you think some member of the family did it?"

"Well—perhaps: something rather along that line." Vance drew on his cigarette thoughtfully. "But that's not exactly what I meant. It's a situation, a set of conditions—an atmosphere, let us say—that's guilty. A subtle and deadly poison is responsible for the crimes. And that poison is generated in the Greene mansion."

"A swell time I'd have trying to arrest an atmosphere—or a poison either, for the matter of that," snorted Heath.

"Oh, there's a flesh-and-blood victim awaiting your manacles somewhere, sergeant—the agent, so to speak of the atmosphere."

Markham, who had been conning the various reports of the case, sighed heavily, and settled back in his chair.

"Really I wish to heaven," he interposed bitterly, "that he'd give us some hint as to his identity. The papers are at it hammer and tongs. There's been another delegation of reporters here this morning."

The fact was that rarely had there been in New York's journalistic history, a case which had so tenaciously seized upon the public imagination. The shooting of Julia and Ada Greene had been sensationally but perfunctorily; but after Chester Greene's murder an entirely different spirit animated the newspaper stories.

Here was something romantically sinister—something which brought back forgotten pages of criminal history. Columns were devoted to accounts of the Greene family history. Genealogical archives were delved into for remote tidbits. Old Tobias Greene's record was raked over, and stories of his early life became the common property of the man in the street. Pictures of all the members of the Greene family accompanied these spectacular tales; and the Greene mansion itself, photographed from every possible angle, was used regularly to illustrate the flamboyant accounts of the crimes so recently perpetrated there.

The story of the Greene murders spread over the entire country, and even the press of Europe found space for it. The tragedy, taken in connection with the social prominence of the family and the romantic history of its progenitors, appealed irresistibly to the morbidity and the snobbery of the public.

It was natural that the police and the District Attorney's office should be hounded by the representatives of the press; and it was also natural that both Heath and Markham should be sorely troubled by the fact that all their efforts to lay hands on the criminal had come to naught. Several conferences had been called in Markham's office, at each of which the ground had been carefully reploughed; but not one helpful suggestion had been turned up. Two weeks after the murder of Chester Greene the case began to take on the aspect of a stalemate.

During that fortnight, however, Vance had not been idle. The situation had caught and held his interest, and not once had he dismissed it from his mind since that first morning when Chester Greene had applied to Markham for help. He said little about the case, but he had attended each of the conferences; and by his casual comments I knew he was both fascinated and perplexed by the problem it presented.

So convinced was he that the Greene mansion itself held the secret to the crimes enacted there that he had made it a point to call at the house several times without Markham.

Markham, in fact, had been there but once since the second crime. It was not that he was skirking his task. There was, in reality, little for him to do; and the routine duties of his office were particularly heavy at that time.

Sibella had insisted that the funerals of Julia and Chester be combined in one service, which, was held in the private chapel of Nalcomb's Undertaking Parlors. Only a few intimate acquaintances were notified (though a curious crowd gathered outside the building, attracted by the sensational associations of the obsequies); and the interment at Woodlawn Cemetery was strictly private.

Dr. Von Blon accompanied Sibella and Rex to the chapel, and sat with them during the services. Ada, though improving rapidly, was still confined to the house; and Mrs. Greene's paralysis of course made her attendance impossible, although I doubt if she would have gone in any case, for when the suggestion was made that the service be held at home she had vetoed it emphatically.

Uncommon Sense

By John Blake

By John Blake

DON'T BOTHER ABOUT TRADITIONS

Traditions belong to yesterday.

It is no doubt fine to belong to an old and prosperous family.

Pride is human, and pride of relationship does no harm, and sometimes spurs one to extra effort.

But if you read history you know that it is the person who thinks about tomorrow and not yesterday, who thinks what he can do and not what his ancestors have done, who is given the most space by the historian.

I have seen something of youths who lived on the wealth and reputations of their fathers or grandfathers or even great-grandfathers.

Few of them have amounted to very much, for all were under a handicap, bound down by the past, when they should have been thinking about the future.

• • •

The traditions of a nation are great and fine, but they are often forgotten, and forgetting them does not always result in any serious damage.

We would be a conceited generation if we thought we could establish rules of conduct and behavior which would be the best rules for our descendants fifty or five hundred years from now to follow.

Anyone who is at all conscious of what is going on knows that change demands consideration.

We are not like our ancestors; we do not think like them; we do not live like them.

We will do well to adopt their virtues, but we must first be sure that it is their virtues and not their faults that we are adopting.

It is partly true as the poet sings that:

"Lives of great men all remind us
We can make our lives sublime
And, departing, leave behind us
Footprints on the sands of time."

But it is the actions of great men, not their traditions that we must follow.

We can take from the past all its beauty, all its heroism, all its culture, and still our present will not be complete, for we are living in new surroundings, with new problems to face and solve, and with a far different race of people about us than there were in the brave days of old.

• • •

When people talk of traditions they too often mean traditions of thought and action, based on a far less complete knowledge of the facts of life than we possess today.

I have known little immigrant boys, without any traditions at all, to become great and useful citizens, far greater than many native born people who had plenty of greatness among their ancestry.

If these boys had said, 'Why should I try to be important—I have no traditions?' the world would have been worse off.

It does no harm to respect traditions, but to cling to them without even understanding them is merely silly.

Brisk Advances On Chicago Grain Mart

CHICAGO, Ill., Feb. 27.—Indications that the wheat stabilization corporation was again purchasing future delivery contracts had much to do with brisk new advances in wheat prices early to-day. Traders flocked to the buying side of the market, and were given further encouragement through higher quotations at Live pool and as a result of confirmation of previous large future delivery purchases on the partly government sponsored agencies. Opening 7-8c to 1 1-8c up, Chicago wheat futures scored material further gain, and then fluctuated rapidly. Corn, oats and provisions were also firmer, with corn starting unchanged to ½c higher and subsequently rising all round.

Steady Trend Prevails On Winnipeg Market

WINNIPEG, Man., Feb. 27. (C.P.)—Firmness prevailed on the wheat market here to-day, due mostly to the strength displayed at Chicago. Wheat opened unchanged to one cent above yesterday's close and continued upward until at eleven o'clock May was up 1⅛c; July was 2 1-8c higher at $1.17 7-8 and October showed an advance of 1⅜c at $1.18 7-8.

The strength at Chicago was said to be the result of purchases in wheat futures by the farm board operators.

Trading locally was inactive. Exporters reported several full cargoes of wheat shipped to the United Kingdom and continent and one cargo to Greece.

Advances of ½c to 1¼c occurred in the coarse grains.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE.

NEW YORK, N.Y., Feb. 27. (C.P.)—Foreign exchange steady; demand rates (Great Britain in dollars; others in cents). Great Britain 4.85 11-16; Canadian dollar 17-32 od one per cent discount.

FIRM ADVANCES REGISTERED ON STANDARD MINE MARKET

Noranda Strengthens Considerably Following Announcement of Gold Find.

HOLLINGER DROPS.

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 27. (C.P.)—Under the leadership of Noranda mines, the mining market did an about face during the early session to-day, the majority of popular issues responding to improved feeling with substantial advances which were apparently being well maintained at noon.

It would seem that activity is not to be desired just at present for trading was relatively dull throughout the period. The sensitivity of the list is shown in the prompt response given to any concerted buying effort, no matter how important this would have been under ordinary conditions.

Following official announcement of a promising gold find encountered in drilling on the 825 level, Noranda strengthened yesterday but did not actually get, under way until to-day, when a high of $42 was touched. The stock stood at $41.60 for a gain of $2.36 at noon. International Nickel was also in demand and sold up $1.50 to $39.

The Lindsleys caused early excitement with sharp advances which were later pared down by profit-taking. Falconbridge, however, was up a quarter to $4.25 at noon. Sudbury Basin 10 to $3.05, Ventures 20 to $1.89 and Sherritt Gordon 5.

Hollinger exhibited about the only independent action, receding a quarter to $5.50. Teck Hughes gained 25 to $6.05, Howey 2, Vipond 3 and Wright-Hargreaves a point. Pend Oreille was slightly easier at $2.65 but big Missouri was up 2 to 57.

Amulet displayed the outstanding gains in the general list, selling up 12 to $1.50. Abana and Mining Corp., advanced 5 each to $1.10 and 2.90, respectively, and Bwana moved up a half to $5.50. The oils were strong, Home Oil gaining 40 to $8, Associated and Ajax 5 each, East Crest and Dalhousie a point.

NEW YORK LIST RALLIES BRISKLY

Market Strengthens in Response to Further Recovery in Wheat Prices.

TRADING SPREADS.

By Stanley W. Prenosil (Associated Press Financial Editor.)

NEW YORK, N.Y., Feb. 27.—Stock prices rallied sharply again to-day in response to a further recovery in wheat prices and a lowering of the call money rate from 4½ to 4 per cent. More than a score of issues, including several amusement, dairy, business machine, public utility and motor accessory shares, moved into new high ground for the year. Gains of 1 to 3 points were distributed over a fairly broad list, with a sprinkling of issues marked up 4 to 7 points.

Prices headed upward from the opening of the market, the rally gathering momentum as trading progressed. Several of the speculative favorites were taken in blocks of 1,000 to 10,000 shares by pools but the public was still rather slow in coming back.

NORANDA ACTIVITY FEATURES SESSION

Few Bright Spots Noticed in To-day's Trading on Toronto Exchange.

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 27. (C.P.)—Dull and uninteresting, except for a movement in the two principal mining issues, Nickel and Noranda, the market on Toronto Stock Exchange this morning showed a narrow list of stocks called for trading and an extreme limited price range. The fact that there was little offering of stocks was encouraging in a rather negative sort of way while the improvement in the wheat market undoubtedly relieved some of the uneasiness which has been apparent regarding all market operations lately.

Both Nickel and Noranda started right up from the opening, Noranda advanced two points and Nickel 1½ points to its highest for the morning around the noon-hour. Sales in both stocks were the heaviest in some time.

Oils did little one way or the other. B. A. Oil, old and new, eased a trifle from last night's final while Imperial and International Petroleum were firm.

Massey-Harris found supplrt around the 35 mark and steels and liquor stocks were selling unchanged.

F. N. Burt came out at 52 on a sale of 10 shares, later grading downward until at noon it was selling off 2 points at 50.

LIQUOR IN C.N.R. TRAIN.

Seized By U. S. Customs Officers at Border.

SARNIA, Ont., February 27 (Special to The Examiner). — United States customs officials, under Chief Inspector McNulty, were to-day investigating the dining car attached to Canadian National train 17, placed under seizure yesterday at noon when it crossed from Sarnia through the St. Clair Tunnel. The officers found a large quantity of liquor in hidden compartments in the car, and placed John Cook, 30, Toronto, and L. W. Potter, 41, Brighton, Ont., under arrest. The train is a fast passenger and express train operating between Montreal and Chicago.

Bell Telephone Company To Increase Capital

MONTREAL, Que., Feb. 27.—The capitalization of the Bell Telephone Company of Canada will be increased to 1,500,000 shares of a par value of $100 each, with the formal approval given to-day by the shareholders at two annual and special general meeting held here. A by-law was also passed authorizing the board to issue additional bonds to the amount of $50,000,000.

RADIO DEALERS ARE ORGANIZED

Robt. Haddow is President of Retailers' Association—To Correct Trade Abuses.

CHANGE TRIAL PLAN.

In an endeavor to cope with abuses that have developed in their business, local radio dealers have organized the Peterborough Radio Retailers' Association, with the following officers:—President, Robert Haddow; vice-president, J. W. Watson; secretary, J. Dishart.

Most of the radio dealers in the city have joined the association. They have found from their experience that the practice of putting radios in homes on trial has many unsatisfactory features. Valuable sets become damaged, and some persons try out set after set with little or no intention of purchasing one. It is understood that the home demonstration plan will eventually be discontinued. Radios can be satisfactorily demonstrated in the dealer's store, and by that plan purchasers can be assured of receiving a brand new set, with tubes and all accessories in first class condition. It has already been decided to make a charge of five dollars to anyone desiring to try out a set at home.

This is a recent portrait of Lady Doria Pelham-Clinton-Hope, the Duke of Newcastle's 22-year-old daughter, who has become the bride of Frederick Childe, son of a former Indian army officer. A year or so ago Lady Doria worked behind the counter of a New York department store to study new world conditions. Her father, who is one of England's wealthy men, visited Canada in 1928.

J. MORROW WINS ORATORICAL TEST

Second Prize Taken By Maurice Wearing at Alexandra School Gathering.

LARGE AUDIENCE.

An oratorical contest held in the Queen Alexandra School last evening attracted an unusually large audience. The Kindergarten Room, gay with Valentine decorations, was filled with admiring parents and friends of the pupils taking part in the fine program prepared by the teachers of the school. The artistic programs, done in water colors, were made by the pupils, under the supervision of Miss E. Eagleson.

The contest, which has become an annual event, and which creates great interest among the pupils, was the main feature of the evening.

The speakers were Maurice Wearing speaking on "Thomas Edison," George Walton on "The British Empire," Donald Ross on "John Bunyan," and James Morrow on "Wires Under the Sea."

All the youthful speakers did exceedingly well. The judges were Mrs. W. R. Morris, G. T. Mattice, principal of Prince of Wales School, and R. C. Flitton. The first prize was awarded to James Morrow and second prize to Maurice Wearing.

HUNTS LIMITED IS EXPANDING

Candy Company is Opening New Branch Stores in Montreal.

FINANCIAL GOSSIP.

TORONTO, Feb. 27. (C.P.)—On the occasion of the last dividend declaration on the shares of Canada Brewing Corporation directors warned shareholders that it was possible the board would decide on a cut in the rate for the future and it is now understood that payments for 1930 will be made on the basis of $1 against $2 in 1929. Unofficially it is said sales showed an increase in 1929 over 1928 and the dividend of $2 paid was almost earned on the 118,000 shares outstanding. This company has concentrated on export business and in the past year export sales only furnished 5% of the total. When the prices for Canadian stocks were carried to new high levels for all time in the bull market officials of some Canadian corporations publicly stated that they believed the price for their securities was too high and did not represent actual values. Now that values are deflated the writer asked two or three officials if they did not consider the present level too low but most were non-committal. Speaking of the time when the shares of his company were selling almost 100%, above to-day one director stated the board was not concerned at that time with the market as other stocks were selling sky high and all in the same boat. To-day the security has come down with the rest and presents a closer relationship to market value and earnings. Another official would not express an opinion other than to point out the shares of his company were selling to return a higher income than the securities of companies in the same line of business who were not as well off financially and who did not have the excellent prospects for the future that his concern had.

Plant at Montreal.

President H. W. Hunt of Hunt's Limited, announces that his company intends entering Montreal and at present officials are looking for suitable locations for the opening of new stores in that city. By the end of 1930 Hunts, Limited, hope to be well established in the eastern metropolis. This is a new departure for the company as heretofore operations had been confined to Ontario where 28 candy shops and tea rooms are in operation in Toronto, Hamilton and Ottawa. Since inception the organization has grown rapidly and the financial statement which appeared in these columns Tuesday indicated a net growth in profit for the year of 47%.

Resumes Dividends.

Dividends passed in the final months of 1929 by the Canadian General Investment Trust have been resumed by the declaration of three temporary payments of $1 each, to be made March 15, May, 1, and August 1. It is stated that those not necessarily mean quarterly dividends of $1 in the future the auditors are at work on the financial statement for the fiscal year and this will be presented to shareholders at the annual meeting to be held next month along with a proposal for a reorganization of the outstanding capital. In announcing the passing of the dividend officials intimated that a reduction from the 6% rate paid to the final quarter of 1929 might be necessary and the annual rate of dividend on the new shares will not be decided until stockholders have given approval to the reorganization.

Whey May Be Benefit In Treatment of Rickets

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J.—Dean Ernest Little announced to-day that the whey of milk may be of great benefit in the treatment of rickets and possibly of tuberculosis, according to results of experiments conducted at the research laboratories of Rutger's University College of Pharmacy, located in Newark. Dr. Lloyd K. Riggs, director of reasearch, has found that the addition of a few milligrams of whey powder to the diet of rats suffering from rickets results in a cure from seven to ten days, Den Little said.

ACCIDENT SURVEY MADE.

LINCOLN, Neb. (U.P.)—While representing but a small percentage of the total accident toll in Nebraska, it is estimated grade crossing crashes cost the state a total of nearly $500,000 annually, the State rehabilitation department states. During the past 35 weeks, over which period a survey has been made, there have been an average of two motor vehicle accidents per week at railway crossings in the state.

CENTENARIAN BECOMES RADIO FAN

At the age of 102, Miss Anderson of Sutton West, is a proud radio owner. The set was purchased from Mr. F. Culverwell who probably now holds the record for having sold a radio to the oldest person in Canada.

Miss Anderson is still remarkably active. She has been deaf for many years past, but in spite of her affliction she has no difficulty in hearing the music and speeches over her Kolster. She is naturally delighted with this new source of pleasure and interest. One thing puzzles her — "How," she enquires, "does the music get from Toronto into my house?" The above picture reproduced from a snap taken recently shows Miss Anderson busy with needlework as she listens to the Kolster. Imagine her delight when during a program of old-time songs she again lives the past, to the strains of "Daisy, Daisy, Give Me Your Answer Do!" and "When You and I Were Young, Maggie."

REGENT THEATRE HAS SMALL FIRE

Crowd Files Out Quietly Without Knowing Nature of "Accident."

SHOW AS USUAL TO-NIGHT.

The calm even tones of the ushers requesting the audience to leave the building in an orderly manner as there had been a slight accident in the projection room which would make it impossible to proceed with the programme, and that tickets or money would be refunded, rang through the Regent Theatre towards the conclusion of the first performance last evening and met with a wonderful response on the part of the large gathering of people who rapidly filed out to the street without being aware of the exact nature of the "accident."

Fire in the projection room which destroyed a small reel of film, was the cause of emptying the theatre. From some cause unknown the outbreak occurred in a reel of film which was on the auxiliary machine and sumultaneously with the burst of flame the automatic metal screen dropped over the aperture in the projection room, completely shutting the fire off from the auditorium.

The safety shutter is so constructed that a certain temperature will cause a fusible link to melt and the shutter to close automatically. Meanwhile the staff were emptying the contents of chemical extinguishers on the blaze with such good effect that it was not found even necessary to enlist the aid of the Fire Department.

Rest Of Story Destroyed

In conversation with the management of the theatre, The Examiner learned that the fire did not at any time constitute a menace to the public safety and that the performance could have been proceeded with but for the fact that the rest of the "story" had been consumed in the flames.

"The Regent Theatre is said to be equipped with all the latest fire prevention devices and is on a par in this respect with the finest theatres in the Province. The management was in telephone communication with Mr. Buckley, Chief Theatre Inspector of Toronto, added Mr. Miller, who has given us permission to carry on as usual to-night, which he added, goes to prove that he does not consider the incident was occasioned by carelessness on the part of the operator."

Fire Chief Gimblett who was on the scene almost immediately took in the situation at a glance and did not consider it necessary to call upon his staff. He said, "it was highly commendable the way in which the management of the theatre handled the situation."

YACHT WINS DUEL WITH GIANT FISH

R. S. McLaughlin Tells Vivid Tale of Crash While on Fishing Tour.

SHOOK WHOLE VESSEL.

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 27 (C.P.) — A special to The Toronto Star from Miami to-day says:

Rising from the ocean near Bimini a marine monster was worsted in a duel with the 90-ton yacht, Shadow K., only after having jolted the large craft so hard that the chief engineer thought that ground had been struck, it was reported Monday upon the return of the yacht from a cruise in Bahaman waters with a party of Canadians aboard.

The yacht, owned by Carl G. Fisher of Miami Beach, but chartered by R. S. McLaughlin, President of the Canadian division of General Motors, was undamaged by the jolt of the Behomoth. Mr. McLaughlin and all members of his party of ten were shaken up, however. The Shadow K left Miami Beach about a fortnight ago on a fishing and pleasure cruise to the Bahamas. Capt. Hughes, commander of the Shadow K. estimated the weight of the fish was between eight and ten tons. It is believed to have been a Rhinodontycus, such as was captured by Captain Charley Thompson near Miami several years ago.

Mr. McLaughlin was standing in the bow and witnessed the crash between the fish and the boat. He gave the following account of the incident Monday.

Water Agitated

"I noticed a great agitation in the water a short distance away. Thinking we might get some good fishing there I asked the wheelsman to head for the spot. We did so, and were in the midst of a large shoal of tuna fish that apparently were disturbed. Just them I noticed a huge shape looming up in the boat's path. We were cruising about fifteen miles per hour and the crash was inevitable. The big brute kept on coming and we did, too. We struck it amout two feet back of the head, the impact jarring the whole ship. The boat seemed to quiver, hang a moment, and then go on.

"The big fish seemed to turn over under the boat, but we felt it no more, neither did we see it. The head of the brute was about five feet across. The fish was of a greenish color and was covered with dark brown spots. I though it was about fifteen feet long, but can't recall just how long it looked."

Two members of the crew who were with Mr. McLaughlin at the time said the fish was 30 or 35 feet long.

The Shadow K. is a 150-foot yacht which could strike a shark and never feel the blow.

Of Course . . .

you can serve it hot

Most people want a hot breakfast dish for a cold day. Shredded Wheat is deliciously warming when eaten with hot milk. Crisp the biscuits in the oven and pour hot milk over them. The flavory shreds retain enough crispness to encourage thorough chewing—that's one reason it's so good for children. Delicious for any meal with fresh or stewed fruits.

England's leader in beauty culture

Mme. BERTHA JACOBSON

warns "against the harsh effects of soaps not made exclusively of olive and palm oils"

"By using Palmolive," says Mme. Jacobson, "you can always be sure that your skin will retain its natural freshness of beauty"

"Other soaps may irritate the skin; may cause coarse pores and an unpleasant feeling of roughness. Palmolive, on the other hand, leaves the skin delightfully smooth. It is refreshing, pure, safe. Your skin needs its gentle lather, for true cleanliness, twice daily."

Bertha Jacobson

11/12 Dover Street, London, W. 1

"WHEN women come to me for advice on the care of the skin," says Madame Bertha Jacobson, of London, "I always impress on them the need for soap and water, as cleanliness of the skin is the first step to beauty."

"But," Madame Jacobson goes on to say, "I warn against the harsh effects of soaps not made exclusively of olive and palm oils."

The delicate lather of Palmolive is the chosen method for keeping skin free of those blemishes which threaten skin beauty . . . the preferred method of more than 18,900 world-famous experts.

Madame Jacobson, of Mayfair

Both as teacher and beauty specialist, Madame Jacobson is deferred to by members of her profession, many of whom have studied the essentials of beauty culture under her tutelage. And among London's smartest society women, her superiority as a beauty specialist is unquestioned.

When Madame Jacobson urges the daily use of Palmolive that recommendation carries the weight of authority. Here is her advice:

This treatment, night and morning

Make a creamy lather of Palmolive Soap and warm water. With both hands massage this well into the skin two minutes, allowing it to penetrate the pores. Then rinse, first with warm water, gradually with colder. A final rinse with ice water is refreshing as an astringent.

To get the full benefit of salon treatments, you should co-operate with your beauty specialist by using Palmolive Soap twice a day. By beginning tomorrow you will hasten the return of natural loveliness. And since Palmolive costs so little, why not enjoy it for the bath as well as the face? Millions already do, in 48 countries the world over.

A vast professional group of 18,900 beauty shops advise the daily use of one soap—and only one—Palmolive.

Millbrook

MILLBROOK, Feb. 27. (Examiner Correspondence).—The usual standard of excellence in the quality of the animals entered in the various classes was well maintained at the eighteenth annual Winter Horse Show held on King street, Millbrook, on Tuesday, February 25, beginning at 1 p.m. the event being under the auspices of the Agricultural Society.

In spite of the unfavorable state of roads and weather the attendance was surprisingly large, and though the number of out of town exhibitors was less than in former years, interest was well sustained until the judging was completed and every class in which prizes were offered had a fair quota of competitors. The judge was W. McAdoo, of Kingston, and his decisions, apparently gave general satisfaction.

Class I: Carriage Horses
(a) Single Horse in harness—1, Donald Tinney.

Class II: Roadster Horses
(a) Single horse in harness, under 15-2—1, G. Wood.
(b) Single horse in harness, 15-2 and over—1, W. H. Lindsay; 2, S. Johnston; 3, Milton Fallis.
(c) Pair horses in harness—1, J. W. Boyd, Orono.

Class III: Gentlemen's Turnout
1, D. Tinney; 2, W. H. Lindsay; 3, G. Wood.

Class IV: Pacer's Special
1, boyd; 2, L. Staples (Bethany); 3, Boyd.

Class V: Percherons
Pair horses in harness—1, R. McCamus; 2, Austin Sutton.

Class VI General Purpose Horses
Pair horses in harness—1, W. J. Francey; 2, C. Wilson (Port Hope); 3, Boyd.

Class VII: Agricultural
(a) Pair horses in harness—1, W. H. Armstrong; 2, Boyd.
(b) Brood mare—1, James Whittington; 2, Armstrong; 3, Boyd.

Class VIII: Heavy Draught
(a) Pair horses in harness—1, Whittington; 2, Fred Lowery.
(b) Brood mare—1, Whittington; 2, Milton Fallis; 3, H. A. Fallis.

Class IX: Sweepstakes
Best agricultural mare or gelding, any age—James Whittington.

Class X: Sweepstakes
Best heavy draught mare or gelding, any age—F. Lowery.

Prizes in the case of single horses were graded $5, $4, and $2, and for the pair in harness $7, $5, and $3; in the sweepstakes the prize was $3 in each case. The rules governing entries included:

1. All animals must be bonafide property of exhibitors.
2. No animal to be shown in more than one class, but may be entered in more than one section of its class.
3. All exhibitors to be members of the Millbrook Agricultural Society.
4. All entries to be made to the secretary of the Agricultural Society, J. N. McGill, before 12 o'clock of Feb. 25.
5. No entrance fee charged.
6. All horses to be exhibited on King street, Millbrook.

A feature that added interest for the spectators, between the competitions in the several classes, was the team of goats driven by Gerald Larmer, the small boys, oblivious of slush and rain, following the young driver enthusiastically as he went at a fairly brisk pace up and down the street.

The Cavan Dramatic Club presented the play, "Cranberry Corners" to an appreciative audience in the Town Hall in the evening, finishing off the day's program in a way that evidently won popular approval.

The Women's League of Grace Presbyterian church, served afternoon tea, and at a later hour, a hot bean supper, in the store belonging to Dr. Ellis, receiving a ready patronage throughout the afternoon and early evening. The cold and wet, which was very trying for those standing round out of doors, apparently made the cup of hot and fragrant beverage and the substantial meal served at the regular tea hour, items of general approval judging by the number who took advantage of the service offered. Mrs. C. Thorndyke is president of the League, and Mrs. T. H. Ingram secretary.

PROVINCES HAVE NOT MADE LABOR APPEAL, PREMIER SAYS

Hon. Mr. King Emphasizes Defect in Petition of Some Cities.

UNEMPLOYMENT AID

OTTAWA, Feb. 27. (C.P.)—While efforts had apparently been made by Mayor Webb of Winnipeg, pursuant to the decisions of the recent conference on unemployment in the Manitoba capital, to secure representation from all parts of the country on the delegation which yesterday presented the case for unemployment relief, it was significant that only the large cities of Western Canada were represented. This was a conclusion drawn by Premier MacKenzie King, from a hearing of the problem when municipal authorities from Port Arthur, Fort William, Winnipeg, Brandon, Regina, Saskatoon, Edmonton, Calgary and Vancouver waited on the government. He had been trying to form a correct picture of the unemployment situation in Canada, said Mr. Mackenzie King as a result of what had been said by the various delegates. It was important that a true perspective of the problem should be obtained.

The Proper Course

The Prime Minister continued that the natural and proper course to have pursued was to approach the Provincial Governments first. Yet it did not appear that any representations had been made to them, and where such representations had been made, the provinces either took no action, or very little. No member of the delegation had been able to inform the government how much the municipalities or the provinces had been paying for unemployment relief. The figure of $50,000, as a possible expenditure had been mentioned for Manitoba.

Premier King informed the delegation that he thought the Federal government had the right to expect that the heads of the Provincial governments, or provincial cabinet ministers, would make representations of the character presented. There was no minister of a provincial government present, even though the dominion had stated that it was prepared to assist if the provinces found themselves unable to cope with the situation.

Premier's Question

The delegation, continued Mr. King, appeared to assume that it was the duty of the Dominion to assume one-third of the cost of municipal undertakings entered upon to give employment were the municipalities prepared to assist the dominion in respect to the large expenditures which the Federal government was making, in its own sphere of activities for the same purpose?

The solution of the unemployment problem was a matter of co-operation, but each of the parties, the municipality, the province and the dominion must assume its own responsibilities. The Dominion was not trying to delegate any of its responsibilities.

4 GIRLS VANISH POLICE CALLED IN Fear Rises as Quartette Fail to Show Up For School Play.

PARENTS NOTIFIED.

MERRIMAC, Mass., Feb. 27.—Aid of a detective agency as well as the State and local police was invoked yesterday to solve the disappearance of four girls who were reported missing from the Whittier school here, a private academy for girls. The disappearance was reported by William Russell, the superintendent.

The girls, according to Police Chief James P. Donahue of Merrimac, are Helen Holbrook, 17, of Boston; Edith Spurr, 15, of Reading; Ethel Kennard, 13, of Dover, N.H., and Madeline Sheppard, 17, of Lowell, Mass.

Superintendent Russell was reticent about the case. Members of the girls' families were notified, although it was understood that the parents of one had sailed for Bermuda Tuesday, unaware of their daughter's disappearance. The spokesman for another family, who declined to be quoted, said it was understood the girls had gone off "on a lark," and that little real apprehension for their safety was felt.

Two of the girls, it was learned, were to have appeared in a school play on Tuesday night for which they had been eagerly preparing and in which they were, to all appearances, greatly interested.

WASTEFUL METHODS IN ROAD BUILDING

Hon. Geo. Henry Hints at Carelessness By Contractors.

TORONTO, February 27. — Carelessness on the part of contractors in handling materials for building provincial highways was suggested by Hon. George S. Henry, Ontario Minister of Highways, last night. He was speaking to the fourth annual meeting of the Ontario Road Builders Association in the Royal York. About 350 members and their friends were present.

The introduction to the hint about waste came in a jocular comment on shaking cement bags on the roadside or in the nearby fields, instead of into the hopper of the mixer. Everyone laughted.

But the minister continued: "We are paying out good coin of the realm for it, and stone and cement should not be strewn along the road or spread over the fields." The meeting was absolutely silent, for although Mr. Henry had seemed to be joking, a significantly serious note was sensed.

Some one nearby pressed him for an explanation. "Now, don't press too close home or I might tell more than I intended." And that was that.

Detroit Lawyer Killed As Bullets Riddle Car

Taken to Hospital in Dying Condition—Victim of Gangster Spite.

DETROIT, Feb. 27 (C.P.). — The staccato bark of gangsters' guns wrote the newest episode in the bloody history of Detroit's underworld last night, when two score bullets riddled the automobile of Alfonso E. Sirica, 31-year-old, and sent him to Receiving Hospital in a dying condition.

Sirica was attorney for James Fernando when he was tried recently for the kidnapping of young Jackie Thompson. More recently Sirica appeared as counsel for Arthur Califano, who was shot to death last week in a studio across Chene street from Sirica's quarters.

The shooting took place while Sirica was driving west on Canfield avenue between Orleans and Ripelle streets. Apparently the lawyer was surprised by his assailants. The deadly fire being poured at him raked his machine from end to end.

Y.P.L. MEETING.

The regular meeting of the Y.P.L. of St. John's United church was held Monday evening in the church school room. In the absence of the president, the vice-president, Miss Thelma Runnells occupied the chair.

The meeting opened with the singingof Hymn 348, folowed by the Lord's Prayer, said in unison. The Bible lesson was read by Miss Ruth Taylor, after which Hymn 123 was sung. The minutes of the last meeting were read and adopted. Final arrangements were then made for the entertainment and play to be presented on March 3.

The program was in charge of the Literary and Social committee, convened by Fred Palliser and Morley Horseman, and was as follows: Hymn 446, Scripture reading, Lorne Scott; topic, Rev. R. C. Tait; piano duet, Dorothy Henson and Nellie Haige; reading, Morley Horseman, and a vocal solo by A. Hazel.

A flower contest followed, after which the Benediction brought the meeting to a close.

CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY HONORS TERMS OF CONTRACT

Company's Deeds of Remarkable Accomplishment Provides Stirring Chapter of Canadian History.

BIG PROGRAM IN WEST

"I am neither a prophet, nor the son of a prophet, but I believe that many in this room will live to hear the whistle of the steam engine in the passes of the Rocky Mountains, and to make the journey from Halifax to the Pacific in five or six days." Such was the astounding prophecy made by Joseph Howe, orator, statesman and poet in an address in Halifax in the year 1851—before Confederation, when Canada was composed of the old Central Provinces of Ontario and Quebec and when Prince Edward Island, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick were practically existing as isolated British possessions.

Joseph Howe who saw so clearly into the future was on this occasion speaking in connection with the Intercolonial Railway which was to link the eastern area with the then known portion of Upper Canada, but his vision also was a remarkable forecast of the formation of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, which came into existence on May 1, 1881, when the construction work which had been commenced in June 1875 at various Western points, was taken over from the Government.

Stirring Chapters.

The early growth of the railroad before and after it was taken over by the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, provides one of the most fascinating and stirring chapters in Canadian history, and shows what can be accomplished in the face of apparently insurmountable difficulties.

Chapter one may be said to have closed with the formation of the company, whilst chapter two—a chapter crammed with deeds of remarkable accomplishment closed happily with the driving of the last spike at Craigiellachie, B.C., by Sir Donald Smith (Lord Strathcona) on November 7, 1885.

Craigiellachie a Gaelic word meaning "stand fast" seems to have been appropriately chosen as the name for the point at which such a gigantic engineering feat was completed and incidentally pays a permanent tribute to the gallant little band of heroes, surveyors, engineers and construction men, who had made such an undertaking possible by their indomitable will to "stand fast" in the face of great odds.

Today the Canadian Pacific Railway Company girdles the earth and is recognized as the world's greatest travel system, and a marvel of efficiency.

Amazing Efficiency.

In his book, "The Romance of the Canadian Pacific Railway" R. G. MacBeth says, "As I write these paragraphs regarding the famous contract between the Canadian Government and the pioneer railway across Canada, I have before me the Dominion statute of 1881 in which the contract is incorporated. At the conclusion of section 7 of the Act, where, after saying that the road built by the company and the portions built by the Government when completed, shall become the absolute property of the Company, the Act goes on to say: And the Company shall thereafter and for ever efficiently maintain, work and run the Canadian Pacific Railway."

"I think", adds Mr. MacBeth, "the testimony of all is that the company is living up to that contract, since its amazing efficiency is the admiration of the world."

Announcement was recently made that the C.P.R. will expend twenty-one million dollars in Western Canada this year. Branch line construction and improvement designed to increase the capacity and efficiency of lines now operating will absorb the entire appropriation for the West. Eleven million dollars has been set aside for the branch line construction program and ten million dollars for the improvement of existing lines, which goes to prove how efficiently the Company is living up to its contract.

FATAL SALTS TIN WAS WASHED

ADJOURNED TO MARCH 8.

TORONTO, Ont., February 27 (Canadian Press). — An inquest opened last night under Coroner Dr. J. H. Casserly to investigate the death of Violet M. Clark, 15, who collapsed and died shortly before retiring on the night of February 8, was adjourned to March 5, after the hearing of preliminary evidence. According to statements made to police by her parents, the girl was found in a dying condition shortly after she had taken a dose of salts.

In a report submitted at the inquest, Professor J. L. Rogers, analyst at the University of Toronto, said he had found at least two and three-quarter grains of cyanide of potassium in the girl's stomach. The poison, he said, might easily have been taken without detection with the salts. An effort to determine if the can said to have contained the salts also contained cyanide of potassium had proved futile. The can, he said, appeared to him to have been washed out and dried.

WHOLE WHEAT IS VERY NOURISHING

With Children Morning Cereal is a Necessary Element.

AIDS DEVELOPMENT

At no time in the world's history has the question of diet reached the importance it has at the present time. Physicians when prescribing for the ills of humanity lay great stress on what to eat and what not to eat and it is interesting to note that whole wheat plays a prominent part in the dietary as laid down by the medical profession. The physician will generally explain that whole wheat contains all the nourishing elements — protein for body building, carbohydrates for energy, mineral salts for bone and tissue, vitamins B and G for energy, vitality; and bran for safe regulation. To meet the requirement of modern life, it is universally agreed that the "light" breakfast is supremely important. What the meal lacks in volume it must make up in nourishment essential to the development of husky youngsters, vigorous men and healthy women. Of all the grains grown, wheat is the richest in food value. With children the morning cereal for breakfast is the necessary element. After the night's rest their small stomachs are empty and it is imperative that good nourishing food be taken into the system. The food children eat in the morning can do them the most good or the most harm. If the flavor of the cereal is appealing, no coaxing will be necessary and the flavor is appealing when the cereal happens to be the ever popular Shredded Wheat — the crisp biscuit that requires no cooking and may be served with any of the fresh, or hot house fruits served at the family table. Many suggestions on how to serve Shredded Wheat will appear in this paper from time to time in interesting Shredded Wheat advertisements describing the delicious combinations that can be made with this cereal for hot weather and winter meals.

FISTIC CLASH STIRS SENATE

Interest in South African Parliament Diverted to Court.

OLD FEUD REVIVED.

CAPE TOWN, South Africa, February 27 (Canadian Press Cable via Reuters). — The uppercut to the jaw, with which Senator Boydell, former Minister of Labor, struck down John Marwick, expert on native affairs and member of the Opposition, has resulted in a cause celebre which during the past few days has entirely eclipsed the proceedings of the South African Parliament in public interest.

The fracas came as a result of a personal dispute, and occurred in the precincts of the Senate three weeks ago. Senator Boydell is charged in criminal court with assaulting Marwick, with intent to do grievous bodily harm. The case has been adjourned to March 14.

In court yesterday Morris Alexander, K.C., counsel for Boydell, found himself opposed by C. W. Coulter, K.C., counsel for Marwick. Alexander and Coulter themselves are political enemies. Many members of Parliament, South African notables, and a number of fashionable women attended.

Marwick, haggard and frail-looking after just leaving a nursing home, where he has been ill for some time was cross-examined for four hours. He attributed the ill-feeling to his criticism of Boydell's policy when the latter was Minister of Labor. Political speeches of both men were freely quoted in court and references were made to an incident of last year's general election, when Marwick struck Boydell at a meeting in Durban, because Boydell had called him a coward.

PRISONER SUES CITY

ROUEN, (U.P.)—Prison sentences totalling 75 years have not made Alphonse Bruneau, of Rouen, lose his good humor. Bruneau, who is serving one of his many sentences, has filed suit against the municipality of Rouen for 100 francs a day damages for two years of alleged false imprisonment. Bruneau does not contest that his other sentences are legal, but he does insist he was imprisoned for two years for a crime he did not commit. He claims he was falsely imprisoned for the theft of 12 bicycles which he really didn't steal. If Bruneau wins his suit he will have 73,000 francs to spend but no place to spend it because he is still in prison.

ANCIENT PISTOL BRINGS TROUBLE

Owner of Harmless 75-Year-Old Weapon Gets Year Suspended Sentence.

WANTED FOR CAR THEFT

CORNWALL, Feb. 27.—An ancient revolver, said to have been made more than seventy-five years ago, and incapable of being discharged was termed an offensive weapon in police court here this morning, when Alex Manson, of Barrie, Ont., was convicted and given one year's suspended sentence on a charge of being in possession of firearms.

The revolver, measuring more than twelve inches in length, and with a six-inch stock, was one of the original repeating pistols invented by Col. Sam Colt, almost a century ago. The six holes in the cylinder, which is of crude design, were loaded by filling with powder shot and wadding, and the weapon was discharged by means of caps placed on the firing point one by one, as the gun was fired. Manson claimed that the gun had been given to him by a friend as a souvenir, and declared that he had no idea how it was loaded or fired. He pleaded guilty to having it in his possession.

Manson was taken to Toronto early this afternoon by a detective from police headquarters in that city to face a charge of stealing an automobile owned by the Northern Electric Company. The car was recovered by police here.

RABIES OUTBREAK WELL IN CONTROL

Govt. Inspector Claims No Cases Reported in London District Since January.

TEN CATTLE DIE

LONDON, Feb. 27.—"The rabies situation in this district is well in hand, and no further developments of any serious consequence are anticipated", stated Dr. J. Bovaird, Dominion Government veterinary officer for the Counties of Middlesex, Elgin, Lambton and Huron, to the Canadian Press yesterday.

"There has not been one single case in this district of a poison or animal being bitten by dogs running loose since the first of January," the doctor stated. "All dogs are tied up and are under strict government supervision."

The actual cases of dogs running at large and known to be infected with rabies in the four counties, since the outbreak in November last, has been six. The dogs have been destroyed and their heads forwarded to Ottawa for inspection. In addition, the heads of six other dogs have been sent to Ottawa for examination.

Ten Cattle Lost

There have only been ten cattle lost in the four counties due to having been infected. In each instance, the infection was directly traced to their having been bitten by dogs. There was no spread of disease among the cattle themselves. One farmer in Huron county lost three cattle, all of which were bitten by his own dog.

"There is no epidemic in this district," Dr. Bovaird declared. "Occasionally some of the owner's cattle are bitten by his own dog, and later, varying generally from one to three months, rabies develops in these cattle, and deaths occur, but this is a direct result of infection at the time the dog was destroyed, and not due to the disease spreading in an infectious manner from one beast to another." The actual loss of cattle in the four counties is as follows: Huron 6; Middlesex 2; Lambton 2; Elgin none. Totalling 10."

EVERY Nash "400" model, including those of lowest price, is now equipped with a modern system of centralized chassis lubrication. ¶ Nash "400" chassis bearings ride on a cushion of oil. Not just once in a while, or for a day or so after you happen to put your car in a service station for greasing. But every day, and without the bother of service station attention, the "400" chassis gives you the riding smoothness and the longer chassis life that only perfect chassis lubrication can give. ¶ And every Twin-Ignition Eight and Six model is now built with lifetime lubricated springs—lubrication sealed inside flexible steel spring covers—permanent protection against rust, squeaks, wear and ineffectual spring action. ¶ The combination of centralized lubrication and lifetime lubricated springs creates an oil-cushioned chassis—another reason for the superior performance that distinguishes the 1930 Nash "400"

ROSENEATH UNITED CHURCH.

ROSENEATH, Feb. 27.—(Examiner Correspondence.)— "Good Taste" were the words chosen by Rev. M. R. Brown on Sunday evening when he delivered a practical talk to the younger generation. George Elliott, in his poem on Stradivarius, makes the artist say "Antonio Stradivari has an eye that winces at false work and loves the true."

It is what Paul in his first epistle to the Philippians calls "discernment," "so that ye may approve of the things which are excellent."

John Ruskin even went so far as to say that taste is the only morality. This subject is chosen because of the modern collapse of the traditional standards of what is right and what is wrong. Imagine your pastor or a minister in Toronto addressing an audience of young people and saying, Thou shalt not do this two or three dozen things. We never have done it and I advise you not violate these religious rules and taboos. Let us then try a different approach says the youth. I have no ambition to be a saint and according to the idea of the older generation live an intensely righteous life. Very well, no one is going to ask you to be a saint or to live a perfect life, but we are going to ask you to be an artist and live a beautiful life, a life with good tastes.

To have a very fine opinion of yourself, so fine that you would not like to live an ugly life, to have good taste about your living, instinctively to feel the difference between fair and foul, as a skilled bank teller by the very touch can feel the difference between good money and counterfeit, that is not appealing to a code of laws and commandments that is appealing to something very deep within you. That ranges high! That ranges far!

The idea should be, not to slam doors around the child's life upon things taboo and attractive, but to open so many doors upon scenes of life that are thrilling and lovely that the child himself will develop a good taste for the best things of life. Education is not what is done for the child, it is what is done by the boy or girl.

The finest gift that any home can give a child, stronger by far than codes is good taste.

With impression Rev. Brown asked the question, 'Is there no inner taste that feels the difference between the beautiful and the foul? Have you nothing in your life like the imperious eye of Stradivarius that winces at false work and loves the true? Now the point becomes very plain, we are not to think that obedience means obeying some one else, but obeying the finer tastes that are inside of us. Remember, one of the finest ways to cultivate good taste is to keep a high opinion of yourself. Very few of us treat ourselves with courtesy. We hold ourselves at arms length.

Many a man behaves toward himself as tho' he and himself have never been introduced. He is awkward and shy in his own company. He doesn't know what to make of himself. He never has a good laugh with himself during the day. He never says an encouraging word to himself when things are going badly, and he never gives himself a handshake when all is going well. He sees as little of himself as possible.

How then can he hope under such impossible conditions to get the best out of himself?

We are the children of God and it is not yet made manifest what we shall be. When a man thinks loftily of himself he will not be easy to satisfy. He will easily be ashamed of himself. There are cheap and damaging and diseased things that come to our moral coast to-day in the form of books, magazines, in the low type of theatre and in social life. They are no longer excluded by codes and laws, they must be excluded by taste.

So we see that the mightiest thnigs are chosen not because it has been rated by society as the right or wrong thing to do, but because as a matter of good taste we choose what we do.

Jesus never mentioned a set of laws. He never insisted on external standards of right and wrong. What He did do was something deeper. He changed the tastes of men.

Jesus worked. He never constructed a standard. The kind of questions He asked were of another quality. Lovest thou Me? Lovest thou Me more than these? He was after men's tastes, their likes and dislikes, their loves where there treasure was, what their minds and souls were set upon.

You cannot tell by a man's creed. You cannot tell by a man's denomination. The question runs deep. What do you really like? What are your tastes? Lovest thou Me, that is the only taste needed. Let us taste and see that the beautiful things are good.

In closing Rev. Brown worshipped in prayer asking a blessing on his congregation that God may cleanse our minds and help us to love the beautiful, above all, help us, in a deep sense that shall transform our lives, to give our lives to Christ.

Voice of the People

RE GEORGE GAULD.

Editor, Peterborough Examiner:

Sir: On February 7th you reported in your paper the case of Mr. Geo. Gauld, held for contempt of court. This man claimed to be the holder of the Victoria Cross, and on the strength of that claim won the sympathy of the court and all present, including the local war veterans. Mr. Gauld claims to have won his V.C. in one of the campaigns in the Soudan. He also says that the V.C. and all papers and records pertaining to it were destroyed by fire when he had the misfortune to have his home in Mitchell burned. I have waited for some time, sir, to take this matter up with you, for this reason: I expected that an investigation would be made by those who so kindly came to Mr. Gauld's aid for no other reason than the fact of his having the V. C.. Eighteen days have passed and I have seen no mention of the case in the press. I may be mistaken, if so, I am sorry. If not, sir, surely you do not intend letting this man's statement go unchallenged. This is the second case in three months of a man claiming the V.C., and as far as I know not being called upon to substantiate his claim. The V.C. and records pertaining to same were lost or destroyed in both cases. In the first place any holder of the V.C. who loses his cross and records of same, through fire or water. That is to say, should one lose the cross overboard from a ship at sea, or a boat for that matter, in a depth where it would not be recoverable, and can prove that such is the case, will have no difficulty in obtaining another cross on presenting his case with the necessary proof to the British War Office in London, England. The proof must be such that they are satisfied that it is not recoverable. As to fire, the same procedure. One word more in regard to fire. I would search the ruins very carefully for a V.C. I am sure if I lost one in a fire. I rather think one would find some part of it at least. Perhaps not. I have at hand a complete record of the V.C. since its institution in 1856 by Her late Majesty Queen Victoria. The record I hold covers a period from 1856 to 1928, and is from the records concerning this decoration held by the War Office in London. It gives the names of the 1157 (eleven hundred and fifty-seven) awarded since 1856-1928. This 1157 does not include the two bars awarded. The total is eleven hundred and fifty nine. Neither of these gentlemen whose cases I have seen fit to question, appear in the records at the War Office. The names and records of every recipient of the V C. living or dead, are recorded at the War Office; make no mistake about that There can be none. The name of George Gauld does not appear; neither is there any other name that might be mistaken for it. Neither, does George Gauld's name appear among the ten recipients for V.C.'s awarded in any of the campaigns in the Soudan. If necessary, I will furnish you with the names and records of every recipient of the Cross in any and all the campaigns in the Soudan. Age does not enter into the matter at all, for this reason. The oldest living V. C. to-day is 86. Mr. Gauld is 68. The youngest holder is Mr. Ricketts of Newfoundland, 22.

Sir, I think it is high time that a stop should be put to these sort of claims; they come up quite often, and so far get away with it. I am quite sure that any of the present holders of the V.C. living to-day would not personally use their V.C. as a means to gain leniency or sympathy in a court of justice. If the matter was brought up it would be simply a case where a man was well known and there was no question of his being in possession of same.

I know nothing of the case whereby Mr. Gauld was arrested neither am I interested in that part of it. But I say this Mr. Gauld should be made to substantiate his claim at once. A wire to the British Ministry of Pensions at Ottawa, Mr. Brampton, is enough. He is I take it, a British ex-service man. All holders of the V.C. below the rank of commissioned officers, are granted a pension of 10 pounds a year ($48) payable every three months, two pounds ten shillings. This is an Imperial grant therefore it is paid in English money, and through Mr. Brampton, who is the British representative for the British Pension Board, he pays Mr. Gauld his V.C. pension every three months, and will be glad to aid this man to prove his claim. Perhaps it has already been done; if so I am not aware of it.

Yours truly,
W. L. RAYFIELD,
Pontypool, Ont.

Eczema Itched Badly. Face Disfigured. Healed by Cuticura.

"Eczema first appeared on my forehead in pimple-like form. Later it spread from my forehead towards my nose and gradually my whole face became affected. It itched and burned badly at times, and when I scratched it caused eruptions. After a while the pimples would dry up and then new ones would come in their place. My face was disfigured. The trouble lasted over a year.

ROSENEATH, Feb. 27.—(Examiner Correspondence).—A very successful card party was held in the Orange Hall on Friday evening last under the auspices of the L.O.B.A. when about twenty-five tables of progressive euchre was played. The travelling prize for ladies was won by Miss Mildred Lean, of Fenella, and the winning gentleman was Earl Braithwaite. The consolation prizes went to Mrs. Eric Kelly and E. Blackburn. At the conclusion of the cards, dainty refreshments were served by the social committee, under the convenorship of Mrs. Gordon Parker, assisted by members of the L.O.B.A. Mr. Clarence Varcoe was in charge of the card table arrangements, assisted by other members of the L.O.L.

Immediately after the luncheon was served about two hundred people danced to splendid music provided by Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Merriam, of Harwood, which lasted till the wee small hours before the final dance closed a most enjoyable evening.

The ladies of the L.O.B.A. are continuing these social evenings by repeating another euchre and dance on Wednesday, March 5, and will be better prepared in providing for such a large crowd as was present on Friday night.

Our Mail

Conducted by ANNE WILCOX

Dear Anne:

I have at last made up my mind to write you, and explain why I have not responded to your request to write and tell my ideas on the question of being different. Now as I am in a position that I cannot express my thoughts as I would like, to simply because I am one of those individuals who has a similar type of character, like our new friend Ad Nauseam has, therefore, I must refrain from saying many nice things in her favor on that account; and another reason is after reading your letter and the neighbors' a short time ago on that particular question and seeing the lovely expressions and complimentary remarks, you all told her about for character, manner and good qualities, I was afraid many might think I was trying to merit part of the praise you had given her.

Now to begin I wish to tell you all how I found out I was one of those different kind of humanity and perhaps it may help our neighbor Ad Nauseam to solve her question and I do sincerely hope it will.

I will therefore tell you of a little incident that happened in my girlhood days. One fine afternoon a girl friend and I went for a walk in the country when we came near a forest we spied a Gipsy coming towards us. She stopped and asked if she could tell our fortunes. My friend remarked, "I would love to have mine told," but I hesitated as I was rather afraid of Gipsys. However, I at last consented after hearing my friend's. She took my hand and studied it a moment, then she exclaimed, "Oh, what a wonderful fortune you have, I see in your palm. As it tells me you are the youngest in your fmily which is a large one and I see you are also the seventh daughter, which will make you so different from all others in your family and many others who will cross your path in life." I asked her the reason why I would be different, she replied by saying, "You were born under a strange planet which will rule your destiny all through life and on account of it your life will also be a romantic one and you will make many friends wherever you go, but remember there will be some who will prove false so beware of them."

By the way, if I tell you any more she said, you will think I am going to tell you all my fortune by oh, that would never do in my case, as I am too well known here! As I might tell many incidents that happened at some time that would make many of my friends laugh while others might criticize me, if they are inclined that way. So I think the least said the better. Don't you think so neighbors?

I must now refer to our new neighbor Ada Nauseam as I have unconsciously drifted from the subject she has been anxious to hear about. Now if she should chance to be the seventh daughter I hope I have been able to enlighten her why she is different or unlike others she has met. For in reading her letter over which I still have for future reference I notice she speaks of being raised in a large family and it might be possible she too is a seventh daughter; if not, her planet that ruled at the time of her birth may accotnt for it. I have always been interested in astronomy although I have never studied it. Just take for instance how the moon rules the weather at all times of the year for good or bad. I have often heard that a child born in the new of the moon would have a very bright and sunny manner mostly free from care and sorrow. While those who were born in the old of the moon, would live a life of cares and trouble.

I am enclosing a little song I hope someone will remember hearing it before. Will write on the subject of flowers later.

Yours very sincerely,
Virgie

Thank you Virgie for giving Ad Nauseam your idea concerning this 'difference.'

My dear Miss Wilcox:

Did you ever notice how people and days and events seem to start off at times on high and end up with four flat tires? This has been that kind of a day, and to me you are that kind of person—no kidding!

It's nothing against either you or the day, so don't get all hot and bothered. Freudian teachings compel us to believe that all extraneous things are just as our inner life makes them, so we have nobody but ourselves to blame if we get a jaundiced view of the world.

But, my dear, you are so old-fashioned despite all your protestations, and yet I don't think you are very old. In fact, I can tell by your approach to many subjects that you have not yet had a great width or depth of experience in this funny world. It's not your fault if you do not measure up to dear old Marion who KNEW. I'll bet she had had a wonderful life, and I'm sorry I haven't been able to find her articles in any other paper, though I kid myself I see traces of her style in one in Toronto.

This, by the way, is all over your column on Saturday, I haven't written since last April and since then I've been married. I was one of those who wrote asking for a column for business girls and when Marion invited our help we fell down on the job completely. So I don't like to see Oddity get away with that statement "Nothing was ever done." Doubtless you were not connected with The Examiner at the time, or you would recall the circumstances, and stand up for the attempt that was made to please the business girls.

Wherever did you get that idea about the girl of to-day not being happy unless she had a troop of boys following her? Surely you're not one of these boy-crazy kids!

What is needed among women today is a realization of their place in the world. The war started out emancipations; sports developed it; we started taking an interest in world events, and now, just when we stand on the threshold of our fullest opportunity, dress designers decide to push us back twenty years. My dear, the short dress of which you don't approve is a symbol of emancipation. And with the return to long, floppy untrim dresses we are putting on again the first fetters of a new bondage.

I just wish to get right up and tell you that a girl can be 'refined' and 'reserved' and have enough 'intelligence to carry on an interesting conversation' without being the flop you make her out to be. And while you Anne, may move in your own little sphere as indicated in your column on Saturday, and be happy, let me tell you that you're not giving much of a thrill to anyone else. You wish more of the girls of today were different. Good grief Anne, where do you get your line? In what circles do you move? What do you call an interesting conversation? Give us an example?

Right here in Peterborough we have just as lively gatherings as anywhere and one sees few dumbbells really. At a private house party last week there were two married couples and two single couples. One man was a choir leader, another a custodian of the collection plate, the third taught a class in Sunday School and the fourth, was a regular attendant. Nothing wrong with that, for morals, eh? One of the girls sings in a choir, and the wife of the Sunday school teacher also teaches a class. Upstairs in bed were two children of the family, and a maid was looking after the baby of the second married couple. All were, of course, youthful still.

Now according to your code, these people should probably have sat around making intelligent conversations whatever that is. But, according to your standard, it would all have been spoiled if a drink made its appearance, or cigarette smoke curled from a woman's side of the table, or one of the boys draped his arm negligently over the shoulders of a girl playing the piano. As a matter of of fact all of these things happened. The girls smoked, everyone had a drink or two or three, they danced, they played cards, (actually my dear!) —but I doubt whether you ever heard any more sensible conversation than followed as they sat around the fire.

Most young people today are no fools Anne. Most of them read good literature, try to do some good turns in the world, disapprove vicious habits, believe part of the code of being ladies and gentlemen included an effort to make others happy and know that the secret of remaining young and bright and interesting is mixing and thinking in terms of youth.

You are entitled to your opinions. But the same token I may hold to mine.

You think girls more attractive the more staid and highbrow they are. You haven't convinced me, and I'll continue to step out. You believe in the modern age, but you're afraid of it—you have some inhibition due to faulty religious perspective or a wrongly developed gland somewhere. I attend church regularly, and believe in it, but find nothing incongruous in my ways of taking pleasure.

Do you mind if I suggest some reading? Try —— and —— for stories about modern girls who don't lose anything vital by being up-to-date. Read the —— to find out how much different the rest of the world is from our little Peterborough. Read —— to find the basis of understanding of life's problems. Get a school psychology textbook which will teach you to play on the instincts of people and understand their reactions.

And forgive my temerity. I don't mean to be critical really. But I do admire common sense, and common sense after all predicates a knowledge of facts on which to act or write.

Nyrna

I cannot indeed see where you got the foundation for your letter, Nyrna. Perhaps if you read it again you would form a different opinion! Even after reading your letter I still stick to the fact that many girls and boys too, go with the crowd and do certain things just because others do them. I'm not condemning smoking and petting, etc., but simply said that a modern girl who did not do these things would be 'different.' Of course, it is the girl's privilege to smoke if she wishes, but in many cases you will find she does it just because the rest of the crowd smokes—not because she likes it! The party which you mention coincides exactly with the ones which I attend and I don't think I'm very much in ignorance with regard to the nature of some of these parties! I'm afraid you didn't read my article carefully enough to get my meaning, but flew right up in the air before you had time to think it over.

Dear Anne Wilcox:

This is my first letter to the page since you took Marion's place, so it is almost too late to welcome you, isn't it, as I suppose it won't be long before you will be given your place to someone else.

It is so long since I have written, that I suppose my pen name will be off the list, but I have been very much interested in the neighbors' letters, although there aren't as many as there were last winter.

Dory and Lucinda have been especially good neighbors to me, both helping me out in different problems leading to success after taking their advice. Lucinda, I am going to ask you to come to my aid again or any other neighbor that may be able to give me advice, please. I did not do anything to my oak floor in the kitchen as I intended last spring, but I have taken the paint all off and when scrubbed it is quite nice and white. It seems to be so hard to keep clean and so dusty when I sweep that what I wanted to do was to stain and varnish it so I could have a nice shining floor that I could wipe up with a dust mop each day to keep dust down. I thought it would be so much easier to scrub, too.

What would it be necessary for me to do to the floor first and what kind of stain should I use. It is a floor that gets quite hard usage in the winter as we move into front part of house and wood is sometimes piled in the kitchen. It would have to be done fresh every spring, of course, but if it were once stained, that would not have to be done again, would it?

I hope some good neighbor will help me out. Lucinda sent me advice last spring, but I don't think she understood just what kind of a floor it was, so perhaps she will help again.

I was reading with interest sometime ago the letters from neighbors regarding farmers selling their produce. I don't know, but it really seems to me that we have to take what we get, for how can we help it? I know if I took a basket of eggs into a store in our village and demanded my price, they would think I had gone crazy and if I didn't want to take their price, I could take my eggs home. They would get plenty without mine. It would be all right if all the women did the same and they couldn't get eggs and so on, unless they did pay what we thought we should get, but we all know farmers can't stick together. It is almost impossible.

Now take for instance a poor man. He has his taxes, interest and a dozen more payments to make and he has a good load of pigs or something ready for market. The price has gone down. What is he going to do? He has to make his payments and he has to have the money so he can't hold on to his produce; it must be sacrificed, as it were.

The farmer must take what he gets. With the well off farmer, things are different. If the price doesn't suit, he can hold his produce until it does, because he can get along without money for a while. Isn't that so neighbors. I know the ones who are striving to make ends meet as we are, will know how things go. We can't go and say we want this price for eggs, we want so and so for our butter, for our geese, chickens and so on, because we wouldn't get it. We could take it home and keep it and we can't do that for we have to have the money which we work so hard to earn.

I wonder if someone has an extra good real white layer cake recipe. I would like a three layer and one that is soft and white and does not dry out quickly. It seems to me that I am asking for a lot of favors, and haven't any to offer just at present, but trust I will be able to help some neighbor one of these times.

How I loved those letters about Florida. Wouldn't I just love to go, but I suppose it wouldn't do if we all had these privileges, would it neighbors? We must be contented and thankful those of us whom have comfortable homes and plenty to eat, no matter where we are. So many haven't even that much comfort.

I am afraid, Anne, you will be wishing I hadn't written to the page again, if I don't soon say goodbye and quite this scribbling.

Love and good luck to all,
Marleigh

Thank you Marleigh for your welcome—it's never too late to write! I'm sure you will find some solution for your floor problem.

Dear Anne:

This is my first letter to you though I sometimes wrote to Marion's page under different pennames I have been reading the letters in this evening's paper addressed to Ad Nauseam and as I had already written out a few thoughts after reading her letter and your excellent talk on the same in Friday's issue of Feb 14. I am tempted to send them along for what they are worth. I am perhaps older than the majority who write for the page as I shall never see fifty again so I hope I may be able to give a thought or two worth while.

There was one thing you said in your article Anne which particularly struck me that was that different people were always Christians also that they had friends not in quantity always but always ones of quality. Yes, such folks' friends are true ones as you saw and is not this worth while? Then too, as Rowena says we were all meant to be different, none of us were cast in the same mould, but many do not trouble to be different—it's easier to go with the crowd and loose one's individuality, but such folk do not count so much, do they? Then here is another thought—there are a few select souls who it would seem have been taken aside by the Lord and to whom He seems to be giving a special training and we may be quite sure they have some special work to do.

No, I would not ask Ad Nauseam to come down and mix with the crowd and forget the difference which she feels but rather to humbly stay on the watch tower and catch what the sleepers in the valley may never see unless through her eyes.

Emerson in his little book on Friendship has this to say in regard to select souls, "The higher the style of friendship we demand the less easy to establish it with flesh and blood," and he goes on to say, "By persisting in your course though you forfeit the little you gain the great, you become pronounced, you demonstrate yourself so as to put yourself out of the reach of false relations and by so doing you draw to yourself the first born of the earth—those rare pilgrims whereof only one or two wander in nature at once and before whom the vulgar, great show as spectres and shadows merely.

I will close with these remarks as I do not want my letter to be too long wishing you Anne the best of success for your page and trusting it may long continue in helpfulness and good will, and yes, we must let the younger ones have a share in advice needed in their work. Please pardon my belated greeting I was really and truly sorry that Marion left us so abruptly as she did, also for various reasons I did not feel like writing, still I am interested in the quiet effective way you are carrying on the work.

Yours very truly,
Water-Lily

Thank you so much for your letter Water-Lily. It is indeed a pleasure to be receiving letters from the older members of our page and to know they still have an interest in us.

MOIRE SOLVES THE AFTERNOON DRESS PROBLEM.

By Monsieur Edmond Courtot.

Moire solves the afternoon dress problem for many women. It is what I call a distinguished material, and for that reason I have chosen it for this frock, using a grey moire of an unusually lovely quality and texture. A material as beautiful as moire requires no other trimming, the cut itself being sufficient to bring out its best features. Grey is one of the most delightful colors for spring wear, and this model may be successfully worn with or without a coat.

DOUBLE
Dental Protection
in its Penetrating Foam

ALMOST any toothpaste will polish the smooth, outer surfaces of your teeth. But it takes more than mere surface scrubbing to cleanse the teeth completely. For between the teeth are tiny spaces where ordinary brushing cannot reach. Decaying impurities collect in these hard-to-clean places. To dislodge these dangerous accumulations, it takes the penetrating foam of Colgate's. This remarkable cleanser not only polishes teeth brilliantly, but floods these tiny places and washes out the decaying food particles and mucin deposits. So when you use Colgate's, you get double cleansing—extra protection for your teeth.

The 25c tube of Colgate's contains more toothpaste than any other nationally advertised brand priced at a quarter.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

OFTEN WHEN YOU receive an invitation to a party it is difficult to know how to dress.

In giving the invitation the hostess doesn't always indicate just the degree of formality expected in the matter of dressing.

• • • • • • •

At times one can inquire of other guests but not always is this possible and sometimes it is a very difficult problem which comes to business girls just as much to the other women.

• • • • • • •

You may have noticed as I have, the new extra jacket costume which is being shown for spring wear. Maybe the designer had this need which it so well fills, in mind when he designed this new costume!

• • • • • • •

After one reaches the destination, the jacket can be left on, if formality seems to prevail, or removed if evening attire rules the moment. The dress is such a costume is sleeveless and its appearance without the jacket is that of a simple dinner gown.

• • • • • • •

While it is possible to buy many such lovely costumes—you may have noticed such in our windows on George street—an even more distinctive effect is achieved when the individual jacket has a character all its own, yet is an adjunct to several frocks.

• • • • • • •

Its beauty is not merely that of an accessory garment, rather does the rest of the dress tend to set it off!

• • • • • • •

One lovely one which I noticed while window shopping on George street, was of a dark brown crepe and was over a lovely frock of printed chiffon or georgette which had a background of brown. I'm not just sure of the design of the dress part but I thought at the time how well it would apply to for this purpose.

• • • • • • •

It is of interest to the girl who can sew to know the adornment most favored upon this type of jacket, which in itself is very easy to make.

• • • • • • •

Beading is the choice in the more elaborate costume—partly because it is beautiful and fashionable and partly because, used on light fabrics, it tends to give them weight enough to hold it in position.

• • • • • • •

If beading is not used however, some inserted weights are desired around the lower edge. Embroidered or painted georgettes are used effectively. Lace, matching the color of the frock is sometimes used as is a thin plain material of the same goods.

• • • • • • •

Transparency is nearly always a quality of such jackets. Their object is not warmth, although sometimes their slight additional protection is welcome when there is a draught.

• • • • • • •

For the week-end visit, such a jacket tucks easily into the bag and you will find you will seldom return without wearing it. There seems no age limit in either youth or maturity, which prescribes its use.

• • • • • • •

For the business girl I don't think there is another costume which she would find so useful as this one and I would recommend that one be purchased when buying the spring wardrobe and I'm sure you will find it indispensable.

That Body of Yours

HEALTH AS A SCHOOL SUBJECT.

When a youngster of nine I was fishing off a wharf where the water was fourteen feet deep.

Being within the range of some military rifle practice grounds I was ordered off the wharf.

Stepping backward I found myself in the water and unable to swim.

Suddenly the words of my school lesson came to me 'If you get into deep water and cannot swim 'tread' water. "Treading water means pushing the feet down one after the other as if walking upstairs, and pushing hands downward against the water also, one after the other.

I continued to do this, and young as I was, kept wondering when I would touch bottom the first time. I expected to go down and up three times.

Suddenly I found myself beside the wharf with my hand grasping a fishing line and was helped up by my brother, two years my senior.

He told me that as I was really at the surface of the water all the time, he thought that if he put his fishing line down I would grasp it.

As my parents were not informed about it, I went down to the same spot the next morning and wading in from the shore I learned to swim the wonderful distance of six feet before noon.

Why do I speak of this?

Because that little lesson, taught in the 'hygiene' class of our public school, saved my life.

Now why when we are teaching youngsters geography, spelling, arithmetic, grammar, and later history, languages, and mathematics, should we not teach them year in and year out, something about the body and its care.

They need spelling, arithmetic, writing and so forth for their work in life and yet what really means more than all these things we limit to a little teaching in physiology, the circulation of the blood, digestion, respiration, and first aid.

To learn something of anatomy or the structure of the body, about the chemistry of the different juices, how heat is lost, how wastes are thrown out, how the temperature is maintained, the amount and kinds of food required, how illness comes, how illness effects the working structure of the body, are all matters that would do the two things that we expect from education (a) train the mind to think (b) acquire knowledge.

I believe that you will agree with me that the body and its care might well be a subject in the course of public school, high school, and university.

OUR CHILDREN

By Angela Patri

THE CHILDREN'S PATTERN.

The teacher becomes the pattern for all the pupils in the class. Nobody else has such influence over children between six and ten years of age as the teacher. "My teacher says—" is the thunder from Sinai. How careful the teacher must be to merit that trust, to carry that responsibility truly and bravely. How conscious she must be of it lest, unawares, she furnish the wrong pattern.

A little girl had very sore hands. They were chafed and raw from exposure to water and frost. Her mother could not imagine the reason because the child had warm gloves, her hands were carefully washed, dried, and powdered. As they became tender, then sore, the care and attention were doubled. Still the unhappy hands. Always the child had a very happy attitude toward it all. She seemed to enjoy the condition. One day her mother cried as she bathed and tended the frosted hands.

"Don't cry about it, mother, I like them that way. My teacher has redder knuckles than mine. Oh, much redder. I like my hands to be like hers." The secret was out. This teacher had a difficulty with her hands. The chalk dust cracked the skin and in spite of all her care, the knuckles were often red and angry with little cracks showing through. The child discovered that by wetting her hands and exposing them to the frosty winds she could have red knuckles too.

Usually the children copy the right things but don't overlook the fact that ANYTHING the teacher is, does, lives, is copied by her admiring group. Any little mannerism, any trick of speech, of gesture, of temper, is noted and copied by one or more of the watchful little ones.

Lovely hands make their impression. Little girls—and little boys too—longingly admire the well kept hands of their teachers. And if the dear teacher lays her hand in benediction upon some towseled head the joy is unbounded.

The teacher's voice is the standard for the children. If it is pleasant and firm and clear, they will copy it. If it is loud and harsh and unpleasant they will copy it to an inflection. It is always easier to copy the untrained person than the cultured one.

The teacher's speech is the standard of the class. If the teacher speaks well, if her words are chosen with care, if her manner of speaking is direct and interesting, the children will acquire just those qualities.

A sweet tempered teacher is a host in herself. The children are never uncertain, never moody. They will take on the serenity of the teacher's mood the moment they enter the classroom. They will be patient with each other, and courteous in their attitudes. But let the teacher be of uncertain temper and the whole atmosphere takes on a charged tension and trouble is imminent.

The teacher is the children's pattern. She is their leader, guide and authority. How careful, watchful, reverently responsible she must be.

NEWEST FASHIONS REMINISCENT OF OTHER DAYS

THREE CHEERS FOR TRIUHPHAL RETURN OF NAVY

NEW YORK, Feb. 25—(U.P.)—Navy blue is again smart. Paris has been sponsoring it for winter, a most unusual procedure for the formal season. Off-shades of navy are quoted; sometimes it is the darker tone, midnight, oftener it is the bright navies which show a slightly gayer effect than true navy.

Navy is to spring what black is to the winter season. It is a standby color, it may be extremely smart and extremely popular, at the same time. It is practical, but in its choice of fabric and combinations, it may be charming as well and it has always the appearance of being in good taste.

It is not marked as are the novelty colors which stand out ostentatiously in the crowd. It qualifies for the separate coat as well as the street suit, it combines effectively with all the clear frank colors as well as the pastels which may be introduced in blouses. It is a workaday color suitable for school and business frocks but it may be styled to have utmost distinction for the street ensemble, the afternoon frock and its prestige is exalted this season by its personal success for evening-wear.

Navy blue is eligible for strong spring promotion. It will share a fair proportion of the attention directed to suits, that by clever selection and distinction of types it may spread its success from popular, though moderate priced to exclusive merchandise. But there are many shades designated as navy and for the sake of the spring harmonies millinery, costumes and accessories should agree on the promotion of the same tones.

DYES FOR CANCER

BERLIN.—A new system of treating cancer, which is said to be advantageous in curing it, is the treatment of the cancer with a blue dye. This dye, isamine blue, when injected into the veins of a victim, lodges in the cancer cells. By tracing this blue tint the physicians are able to exterminate the diseased cells in a greater number than before. Ray treatment also acts more readily on this dye than on just a plain cancer.

Ice blocked in the Etobicoke river, Ont., has caused the water to back up and flood the banks on either side. Large cakes of ice and slush water swirled about the cottages in the flats, rising to the windows in some places, but doing little actual damage south of the Toronto-Hamilton highway. North of the highway the ice and water submerged the Etobicoke tourist camp, overturning some of the small cabins. Damage of serveral thousand dollars may result to two large greenhouses situated near the camp. They were flooded to a depth of two feet, extinguishing the fire in the fire box. Thousands of sweet pea and snap dragon blooms in one of the houses may be lost. The photograph above shows the flooded tourist camp with the greenhouses in the background.

SCHOOL CONCERT IS A SUCCESS

Program Staged by Entertainers of Young's Under the Institute. Point— SKETCH.

POINT, Feb. 27.—(Examiner Correspondence).—On Friday evening, January 21, to a capacity audience in the school house, Young's Point presented a most entertaining program under the auspices of the Young's Point Institute. The programme was in sections. First, a sketch "Women Must Talk" was given. This illustrated the way in which important statement can be blown to tremendous proportions in the hands of gossiping women. The play was well acted, the cast being as follows:

Mrs. Brown—Miss Marie Charlton.
Mrs. Green—Mrs. Dave Darling.
Mrs. White—Mrs. Elmer Johnston.
Mrs. Rice—Miss Lois McNaughton.
Mrs. Taylor—Miss Katie Traynor.
Mrs. Bean—Miss Mary McNaughton.
Mrs. Doolittle—Miss Mary Young.
Mrs. Snow—Mrs. Andrew Wilson.

The costumes for this sketch were those of popular vogue of 25 years ago.

Mrs. Oliver McIlvena and Mrs. Elmer Johnston sang two vocal solos in the interval.

The second section of the program consisted of a minstrel show, under the direction of Rev. R. T. C. Dwelly. A generous amount of jokes, songs, and choruses made up the presentation.

The end men's parts were well given by Messrs. Fred Young and Frank Carroll.

The cast was as follows:

Snowball Blackhead—Fred Young.
Professor Rastus Jonsing—Frank Carroll.
Lazarus Mildew—Victor Young.
Bones Dewdrop—Rex Wilson.
Moses Snapdragon—David Darling.
Sunshine Pollywog—Leonard Wilson.
Oliver Gluepot—Charlie Young.
Ebenezer Spindielegs—Oliver McIlvena.
Interlocuter and pianist—Rev. R. T. C. Dwelly.

The third section was a scene in a haunted house, in which Snowball Blackhead and Rastus Jonsing were to stay for the night. Their experience in the haunted house, the unearthly noises, and the appearance of a ghost provided much amusement.

The proceeds amounted to $29.70.

The credit for the success of the entertainment is due to Rev. R. T. C. Dwelly and Miss Jennie Kearney who gave unsparingly of their time and ability to present the program. Miss Kearney very kindly allowed her piano to be used for the concert.

The lighting of the stage, which was very beautiful was managed by Mr. Adrian Brooks.

The Young People's Union of Trinity Church were "At Home" on Monday evening to the young people of the Anglican Church, and a good representation from each organization was present. The evening's enjoyment opened with a short program, presided over by Miss M. Faulkner, the president of the Y.P.U. After the hearty rendition of "O Canada" by the gathering, Miss Faulkner briefly welcomed the guests of the evening. A piano solo by Mrs. (Dr.) McPhee was well received, followed by a humorous reading by Miss Rita Kennedy. Rev. Mr. Blanchard spoke words of welcome, after which Mrs. I. Connell and Miss Lillian Race rendered a piano duet. Words of appreciation, in a somewhat humorous vein, were spoken by Rev. A. T. Weir, followed by a vocal duet by Mrs. Morcombe and Miss L. Race, and a solo by Mrs. Cyril Elliott. A reading by Mr. Blanchard and a vocal duet by Misses M. Werry and M. Faulkner concluded the first part of the program.

Rev. J. T. E. Blanchard had charge of the contest which followed. Partners were secured by the matching of hearts for the first contest, which was original and was answered by names of people in Omemee and vicinity. Miss Ruth Cornell and Mr. Russell Williamson secured the greatest number of correct answers. To compose a verse with the lines ending in heart, love, dart, and dove was the next contest, which was worked out in groups, and resulted in much amusement. These verses were read aloud by a member of the group and afforded much pleasure. Rev. A. T. Weir, the sole judge, awarded the prize to group number 8. The third contest was quite novel. By answering twenty questions as read by the pastor and filled in as directed, the answer was: Refreshments are ready. After the serving of same, Miss Mabel Rowan on behalf of the A.Y.P.A. moved a hearty vote of thanks for the entertainment provided. The singing of a suitable setting to the tune, of "Till We Meet Again" and "God Save the King" brought the evening's program to a close.

A men's choir, composed of twenty-two voices, occupied the choir loft of Trinity United Church on Sunday evening, and led the singing, assisted by the pastor. The service opened with a short song service, and the hymns used throughout were old familiar tunes, in which the congregation heartily joined. Two numbers by the choir, "He is Mine" and "The Old Rugged Cross," also a quartette, "The Wayside Cross" by Messrs. Cornell, Marshall, Brown, and Rev. J. T. E. Blanchard, were all listened to with pleasure.

Mr. Blanchard spoke briefly from the subject "Playing the Game," taking his text from I. Cor. 16. 13, "Watch ye, stand fast in the faith, quit you like men, be strong." Two beautiful baskets of spring flowers adorned the Communion table and pulpit, placed there by the Parsons family in commemoration of their father, the late T. J. Parsons, whose death occurred one year ago.

SCENES FROM DUNNVILLE'S FLOOD

The photographs here show flood conditions at Dunnville, Ontario, following overflowing of the Grand River due to recent thaw. The water in the streets of the town, it is reported, is five feet deep in places. Bridges are damaged, trees uprooted, stores closed and motors flooded out by the deluge of ice and water. TOP photograph shows horse and buggy and a motor having a tough passage along one of the streets, and BOTTOM, three young opportunists, who apparently have the situation well in hand.

Local Curler Repeat In Junior Tankard Event

Amys Rink Winners 17 to 4

Churchill Beaten in Final Round By Last Year's Winners.

EASY VICTORY.

Oshawa Defeats Waterloo Rink 9-8 For Consolation Event Prize.

TORONTO, Feb. 27.—Repeating their victory of last season, the Peterborough rink in the Ontario Junior Tankard event captured the trophy donated by Thomas Rennie of the Granite Club, by defeating Churchill in the final game yesterday afternoon at the Toronto Club by 17 to 4. Churchill reached the final last year, only to succumb to the clever curling of the Peterborough youths.

The Consolation event prize was won by the Oshawa rink, which defeated Waterloo in a close contest in the final by 9 to 8.

Peterborough reached the final round by defeating Owen Sound in the semi-final game by 13 to 8. Churchill eliminated Waterloo in the other semi-final by 12 to 4. It was expected the final game would produce a close contest, but Peterborough gained an early lead and outcurled Churchill to such an extent that the victory was conceded at the end of the twelfth end.

Thomas Rennie presented the prizes to the winners. In his address he stressed the fact that curling is a gentleman's game. He also emphasized that there is no professionalism in curling. He pointed to the success of the youthful Alberta rink in the Macdonald Brier Tankard event to show that it is becoming a young man's game rather than a game for old or middle-aged men. He also believed the time was not far distant when it would be necessary to form a Canadian senior curling association, so that the old men of the game could have their own competitions and not be encountering these strong youthful rinks that are gaining prominence these days. The veterans of the game cannot compete successfully with the youngsters today. However, Mr. Rennie strongly advised his heares to not neglect their studies or their work for any sport. Sport had its place, but to keep it as a sport made for better citizens.

The scores of yesterday's games were:—

BULLDOGS NEED VICTORY TO-NIGHT

Win Would Place Border City Team in Position For Play-off Berth.

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 27.—Windsor Bulldogs, occupants of fifth position in the International Hockey League standing, will attempt to climb nearer a play-off berth to-night, when they meet Buffalo Bisons at the Fort Erie rink in the only scheduled fixture. The Bulldogs have 39 points, while the fourth place Detroit Olympics have 42, a Windsor victory, therefore, will put them right into contention once again. They will not have things their own way, however, for the Bisons like the Bulldogs are just coming out of a slump and will play stubbornly to defend their second place berth.

ST. ALBANS WINS DOUBLE VICTORY

Brockville School Teams Victors Over Grove in Annual Tussles.

SMART HOCKEY.

BELLEVILLE, Feb. 27—(Special to the Examiner).—St. Albans school hockey teams of Brockville won both games of a double header played here yesterday afternoon, their opponents being Lakefield boys school team. The first game was won by the score of four to two, while the second was three to nothing. Although the junior game was far from being an even contest, the second result would have been far different had it not been for the stellar work of Grant, in goal for St. Albans. He kicked and batted out shots from every angle and the Lakefield team pressed hard all the way but found him practically impregnable. Stuart and McCrae, who played the wings for Lakefield were the two best men on the ice, although Stuart is only a youngster of ten or eleven years. He was in every play, scored the first goal for Lakefield and all in all made himself generally a nuisance to the heavier Brockville team. McCrae packed a hard shot for a youngster and in a few years should be a real hockey player. For St. Albans Christmas and Knight were the pick of the team, Christmas scoring three of the four goals and giving Knight a pass for the other while Knight scored the other goal and had two assists. Stuart and McCrae were the sharpshooters for Lakefield. In the junior game, Lakefield were never in the picture, the St. Albans players scoring one in the first period and two in the third. Lakefield tried hard, but they were not able to skate with the Brockville boys and time and again only good work by the Lakefield goalie, Miall, saved his team from an even worse defeat. Anderson scored first for Brockville and Loomis netted the twine twice in the last period. Both teams showed the results of good coaching, for both played combination at every opportunity.

Ken Colling of Belleville handled both games.

Line up:

Second Game.

St. Albans—Goal, Grant, defence, Stewart and Knight; centre, Christmas; wings, Thom and Starr; sub, Hutton.

Lakefield—Goal, Disney; defence, McCrae and Carson; centre, Elmsley; wings, Stuart and M. McCrae; sub., Hutton.

Junior Game.

Lakefield—Goal, Miall; wings, McCauley, Wright; centre, Beardmore; wings, Bagg, Carson; subs, Gouan, MacFarlane.

ALBERTA ONLY UNDEFEATED RINK IN MACDONALD SINGLE RINK EVENT

Score Three Wednesday's Play For Macdonald Briories in Fcd. While Four Other Rinks Are Tied Place With Three Wins.

SASKATCHEWAN WINS THREE STRAIGHT.

TORONTO Feb. 27. — As a result of yesterday's play in the Macdonald of Canadian single rink championship for the Macdonald Tankard Alberta is a strong contender to capture the title, as the Alberta rink, skipped by Bobby Mc[illegible] three more wins to their credit with five of the nine games [illegible] them they are leading with three straight victories, while their nearest rivals have all won three games and lost two. There is a four-way tie for second place, with Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Montreal and Quebec all having outside chances of coming back into the running if Alberta should be defeated twice to-day or to-morrow morning.

In the three rounds played yesterday, there were a number of surprises and chief among them was the defeat of Howard Wood's Manitoba quartette by McLeod of Saskatoon, 15—7, in the evening. The Winnipeg four was the pre-competition favorite to retain the championship won the last two years by Gordon Hudson, of Winnipeg, but they dropped a stern struggle to Munro on Tuesday and then last night succumbed before the attack of McLeod. Saskatchewan dropped both games on the opening day, but yesterday they were thoroughly at home and won three to tie for second place, and as they meet Albetra in tonight's round they may make the struggle for the title a close one. McLeod scored two on each of the first and second ends, but Wood came back with a pair on the third and looked to be back in the game, but on the fourth end the Saskatoon rink scored a big five-end with with a 9 to 2 lead the ybad command of the game.

Pile sufferers can only get quick, safe and lasting relief by removing the cause—bad blood circulation in the lower bowel. Cutting and salves can't do this—an internal remedy must be used. BATTLE OF PALMS BALLYHOO EFFORT IS NOT SUCCESSFUL

Report That Schmeling is Injured is Quickly Denied in Berlin Despatch.

GATE DOUBTFUL.

MIAMI, Fla., February 27. — With the bally-hoo going full blast, reports that appeared little short of desperate were put forth yesterday to turn what has looked like a certain financial "flop" into a profitable success before Jack Sharkey and Phil Scott step into the ring for their 15-round heavyweight elimination match to-night.

The climax in the belated "build-up" was reached by issuance of a somewhat sensational yarn that Max Schmelling, the German clouter, had injured his thumb or his ankle, thereby jeopardizing his ring future, also the contemplated championship 'final' this June at New York and increasing the "significance" of the Sharkey-Scott outcome to a point where the winner might claim the world's title.

This elaborate reasoning sounded all very well until an Associated Press despatch from Berlin disclosed that Schmelling was in perfect health, good condition, and enjoying himself at the winter sports. This news reached the centre of the fight preparations with a dull, reverberating thud just as the respective managers of Scott and Sharkey were preparing elaborate statements to claim the championship for to-day's winner.

The handling of the spurious bad news about "Der Maxie" was marked by mystery and some bungling. The first statement saying Schmelling had broken his thumb three weeks ago was issued on the authority of Frank J. Bruen, general manager of the Madion Square Garden, but later in the day he denied knowledge of the reputed cablegram from Germany. At about the same time, however, the Miami Daily News, from a trustworthy source, reported it had been advised Schmelling had suffered an ankle injury and would never box again.

The News informant was unidentified, but said he personally had seen Schmelling on crutches in Berlin several weeks ago.

The Schmelling story, therefore, shared the same explosive fate as the bubble of Jimmy Johnston's row with Referee Lou Magnolia.

Miami was crowded with visitors to-day, for the season here is at its height, but there was still no definite answer as to whether they would flock out to the Arena to-night for the international heavyweight carnival in sufficient numbers to make the venture pay. General Manager Bruen repeated his prediction that the 'gate' would exceed $300,000, thereby representing a profit of $75,000 to $100,000.

The best available information, based on knowledge of advance sales up to yesterday, was that not many more than 25,000 fans would contribute a "gate" of around $200,000. This would mean a chance for the New York promoters to break even.

KISS COSTS LIFE

MARSEILLES, France (U.P.)—Because of a kiss that was too vigorous, Baptiste Bassio will have to spend the rest of his life on the penal colony of Devil's Island. Baptiste paid a vist to his father-in-law who owns a cafe here and greeted him in the customary gallic fashion by implanting a kiss on both cheeks. But Baptiste accidentally bit his father-in-law's left ear. A quarrel began which ended when the injured man drew his gun and shot his relative dead.

Sharkey-Scott Match Will Be Broadcast

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—Despite the refusal of Madison Square Garden Corporation to permit a broadcast of the Jack Sharkey-Phil Scott fight card from the ringside at Miami Beach, Fla., to-night, a growing list of stations planned to bring the fight faithful of the nation within hearing distance of the fisticuffing.

Associated Press description from the ringside will be broadcast by member papers through stations in 12 cities and special wires will carry reports to two other stations, including WABC in New York, which will relay the description over the Columbia broadcasting system. Station WOR in Newark, N.J., will carry a summary of each round in between numbers of a musical program. The opening of the broadcasts is scheduled between 9.30 and 10 p.m., Eastern standard time.

PARIS DEFEATS JORDON 2 TO 1 TO WIN ROUND

Winners Now Meet Walkerton in Final at Toronto Friday Night.

W. T. OUSTS KINGSTON.

Soo Juniors Defeat North Bay 7-2 in First Semi-final Game.

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 27 (C.P.)—The final of the Ontario Hockey Association Intermediate Series was reached last night at Hamilton, where Paris defeated Jordan, two goals to one, after 90 minutes of gruelling hockey. Previously the teams had battled 90 minutes at Galt in an effort to break the deadlock on the round. Jordan won the first game, one to nothing, while the Parisians tied the round in the second game, making a "sudden death" game necessary. Paris will now meet Walkerton in the final with the first game at Toronto Friday night.

West Toronto Takes Lead

West Toronto Juniors continued their triumphant way in the Junior playdowns by defeating Kingston, nine goals to nothing, at Toronto. The second game will be played at Kingston Friday and the winner will clash with University of Toronto in the semi-final on March 3 and 5.

A number of important games will be decided to-night with the Toronto Nationals - University of Toronto Senior championship final, probably holding the spotlight. Western Ontario fans, however, will no doubt be more interested in the stand being made by the clever Windsor-Walkerville Tech. Junior team in their game against the classy Niagara Falls sextet. The latter team won the first game in the semi-final series at home, four to nothing, and are favored in many quarters to breeze through to the championship. A victory by the Windsor team would furnish the greatest surprise to occur in the playdowns in years.

In the N.O.H.A. Junior competition Sault Ste. Marie play North Bay in the second of their two game semi-final series. Both game are being played at the Soo as the North Bay arena was burned down. The Greyhounds won last night's contest, seven to two.

A FIGHTING IRISHMAN

To-night Sammy Mandell, the lightweight champion, and Jimmy McLarnin, the British Columbia boy, will meet in Chicago for their third go at each other. The first bout was in Gotham when Jimmy upset the dope all over the Madison Square Garden, going the route of 15 rounds, only to lose the decision to Mandell. The second time they met at catch weights and James evened things up on the count, and this will be their third scramble on the canvas. When Jimmy took a flying leap into the spotlight certain sporting scribes in the United States took him into their arms, imaginations and columns as one of their native sons and gave him a swell ride gratis. But now that the lowdown on the fighting Irishman as to place of origin, career and other sundries has percolated, they have put James out of the picture as far as to-night's battle is concerned. Well maybe it is an old Yankee custom. That is what happened in New York when the big shots of New York had Jimmy all carved up as meat for Sid Terris but somewhere, some place, a "dumb ox" got his strings tangled and Sid got the works.

AIRPLANE SAVES TRAPPER'S LIFE

Pilot Battles Through Head Winds to Bring Indian to Red Cross Outpost Hospital.

Battling a furious wind and sleet storm, which at times held his airplane stationary in the air, Pilot Heisie of the Ontario Air Service, won a race with death recently, when he succeeded in safely landing Leo Mackacup, a dying Indian trapper, in the Nakina Red Cross Outpost Hospital in time to save his life. Mackacup, who lived at Fort Hope, was stricken with a persistent nasal hemmorrhage and was slowly bleeding to death, with no doctor, nurse or hospital near at hand to render assistance. Pilot Heisie, flying on patrol, was that day driven from his course by the violent storm, and, on sighting Fort Hope, decided to land and refuel. On hearing of the plight of the trapper, he offered to fly the sufferer 200 miles to the Outpost, where the doctors were able to save his life, though it was stated that within two hours he would have died, if he had not reached the hospital.

The Red Cross Outposts are used in dealing with many such emergencies. It is one of the reasons they are in existence. Not long ago, a lonely settler, living on a remote northern farm, fell through a trap door into his cellar and broke his hip. He was aware that he would starve to death if he lay where he had fallen, so he painfully dragged himself up through the hole, and after placing the only available food he could reach near his cot—maple sugar and bread—covered himself up to wait for the end.

Ten days later, a neighbor, attracted by the moaning of the starving cattle in the barn, came to investigate and found the settler almost dead. He was taken to the nearest outpost, and eventually was restored to life and health. His cattle were also saved. Their owner is once more pioneering on the frontiers, with an added courage now that he knows the Red Cross hospital will always meet his worst needs, when illness or accident takes its toll.

Help the local Red Cross put across financial campaign this week by contributing to the cause.

FIND ROMAN VILLA

PALERMO, (U.P.)—The remains of what must have been a handsome Roman villa of early Imperial times were accidentally brought to light in the village of Carini near here during the course of digging the foundations of a new school building. Large slabs of polychrone marble which formed the floors of the villa have been discovered together with a number of mosaics in good preservation. Traces of columns and statues probably belonging to a nymphaeum in the Pompei style have also come to light.

"GENTLEMEN'S" BARGAIN ONLY CONCESSION MADE TO SCOTT'S MANAGER

Referee Will Call in Physician and Chief Second Between the Rounds, to Examine Either Fighter if He is in Bad Shape.

MAGNOLA WILL TAKE COMPLETE COMMAND OF ALL EVENTS WITHIN SQUARED RING

MIAMI, Florida, Feb. 27. — (C.P.) —Canadian and British sailors were landed in substantial detachments yesterday from the men o' war anchored in Biscayne Bay, but as it turned out, it was not necessary to call upon them to settle a renewal of a controversy between Phil Scott's camp and the Miami boxing commission over the issue of procedure in the ring by Referee Lou Magnolia on Thursday night, when the British heavyweight fights Jack Sharkey.

Playing a lone hand in his attempts to break up the peaceful serenity of fight preparations, Scott's manager, Jimmy Johnston, tossed defiance at all orthodox ring regulations in a demand that he first be consulted by the referee before any possible action is taken to stop the bout because of Scott's condition.

Johnson insisted that if anything happened to "My Phil" he wanted it to be the count of ten, not any technicality of ruling or judgment on the part of the referee.

Johnson Argues Issue.

Not satisfied with a flat rebuff this morning from the commission and going so far as to threaten to call off the fight unless his demands were met, Johnson argued the issue out again this afternoon at another conference with the boxing authorities and referee Magnolia.

So far as the commission is concerned the whole matter was finally disposed off with this flat statement:

"Lou Magnolia is to have entire responsibility in refereeing the Jack Sharkey and Phil Scott boxing contest with no interference by any other person whatsoever."

At the same time a novel touch was added by the informal sanction of a "gentlemen's agreement," in the form of a concession to Johnson's position. This agreement is that Magnolia, on his own discretion, and depending upon the circumstances, may cast an inquiring look towards Scott's corner if the Briton is in distress. Otherwise, Magnolia will use his own judgment and confine any consultations with the handlers in either corner to the interval between rounds.

Offhand, in no previous fight that can be recalled has any "gentlemen's agreement" existed between the referee and a fight manager of this sort.

From the outset the whole debate has smacked of the ballyhoo, travelled around a complete circle, and wound up exactly where it started.

In short, Magnolia will take complete command as soon as the bell rings as the sole arbiter of all events within the ring.

INTENSE SECRECY BEING MAINTAINED AS LIPTON'S NEW YACHT TAKES FORM

LONDON, Feb. 27.—While intense secrecy is being preserved by all concerned, it was learned yesterday that Shamrock V, Sir Thomas Lipton's challenger for the famous American Cup, will be ready for launching in the early part of April.

The British "Hush-Hush" yacht is rapidly taking shape and growing into life under the hands of expert craftsmen in a shipbuilding yard at Gosport near Portsmouth.

Only the most trusted workmen are allowed to save anything to do with Sir Thomas's new treasure. She is guarded from the curious with greatest strictness.

Work has progressed so satisfactorily on the yacht that it is hoped she will be in the hands of the riggers by the end of April, to be prepared for her racing tests in May and June.

She will be tried with other yachts in her class at the various British regattas before she is re-rigged for the voyage across the Atlantic, in company with Sir Thomas Lipton's great steam yacht Albion, which he has especially purchased for this trip.

There is general expectation at Gosport that Shamrock V will be the fastest cutter that ever spread canvas to the breeze. Entirely new principles have been adopted in her design and construction and she may well be a revelation in sailing speed.

Her skipper will be Captain Edward Heed, of Brightlingsea, and her crew will be composed mainly of Brightlingsea men.

Southend, England, has a plague of flying ants.

SAINTS WINNERS BY SINGLE GOAL IN FINAL TILT

Both Squads Struggle Through Sixty Minutes of Torrid Hockey.

FINAL COUNT 3-2.

Maroons Defeat Rink Rats 3-2 to Win City Bantam Honors.

All Saints' won the Church League Juvenile Championship of the city by defeating the Park Street Church quintet by the count of 3—2 at the Brock Street Rink last night. The game was the first of a bill of four final and semi-final games of the Church League and the City League.

It was a torrid exhibition of youthful hockey that brought the large gathering of fans to their feet a number of times. Both squads struggled hard throughout to register, but shots that were poured at the nets were regularly beaten by Goalies Sanderson and Pearson. Rushes of Hope, Cotton and Frost for the Saints were smothered time after time and Tranter, Boylor and Mowry on the Park Street line-up had no better success.

The Saints drew first blood on a spectacular shot from the stick of Roy Hope. The contest moved hotter and faster from that point to the final bell. Harold Stewart event the count by nicking one for the Park Street lads, then Hope counted again for the Saints. Tranter for Park Street and Frost for the Saints, and it was all over. The teams:

All Saints—Goal, A. Sanderson; defense, J. Richardson, G. Jay; wings, R. Hope, M. Cotton; centre, H. Frost; subs, L. Patterson, R. Hetherington.

Park Street.—Goal, S. Parson; defense, O. Mowry, W. Stewart; centre, R. Tranter; wings, E. Boyler, B. Harton; sub. M. Taylor.

Tied on Round

As the result of a win by All Saints' over George Street in the Junior section of the Church League, in a hard fought game last night, another contest will be necessary to decide the championship. George Street won the first game, but All Saints took last night's clash by the count of 3—0.

During the first two stanzas, neither of the squads were able to bring home the bacon, but the Saints got results when they unloosed a burst of speed in the last session.

Hughes, Young and Jay nicked the three winning goals.

The teams:

All Saints—Goal, Arnold Sanderson; defense, H. Jay, B. Hope; wings, A. Hughes, G. Young; centre, B. Frost; subs, R. Hope, G. Jay.

George Street.—Goal, M. Clark; defense, A. Bonny, R. Davidson; wings, R. Payne, G. Seabrooke; centre, A. Saunders; subs, G. Gatfield, O. Roseborough.

Win City Honors

The Maroons won City Bantam honors in the City Hockey League when they nosed out Rube Brady's Rink Rats by a 3—2 count. It was the second play-off between the two squads. The Maroons copped the first by the score of 4—2.

The battle last night was neck and neck for the first period. Only the veteran-like work of the goalies, Sweetman for the Rats, and Clarke for the Maroons, kept the scores from running into two figures. The Rink Rats got the first counter in the first period on a solo play by Williamson. Before the session was over the Maroons popped their first one when Wright registered, assisted by Macdonald.

Twice in the second period the Maroons tallied. Scorers were Kingdon and Weir. Last period saw Maroons fall back on the defensive with honors tied in the bag, but despite their efforts Peters, on the Rats' defense, seeped through for another counter. The teams:—

Moroons—Goal, G. Clarke; defense, A. Ward, G. Stabler; wings, Ross Robinson, J. Gatfield; centre, B. Kingdon; subs, R. Macdonald, W. Wright.

Rink Rats—J. Sweetman; centre, A. Brady; wings, E. Dixon, S. Williamson; defense; D. Peters, E. Conners, Malt Murdock. Subs, B. McCarthy, M. O'Leary, B. Kennedy.

Tigers Cop Second Game

The Tiger entry in the City League Juvenile section got the second game of three play-off contests for the Bredin Cup against the Adanacs, by a 1—0 count.

The one goal came with 60 seconds left to play before the final bell. It was the result of a nice bit of work by Bill Abbott, Tiger wing. The teams:

Tigers—Goal, P. McCarroll; defense, O. McCulloch, E. Gibson; wing, B. Abbott, B. Payne; center, R. Kernia; subs, E. Prete, J. Peel.

Adanacs.—Goal, R. Jones; defense, H. Wiley, C. Brooks; wings, E. Wright, L. Begley; center, R. Kingdon; subs, R. Wheeler.

DUSTY COOKE LOOMS AS SLUGGING MENACE TO BAMBINO AND LOU

Leading Batsmen of American Association Last Year Impresses With Great Display of Hitting Power — Rookie Pleases Hargrave.

NEW SLUGGER NOT TROUBLED BY FENCES; WILL LIKELY TAKE PLACE IN OUTFIELD

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Feb. 27.—It was only straight-ball pitching, the same old kinkless brand which anybody can hit. For that reason there was nothing strange in the fact that Dusty Cooke slapped it. Dusty was the leading clubber in the American Association last season, and as such, he was not expected to wilt when called upon to take his first swings of the new season.

Everybody in Bob Shawkey's Yankee squad of twenty-five players were taking toe-holds and socking the ball during the single session devoted to practise this morning. The difference between Cooke and the other hitters was that Dusty poked the ball so much farther than his mates. If distance can be relied upon to lend enchantment to the view, there was planty of that to be had when Dusty was swinging. Mr. Ruth and Mr. Gehrig have another playmate who is a positive menace to the neighbors' children. Master Cooke is not likely to be cramped by the fences, be they ever so distant.

Hargrave Pleased

Bubbles Hargrave, the man who came back as a major leaguer after celebrating his thirtyseventh birthday, beamed a wide smile as Cooke took those full-sized cuts and the ball rode away.

"Did that same thing all last year in the association," explained Bubbles, who got a lot of kick out of Cooke's clouting through 1929. It happened that Bubbles was manager of St. Paul Club and every long sock turned in by Dusty was a help to Hargraves' ball club.

Cooke, if one is to take the word of several big league scouts, was good enough last season to perform as a major league regular.

He was serving his apprenticeship in the favorite farm of Miller Huggins, and predictions have been made freely that Cooke cannot be kept out of the Yankee outfield in the coming year. He is ready, they all say, to turn loose his murderous hitting against any brand of pitching. On to-day's exhibition there is no doubting the power of Cooke's punch. Every baseball training camp has its morning glories, or early Spring hitters, but one has to be a super-hitter to drive to the distances which Cooke is able to reach.

JUNIOR CURLERS RETURN TO CITY

Plans Under Way to Provide Fitting Entertainment For Provincial Champions.

MOTOR FROM TORONTO.

No band played blithe music, no hand was stretched in welcome and no voice said "Well done," last night when the Ontario Junior Tankard winners for the second year in succession returned home.

Jack Amy's victorious rink of Peterborough youngsters were home before the senior curlers of the city were aware that the Junior Tankard trophy would for another year decorate the cabinet of the local curling club. The boys motored down in cars, arriving about 8 o'clock.

But the great win of the Peterborough Junior curlers will not be allowed to go unnoticed and unsung. Members of the Curling Club are already busy on plans for a fitting entertainment for the provincial champions, when their victory will be fully recognized.

The personnel of the victorious rink that swept over the best junior curlers in the province is: Jack and Roger Amys, Don Best and Bill Howden.

ICY SIDEWALKS CAUSE TWO INJURIES

Mrs. A. O. Phillips and Mrs. Dickensen Suffer Fractures From Falls.

Two accidents were caused yesterday as the direct result of the slippery sidewalks due to the wintry conditions which prevailed after the thaw and resulted in a broken wrist, which was sustained by Mrs. A. O. Phillips of Antrim street, and a broken ankle in the case of Mrs. J. Dickenson of 12 Wolsley street.

Mrs. Phillips sustained the second break to her wrist, having had a similar accident three months ago. She was attended by Dr. J. A. Morgan who was on his way to Nicholls Hospital to attend to Mrs. Dickenson who had slipped on the Benson street sidewalk outside the Normal School and who had been conveyed to hospital. Her injuries were treated by Dr. Morgan and Dr. E. A. Hammond.

Shotton Talks of New Contracts For Philadelphia National Stars.

Willis Hudlin, who with Wes Ferrell constitutes the holdout brigade of the Cleveland Indians, has delivered another ultimatum. Hudlin said at his home at Parsons, Kan., he has no intention of reporting until his salary demands are met

FERRELL TOP BACKSTOP

Rick Ferrell, rookie catcher last season, was told he is No. 1 backstop with the St. Louis Browns this year by manager "Billy" Killefer, as he stepped to the plate on the second day of the spring training jaunt at West Palm Beach.

NEW TRAINING CAMP STUNTS

The New York Yankees evidently are trying to outdo one another in training camp stunts at St. Petersburg, Fla. The catchers failed in their attempts to snare balls tossed from an aeroplane so yesterday some of the other players called in a blimp for the stunt and caught a few balls thrown from heights up to 380 feet.

WILL SETTLE DIFFERENCES

Salary differences with some of the stars of the Philadelphia Nationals will soon be settled, manager Pur Shotton said to-day. Shotton arrived at the training camp at Winter Haven Fla. yesterday with a small band of players. Manager Shotton said that new contracts had been forwarded to Chuck Klein and Frank O'Doul, slugging outfielders, and Pinkey Whitney, hard-hitting third baseman.

ANOTHER CHINESE ASSAULTED IN CAFE

Youth Refused to Pay For Coffee—Police Court.

The parade of customary culprits at Police Court enjoyed a marked change this morning. Three local citizens, "all most respectable," appeared before Magistrate Langley and paid $5 and costs when they pleaded guilty to not having radio licenses.

The radio inspectors were present and they told The Examiner that next week eleven more on a similar charge "would be brought up."

A Chinese, a greatly swollen, black and blue bruise decorating his right eye, swore out an information against a local youth for an alleged attack made upon him last night in a cafe. According to the Celestial, he got the "shiner" in the first exchange.

There was some argument about the charge for coffee. "I didn't touch him, just told him to get out," said the Chinese. Then wham a cross-hook and the Oriental heard the birds go "Tweet, tweet."

The case will be heard on Saturday, and, according to information furnished the police, the local young Dempsey struck the second blow. The Chinese launched the first punch.

A BEDTIME STORY

by Howard R. Garis

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE FROZEN DWARF

Uncle Wiggily told Jingle and Jangle, two of his little rabbit girls who were ill, a story from the frosty window glass about a giant who made a dwarf with a red nose come and live in his ice cave. This was because the giant wanted a red flower and, as the dwarf's nose was this color, it did very nicely for a blossom.

"Go on, Daddicums, tell us another, please!" begged Jingle when the one about the dwarf and giant was finished.

"When we listen to your stories we don't think about being sick," said Jangle, "and we won't even mind taking bitter medicine if Dr. Possum gives it to us."

"All right," said Uncle Wiggily, "I'll tell you another story after Dr. Possum gets here and gives you medicine to make you well of whatever you have, whether it's a cold, the chicken-pox, measles or the mumps."

But when Dr. Possum came he said Jingle and Jangle just had colds and must stay in their warm bed for a few days.

"Don't we need to take any medicine?" asked Jingle.

"No," said Dr. Possum, as he hung his bag of powders and pills back on his curved tail and went along to see

"No medicine," said Dr. Possum

some of his other sick animals. "No medicine!"

Jingle and Jangle were so glad about this they went to sleep, without teasing their father for another story. And Uncle Wiggily was glad about this, though he didn't mind telling such jolly tales of things he saw on the frosty windows.

"But it's time I hopped out and had an adventure," he said when Jingle and Jangle were asleep

Out of his hollow stump bungalow hopped the rabbit gentleman, still thinking of the story he had told the children—about the giant and dwarf of Iceland near the Orange Ice Mountains, and of how the red nose of the dwarf was as good as a crimson blossom for the giant to have in his cold, white, frostly cave.

All of a sudden, as Uncle Wiggily was hopping over the snow covered fields and through the woods, he saw, moving just ahead of him, a little creature, going along bibbity bob. It was a strange little chap with a spot of red on him.

"B'less my pink nose!" exclaimed the rabbit gentleman to himself. "That must be the flower dwarf from the frosty window that I was telling the story about to Jingle and Jangle. Surely, that's the dwarf! I can see his red nose which the giant in the ice cave pretended was a flower."

So sure was Uncle Wiggily about this that he made up his mind he would hop along fast, catch up to the dwarf ahead of him, and ask him about the giant, and whether or not the big fellow was happy. For though it was only a story Uncle Wiggily had made up to amuse the children, yet, to the rabbit gentleman himself, what had happened in the cave and mysterious mountain of the frosty window seemed very real.

"Maybe the dwarf can make up some more stories," thought the bunny. So along he hopped, skippity pip, after the dwarf.

Now, though Uncle Wiggily didn't know it, this wasn't the cave dwarf at all. It was Slim Jim, the hungry weasel, who was playing a trick on Mr. Longears. Slim Jim the weasel, had been hiding under the window of the room where Jingle and Jangle were ill when their Daddicums told them the dwarf and giant story. And, having heard it, and knowing Uncle Wiggily almost believed it to be real, Slim Jim, the hungry weasel said to himself:

'I'll wait until Uncle Wiggily comes out of his bungalow. Then I'll dip my nose in some strawberry jam that I'll take in my pocket, and I'll pretend to be the dwarf with the red flower. That rabbit will follow me to the dark woods and I'll have him for supper."

Everything turned out that way. Uncle Wiggily saw what he thought was the red nosed dwarf and hopped after him. But it was the weasel, Slim Jim with strawberry jam.

"Ha; Ha!" chuckled Slim Jim. "He's following me! I'll soon have him in the dark woods." For though a weasel isn't as large as a rabbit, he is so fierce and hungry, Slim Jim, that he can easily catch a bunny even as wise as Uncle Wiggily.

Nearer and nearer to what he thought was the jolly red nosed dwarf Mr. Longears hopped. And then, all of a sudden, as Slim Jim was leading Uncle Wiggily on, the weasel slipped, stumbled and fell into an ice cold puddle of water.

"Oh, you'll be frozen stiff, poor dwarf!" cried Uncle Wiggily. And that's just what happened. Crawling out of the water, Slim Jim froze into a chunk of ice and then he couldn't catch Mr. Longears and Uncle Wiggily, hopping close, saw that it wasn't the jolly dwarf after all.

"My! What a luck escape for me!" cried the rabbit hurrying to his bungalow.

J. J. DUFFUS RETURNS FROM OTTAWA ARRANGED FOR COMMITTEE VISIT

Finds Story of David Fife Not Generally Known.

CORDIALLY RECEIVED.

J. J. Dufffus returned this morning from Ottawa where he arranged yesterday an engagement for the Fife memorial sub-committee, with the Agriculture, in a few days.

Following the organization meeting Tuesday night when the proposal to ask the government to establish a demonstration farm as a memorial to David Fife was formally endorsed by representatives of the city and county, Mr. Duffus left immediately for Ottawa. The other members of the sub-committee, Warden Hawthorne, Reeve Fred McIntyre and Mayor Denne, were all in Toronto yesterday, so Mr. Duffus was unaccompanied.

He met most of the Ministers, including Crerar, Heenan and Dunning, and also some of the Senators, and private members of the Commons. In most instances, Mr. Duffus reports, the members of Parliament had heard of Fife wheat, but they lacked information as to its origin and development. The expressed surprise and interest in the facts Mr. Duffus presented, and promised their support to Peterborough's appeal.

It is expected that the hearing of the main delegation will be appointed for the latter part of March, probably about the 25th of the month.

In the Department of Agriculture, Mr. Duffus learned from the director of the experimental farms, that there are three classes of them, experimental sub-statins and illustration stations. This part of Ontario is not included in any Dominion farm district, and the development of a new project would require the opening of a new district.

The experimental sub-stations are abridged forms of the experimental sub-stations. They are on a smaller scale and lack the exensive decorative features of the larger stations. They are operated on more practical lines, developing all practical ideas of drainage, the cultivation of all kinds of seeds and vegetables, hay, alfalfa and the other grasses, the raising of stock and so on.

The illustration stations are owned by farmers, but the government pays him to manage it, or puts another man in charge of the work which is intended to be of assistance in the immediate neighborhood. Mr. Duffus said he was received with marked cordiality on all sides.

Sharkey 5-1 Favorite In To-nights Battle

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 27 (C.P.)—Jack Sharkey, the first of the principals in to-night's heavyweight fight carnival to weigh in, scaled exactly 197 pounds at the offices of the Miami Boxing Commission shortly after noon.

Sharkey, ruling a strong favorite at odds of 5 to 1 to whip his British opponent, Phil Scott, in the fifteen round feature bout to-night, appeared in perfect trim as he arrived promptly for the weighing-in ceremonies in the City Hall.

The official examination verified Sharkey's remarkable condition. There was not the least indication of staleness or excess weight, though at 197 he was a pound or so heavier than he has been for any of his previous big fights.

To avoid possible clashes, the boxers were weighed at five and ten minute intervals, starting at 12.30 p.m.

Scott tipped the beam at 205, eight pounds more than Sharkey. The Briton had nothing to say.

CHURCH'S INFLUENCE ON DRAMA

Revived the Art After Smothering It Rev. J. D. Paterson Related in Interesting Address to Dramatic Society of All Saints' Church.

Members of the Dramatic Club of All Saints' Church, with their friends, also the members of the church orchestra and their friends and all those who had anything to do with the presentation of the play, "The Old Wooden Bucket" were enteretained last evening at a very friendly and pleasant banquet held in the comfortable basement room of the church, where fifty-six guests assembled for a program of brief speeches and a splendid supper, followed by games and contests and music. The menu was a fine one, and included hot meats and vegetables, jellies in red and yellow and green, apple and berry pie and tea and coffee. It was in charge of the Women's Guild of the church, of which Mrs. James Price is president, while James Price, who is the genial and popular president and director of the Dramatic Club, having led its fortunes through eight successful years, presided as chairman.

Two long tables were arranged attractively with snowy cloths crossed by bands of crimson paper and decorated with Valentine cutouts of cupids and hearts. There were red candles in black holders and little miniature "wooden buckets" done cleverly in green paper.

During the supper hour, community singing was led by George East, with Miss Irene Foster at the piano.

The speechmaking program was featured by a brief, brilliant little talk by the Rev. Mr. Paterson, in which he outlined in very interesting fashion the relation of the drama to church services in the past.

Church and Drama

"The art of the drama has been both killed and fostered by the church since the very earliest days" said Mr. Paterson. "Those of us who have studied Greek know that nearly all the textbooks were based on old plays which were performed in the days before the birth of Our Lord. But what began as an excellent institution became degraded and sensual and the Christians of the first and second century were consequently forbidden to have anything to do with these plays, so that the drama ceased to exist. But, later on, the Church resurrected the corpse which it had killed. We may often wonder why, in our own church service, the celebration of holy communion is placed in the center of the service, instead of at the end. This has a historic reason. In the early days, the presentation of the Gospel story took the form, not of a sermon, but of a drama, and the priest and junior ministers would leave the altar in the middle of the service to give a pageant to illustrate the story. These were called liturgical plays and were especially popular at the Easter, Christmas and Epiphany seasons.

On Good Friday, the crucifix would be taken from the church and solemnly buried In Lincoln Cathedral to-day a sepulchre is erected which was used in early times for the burial of the crucifix. And then on Easter Sunday, the resurrection of the crucifix took place.

Women's Opportunity.

In one of these plays of the Resurrection, women were used for the first time and the words follow exactly the words of the Scriptures. Everything was at first spoken in Latin but later the custom changed to using the language of the country in which the play was presented. Also, as themes broadened out, the stage of the play was shifted from the church to the graveyard, which was the early threatre of plays.

In an old play called "Adam," the stage was outside the church door and represented the Garden of Eden. The church behind it was meant to represent Heaven, while the ground in front of the church meant the rest of the world and beneath was the place of torment. In this play, the instructions are most detailed. The actors must speak composedly and use appropriate gestures. "They must not foist a syllable nor clip one of the verses and they must repeat what is set down, in good order."

This type of presentation was called the "mystery" or "morality" play, and the reverend speaker suggested a similar production for Advent. They are now being used extensively by theatre guilds in many large cities. The Passion Play at Oberammergau started about the year 1400, and was intended to elaborate these little plays. In the Acts of the Apostles, it was required to memorize 62,000 verses and it took forty days to produce. The man who portrayed the part of Christ had to memorize 4,000 lines.

In those days, tragic endings were prolonged, and it was also the habit in enacting the Holy Week drama, to take a week to do it, with certain distinctive performances for each day. The custom of realism was so strong that an actor portraying the part of the Saviour once actually hung for three hours on the cross and was nearly dead from exhaustion when at last taken down. An unfortunate incident also ocurred on one occasion when Judas tied the knot so tightly about his own neck that he expired. It was an accident, of course, but nothing could be done except to cut down the body and solemnly bury it.

Harrowing of Hell.

One of the most popular of the morality plays in England in the early days was called "The Harrowing of Hell." Shakespeare brought the end of the vogue for these dramatic presentations, but during the past fifteen years a strong revival of them has been seen in many large cities.

The reverend speaker suggested an interest in the old dramas, and also, for future consideration, the ultimate presentation of the famous morality play called "Everyman."

The speech by the Rev. Mr Paterson, which was listened to with keen interest, was in reply to a toast to "The Church," which was beautifully expressed in fine, thoughtful words by Mrs. E. LeBarr.

"The church is the House of God. It means a sacred sort of fellowship to us when we gather at Holy Communion service. Christ is the head of the church. "On this rock I will build my Church." We have taken part here in All Saints' in the growth from a tiny parish to the beautiful building we now occupy. We have a minister who preaches the Gospel in a manner that can't be surpassed anywhere in the Dominion of Canada. Although we have our difficulties at times, we can remember that God has not promised us that the sun will always shine. But He has promised that where two or three are gathered together in His name, He will be in their midst. Let us always back up our rector by doing what we can to build up our church."

The program of speeches opened with a brief little address by Mr. Price, who thanked all who had made the annual presentation play such a success.

The toast to the Dramatic Club, which came later, was proposed by the rector's warden, G. B. Richardson. He spoke of the enjoyment he had experienced in attending the performances, congratulated the club on the good work done by the members, and enumerated many of their efforts in past years. He spoke of the good fellowship existing among the club members and said the present gathering was typical of the club.

H. Carter responded in a witty vein and brief speeches were also made, eulogistic of the good work of the club and the church orchestra, by Harold Choate, the People's Warden, who complimented the ladies especially, and by George Chandler, who has been for twenty years choirmaster at All Saints' Church. Mrs. E. L. Goodley, leader of the orchestra, responded on behalf of that organization.

Mr. Price, who is director of the plays as well as president of the club, and who is a very energetic and popular leader of the young people, and a talented ed director of their annual presentations, spoke briefly of the coming play which will be announced soon.

GUARDS MAY GO

LONDON, (U.P.) — Red-coated, steel helmeted horse guards who attract so much attention from tourists as they sat erect on fine horses at the gates of White Hall, may be abolished here for the sake of economy. Theoretically the guards are at the gates to prevent entrance to Whitehall which houses government departments.

Canada Consuming More Bacon Than We Produce

BRITISH MARKET WAS ABANDONED BECAUSE OF SERIOUS SHORTAGE AT HOME, G. S. MATTHEWS STATES

Peterborough Plant of C. P. C. Largest Exporter Until Recently.

ADDRESS TO FARMERS.

50,000 Lambs Coming From New Zealand—Bacon From U. S.

Some startling facts concerning the serious situation which prevails in the hog market particularly with regard to overseas trade, were given to the hog producers who met in this city yesterday under the auspices of the Canadian Packing Company, the Ontario Department of Agriculture and the Dominion Live Stock Branch, by Gordon Matthews, local manager of the company.

"It is our duty to feed the people," he said, "to supply their needs day in and day out. The situation in Canada is becoming serious when you consider that, in 1924, 22,000 hogs per week were killed in Ontario and in 1929 only 17,000, while the 1920 average is less than 16,000. In Peterborough we were the largest exporters up to four months ago, but now we have to retain all our bacon in Canada because the need for it here is very great."

He went on to explain that last year they were shipping to England and could sell bacon at a close price to Danish. Canadian bacon is equal to Danish—if not better, but the English market was abandoned owing to the serious shortage which is felt in Canada.

The situation is that bacon and hogs are not being exported; our butter is coming from New Zealand, a reduction of tariff, and very shortly stated the speaker, we will receive a shipment of 50,000 lambs from New Zealand to feed Canada. They will [illegible] in Ontario stores bacon is being sold that has been imported from the United States.

Because of the shortage of supply the farmers expect the price of hogs to see a big rise, but Mr. Matthews informed his audience that the prices were at the maximum now. The consumer will not pay any more for their produce.

Should Produce More

"Would it not be better for you to raise 40 per cent more hogs," said Mr. Matthews, "and take less money for them. You must look ahead. The way we are going to-day will get us nowhere. If only the farmers of Ontario would raise a certain number of hogs for a period of ten years the packers could find a market for them and our returns all around would be more satisfactory.

The speaker went at some length into the problems confronting the packers and his talk to farmers was in reality a plea to wake up to facts and to enter into the spirit of co-operation, which is so essential to good business.

In conclusion, he extended to them an open invitation to visit the packing plant at any time they were in the city.

Hog Grading a Factor

D. A. McKinnon, who occupied the chair, thanked the speaker for his interesting address and called upon L. W. Pearsall of Toronto, who gave an interesting talk on hog market development, explaining fully the necessity for hog grading, adding that it was a great factor in raising the quality basis, and, if it did not do that, it was not being of full value.

The speaker considered that bacon type hogs give as great gains as any type of hog and that the farmer should make an intensive study of his production costs and feed problems.

Dr. Lionel Stevenson, Provincial Zoologist, speaking on parasites in hogs and lambs, touched on many points of vital interest to his audience. He made the astounding declaration that parasites are taking $4,500,000 out of the pockets of the farmer each year, which is a very heavy handicap to the swine industry of this province.

The doctor had some interesting exhibits of worms taken from the intestines of hogs and with the aid of a chart he explained the various types of worms, their method of attacking the animal and the means of counteracting this menace.

The female worm lays 20,000 eggs

Nun's Premonition Prevented Theft

DETROIT, Mich., Feb. 28. — Providence hospital's pay roll was safe in the strong box today because sister Rosario had a premonition.

She postponed payday a day beyond the regular time, and this morning a man appeared at her office and demanded money. She showed him an empty till and he left. Two weeks ago a man mingled with employees, held Sister Rosario at the point of a gun and escaped with $5,000.

WALTER GREGOR IS GIVEN REMAND

Will Appear March 5 on Manslaughter Charge For Shooting Boyhood Friend.

OUT ON $10,000 BAIL.

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 28. (Canadian Press).—Charged with manslaughter in connection with the death of his boyhood friend, Walter Gregor, 28, appeared in Police Court at Mimico, a Toronto suburb, today and was remanded to March 5. He was allowed his freedom on bail of $10,000.

The charge arose from the fatal wounding last night of Edward King 29, while laughingly discussing the possibility of his not returning to repay five dollars which he had just borrowed from Gregor, a Mimico storekeeper. Unable to cash a cheque for King, Gregor had offered to loan him five dollars. While the former was making out an I.O.U. he jokingly asked if Gregor was afraid he would not return to pay him the money.

"If you don't," the storekeeper replied, as he produced a revolver from a drawer. "You'll have this to contend with." The gun discharged as he pointed it at King who dropped to the floor, mortally wounded.

RABIES SITUATON IS WELL IN HAND

Veterinary Holding Several Dogs, But No Signs of Disease Exhibited.

GIRL IS ATTACKED.

Although nothing to indicate that there is any danger of epizootic rabies in this city has appeared, all possible precautions are being taken, Dr. Thomas Johnston, official veterinary for Peterborough County, said this morning.

Dr. Johnston has several dogs tied up at present, and is holding them for periods of ten days to make sure that they are not carriers of the rabies germ. He has picked up a number of dogs on orders from the police, and also has taken several that have been taken off the streets from the police.

One of the dogs he has under observation is a mongrel which attacked his daughter Olga while returning from the Prince of Wales School along Monaghan Road on Wednesday afternoon. Serious injuries would have been inflicted but for the intervention of a passing motorist. Dr. Johnston says that he does not think the dog has rabies.

Some criticism has been heard about the city concerning the manner in which the proclamation of the Mayor to the effect that all dogs be tied up for three months, is being carried out.

When Inspector Wood from the Toronto division of the Department was in the city last week he intimated that if the city officials did not enforce his order, the Government would send men in to carry out the requirements.

ACTOR FORGETS TO APPEAR.

BERLIN, (U.P.) — Veit Harlan, one of Berlin's best known actors, is probably the only stage star professing a weak memory. When recently, twice in close succession, Veit failed to appear at the theatre where he was playing the leading role, he did not try one of those time honored excuses like sudden illness or an automobile accident, but told his director that his weak memory had caused him to forget his stage appearance.

600 Arrested in Chicago Thursday; "Secret Six" Mopping Up Criminals

CHICAGO, Ill., February 28. (C.P.) — A man was killed by a policeman, an officer of the law was wounded chasing bandits, and a bomb with a sputtering fuse was discovered in time to prevent a serious explosion early to-day as the police push forward their drive against criminals. Six hundred arrests were made during the 24 hours ended last night.

Walter Collins, a negro and non-combatant in a gunfight between eight policemen, and a man they sought to arrest, was killed.

Policeman David McLean was wounded twice in the arm when he exchanged shots with two men who attempted to rob him.

PATROLMEN FIND BOMB.

Two patrolmen found a bomb, with fuse lighted, in the doorway of a butcher shop in the Maxwell street ghetto. Meanwhile "Crimeless Chicago in six months," was the slogan to-day of the secret committee of six.

Colonel Robert Randolph, president of the Association of Commerce, who organized the "Secret Six," promised the association that the anti-crime drive will be unremitting. He said $1,000,000 might be necessary to insure success of the drive.

EMPLOYMENT IN CANADA REACHES HIGH PEAK, HON. G. N. GORDON SAYS ANSWERING MRS. HOWARD FALLIS

Reminds Another Conservative of Importance of U. S. Industries Here.

LIBERAL "AT HOME."

Burden of Taxation Imposed on Farmers By Ferguson Government.

For [illegible] of a Federal election this year, the possibility of a Liberal convention in the near future to select a Parliamentary candidate and the launching of an intensive pre-election campaign were all mooted at the annual meeting and "At Home" of the Peterborough Liberal Association held last evening in the Canadian Legion Hall. The auditorium was comfortably full of Liberal supporters who had come to hear addresses by Senator H. H. Horsey and Hon. G. N. Gordon. Dr. J. J. Craig president of the Association, occupied the chair and after extending a warm welcome to all present, said he thought that Premier Mackenzie King and his government would live to enjoy the confidence of all Canada for many years to come. "Let this meeting," he urged, "be a starting point to go forward as a complete organization and when the election comes we will go over the top and reclaim this riding for the Liberal Party."

Replying to a recent address in which Mrs. Howard Fallis had blamed the Liberal Party's policy for the unemployment in this country, Hon. G. N. Gordon said she had been harking on that question for years, but he would like to remind her that employment in Canada has reached the peak in the past year. It is steadier now than it ever has been in the history of the Dominion. In the United States there are three million unemployed and one-and-a-half million in Great Britain and other European countries are in a more or less similar condition.

Mr. Gordon also made reference to Rev. W. G. Martin's recent address in which he referred to the United States as a giant octopus endeavoring to strangle Canadian enterprise but thought he should have borne in mind the fact that Peterborough relies greatly for its prosperity on American manufacturers who have located here. He mentioned such firms as the Canadian General Electric, The Quaker Oats Company, Johnson Motors and Raybestos.

Mrs. Fallis had said that Canadians were leaving for the United States in alarming numbers but Mr. Gordon went to prove that only 86 more Canadians went to the U.S. last year than the number of Americans who came here.

"The Liberal Government gave us old age pensions," said Mr. Gordon, "after Howard Ferguson's government had dallied over the matter and left the old folks on the doorstep. And the speaker considered that the Ontario Government had committed a small and cheap action in making the municipalities pay 20 per cent of this tax when all the other provincial governments were going fifty-fifty with the Federal Government.

The farmers are leaving their farms because they are already taxed out. He is taxed over 400 per cent above the 1910 level and the value of his produce has only increased 60 per cent.

The only increased taxation levied by the Dominion Government is the cheque tax, the sales tax which has had a cut of from 3 per cent in 1923 to 2 per cent in 1929; the income tax in which case the exemption for each child has been raised from $300 $500 and the exemption limit from $2,000 to $3,000 in the case of married persons.

Speaking of the soldiers pensions he said these had fallen off under the Conservative regime but last

FARM BOARD MAY REMODEL POLICY

Many Fyle Protests Against Plan of Purchasing Solely From Affiliated Co-operatives.

COMPLAIN TO HOOVER.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., February 28 (Canadian Press). — "Some modification" of the Federal Farm Board's three-day-old policy of refusing to buy wheat except from co-operatives affiliated with its Farmers' National Grain Corporation may be made, it was announced in telegrams from Samuel R. McKelvie, grain member of the Farm Board.

The messages were received by the North-west Country Elevator Association and the Minneapolis Grain Commission Merchants' Association.

The Country Elevator and Commission Merchants' Association both wired the Farm Board and the latter also laid its protests before President Hoover.

BLONDE BANDIT GETS 20 YEARS FOR ROBBERIES

One of Male Companions Gets Life, Other, Fifteen Years to Life.

GIRL, FIRST OFFENDER.

Lifer Lessened Chances of Leniency By Slashing Throat of Witness.

BUFFALO, N.Y., Feb. 28.—(C.P.)—Sentences of life imprisonment in Auburn prison were meted out to-day by Justice Hinkley in Supreme Court to Peter Dombkiewicz, companion of Sallie Joye Richards, "blonde bandit," in a series of hold-ups here, and to Stanley Przybyl, the "millionaire kid," the fifth to be sentenced for participation in the $300,000 gem robbery at the home of John L. Carson of this city.

The 20 year old blonde girl was given 20 years to life in prison, and Eddie Izydorczak, who was arrested with her and Dombkiewicz in Montgomery, Ala., will spent 15 years to life at Auburn. Both were first offenders and were given minimum sentences, mandatory by law.

The specific charge against Dombkiewicz, Izyforizak and the Richards girls was robbery, first degree, in the hold-up of David Glickstein in his jewelry shop here. The two men pleaded guilty.

Dombkiewicz in court as a witness lessened his chances of leniency during the blonde girl's trial Wednesday by slashing the throat of Gickstein, who had identified Sallie as the girl who threatened him with a revolver before she and her two accomplices robbed him of $9,000 worth of jewelry.

Because Isydorczak, the 21-year-old member of the blonde bandit's gang offered a plea of guilty, and because he had never before been convicted of a felony, he was let off with the lightest sentence.

Girl Was Defiant.

The Richards girl, who was identified previously as having led a raid with Dombkiewimz on the pawn shop of Max Kantrowitz here, maintained a defiant air on her return from the south. She clung to her determination to fight the case, although she was said to have admitted participation in various crimes.

Arguments of her counsel that she was forced by Dombkiewicz to take part in the robberies on threat of death if she refused, and that her parents' death early in her life had left her unprotected, failed to impress the jury, however.

In the Kantrowitz hold-up, she was said to have fired several shots from a revolver at her pursuers when she was making her escape.

FARMERS FAVOR BIRTH CONTROL

Consider it a Means to Solve Their Economic Problems.

WOULD REMOVE BAN.

SASKATOON, Sask., Feb. 28 (C.P.) —Firm support of birth control, as an important step toward solving economic problems of farmers and other working classes, was expressed yesterday by the convention of United Farmers of Canada, Saskatchewan section. The stand, based on that of the last Saskatchewan Farm Women's Week, is the most pronounced approval of birth control ever offered by a Provincial farmers' body.

Removal of the ban on safe, sane and hygenic contraceptives is requested of the Dominion Government by the convention's decision. It is also advised that immediate provision be made for training all practising physicians in application of such contraceptives, and that clinics be added to "all hospitals far and wide for the purpose of dissemination of such contraceptive methods as are found most suitable for each case."

Canadian Emigration To United States Ends

LONDON, Ont., Feb. 28—Visas issued from the entire London jurisdiction of the United States consulate fell to 40 in February and the exodus of Canadians to the United States is regarded as definitely ended. This number is the lowest February total in many years. Officials wrote that the reduction has two principal causes: Unmployment in the United States and the stiffening of United States immigration regulations.

BOXING BOARD UPHOLDS ACTION

Miami Commission Unanimously Supports Decision of Lou Magnolia.

SCOTT UNDER TREATMENT.

MIAMI, Feb. 28. (Canadian Press) Lou Magnolia's action in declaring Jack Sharkey the winner and refusing to allow Phil Scott's claim of foul in last night's fistic fiasco was formally upheld to-day by the Miami Boxing Commission.

Chairman of the commission, Louis MacReynolds, advised Magnolia that his action was unanimously supported. Jimmy Johnston, Scott's manager, declared his intention of filing a protest. MacReynolds indicated no protest would be entertained.

Scott is said to have suffered so much pain from the blow that it was necessary to administer morphia at five o'clock this morning to get him to sleep. After breakfast, Scott was taken to a solarium for treatment of the raumisme of the right sciatia nerve and also stomach muscles. He was able to walk.

Jack Sharkey's manager, Johnny Buckley, lost no time in issuing a statement the claim would be fyled with the Massachusetts Boxing Commission. He expressed willingness, however, to have Sharkey fight Max Schmeling in June, with the championship at stake.

Referee Magnolia repeated his assertion that he saw no foul blow.

CREDITORS HEAR BROKERAGE MAY BE TAKEN OVER

Report From Attorney-General's Department Supplements Recent Rumors.

LOCAL MEETING.

Confidence Expressed in W. C. Ackerman and His Peterborough Staff.

A communication from the Attorney-General's Department supporting the rumors that strong financial organizations are prepared to take over the interests of the bankrupt firm of Stobie-Forlong & Co., was brought forward by W. C. Ackerman, former manager of the local branch of the defunct firm at an open meeting of the creditors at the Chamber of Commerce last night. Mr. Ackerman spoke as a representative of N. L. Martin, the present custodian. No names were mentioned, but it is generally understood that one of the interests is a strong New York group.

That it will be to the best advantage of local creditors of Stobie-Forlong to have the organization taken over as a going concern and operations carried on, whether it be by Stobie-Forlong or other purchasers, was pointed out to the assembled creditors by Mr. Ackerman. The chances of creditors suffering any loss will be minimized if such course can be followed, he said, providing the new principals are financially stable and responsible.

Confidence in Staff

The meeting was held for the purpose of informing local creditors concerning the situation. About twenty-five of the largest Peterborough creditors were in attendance.

One of the actions of the men was to move and second a vote of confidence in Mr. Ackerman. Harry Rudkins and the local staff of Stobie-Forlong, expressing their assurance that the local end of the business was carried on in a legitimate and upright manner.

Having attended the meeting of creditors in Toronto, at which Pearlstein announced that he had it "on good authority" that Stobie-Forlong will not be able to pay more than 40 cents on the dollar, Harry Rudkins told the meeting that it was generally felt in Toronto that Pearlstein

EMPIRE'S PRODUCTION OF FOODS WILL BE AT MERCY OF FOREIGNERS BEAVERBROOK WARNS IN ADDRESS

United Empire Party is Economic, Not Political, He Declares.

GLOUCESTER SPEECH.

Frank Appeal to Conservatives For Their Acceptance of Plan.

LONDON, Feb. 28. — (Canadian Press Cable).—Lord Beaverbrook has made his position very plain. If the Conservatives will adopt his policy of free trade within the Empire then Lord Beaverbrock will support the Conservatives. His own party, the United Empire Party, is an economic body, not a political one.

Lord Beaverbrock opened a west country campaign at Gloucester last night before a very large and apparently open-minded audience. He stressed the "foolishness" of the Empire nations buying from foreign sources much more than they bought and sold among themselves.

Political Views in Flux

"I want to remove the misunderstandings on the part of Mr. Stanley Baldwin," said Lord Beaverbrook. "The Conservative party as a whole does not realize the great change which at this moment is transforming political opinion in Britain.

"For the first time in half a century, the British people are prepared to drastically modify, or abandon altogether, the present fiscal system in which the whole country is losing confidence. Roadmaking plans and the palliatives of Lloyd George are already forgotten.

"The present state of industry wants an immediate remedy. I beg Mr. Baldwin to believe it is possible at once, to commence to build that greater policy which the whole Conservative party approves and from which we shall reap immense benefits in Britain.

"The second point I wish to put to Mr. Baldwin is this, how can we commence negotiations with the Dominions and representatives of the colonies for new and expanding trade within the Empire, on a basis of mutual concessions and help, before we have first settled the bedrock principle that this country must have for the purpose of these friendly negotiations?

"I beg Mr. Baldwin to have the courage of his own fiscal policy in the wisdom of which Mr. Baldwin himself believes."

Conservative Ideal

The Conservative leader has declared the policy of an economically united Empire is the Conservative ideal, but free trade within the Empire is at the moment impossible. He also declared the United Empire party could only result in division of the anti-Labor forces, and Lord Beaverbrock met this with the following declaration:—

"I have no ambition except the hope of being able to bring my countrymen in all parts of the Empire a measure of prosperity consistent with your vast resources and immense wealth. Nothing is further from my thoughts than to disrupt or destroy any party or state.

"The United Empire Party is not a political party but an economic party. It takes no interest in old party issues. I should welcome the return of Mr. Baldwin to Downing Street if he goes with hands free to carry out the policy in which I understand, he believes, and in which a large majority of the Conservative party believes."

And to the further Conservative

Post Office Extension Planned

Major Item of $77,580 Voted For Peterborough Federal Building.

MORE SPACE NEEDED.

Project Included Purchase of Section of Adjoining Building.

The Federal Government's financial budget for the present year brought forward at Ottawa yesterday by Hon. Mr. Dunning, Minister of Finance, contains two Peterborough items.

The estimates contain the announcement that $77,580 has been voted for the Peterborough Post Office and a further sum of $1,500 for Public Building.

Lacking further information at the time of going to press, it is presumed that those sums are for the proposed alterations to the existing Post Office in this city. It has been known for some time past that Postmaster Chas. Lacheur made a recommendation to the postal authorities in Ottawa that an additional storey be built on the one-storey structure which houses the sorting room and despatching department in the local office, and that his recommendation was not wholly approved by the Department.

It is quite apparent that the existing postal accommodation here is rapidly becoming inadequate to cope with the increased demands being made by the influx of new industries and the consequent growth in population, so apparent indeed was the need to the Postmaster that he made the recommendation already referred to.

The Postmaster-General, on the recommendation of Mr. Winter, supervisory architect of public buildings of Ontario, was of the opinion that a one-storey addition should be added to the existing building, and for that purposes it is understood that the Post Office Department have an option on the adjoining property immediately to the west of the local Post Office. It was thought at the time that the addition of another storey to the present building would not be satisfactory, as it would mean the installation of freight elevators, and it is the opinion of the authorities that the work of the post office can better be handled on a ground floor building.

J. J. Duffus became interested in the matter, and a considerable interchange of correspondence between himself and Postmaster-General P. J. Veniot as well as several personal interviews, was the outcome.

The following letter addressed to J. J. Duffus, and which he gave The Examiner permission to quote, fairly well explains the position, although The Examiner is unable to obtain further information from him or from Postmaster Lacheur at present as both those gentlemen are out of town on business:

"I have your communication of December 30th concerning the necessity for additional accommodation for postal purposes at Peterborough. I may say for your information that a recommendation has been made to the Public Works Department that an item be placed in the estimates to provide for the construction of an addition to the west side of the Peterborough Post Office. The officers of this Department are of the opinion that a 40-foot addition should be erected so as to provide for the future growth of the postal service at Peterborough.—(Signed) P. J. Veniot, Postmaster-General."

The budget also included $300,000 for proposed work on the Trent Valley Canal.

Chicago Employees Get Paid Tomorrow

CHICAGO, Ill., Feb. 28 (C.P.)—Thousands who have worked for weeks without pay — policemen combatting crime, firemen fighting smoke and blaze in icy winter, nurses protecting public health—watched the first of the rescue millions trickle into the city, county and school board coffers to-day and formed into line for the pay-off parade.

With the initial quota of $50,000,000 pledged yesterday, every effort was put forward to transfer the cash so the first of the cheques could be issued tomorrow. More of the employees will be paid Monday and on Tuesday, pay-off on municipal debts will begin.

HON. MR. DUNNING'S FIRST BUDGET SHOWS DECREASED EXPENDITURE AND $339,558,101 TOTAL OUTLAY

Principal Increases Due to Aviation, Public Works, Income and Pensions.

RAILWAYS NEED LOWER

Amount Required to Pay War Pensions Estimated at $42,000,000.

OTTAWA, Ont., Feb. 28.—(By The Canadian Press).—At the opening of yesterday afternoon's sitting of the House of Commons the estimates were introduced. Hon. C. A. Dunning immediately moved that the estimates be referred to the Committee of Supply.

The total amount provided in the estimates is $339,358,101.87, as compared with $404,245,140.46 for the current fiscal year, a decrease of $4,887,038.59.

The principal increases are on account of aviation, public works income, pensions and national health, post office, public works capital and marine department capital.

Public Debt Interest Decreases

The services showing the largest decreases are interest on public debt, immigration and colonization, soldier and general land settlement, ocean and river service, railways and canals, capital and adjustment of war claims.

The total provided for aviation is $7,475,700, an increase of $1,554,537, covering increased training expenses, civil air operations and air mail routes.

Public works income is included at $25,139,570, an increase of $2,204,081.

The estimate for the Department of Pensions and National Health is $10,037,500, an increase of $835,140, mainly for care of patients and medical examination of pensioners and an increased amount for pay and allowances, etc.

The requirements of the post office are set at $37,336,369, an increase of $2,148,730, mainly for salaries and mail service by air.

The provision for public works capital is $8,269,000, an increase of $1,700,000 occasioned by larger items for the National Research Council laboratories, Burlington channel improvements, the lower lakes terminal at Prescott and channel improvements in the upper St. Lawrence River.

An amount of $5,800,000 is provided for the capital requirements of the Marine Department. This is an increase of $1,522,265 over the current year, covering increased estimates for the river St. Lawrence ship channel and the maintenance of the Sorel shipyard.

Public Debt Interest Cut.

The amount required to pay interest on the public debt of the Dominion is $119,353,478, a decrease under the amount for the current year of $2,527,014 reflecting the effect of payment of funded debt from current revenues.

The expenses connected with ocean and river service are estimated at $4,015,550, a decrease of $2,254,804, due to appropriations of the current fiscal year which are not required for 1930-31.

The estimate for railways and canals capital os $16,279,500, a decrease of $3,174,943, due to smaller requirements for the Hudson Bay Railway and the Welland Ship canal.

The total provision for adjustment of war claims is $622,500. A decrease of $6,222,820 under the requirements for the current fiscal year, caused by the smaller amount required for payment of claims for losses sustained by the civil population of Canada during the Great War.

The estimate of the amount required to pay pensions on account of the Great War is $42,000,000.

New Car Ferry.

Provision is made under railways and canals capital for a new car ferry between Prince Edward Island and the mainland $2,500,000. Hudson Bay Railway and terminals $59,900,000 and Welland ship canal $7,600,000.

The large items under public works capital are for the Confederation building $1,200,000, the National Research Council laboratories $1,500,000. Burlington channel improvements $1,000,000 and the Lower Lakes terminal at Prescott $3,100,000.

Public works income items for the postal terminal building at Montreal $400,000, Toronto Customs house $1,500,000, Calgary public building $1,000,000, and addition to the Edmonton Public building $400,000, and Saskatoon public building $445,0000.

FINANCE MINISTER.

HON. CHAS. A. DUNNING

His first budget yesterday as successor to the late Hon. James A. Robb shows a considerable reduction from last year's estimates.

Penalties Added to Silicosis Act For Employers Who Do Not Safeguard Workers.

HYDRO BILL UP MONDAY.

TORONTO, February 28. (C.P.) — Penalties for employers of granite workers in Ontario who do not provide safeguards to their eyesight and general health, were added to the Silicosis Act, in an amendment introduced into the Legislature by Hon. Dr. Forbes Godfrey, Minister of Health. For an infraction of the provisions of the act, which was passed last year, a fine of from $100 to $500 was provided. The minister said that complaints had been received by his Department that the act was not being observed in some sections of the province and the penalties were added so that prosecutions could be commenced.

Second Readings.

The day was given over to the introduction of several private members bills, second readings, and consideration of various bills in committee stage. Leo Macaulay, Conservative South York, introduced an act which would allow municipalities to license dry cleaning plants. W. Newman, Liberal, North Victoria, withdrew a bill he introduced last week which would amend the Voters' List Act. It involved the expenditure of public money, he explained, and therefore could not be sponsored by a private member.

Rev. W. G. Martin, Conservative Brantford, introduced an amendment to the Assessment Act, which would allow a municipality of under 100,000 in population to charge interest at the rate of 6 per cent. on tax arrears. Last session this right was given cities of 100,000 population or over.

Second readings were given Government bills to amend the Hospital for Insane Act, granting wider powers to the public trustee and to the Juvenile Court Act, which would allow temporary appointments of judges or deputy judges. Another bill, which also received second reading, would designate the heads of municipalities as Justices of the Peace officio within a district and not just a county. It applies particularly to Northern Ontario.

All Pass for Final Reading.

In the Committee of the Whole, the Legislature examined bills relating to the incorporation of the Canada Conference Evangelical Church; the Cities of St. Thomas, Guelph, Chatham, Niagara Falls and Galt; the incorporation of Albert College, and an amendement to the Dependents' Relief Act. All these bills were passed without amendment and were passed for final reading later in the session.

Premier G. H. Ferguson announced that the Government bill to set aside $2,000,000 to be advanced to the Hydro-Electric Commission as loans for the installations among rural power users would be discussed on Monday.

Drowning Man is Saved by Pet Dog

BROCKVILLE, Ont., Feb. 28. —"King," a large brown eyed dog of the species against which there has been much criticism at times, saved the life of a drowning man here. R. McNeil, St. Catharines, and J. Wylie, Brockville, crew of a drill boat, crashed through the ice on the St. Lawrence river while moving some heavy machinery. Both sank to the bottom. GUARANTEE BILL PROTECTS GOV'T ON POOL LOSSES

Bracken Introduces Legislation Assuring Advances to Banks For Wheat Pool.

SEVEN BANKS INVOLVED.

Provision Made That Banks Will Not Force Sales in Order to Maintain Security.

WINNIPEG, Man., Feb. 28 (By the Canadian Press).—Legislation guaranteeing advances made to the banks in financing the Wheat Pool was introduced in the Manitoba Legislature yesterday by Premier John Bracken.

Known as "an act to authorize the guarantee by the Government of Manitoba of certain advances made to the Canadian Co-operative Wheat Producers Limited," the legislation provides:—

1.—The Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council is given power to make guarantees to each of the seven banks, known as the lending banks of the Pool.

2.—The Government is granted power to pay to the banks sums which may be payable as a result of the agreement.

3.—The Government is given power to accept security from the Wheat Pool for any loss the Government might sustain under any guarantee given.

No Forced Sales

4.—The guarantee provides that the banks will not force sale of Pool wheat in order to maintain the security held at 15 per cent. over the loans made to the Pool, which now they have the right to do.

5.—The Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council may authorize the Provincial Treasurer to take and accept from the Manitoba Wheat Pool such security for repayment of any loss that may arise under any guarantee given.

BALDWIN MAKES PRICE PROMISE

When Returned to Power Will Set Figure on British Grain as Protection.

NO UNFAIR COMPETITION.

LONDON, Feb. 28 (C.P.).—A guaranteed price for the British farmers' grain, and steps against the importation of grain from countries which subsidize production, were promised by Right Hon. Stanley Baldwin as measures which would be taken by the Conservative party when returned to power, when he met the Conservative Agricultural Committee last night.

He announced his intention, when returned to power, of instituting a system ensuring to the farmer a guaranteed price for all home-grown wheat of milling quality. In regard to the importation of "bounty-fed" oats, which had been causing much distress, especially in Scotland, Mr. Baldwin said he would take whatever steps were necessary, either by prohibition or by counter-duties, to prevent unfair competition of dumped oats from whatever country they come.

BUENOS AIRES IS PARTLY FLOODED

One Drowned and City in Darkness as Heavy Rainfall Continues.

TRAINS ALL HELD UP.

BUENOS AIRES, Feb. 28.—(C.P.)—Much of this city was flooded and in darkness throughout the night as a consequence of heavy rainfall during Thursday afternoon and evening. Although only one person was reported to be drowned it was feared many other casualties would be discovered with re-establishment of communications. Property damage was heavy.

Inhabitants of the low districts hastily left their homes as the streets, unable to carry off the tremendous amount of water, became flooded. Some climbed roofs and waited to be helped. Overflowing of Maldonado brook, which traverses one section of Buenos Aires, was the cause of inundation of one extensive zone.

Train and omnibus service was paralyzed.

NEW TRAIN SCHEDULE.

SOCIETY PLANS BANNER SEASON

Large Increase in Membership in C.G.E. Horticultural Society.

SEEDS AVAILABLE.

The C. G. E. Horticultural Society, which was formed last year, and enjoyed a very active and successful season is planning a program along flower growing lines that should stimulate keen interest among the large number of members who have joined during the last month.

The society got away to an auspicious start about a month ago, when a reorganization meeting was held, and a strong executive elected, the men selected being experienced and aggressive flower growers, who will without doubt make 1930 a banner season for the society.

The only requirement necessary for employees to become members of this organization is that they be members of the Social and Athletic Club.

The membership has grown so rapidly that Feb. 28, has been set as a final date for receiving entries. C.G.E. employees who are interested should send their name and clock number to N. Crowe, Cost Department.

Seeds and fertilizer are being obtained through this society at greatly reduced prices and already a large order has been placed. The society also hopes to be able to make arrangements with some local greenhouse owner to supply the members with boxed plants, such as cabbages and tomatoes, but as yet no definite arrangements have been made.

MURDER GUILT ON CHAS. CROSS

Windsor Negro Convicted of Slaying Chatham Man in September.

SENTENCE DEFERRED.

CHATHAM, Ont., Feb. 26. (Canadian Press).—Charles Cross, 20, Windsor negro, was found guilty last night in the Assize Court here of the murder of John Labadie, local gasoline station attendant, during a hold-up last September. The death sentence mandatory under the verdict will be pronounced later in the Assizes, Mr. Justice Jeffrey announced.

Edward Powell, 20, one of the three other Windsor negroes, who have confessed participating in the holdup turned King's evidence against Cross and the murder charge against him was withdrawn. Hep leaded guilty to a charge of robbery while armed.

John Evans, 18 and John Sanders, 26, will also face charges of robbery while armed. On the witness stand Wednesday they accused Cross of the slaying.

The jury deliberated two hours before finding Cross guilty. The condemned man accepted their verdict without a tremor.

Chicago Has Offer From Two Cowboys To Kill Off Gangsters for $50 Each

CHICAGO, February 28. — Seven thousand members of the Association of Commerce received a report yesterday from Colonel Robert Isham Randolph, president, on his campaign against crime. One intimation was that the estimated cost of $1,000,000 will not exceed estimates. The report says in part: "The newly authorized central body for dealing with gangsters and racketeers is to concentrate its efforts on court convictions."

In the week since the plan was approved by the executive Committee, the "secret six" has been active in the organization of a crime campaign machine and it already has begun to fight for the redemption of Chicago's good name.

Thousands of offers of assistance came from former cowboys, Texas Rangers, and North-West Mounted Police.

"For the sum of $50 each," wrote one from a neighboring State, "myself and friend will agree to rid Chicago of Al Capone, Bugs Moran, and all gangsters listed.

SUSPENSION ENDS.

LONDON, Feb. 28.—(C.P.) — The Naval Conference breathed easier last night after Prime Minister MacDonald's Labor Government had won the vote on the coal bill, 280 to 271. With MacDonald's government safely over the issue the Conference will continue its careful course to-day its decisions still needing the approval of the French delegation when it returns.

NO CHANGE IN TAFT

WASHINGTON, D.C., Feb. 28 (C.P.).—All was quiet at the home of William Howard Taft at 7 a.m. today and there was no indication that there had been any change in the condition of the former Chief Justice and President since his physicians visited him shortly before midnight.

Mr. Taft still remained, it was said, in the state of coma that has held him for several days.

ANOTHER BROKER ARRESTED.

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 28.—Wallace S. Robinson, head clerk of the security department of Stobie, Forlong and Company, Limited, Winnipeg branch office, was arrested here yesterday on a charge of theft preferred by Winnipeg authorities. He is being held by local police until arrival of officers from the western city. Bail was refused.

C.N.R. Brakeman Shot Through Chest While Making Out I.O.U.

SHOT ACCIDENTAL.

Wielder of Weapon, Walter Gregor, Arrested on Manslaughter Charge.

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 28 (C.P.) — Edward King, 20, employed as a brakeman by the Canadian National Railway, was shot and fatally wounded last night by Walter Gregor, employee of a Mimico store-keeper.

King had made some purchases at the store and offered a cheque in payment. Gregor told him there was not enough money to cash it, but if he (King) was in need of funds he would advance him five dollars. The offer was accepted and Gregor gave King the money and asked for an "I.O.U."

"Why, do you think I am going to beat it," said King, as he made the "I.O.U."

"No, if I did this would be on the job," replied Gregor, as he brought to light a revolver which lay under the counter. As he lifted the weapon, it discharged, the bullet passing through King's chest. The latter was brought to a hospital here, where he died shortly after arrival.

Gregor was placed under arrest on a charge of manslaughter.

Lady Thanks Bon-Tone For Her Restored Health

MRS. ARNOLD DUKE

"A very dear friend of mine recommended Bon-Tone to me," says Mrs. Arnold Duke, of Myrtle Station P.O., Ont., "as it had done so much good for her, and I am more than glad that I took her advice, for now I, too, am feeling just fine and in the best of health. For several weeks I suffered a great deal with inflammation of the bowels and chronic constipation aggravated this condition, and most of the time I had pains and cramps, and although every night I would take a laxative, at best I would get but temporary relief. I hadn't any appetite and what little I did eat fermented and formed gas which bloated me and distressed me greatly, and nights would seem to get up around my heart and I would gasp for breath and feel smothered. I felt tired and hardly had enough ambition to do my housework. Bon-Tone soon changed all this, however, and made me feel just 100 per cent. O.K. All those gas pains that made life miserable are a thing of the past, as my stomach is in A-1 condition and my appetite is good and everything I eat digests as it should. The cramps and pains are gone and constipation has entirely disappeared. I don't feel tired any more and my housework is a pleasure. I can recommend Bon-Tone to everyone and am glad of this opportunity to do so."

Don't try new remedies. Bon-Tone is not an experiment, but a definite proven remedy and will surely give results if directions are followed carefully. Call or write to the Bon-Tone representative who is meeting the public daily at Bond's Drug Store, George and Hunter Sts., Peterborough, Ont., for more information about Bon-Tone, and ask for the free booklet, "The Road to Success."

MONTREAL PRODUCE.

MONTREAL, February 28. — The local dairy and produce markets were practically featureless, yesterday's prices in all divisions holding fairly steady. The butter market failed to show signs of reviving activity and the egg markets were featured by the steady demand.

Finest New Zealand and Eastern Townships No. 1 butter was offered at from 34c to 35c on the spot. The retail quotations of 38c to 39c a pound remain unchanged.

The firmness in the egg market was due partly to the fact that the United States markets advanced slightly. Prices here were unchanged.

The cheese market was steady and 19c for Easterns and 19c to 19½c for Westerns. The potato market was without price changes.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, Feb. 28. — Rapid upturns in wheat prices yesterday resulted from immense new buying of Chicago future delivery contracts. Much of the buying was ascribed to Government sponsored sources, and was concentrated on the May delivery, which at times went to a premium over July. Heretofore of late May delivery, representing wheat harvested in 1929, has been at a discount compared with July contracts, which stand for wheat yet to be grown.

Closing prices on wheat futures were strong, 2¼c to 3 7-8c a bushel higher than yesterday's finish. Corn closed 1½c up, oats 5-8c to 1c advance, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 10c.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, Feb. 28.—Urged on by reliable forecasts of better foreign business and steady advances of American markets, Winnipeg wheat moved forward yesterday. Scoring an advance of 3 1-8c, prices were held near their peaks and the close was 3c to 2¾c up from the previous close.

Chicago's strength reacted here and Broomhall's statement that owing to firmness of cash wheat in the United States, foreign demand would likely be diverted to other quarters notably Canada, added to traders' courage. A moderate export business from North America was reported over night, upwards of a million bushels having been worked out.

Demand from shippers and terminals for lower grades of cash wheat was fairly good. Spreads on these grades were generally 1-2c to 1c better, but offerings continued light. Little demand for coarse grains resulted in a dull morning on this market, values holding firm.

Cash prices:

Wheat—No. 1 hard, $1.13 3-8; No. 1 Northern, $1.13 3-8; No. 2 Northern, $1.10 3-4; No. 3 Northern, $1.05 5-8; No. 4, 99 7-8c.; No. 5, 95 3-8c.; No. 6, 75 3-8c.; feed, 62 3-8c.; track, $1.13 7-8; screenings, per ton, $5.

Oats—No. 2 C.W., 60 3-8c.; No. 3 C.W., 51 1-4c.; extra No. 1 feed, 51 3-8c.; No. 1 feed, 49 5-8c.; No. 2 feed, 47 3-8c.; rejected, 43 7-8c.; track, 54 7-8c.

TORONTO, Feb. 28.—There were no cattle in the first receipts at the stock yards yesterday. The offering consisted of a carload of steers and heifers, with a few cows that arrived late yesterday. Prices paid today were steady with good handy steers bringing 9 3-4c, and good to choice cattle bringing 9 to 10c a pound.

Butcher cows sold from 6 3-4 to 8c a pound and the market showed recovery from the slight decline of Monday.

The few calves offered sold steady at the week's decline at 25 to 50c a cwt., and 13 to 14c a pound for good choice veal. There were no sheep or lamb for sale at the opening. Wednesdays close on lamb was steady at 12½c a pound for good ewes and wethers.

The hog market, which was down a quarter at the start of the week, recovered steady levels Wednesday, closing at 12 3-4c a pound f.o.b., and 12 1-8 to 13 3-4c weighed off cars for bacon. Receipts yesterday were too light to make a market.

EMPLOYMENT IN CANADA

year reached the astounding total of $42 million, the highest we have paid out in pensions in this country. The whole matter is to be gone into this year by the Soldier's pensions committee composed of Liberals, Conservatives and Progressives and it is to be hoped, exclaimed Mr. Gordon, that the matter is dealt with with equity and fairness to the dependants of the men who died overseas in the service of their country.

The time has come when people should make a thorough study of economic problems. Ascertaining if this administration had reduced taxation and if you find it so—and you cannot do otherwise, then it must be a party which warrants your support.

In conclusion Mr. Gordon paid a tribute to J. H. Burnham who, he pointed out, was chairman of the Old Age Pension Committee in the Federal House and pioneer of that movement. He fought hard for the rights of the old people in the face of great opposition from his leader. He has gone further in this matter than any other Conservative member and for that I give him credit.

Senator Horsey, who was introduced to the assembly by Joseph Wearing, spoke at great length on the accomplishments of the Liberal Party in the past and said, "it behooves us, without haste, to make up our minds from now forward to organize and get ready for the contest when it does come."

Speaking of the Conservative Party he asked what is their stock argument? All the time we hear them talk of the great exodus to the United States caused by unemployment due to our bad fiscal policy and they say turn them out and let the Conservatives tinker with the tariff and we will stop this thing.

"Never," said Mr. Horsey, "has there been a fiscal policy to make every industry in the country prosperous and never will be. What is our answer? We tell them they have had numerous opportunities but what did they do? There has never been a Conservative Government in Canada that has brought prosperity or accomplished the things they promised to do. They have never had a national policy, but have always appealed to single classes and always with bad results. What does their policy consist of? Does anybody know?"

The Senator entered into an extensive argument tracing the history of the Conservative Party from 1897, in which year they introduced their "so called" National Policy, right up to the time the Liberal Party took the reins of office with Sir Wilfred Laurier at the helm. The speaker described the period from 1896-1911 as Canada's "Golden Era" during which time Sir Clifford Sifton and his staff filled the North West territories, increased production and set the pulse of industry throbbing.

He described the Conservatives return to power just a few years prior to the Great War up to the time of their defeat at the polls in 1921, when the party was almost wiped out, and asked is the country prosperous now? Mr. Horsey proceeded to answer the question himself stating that the country was never in a better condition. The unemployment which was rather more acute in the West this year than before was caused by the Grain tie-up, but, he added it will have to go to market and it will go at a reasonable price which will mean work for the railways and steamships in the near future and the disappearance of unemployment. The country will again jump into its stride to greater progress and prosperity.

The speaker went on to explain what the present Liberal Government has done for the Provinces having put them all on an equal basis with the older provinces and thus rounded out the terms of the Confederation. He described this as a constructive policy after which he closed a very interesting and inspiring speech by paying a striking tribut to Premier Mackenzie King, a leader who has made good in every thing he has attempted.

A vote of thanks to the speakers was moved by Mrs. B. F. McNeely, president of the Liberal Women's Association, which was seconded by E. B. Fowler.

During the course of the evening W. Y. Scollard, secretary of the Association, described the financial standing of the Liberal organization of the city of Peterborough as being in as sound shape as the financial standing at Ottawa of the Liberal Government.

The election of officers was made as follows: Honorary president, W. L. Mackenzie King; honorary vice-presidents, Hon. W. N. Sinclair, K.C., R. R. Hall, K.C., Hon. G. N. Gordon, K.C., J. J. Hartley; president, Dr. J. J. Craig; [illegible] secretary, Joseph Wearing; treasurer, W. Y. Scollard.

The latter part of the evening was devoted exclusively to social intercourse, when cards and dancing were augmented with refreshments

W.M.A. MEETING

Mrs. H. R. Scott Hostess to Members of Millbrook Church Society.

MILLBROOK, Feb. 28.—(Examiner Correspondence). — The February meeting of the Women's Missionary Auxiliary of St. Thomas' church was held at the home of Mrs. H. R. Scott, King street, on Monday evening, the president, Mrs. C. M. Westmacott, taking the chair, and conducting the devotional period in the unavoidable absence of the rector, Rev. P. W. A. Roberts. The attendance was gratifying.

The reports of the officers were full of interest, that of the Dorcas secretary, Miss Annie Armstrong, telling of the progress being made with the Indian girl's outfit, and the promise that the ball will be ready for packing and shipping the early part of April.

The Lenten offering this year will be added to the local W.A. funds, instead of being given to the general church fund as has been the custom in former years, though in 1929 it was found necessary also to put it in the Auxiliary treasury.

The president announced the World's Day of Prayer, on March 7, mentioning the program somewhat in detail; the community gathering will be in St. Andrew's United church this year. Representatives from each Auxiliary will take part.

Representatives to the Advisory Board of the church were appointed, this duty having been left over from the annual meeting; the list is: from the W.A., Mrs. C. M. Westmacott; from the Junior W.A., Mrs. Howard Jordan; and from the Women's Guild, Mrs. H. R. Scott.

An article from the Living Message, "Benefits I Derive from Membership in the W.A.", was read by Mrs. Scott, and Mrs. E. Whyte read the chapter from the study book, on "India." The invitation from Mrs. Jordan to hold the March meeting at her home was gratefully accepted.

The hostess served refreshments during the pleasant social hour at the close.

Catarrhal Deafness and Head Noises

TELLS SAFE, SIMPLE WAY TO TREAT AND RELIEVE AT HOME

If you have catarrh, catarrhal deafness or head noises caused by catarrh or if phlegm drops in your throat and has caused catarrh of the stomach or bowels you will be glad to know that these distressing symptoms may be entirely overcome in many instances by the following treatment which you can easily prepare in your own home at little cost. Secure from your druggist 1 ounce of Parmint (Double Strength). Take this home and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day. An improvement is sometimes noted after the first day's treatment. Breathing should become easy, while the distressing head noises, headaches, dullness, cloudy thinking, etc., should gradually disappear under the tonic action of the treatment. Loss of smell, taste, defective hearing and mucous dropping in the back of the throat are other symptoms which suggest the presence of catarrh and which may often be overcome by this efficacious treatment. It is said that nearly ninety per cent. of all ear troubles are caused by catarrh and there must, therefore, be many people whose hearing may be restored by this simple, harmless, home treatment.

UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE.

While there may be some difference of opinion as to the correctness of Premier King's statement that unemployment insurance falls within the jurisdiction of the Provinces, the announcement from the Premier that his Government is concerned with a permanent cure for seasonal slackness will be received with satisfaction.

It has always been the case that in every community there is a certain percentage of citizens who find it impossible to secure employment during the winter months.

These seasonal cases constitute a problem that cannot be solved by temporary measures or by financial contributions, though the latter may be justified as an emergency policy.

The solution that promises to eliminate most satisfactorily the suffering causes by seasonal unemployment would seem to be that indicated by Premier King, a scheme to which the various Governments as well as employers and employees would contribute.

Presumably what the Prime Minister has in mind is something along the lines of the old age pension plan, with the Dominion Government financially assisting but with the administration left to the provincial authorities, with this outstanding difference that the beneficiary under this unemployment scheme would contribute while he is working, whereas recipients of old age pensions have paid in nothing.

A CURLING TRIUMPH.

The success of Jack Amys and his rink of youthful Peterborough curlers in winning for the second time in succession the Ontario junior tankard competition is gratifying to all local knights of the stane and besom and to citizens generally.

The Peterborough youths made curling history last year when they brought the Ontario honors home for the first time, and their clean-cut victory this year shows that their previous triumph was not a fluke.

The senior tankard has never been won by the Peterborough club, but the double victory of the Amys rink and the sensational showing made by the still younger Kay rink in the recent local bonspiel, gives every reason for looking forward to the future with a good deal of confidence.

As in golf, young players are taking an increasingly prominent place in the sport of curling—in fact, the invasion of youth is so marked that more or less serious proposals have already been made that older curlers should form an association of their own and hold their separate competitions.

Be that as it may, the prowess being shown by younger Peterborough curlers is full of promise for more notable triumphs in provincial competitions in the years to come.

The capture of the junior tankard is the first Ontario-wide exploit to the credit of local sporting organizations since the Peterborough bantams won the baseball championship in their class last autumn.

ROTARY'S ANNIVERSARY.

The service movement, which owes its origin to the loneliness of a young Chicago lawyer a quarter of a century ago, has spread until to-day some 3,200 clubs in over fifty countries all subscribe to the ideals and aims of the Rotary organization.

The steady growth of the movement is the best proof that it is basically sound ;no mere social organization containing nothing more than the opportunity for a weekly luncheon together could hope to attract such world-wide attention or draw into its membership so many outstanding citizens in every community in which it has taken root.

Rotary lives and grows because it provides an opening for service—service to the cause of international peace, service to the nation, service to the community, service to one's profession or calling.

In the years that Peterborough has known Rotary it has seen the local club inaugurate such worth-while enterprises as the boys' camp at Clear Lake and work on behalf of crippled children, and support many other movements aimed at community betterment.

The Rotary movement starts on its second quarter century in vigorous health and strength the world over, and much may be expected of it in the years that be ahead.

GET A REAL TARGET.

It was stated at the Prohibition Union meeting in Toronto this week that the Children's Cheerio Club, promoted by a Toronto broadcasting station owned by a firm of distillers, 'is doing untold damage all over the Province of Manitoba."

The Examiner has no hesitation in saying that such a statement is sheer nonsense.

Up to the time the Prohibition Union tossed this matter onto the front pages of the newspapers there was nothing in the Cheerio Club movement to link it up in the minds of its young members with a distillery—not one per cent. of the children had ever heard of the firm owning the station, or if they had heard it, the name meant nothing to them.

The very effect the union officials professed to fear has been precipitated by those officials themselves.

The distillers have had more advertising as a result of this week's sessions than in the months of broadcasting that led up to it, and the youngsters who knew nothing about the matter before have heard more in regard to distilleries than they would have heard from a dozen cheerio clubs, promoted by as many liquor manufacturers.

If the union wants to do something useful for temperance, let it concentrate its efforts for a while on trying to wipe out the home-brew evil by getting the Federal Government to abandon its present practice of legalizing the home manufacture of intoxicating malt beverages.

There is no danger of children becoming drunkards listening to the family radio, but there is every risk of that fate befalling them as a result of the family brewery.

INDUSTRIAL HOUSING STILL PROBLEM.

In yet another of its commentaries on the present campaign for better housing conditions in Canada, the Social Service Council recalls that, at the close of the war a conference was held on the subject among the Premiers and other members of the various Provincial Governments and representatives of the Dominion Government. It was then generally concede that a real necessity existed for the promoting of better housing for the industrial populations of the larger centres. As one result of the conference the Dominion Government agreed to advance to the Provinces, on loan, a sum of $25,000,000 out of the war appropriations, each Province to receive the portion corresponding to the proportion its population bore to the total population of Canada. These loans were made for a period of twenty years at five per cent. interest, the advances being made as soon as a general scheme of housing had been agreed upon by the two Governments immediately concerned.

A housing committee of the Cabinet was formed, and through the staff of the Commission of Conservation a general housing scheme was outlined, limiting the loan to dwellings not exceeding $4,500 in value, including land, and setting up certain standards. The Provincial Governments were to take charge of the loan, and apportion it out to municipalities applying for its use, the municipal authorities having to accept the full responsibility for the money.

The project served many useful purposes, although it did not work out very successfully in Quebec. It did provide some employment during a period of reconstruction; it did provide for the housing of some returned soldiers; it also served to illustrate what could be accomplished by building houses with money at a reasonable rate of interest, but it also served in more than one municipality to show that there are some perils when municipal authorities engage directly in house-building. If, however, the scheme originated because of the conviction that there was need of creating better housing conditions for the industrial population for the larger centres of Canada, it must certainly be admitted that the provision of homes for a maximum population of 32,000 individuals, in 179 municipalities throughout seven Provinces, could have little effect in changing housing conditions of the industrial population of the larger centres. "A solution of that problem has yet to be found," is the Council's final word on the present situation in the Dominion.—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

JUST A RAKE-OFF.

One of the most transparent, yet successful efforts made by financial corporations to get a rake-off on international trade is that of placing an arbitrary value on a dollar of currency. True, these financiers, by a system created and operated by themselves, figure it out that under certain conditions, of which they, of course, are the interpreters, a coin or a bank bill for a dollar is worth something less. They argue that money is a marketable commodity and, like all other articles of barter and trade, is liable to fluctuation in price according to trade and gold conditions. If gold is removed from one country to another in any quantity, under this principle of business, immediately the rate of exchange is altered. Balances of trade are sometimes used for the purpose of determining the price of money. In fact, there is never any lack of excuse for the financial manipulators to secure a few pickings while trade is passing from one country to another.

During times of uncertainty and war reasons do exist why there should be a difference in the value of currency. However, to come down to the real question concerning Canada and the United States, this paper makes the assertion boldly that in normal times no condition has ever existed that warrants any reduction in the value of a Canadian dollar as compared with a United States dollar, and the United States as compared with the Canadian. It is true that during the past two or three years the manipulators for their own purposes have at times declared that, as compared with Canadian money, the United States bill was not equal to one hundred cents on the dollar, but in the main they apply the reduction in value to the Canadian dollar.

This latter has been so prevalent that 99 per cent. of the ordinary people in the United States hesitate to accept Canadian money at any value, being ignorant of the fact that, unless under the conditions outlined above, there is never a moment when the Canadian dollar is not worth one hundred cents. This manipulation and widespread ignorance of real conditions hampers trade very materially between the two countries and humiliates the Canadian people. True, we are probably the best customers the United States has, but that is in spite of all these humiliations and manipulations, and the wonder is that the Canadian people continue to be so docile under such unfair treatment.

During the summer months particularly, a fairly large number of Canadians tour the United States, but they seldom go twice, unless compelled to, because when they stray a half dozen miles from the frontier their money is spurned along the highway. In fact, before any Canadian goes to the United States to spend his money, he has to go through the humiliation of going all around and seeing if he can dig up American currency, knowing his own is treated in a large measure as worthless by the people among whom he is to travel.

The Canadian tourist trade could be doubled in the United States if the people were taught to treat Canadians with the same courtesy with which they are treated when they come to Canada. The United States tourist coming to Canada finds that his money is accepted at par in every portion of this country, and even when it was declared by the financial fakirs worth less than the Canadian article, Canadians were not such asses as to accept these views, but in matters of trade accepted United States currency, just as if the manipulators did not exist in New York.

This state of affairs exists with railways, and Canadians going across to the other side to buy tickets or reservations on an American railway have to first fortify themselves with United States currency. This is not conducive to Canadians travelling on United States railways. A Brockville man visiting in Chicago recently discussed this question of exchange, and his statement that in normal times there was no shadow of an excuse for there being any difference in value between United States and Canadian money, was enthusiastically corroborated by a Chicago banker, who in his address said that manipulation took place for the most part in the city of New York for the benefit of a few institutions.—Brockville Recorder and Times.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

If the Prohibition Union can find nothing worse than the Children's Cheerio Club to attack, the organization might as well disband.

Give Tommy Church, M.P., credit for taking his duties seriously enough to have some worth-while legislation to introduce every session.

According to the official figures, employment in Canada on February 1 stood at a higher point than on the same date in any previous year. Unfortunately, however, official figures mean neither fuel nor food to the men who are out of work and their families.

THE COST OF EDUCATION

The Editor,
The Peterborough Examiner,
Peterborough, Ontario.

Dear Sir:

In reference to the decision of the Board of Education of this city to "demand" an "additional" sum of money over their expenditure for last year, of some eighteen thousand dollars ($18,000.00) more or less; it would seem to be in the best interests of the city and its citizens generally that this vast "additional," "annual" expenditure, be put to the citizens vote directly. We go to the citizens directly for their approval, or veto, on much less costly business.

It may, just now, be opportune to point out that, to meet the above "additional," "annual" expenditure, some four hundred thousand dollars ($400,000.00), in hard cash, must be withdrawn from the floating capital of this city, and which would otherwise be available for business development and the employment of our citizens generally; what this means to the business side of our city and the employment of our citizens, it would perhaps, be well for the Board of Education to bear in mind at the present time.

An estimate has been made that we are spending "annually," in this city of Peterborough, about five-hundred thousand dollars ($500,000.00), for educational purposes, in our public and separate schools. To meet this "annual" demand, an investment of some ten million dollars ($10,000,000) capital, in gild-edged securities, is necessary. It is time for our citizens, rich and poor alike, to pause and reflect, or the business "goose" may stop laying the "golden eggs."

Yours very truly
W. H. PRETTY.

What To-day Means To You

"PISCES."

If February 28th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 7 a.m. to 9 a.m., from 2 p.m. to 3 p.m., and from 8:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. The danger periods are from 11 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. and from 4 p.m. to 5 p.m.

A startling change in your life is indicated by the stars to take place on this date, which will entirely alter previous plans for the future. Unfortunate time for business or financial risks.

The children born on this February 28th will have determined natures, and at times will be haughtily obstinate. They will have keen and active minds, and executive ability. They will be very fond of reading and will appreciate music.

You were blessed with a nature which enable you to see the big and the grand things of life, and it may be added to the clean things. You are not narrow minded, but you are pure minded. You have a great deal of respect for both your mind and body, and you are not going to abuse either by riotous and careless living.

You have more than one outlet for your mental energies, and your wide interests prove a safeguard and promoter of good health. Your ambition will never die, and you will always look forward to some goal, always have something to work for and to live for. You are not lead by any one outstanding talent, but you can do a number of things, and do them well. You are what's known as a capable person, and your commonsense may be of more value than many more spectacular traits. You are not a victim of worry—"sufficient unto the day is the anxiety thereof," is your philosophy. You undress your soul at night, by shedding, as you do your garments, the daily cares. You seek culture and refinement in the formation of your friendships—what a person is, and not what he has, matters to you. You are very domestic and your greatest happiness lies within your home.

THE GREENE MURDER CASE

By S. S. VAN DINE

CHAPTER 16.

It was on the day after the funeral that Vance paid his first unofficial visit to the Greene mansion. Sibella received him without any show of surprise.

"I'm so glad you've come," she greeted him almost gayly. "I knew you weren't a policeman the first time I saw you. Imagine a policeman smoking Regie cigarettes! And I'm dying for some one to talk to. If course, all the people I know avoid me now as they would a pestilence. I haven't had an invitation since Julia passed from this silly life. Respect for the dead, I believe they call it. And just when I most need diversion!"

She rang for the butler and ordered tea.

"Sproot makes much better tea than he does coffee, thank Heaven!" she ran on, with a kind of nervous detachment. "What a sweet day we had yesterday! Funerals are hideous farces."

The tea was served but before Sproot had withdrawn Sibella turned to him pettishly.

"I simply can't stand any more tea, I want a Scotch highball." She lifted her eyes to Vance inquiringly, but he insisted that he preferred tea; and the girl drank her highball alone.

"I crave stimulation these days," she explained airily. "This moated grange, so to speak, is getting on my young and fretful nerves. And the burden of being a celebrity is quite overwhelming. I really have become a celebrity, you know. In fact, all the Greenes are quite famous now. I never imagined a mere murder or two could give a family such positively irrational prominence. I'll probably be in Hollywood yet."

She gave a laugh which struck me as a trifle strained.

"It's just too jolly! Even mother is enjoying it. She gets all the papers and reads every word that's written about us—which is a blessing, let me tell you.

"She's almost forgotten to find fault; and I haven't heard a word about her spine for days. The Lord tempers the wind—or is it something about an ill wind I'm trying to quote? I always get my classical references confused. * * *"

She ran on in this flippant vein for half an hour or so. But whether her callousness was genuine or merely a brave attempt to counteract the pall of tragedy, that hung over her, I couldn't make out. Vance listened, interested and amused. He seemed to sense a certain emotional necessity in the girl to relieve her mind; but long before we went away he had led the conversation round to commonplace matters. When we rose to go Sibella insisted that we come again.

"You're so comforting, Mr. Vance," she said. "I'm sure you're not a moralist; and you haven't once condoled with me over my bereavements. Thank Heaven, we Greenes have no relatives to swoop down on us and bathe us in tears. I'm sure I'd commit suicide if we had."

Vance and I called twice more within the week, and were received cordially. Sibella's high spirits were always the same. If she felt the horror that had descended so suddenly and unexpectedly upon her home, she managed to hide it well. Only in her eagerness to talk freely and in her exaggerated efforts to avoid all sign of mourning did I sense any effects on her of the terrible experience she had been through.

Vance on none of his visits referred directly to the crimes; and I became deeply puzzled by his attitude. He was trying to learn something—of that I was positive. But I failed to see what possible progress he could make by the casual methods he was pursuing.

Had I not known him better I might have suspected him of being personally interested in Sibella; but such a notion I dismissed simultaneously with its formulation. I noticed, however, that after each call he became unaccountably pensive; and one evening, after we had had tea with Sibella, he sat for an hour before the living room without turning a page of the volume of da Vinci's "Trattato delia Pittura" which lay upon before him.

On one of his visits to the Greene mansion he had met and talked with Rex. At first the youth had been surly and resentful of our presence; but before we went away, he and Vance were discussing such subjects as Einstein's general relativity theory, the Moulton Chamberlin plane-tesimal hypothesis, and Poincare's science of numbers on a plane quite beyond the grasp of a mere laymen like myself. Rex had warmed up to the discussion in an almost friendly manner, and at parting had even offered his hand for Vance to shake.

Uncommon Sense

By John Blake

THE GIFT OF TIME

I often wonder how the people of a couple of hundred years ago found any time to do anything but hard, drudging work.

The American colonists had no machinery, no labor-saving devices.

They had to get their own food from the soil or the woods or the sea.

They had to spin the thread for their clothing, weave it into cloth and make it up.

And all the time they were conquering the wilderness around them, they were often fighting for their lives with savage Indians.

* * *

The people of today have a large measure of time as a gift from those who went before them.

A journey from the Atlantic to the Pacific over the plains or around Cape Horn took months.

Now it can be accomplished briefly by air, or rail, or via the Panama Canal.

If I want a hat I go into a hat store, select one from a rack, pay for it, put it on and walk out.

The probability is that my ancestors, when they came to this country, had to make their own hats, or ask their wives to make them, and each hat was a long time in the manufacture.

But what do we do with this gift of time?

Something, perhaps, but not nearly so much as we could do or as we should do.

I do not think that the boy and girl who goes to school in a bus or on a trolley car, or walks a few blocks to it, learns any more than the school child who sometimes walked four or five miles to the little country school house.

If they do learn more it is because of better school books and better methods of instruction—not to any extra time to study, which is the gift from the past.

I think that amusement and recreation are very necessary, and that people who tried to do without them would soon become a race of crabbed dullards.

But going to talking pictures every night is a bad use of the time that your ancestors have saved for you.

So is over-addiction to night clubs, and loafing around in other places where people gather to "kill time."

* * *

The great scientist asks only time enough to do what he sees can be done in the way of study and research.

So does any great worker or thinker.

Upon them the gift of time is well bestowed.

But on those people who merely spend the extra hours in thinking up new ways to idle time away, the gift from our ancestors is utterly wasted.

LAKEFIELD, Feb. 28 (Examiner Correspondence).—At the first meeting of the Library Board for 1930, held on Friday evening last in the Public Library, there was a full attendance of members, and A. B. Burrows was re-elected for a fourth term as chairman.

The librarian, Miss Helen Burgess, reported that the finances were in a healthy condition, and it was decided to purchase new chairs for the reading-room. A committee was appointed to get prices and report at the next meeting.

The total number of books in the Library is 2,456, reference 62, miscellaneous 95, poetry 58, religion 15, science 50, general 26, history 136, travel 51, biography 51, fiction 1,247, juvenile 666. PRESENTATION MADE

J. F. McGregor Honored by Members of Campbellford Church Sunday School.

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 28.—A pleasing feature towards the end of the Sunday school classes of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church on Sunday afternoon last was the presentation of a gold signet ring by the teachers, officers and scholars to the retiring superintendent, J. F. McGregor. The newly appointed superintendent, Mr. W. A. Newcourt, called on Mrs. Roy McGee, who read the address and Mr. Frank Ree who presented the ring. The address read as follows:

To John F. McGregor, former superintendent of St. Andrew's Sunday School.

We the teachers, officers and scholars of St. Andrew's Sunday school wish to take this opportunity of expressing our appreciation of the services which you have rendered to our school during your superintendency. We regret that you have found it necessary to resign your office as superintendent and we trust that we may still have your interest and co-operation in the work you have so much at heart. There is no greater work than the instruction of the young in the eternal verities of God's word and we feel that you have given of your best in time and effort to the task.

As an expression of our appreciation of the work you have done, we trust that you will accept this token of our esteem and regard and we hope that you may long be spared to labour in the Master's service.

Mr. McGregor though taken completely by surprise made a brief address thanking the school for their gift. He explained to those present that his health prevented him carrying on the work of superintendent. Mr. McGregor takes an active part in the work of the church being a member of the Session and Board of Management.

MOTORISTS INTERESTED IN NEW ENGINE MOUNTING

New Durant "6—14" Embodies Numerous Mechanical Improvements.

Motorists in attendance at the different motor shows held recently, found many outstanding features in the new Durant "6-14" to engage their attention. The latest idea in rubber mounting was particularly interesting.

They discovered that this new method is a distinct improvement over the rubber shim or compression type of rubber pads which have been in general use.

Ordinarily, the rubber is placed under compression by the fastening bolts. This naturally impairs its cushioning effect.

In the new Durant "6-14" it is altogether different. A layer of live rubber is firmly secured by vulcanization between two parallel plates. This ensures a permanent cushioning effect and gives remarkably smooth performance.

Another feature which interested visitors was the fact that the new motor is mounted in unit construction with the clutch and transmission, and is placed at an angle to ensure a straight line drive under normal loading from crank-shaft to rear axle.

SLIGHT GAIN HUDSON BAY

Attention Confined to More Popular Stocks on Standard Exchange.

LINDSLEYS IRREGULAR.

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 28. (C.P.) Prices in some issues on the mining market during the early session to-day were slightly reactionary but the majority of recent gains were being well maintained. Trading was on a slightly reduced scale and attention was more or less confined to the popular stocks.

Following a show of early strength, International Nickel and Noranda, whose annual reports should be in the hands of shareholders shortly, eased back to last night's closing quotations of $39.50 and $41.50, respectively. Hudson Bay Mining was stronger on relatively light demand, selling up 55 to $12.65 at noon.

The Lindsleys were decidedly irregular, Falconbridge dropping 15 to $4.25 and Sudbury Basin to $3.50, as the result of some evident profit-taking. Ventures held unchanged, however, and Sherritt Gordon moved up 4 to $2.45. Base Metals weakened slightly, selling off to $3.45 but Pend Oreille and Big Missouri were both a few points higher.

The golds, with the exception of Vipond which advanced 7 to $1.02 on an unexplained movement, were quiet. Howey, Lake Shore and Wright-Hargreaves easing slightly while Hollinger gained 10 to $5.60. Amulet and Abana were the only active members of the general list, and were off 5 and 3, respectively. Barry and Aconda moved up a point each.

Home Oil showed the only movement in the oil stocks, advancing 20 to $8.35 on light trading. Alberta was up 4 to $1.50.

Scott Robbed of Verdict Press Writers' Opinions

LONDON, Feb. 28. (C.P.) — The afternoon press in England was all worked up over the outcome of the big event which dealt such a sorry blow to British boxing hopes. The outcry of unfairness was raised in despatches received here from correspondents and other witnesses of the fight.

"Phil Scott Robbed of Verdict" was the Evening Star's streamer headline across its front page, while the Evening Standard carried the streamer "All About the Big Fiasco." The Evening News employed an expression from a cable sent by Scott's English manager characterizing the affair as a "Blot on American Boxing History."

OPTIMISTIC OUTLOOKS IN ANNUAL MINE STATEMENTS

Interest of Speculators Centred Around Information Contained in Reports.

NEW FIND AT AMITY.

TORONTO, Feb. 28. (Special to Examiner.)—With the market showing a rather indefinite trend just at present, interest is centering around the information to be contained in several important annual statements which are due to reach shareholders in the very near future.

The Noranda and International Nickel statements should come in any day now, while the Dome, Sudbury Basin, Hollinger and Hudson Bay mining and smelting will be along in the very near future. The report of Ventures, Ltd., is also understood to be in the course of preparation and present market conditions are directing considerable attention in that direction.

One of the earliest reports will be the Waite Ackerman, Montgomery and the understanding is that it will contain some important information regarding the usually favorable reports secured recently in drilling. The property is at a most interesting stage, and within a week or so work on the lower levels, 500 and 700, should be into the excellent territory indicated. By diamond drilling from the 300 level.

Amity Copper.

While the drift to the southeast of the 1,000 level at Amity copper has passed out of the high grade ore, the face in the northwest drift is still in ore so that contrary to recent report, the dimensions of the present orebody have not been proven, officials point out. The work is being pushed along the vein to reach the main body of ore opened on the 500 level, the recent find being considered an entirely new shoot. Assays of the ore in the showing recently encountered at Amity have been received and an average copper content of 5.6 over more than profit width secured. Engineers who have examined the material were very enthusiastic, it is stated, and the presence of considerable quartz indicates the ore has good fluxing qualities.

On the completing of the present drifting, it is expected diamond drilling to deeper horizons will be undertaken, the company being financed for considerable additional work. Sterling Pacific's penetration of limestone into shale formation is of important significance to southern end of Turner Valley at the southern end of Turner Valley, at least, a report from the west states. It is understood experts regard the well as a deep lime test with possibilities of striking the devonians under the Madison, but the present substance does not resemble devonian. Reports as to the foreign formation are indefinite but it is believed the bottom of the hole is in either the bentons, which is a complete repeat of the well log, or the dalhousies. The crew has been dismissed and operations shut down pending official decision regarding future work.

LIST CONTINUES UPWARD CLIMB

Gains of 1 to 6 Points Distributed Over Fairly Broad List on New York Exchange.

CALL MONEY LOWER.

(By Stanley W. Prenosil, Associated Press Financial Editor.))

NEW YORK, N.Y., Feb. 28.— The stock market continued to creep upward to-day although its progress was interrupted now and then by profit-taking and occasional flurries of short sellings. Gains of 1 to 6 points were again distributed over a fairly broad list, with more than a score issues, including American Telephone, Radio, Westinghouse Electric and Paramount Famous Lasky, reaching new high ground for the year.

Call money renewed at 4½ per cent. but again dropped to 4 when the supply of funds became so plentiful that the official opening rate was shaded in the outside market. The time money market was quiet with the undertone easier. No change was announced in the Chicago Federal Reserve Bank rate. The drop of $3,000,000 in Federal reserve brokers' loans yesterday was somewhat less than generally expected.

Coppers displayed a sharp reversal of form in to-day's market. Early declines of 1 to 2 points being replaced by gains of similar extent in the early afternoon. Anaconda Copper rallied from a low of 71¾ to above 75.

Recent strength of American Telephone, which ran up 3½ points to 241 to-day, has been accompanied by reports of as early announcement regarding foreign development of sound reproducing devices controlled by the company.

Farm implement shares made a brisk response to the further recovery in wheat prices. J. I. Case ran up 5 points, and Oliver Farm Equipment convertible preferred and Minneapolis-Moline Plow each advanced more than 3 points.

EVEN TONE ON TORONTO CURB

New List Followers Taking Trading Position in Present Market.

NICKEL FLUCTUATES.

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 28. (C.P.) The market on Toronto Stock Exchange to-day settled back into an even tone, the calm orderly trading unbroken by clamorous bidding for stock of a single company or institution. Nor was there any haste to sell to-day's session was in marked contrast to that of yesterday when the demand for nickel boosted that stock in active trading and braced most of the more active trades.

New market followers are taking a trading position in the present market. Rather most of the turnover represents investment buying and shifting of accounts with a certain amount of evening up buying and selling in progress. Buyers felt they can afford to wait for their stock and consequently place orders under the market. Except when for some special reason or because of pool operations, support is concentrated behind one stock, the advance is necessarily slow.

Nickel to-day had a few profit-taking sales to absorb and the price fluctuated at or just below yesterday's close. Volume however fell far below that of Thursday. Noranda's market was much the same as that of nickel. Oils were firm without the support of a large buying interest. Most of the better-known issues were a small fraction higher than they had closed yesterday. C.P.R. reacted due to Wall Street influences, other utility stocks were inactive. Ford of Canada, Massey-Harris were up fractionally but the market for both was slow.

Walkers sold down further this morning and other liquor stocks were heavy. Steels were unchanged.

A report from Renfrew this afternoon announced his retirement from the church of which he has been minister. He was pastor of St. Andrew's Church in Peterborough.

No Selling Pressure; Wheat Scores Advance

CHICAGO, Ill., Feb. 28. (C.P.)—Wheat values took a fresh upward slant To-day owing a good deal, to comparative lack of selling pressure. In the main, offering of wheat future deliveries appeared to be restricted to traders who were in a position to realize profits, with the pit as a whole watching for new developments regarding the Federal Farm Board and about the export situation. Opening unchanged to 1 3-8 higher, wheat afterward scored additional gains, corn and oats were also firmer with corn starting 3-8 a¾ up and subsequently rising further. Provisions held steady.

THIEF GETS 2 YEARS.

Confesses To Stealing Chickens From Port Perry And Utica Farmers.

PORT HOPE, Feb. 28. — William Clayton, formerly of Markham, now of Toronto, the man who was stopped by a charge of buck-shot as he was leaving the chicken house of John Medd near Port Perry last week, was sentenced at Whitby on Wednesday to two years in Portsmouth Penitentiary after he had confessed to stealing chickens from Mr. Medd, and to a similar sentence for the theft of fowl from Earl Thompson at Utica, in the same district. The sentences will be run concurrently.

Slayer Who Led Police 3-Year Hunt Arrested in Boston Garment Strike

BOSTON, Mass., February 28. (C.P.) — A man who described himself as Leonard Doherty, a waiter, and who was arrested during a garment makers' strike altercation in the Back Bay this morning, was said by police to have been virtually identified as Charles Leonard, wanted for the slaying of Charles Underwood, a room mate, at Ottawa, Ont., on April 30, 1925.

OTTAWA, Ont., February 28. — Charles Edward Underwood, aged 38 years, died here on April 30, 1925, as a result of wounds said to have been suffered in a rooming house fight over a woman. His head had been horribly slashed with a knife.

A search was at once instituted for a companion known as Fred Uffett, described as 5 feet, 7 or 8 inches tall. He disappeared and despite wide search no trace of him was uncovered.

Other occupants of the rooming house declared a bloody fight occurred between Underwood and his companion after they had been drinking.

DISARMAMENT CONFERENCE SIDELIGHTS.

LONDON, February 28. — Miss Ishbel MacDonald, charming daughter of and hostess for Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald, is feeling the "pinch" of the naval conference. Although she inherited a small allowance from her mother, Miss Ishcel found it too small to meet the new expenses confronting her in connection with social duties during the conference and had to have her allowance raised.

Members of the stenographic staff of the American delegation to the conference aren't going to be stowaways when the parley ends, especially those planning to tour the continent before returning to their desks at the State Department. They will buy steamship tickets first and tour on the rest of their savings.

Newspaper correspondents visiting the American press headquarters room in the Ritz Hotel almost learned a secret a few days ago. A sheet of official stationery, marked by several thumb prints, began this way:

"Dear Father,—I am here for a few days on a very secret mission." It ended there. No one learned the writer's name.

The newspaper camera man slowly is coming into his own in London. At a recent meeting of the heads of the delegations with Prime Minister MacDonald a young "bobby" started to drive five photographers away before an inspector explained their presence was permissible.

HUSBAND DENIES DEATH.

ETAMPES, France, (U.P.) — A married woman, Lucienne Duporge, told a graphic story to the police of the murder of her husband by her lover. She said the body had been buried in a field, but digging failed to reveal any trace. Then the husband wrote from a neighboring farm to say that he was alive and well. The wife is being mentally examined.

FIREMEN'S EXERCISE.

Two calls were received by the Fire Department overnight, the first from 29 Argyle Street where a chimney fire had caused a little trouble and the second call—a false alarm from the Maple Leaf Milling Company, George Street. The whole outfit responded in both cases.

SMILES SMOOTH YOUR BUSINESS

Pleasant Contact With Customers Essential Speaker Says.

AT KIWANIS LUNCH.

"Constructive Service as Applied to Modern Business," was the subject of an address, fraught with tips to business men, delivered by H. A. Chambers, sales manager of the Christie-Brown Biscuit Company, at noon luncheon to-day of the Kiwanis Club.

The ever-increasing place that personal service is now taking in both wholesale and retail business was especially emphasized by Mr. Chambers. "The customer does not know that you do not appreciate his business until you frown, but he knows that you do when you smile," was the concise way the speaker pointed out the need for cheery, pleasant contact with the customer.

Hard Work Also

The need for hard work, thought and a cheerful optimistic outlook was also pointed out. "Hard work," said Mr. Chambers, "can never be supplanted by brilliance, pinch hitters or grand stand performers.

The manufacturers and wholesalers are also awakening to the need of giving greater service to the retailers. Formerly a salesman felt his duty ended when he sold a large order to the retailer. But now he must so sell his goods that the merchant is assured of a market and a ready sale. Methods of distribution have been speeded up, and the merchant can now have a larger selection of fresher and up-to-date stock. In this way the old practise of laying in large stocks and tying up capital has been circumvented to the benefit of the merchant and his customer.

Mr. Chambers sounded a note of optimism for the small independent merchant. In the United States, he said, forty-eight per cent. of the stores are chains, but this percentage will never be increased because there will always be people who want service and are willing to pay for it.

Hats On Another Head

B. T. Huston, of MacLean's Publishing Company, formerly on the editorial staff of The Examiner, in a few words outlined the change in status of the merchant and customer to-day. "Formerly the merchant high hatted the customer; not it is the customer that is high hatting the merchant," he said.

The luncheon was one of the largest attended this year.

ST. JOHN'S REACH THE TOURNEY FINAL

Will Meet Fenelon Falls To-night in Last Game of Bobcaygeon Contest.

St. John's sent a team to Bobcaygeon last night for the tournament conducted by the Bobcaygeon hockey enthusiasts and as a result of a 1 to 0 victory over the Bobcaygeon team are now in the finals of the competition, meeting Fenelon Falls to-night for the coveted cup and sweater coats that go to the winners. The last night's game was a real battle that went the regulation hour without a score, St. John's getting the only counter in the first ten minutes of overtime, when Dallin, Cripps and Weir combined for a neat goal by the Saints' captain. Walter Jackson refereed the tourney and the St. John's team lined up as follows:

CREDITORS HEAR

had no grounds for his statement and that he was needlessly pessimistic. Mr. Rudkins said that financial circles are confident that Stobie-Forlong are solvent.

About 95 per cent. of Peterborough creditors of the bankrupt firm have turned over their proxies to Mr. Ackerman to allow him to act for them at the meeting of the creditors in Toronto on Tuesday.

Creditors' Decision.

The following recommendation was drawn up by the meeting and given Mr. Ackerman regarding the use of the votes at the meeting:

"If the report of N. L. Martin concerning the bankrupt firm shows it to be solvent or in good shape, it is the wish of those giving proxies to Mr. Ackerman that he vote for N. L. Martin as a permanent trustee.

"If on the other hand his report shows the affairs to be in a very unsatisfactory or insolvent condition, then it is the general wish of the Peterborough creditors that some other person be appointed permanent trustee, as Martin's statement in the press would be contradictory to his report.

"If an offer of purchase is made with guarantees that are satisfactory to the creditors so that little or no loss would be suffered by them, then it is suggested that Mr. Ackerman vote for such action."

FINANCIAL NEWS

TORONTO, Feb. 28. (Special to Examiner.)—There is much conjecture on the street as to when the financial statement of Internation Nickel is to make an appearance and guesses range anywhere from to-day until Tuesday next. As far as can be learned the printed statement is ready and probably will be released for publication on Monday. Interest centres more on the director's remarks about the operation of the Frood as the quarterly earning's figures have given the public a good idea as to profit per share for 1929. If current gossip is to be delivered, the remarks appended to the report will contain much of interest for the company's shareholders.

Slow Recovery.

The recovery on the Canadian Stock Exchanges since low was reached in the break of November last has not kept pace with that of Wall Street and price averages for the two indicated the dominions markets to have regained only one half of the ground New York has. Dow Jones average for industrials at the peak in September was 382 against the low of 198 on November 13 and the present level of approximately 269 is a recovery of 71 points. The weighted index of Canadian securities, compiled by the financial news bureau, reached a peak of 154 in September and a low of 81 in November with a subsequent recovery to 97 a gain of 16 points. The per cent of recovery on Wall Street has been 39 against only 22 on the Canadian exchanges. A contraction of the purchasing power of the west, due to the smaller crop and the withholding of it from the market has proven a drawback to the advance on the local market. In the monthly review of Bougard and Company, it is stated uncertainty over the wheat situation is undoubtedly the most important negative factor in Canadian business at present. Although there is a tendency to withhold commitments in certain lines, there is evidence that other lines are experiencing a very satisfactory volume of business. The electrical equipment trade, in particular, is looking forward to the current year with confident optimism because of such large power projects as Seven Sisters Falls, Beauharnois and Shawinigan. The 1930 budgets of both the National Railroad Systems call for large capital expenditures for equipment which should be favorably reflected in the earnings of companies in this particular field. Although Canada's output of automobiles in January last was only about one half the production during the corresponding month last year, the spring months should bring a seasonal upturn in this field as well as in the oil industry. Trade in general, however, is awaiting some definite sign of improvement in the grain trade before resuming the upward trend that would seem to be justified by a strong economic background in most other lines of industry.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE.

NEW YORK, N.Y., Feb. 28. (C.P.)—Foreign exchange easier; demand rates (Great Britain in dollars; others in cents). Great Britain 4.85 5-8; France 3.90 7-8; Italy, 5.23 5-8; Germany, 23.84; Canadian dollar 9-16 of one per cent discount.

URGES OFFICIAL ANTHEM VERSION

Legion Would Have Gov't Publish One Set of Words For "O, Canada."

TOO MANY IN USE.

OTTAWA, Ont., Feb. 28.—(By the Canadian Press).—When a Canadian audience is asked to sing "O Canada" it is safe to guess that most of the audience will mumble the words as if they were afraid someone would hear what they were saying, and three or four different versions of this anthem will be used by people in the same crowd. In order to overcome this, one of the Rotary Clubs in an Ontario city has adopted the expedient of having one version printed in large type and hung up in the front of their hall, so that no one will feel embarrassed by lack of knowledge of the right version.

The Canadian Legion of the Empire Service League in its program to be presented to Parliament this session, believes the Dominion Government should select and publish an oficial English version of "O Canada."

ALBERTA-MANITOBA IN CURLING FINAL

Tie Created For First Place With Seven Wins and Two Losses Apiece.

GRANITE CLUB, Toronto, Feb. 28.—(Canadian Press).— A play-off between Alberta and Manitoba for the Dominion curling championship was necessitated this morning when Alberta lost their ninth round match and Manitoba was victorious, thus creating a tie for first place with seven wins and two losses apiece.

Bobby Munro's Edmonton rink, undefeated until yesterday afternoon, received their second setback at the hands of J. M. Darby, of Huntingdon, Quebec, while Howard Wood's Winnipeg Quartette, representing Manitoba, triumphed over Murray MacNeill's Halifax rink, scoring an easy victory.

Munro and Wood, in their match in the second round of the MacDonald Brier tankard, had a sterling battle, the Alberta rink finally winning out 11 to 9.

BREDIN CUP GAME.

Their first game was a tie, 1 all. The second game, Tigers 1, Adanacs 0.

Failing a victory for the Tigers to-night another game will be the result.

Veterinary Attention

The first step in destroying the worms is to protect the brood sow by giving her proper veterinary attention and paying particular attention to her living quarters. The pens should be cleaned out with hot water to which has been added lye in any case where worms are suspected.

He also explained in very great detail, with the use of exhibits, the damage which was being caused to the hides of cattle by the warble fly which bores into the hide, making it unfit for the market.

During the course of the afternoon there were demonstrations in cutting on hog carcases by G. S. Foster of London, who was assisted by Frank Lefevre of the C.P.C.

J. B. Nelson of the Agricultural Department spoke a few words of welcome to the hog breeders earlier in the afternoon.

PASTOR ENTERTAINS TUXIS MEMBERS

Eleven Boys of Senior Trail Rangers Group Initiated at Millbrook Gathering.

MILLBROOK, Feb. 28. (Examiner Correspondence). — A gathering of [illegible] took place recently in the [illegible] of St. Andrew's [illegible] when Rev. W. W. and [illegible] welcomed the members of [illegible] and of the Senior [illegible] their leaders, [illegible] Harold P. Stinson and W. O. [illegible] a business and social session [illegible] carried out the ceremonial [illegible] and impressively.

[illegible] who make up the Tuxis Square No. 1, have not been [illegible] for some months. [illegible] request of the pastor [illegible] prepared the [illegible] initiating eleven boys of the Senior Trail Rangers' group into full membership in Tuxis Square No. 2, and without bringing in any outside officers to assist, this important ceremony was carried through with precision and impressiveness in every detail.

Previous to the initiation service Mr. Jones met the Trail Rangers in the study, taked over with them the Tuxis program in all its phases, and secured their unanimous consent to proceed to the heavier responsibilities of the more advanced organization.

The officers who acted in their several capacities at the initiation were:

Scriptor—Charles Larmer.
Praetor—Kenneth Falls.
Mentor—William Byam.
Comptor—Arnold Falls.
Sponsor—Oliver Brock.

When the business session was completed the guests adjourned to the dining room where Mrs. Jones, assisted by her daughters, Misses Francis and Beatrice, and other helpers, served a hot supper of pancakes and syrup, the big platters of these delectable 'goodies' that disappeared rapidly giving ample evidence of the popularity of the menu provided.

Votes of thanks to the Tuxis members who had performed the ceremony of initiation; and to the host and hostess for their generous hospitality, were heartily extended before the pleasant and profitable gathering was brought to a close. As a means of honoring one of the Trail Rangers, Eric Clarke, who has recently won Dominion and Imperial honors in the rifle shooting competitions of the Cadet Corps, the boys put him first on the list for initiation, gave him three rousing cheers and a tiger, and sang lustily, "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow," the two latter items taking place at the conclusion of the supper hour.

Further matters pertaining to the formation of a new Tuxis group will receive attention at the next regular meeting on Thursday night, at the church.

STIRLING FIELD DAY ON JULY 1

Plans Discussed at Meeting of Agricultural Society—District News.

STIRLING, Feb. 28. — (Examiner Correspondence).—Owing to the inclemency of the weather, very few attended the meeting called by the Agricultural Society to plan for the holding of a field day. The date was fixed for July 1, and another meeting is to be held next Wednesday to further consider the matter.

A.Y.P.A. Meeting.

The A.Y.P.A. met in the vestry of St. John's Church on Monday evening. After the opening exercises were concluded, Mrs. Buttimer Belshaw gave an interesting paper on famous women, such as Florence Nightingale, Madame Curie and Laura Secord, telling of the great achievements which had made them famous.

Charles Faires read an amusing story, "The High Cost of Living," relating an interesting argument at the Ladies' Aid meeting between Mrs. Hogan and Mrs. Kelly on to-day's high prices. A short religious poem, "De Li'l Brack Sheep," was given in negro dialect by Miss Louie Faires. A songs contest was put on by Mrs. Henry Cooke and a proverb contest by Miss Louie Faires. Ted Gould drew the lucky ticket for the prize donated by Mrs. B. Belshaw.

The singing of the National Anthem concluded the meeting. The next meeting will be a social one.

St. Andrew's Guild.

A largely attended meeting of the Guild of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church was held on Monday evening in the S. S. rooms. The program, planned by Mrs. Nolan, proved a very interesting one. The devotional period was in charge of Miss Hilda Haggerty. Mrs. Don McGee read the Scripture lesson, followed with prayer by Miss Gena Spry. Miss Iva Chambers gave a reading, "Not Understood." Mrs. Roy Eggleton and Miss L. Smith gave a vocal duet, and Miss Olga Tulloch gave a solo.

The topic on character building was given by Mrs. Nolan, and showed that much time and thought had been spent in the preparation of the paper. Mrs. Nolan also contributed a biblical contest. The meeting closed with the Mizpah benediction.

St. Paul's Young People.

The Young People's meeting of St. Paul's United Church was held on Monday evening. The president, Mr. H. Hulin, presided over the devotional portion. Mr. F. Joblin read the Scripture lesson, and Mr. W. Fitchet led in prayer.

The program was in charge of Miss Mary Hulin. Community singing was enjoyed for a time. Mr. J. Wilson, the local agricultural representative, showed many lantern views of Oak Lake, Trenton, Deloro and other familiar places. A flower contest and the benediction concluded the meeting.

News Briefs.

The Ladies' Aid of St. Andrew's Church met on Thursday afternoon when quilting and other sewing was done. Plans were made for the March meetings. The usual lunch was served at the conclusion of the business.

Mrs. Harper Rollins entertained her S. S. class of boys at a dinner at her home on Monday evening. After enjoying the good things that had been provided, they repaired to another room where for an hour various games were played. Then all attended the Guild meeting.

Mrs. C. Beacock and little daughter are visiting relatives in Perth this week.

Miss L. Flemming, of Belleville, is the guest of her cousin, Mrs. W. Martin.

Mrs. Nora Wescott spent the week-end in Toronto at the home of friends.

Mrs. (Rev.) F. Joblin was called to Toronto owing to an accident that had happened to her mother, Mrs. Elgie, who in falling down stairs had the misfortune to break her hip.

Thomas Montgomery, reeve of Stirling; Alex. Fargey, superintendent of roads for Rawdon Township, and Ernest Brown, reeve, are in Toronto this week attending the good roads convention.

The mild weather of last week was hard on the new grading between here and Foxboro, and those in charge were compelled to bar the road from traffic to save it from being destroyed completely. Detouring by Ridge road or through the concessions has to be resorted to by those going to Belleville.

A number of the farmers in this vicinity are taking advantage of the new terms and conditions advanced by the Hydro Commission, and are having their premises wired and will become linked up with the outside world in this respect, and the flare of the lights of the towns and villages won't have the same attraction as it has now. Their labor will also be made easier in many ways.

Mrs. John Gordon, Church street, is seriously ill.

Thomas Green, Front street west, is not improving and little hope of his recovery as he is near 90 years of age.

Mr. William Haggerty was taken to Belleville Hospital this week suffering from throat trouble of a serious nature.

Mr. Elgin Jackman and Mr. George B. Hagerman are better.

Havelock

(Examiner Correspondence)

HAVELOCK, Feb. 28.—Mrs. Lydia Parsons, Commissioner and Organizer of Canadian Girl Guides, addressed an audience representative of all denominations in Havelock on Friday afternoon, February 20, regarding the formation fo a company of Guides. Mrs. Parsons explained the work of the guides giving their history from the time they were first organized to the present state of efficiency. Mrs. Parsons quoted some of the guide laws: First—A guide's honor is to be trusted. Second—A Guide is loyal; Third—a Guide is truthful. A Guide is pure in thought, word, and deed. The guide movement is undenominational.

A close company can be formed in connection with any denomination if so desired. In cases where the Catholic Women's League have formed a company a small book with suitable prayers and hymns has been furnished for the Guide's use. Each company has a captain and lieutenant. It is divided into platoons which go by the names of flowers or birds. The routine of the meeting consists of games, drills, competitions in which groups and not individuals compete. This teaches the value of co-operation and respect for others. Points are given for domestic science, nursing, bandaging, etc., and guides in this way learn to love the work they will be called upon to do in future years. The speaker asked the ladies to signify by a showing of hands whether or not they would like a company formed in Havelock, and the affirmative was declared by the majority. Nominations of the committee followed, when the following were named to act: Mrs. (Rev.) Lennox, Mrs. Clarence Hubel; Mrs. J. Bedford, Mrs. McNichol, Mrs. Ed. Fennell, Mrs. (Rev.) P. C. Howard, Mrs. Moore, Mrs. Kinnaird, Mrs. T. P. Lancaster. Mrs. Lennox was named as commissioner.

At a meeting of the young people held in the evening a large number of girls signified their intention of becoming members of the Guides and Brownies. A meeting will be held in the very near future, when the officers will be appointed and it will be definitely decided who will act on the committee.

OBITUARY

SAMUEL EDWARDS

LAKEFIELD, Feb. 28.—(Examiner Correspondence).—The funeral of the late Samuel Edwards was held on Sunday afternoon from the Regent street United church and was attended by a very large number of friends and relatives of the deceased and his family. Rev. S. A. Kemp was in charge of the service assisted by Rev. F. G. Robinson. Two appropriate hymns were sung, "There is a Land of Pure Delight" and "Jerusalem My Happy Home" and the beautiful hymn "Saved by Grace" was sung by Mrs. MacMillen and Miss Frances Fairbairn as a duet. The reading from the Holy Scripture was taken from the Book of the Revelation of St. John the Divine, the 21st chapter and the 22nd and 27th verses. Mr. Kemp spoke from the 2nd verse of the 14th chapter of the Gospel according to St. John: "In my Father's house are many mansions; if it were not so I would have told you. I go to prepare a place for you." These words were spoken by Our Lord at a very critical hour when He was gathered with His disciples in an upper room and was soon to say farewell to them who were His companions through many vissitudes.

These words have brought comfort to many who have found the road long and the journey hard and have been sustained by the realization of going home which destroys the rough edges. When one becomes conscious of the beautiful side of that homecoming death loses its terrors. Separation for loved ones is very hard, when death comes into a home but there is the hope of the Christian of the happy meetings on the other side; when we look beyond the funeral trappings, the clouds and darkness and see the City of God, the place of many mansions prepared for us. Absence for the body means presence with God, the home coming begins at the very moment when the spirit leaves the body to find a strong celestial guard waiting to take the spirit back to God, who gave it.

The church and the entire community will miss Mr. Edwards, who just three weeks ago today was ordained as one of the elders, his wife and family will miss him greatly and to them we give our sympathy in their loss, for them the grief of parting but for him the glory and beauty of the new Jerusalem, for he is "home at last" in the place of many mansions prepared by Christ Himself.

The pall-bearers were Messrs. George Grant (Peterboro), John Grant (Uxbridge), A. D. Payne and Nathan Payne (Lakefield), Moses Snelgrove (Sunderland), and William Yelland of Toronto.

On leaving the church the cortege proceeded to Warsaw cemetery for interment.

Mr. Edwards, who was in his 83rd year, was born in Dummer township and lived there for the greater part of his life, moving to Peterborough where he lived for some years and a few years ago buying a home on Queen Street, Lakefield, where he and his wife resided.

He was married to Mary Anne Grant of Dummer, on November 18, 1869, celebrated the sixtieth anniversary of a very happy union. Many people will recall with great pleasure that happy event when Mr. and Mrs. Edwards, surrounded by their family and intimate friends, welcomed to their hospitable home, practically the whole community who gathered to express their felicitations and wish continued years of health and happiness. Just a little more than three months passed and the silver cord broke and the gentle spirit returned to the Creator.

Mr. Edwards was a life long member of the Methodist church, going into the union with the congregation of Regent street church and was the oldest member. He was a sincere Christian, respected by all who knew him and much beloved by little children. His cheery presence and gentle courtesy will be missed in the community where he held a big place in the affection of his fellow citizens.

He is survived by his wife, and four daughters, Mrs. George Garbutt of Douro, Mrs. A. C. Hawthorne, Mrs. W. Crawford and Mrs. T. J. Taylor, all of Medicine Hat, Alta. One sister, Mrs. Booth of Peterborough survives.

Wesley, was in charge of the service which was very impressive, the speakers bringing messages of hope and comfort to the family bereaved of a wife, mother and sister for Mrs. Ingram was intensely loyal to her family ties and her loss will be much felt by her relatives and neighbours. The brighter side of the picture was beautifully pictured showing the happy home on the other side of death's dark valley, where a place is prepared for the faithful to be ever more with God.

The pall bearers were Messrs. Percy Darling, Harry, Bruce and Wellie Dunford and William and Fred Hockaday.

Mrs. Ingram (nee Minnie Charlton) was 56 years of age and was the elder daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Charlton and lived in Douro township all her life. She was a kindly woman with a great capacity for sincere friendship and devoted to her husband and family. She is survived by her husband, one daughter, Mrs. Max Kidd of Young's Point, one sister, Mrs. C. W. Garbutt of Lakefield and four brothers, William J. Robert G., Samuel J. and David H. EX-COURT CLERK PRAISES SARGON

"Before I started taking Sargon I was dreadfully weak and run-down. I was awfully nervous, suffered with indigestion and pains like rheumatism settled in my knees. I lost weight and strength and felt bad nearly all the time. A friend told me about Sargon and I commenced to feel better right from the first bottle. My appetite picked up, I quit having indigestion, the rheumatic pains commenced to loosen their grips, and I gained weight and strength without a let-up right on through the fourth bottle. Now my nerves don't bother me like they did, I sleep good, and am full of my old-time strength and vigor. Sargon Pills are the finest thing I have ever taken for cleansing the system of poisons and keeping the bowels regulated."—Ely A. Houle, Rochester, N. Y., former resident of Hastings, Ontario, where he was for 17 years one of the leading merchants and for 9 years holding the office of Division Court Clerk of Northumberland County.

CIRCLED GLOBE THIRTEEN TIMES

Equivalent of Total Flights By Canadian Airplanes Since 1922.

ADDRESS ON AVIATION.

"If you want to be an air pilot in Canada you must be a work horse, because Canada has no place for race horses in the field of aviation. Other countries can send expeditions in flights over the Atlantic, the North and South Poles, but Canada is too busily occupied in using aviation to open up her vast resources, in mapping her great unknown areas and in protecting her forests to allow her pilots to go off on these speedy, spectacular flights of doubtful value. If you want to be a race horse in the aviation game, you must go to another country."

This was the advice, which carried a challenge, that A. M. Narraway, chief aerial surveys engineer, Department of Interior, Ottawa, offered to local aviation students last night when he addressed a meeting of Peterborough branch of the Engineering Institute of Canada.

The subject of Mr. Narraway's address was "Aerial Mapping," and his talk, illustrated by slides, took his audience into the faraway places of this broad Dominion. He graphically explained and pictured the manner in which Canada's pilots are unveiling the richness of our Northland and making detail maps of vast areas before unknown.

Since 1922 Canadian pilots have mapped 340,000 square miles, which means that a plane must travel thirteen times around the world, constantly taking pictures of the earth beneath, to accomplish a similar feat. Last year in this country 300,000,000 acres of forest were watchfully patrolled by airplane.

Canada leads the way in aerial survey. No other country can approach what Canada is accomplishing in this direction, because the opportunity for doing this work is here. The speaker explained the manner in which this is done by airplane, the minute perfection of these maps, and great ease and dispatch with which the work was done.

By means of these air photographs and the use of a sterescope, which brings up the smallest detail of the picture, geogolists can locate minerals and the forester his timber. The different shades of black and white shown in the picture can be positively recognized for what they are in reality.

The pictures showed the automatic camera attached to the front of the plane. The planes in Northern Canada not only carry skis, wheels and pontoons, but also a collapsible boat beneath the fusilage, which fits the plane for all modes of landing and take-off.

Mr. Narraway showed the manner in which the map of Canada had taken on form and meaning since the air pilots were put on the job of surveying in 1922. He stated that at the present rate Canada will have the best and most complete national map of any country despite the great area of the Dominion.

He, like other northern travellers, maintained that Barren Lands were misnamed, for the practically continuous sunshine during the year made growth of many plants possible.

Death Penalty Does Not Reduce Murder Its Opponents Find In U. S. Statistics

NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—More than twice as many murders, in proportion to population, are committed in the States which have capital punishment than in those which have abolished capital punishment, according to statistical analyses made public yesterday by the League to Abolish Capital Punishment.

In twenty-six states having capital punishment the homicide rate for the ten years from 1919 to 1928 was 8.3 per 100,000 population, while in six States where there is no capital punishment the rate was 3.6 per 100,000, according to the committee. The highest rates are found in certain Southern States, where from one to four other crimes than murder are also punishable by death. In six States within this category, Florida, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, Tennessee and Virginia, the homicide rate was 18.3.

Less contrast is shown between capital punishment and non-capital punishment States in the East. The rates in this section of the country were 3.4 and 2.1, respectively. Pennsylvania had the highest rate of any Eastern State, 6, with New York second with a rate of 5 per 100,000. In the Middle West comparisons between four States in each category showed a rate of 8.5 for those with capital punishment and 4.3 for those without.

"These statistics," the league's statement concludes, "prove conclusively that the homicide rate is not rising in the States which have ended the death penalty."

Our Mail

Conducted by ANNE WILCOX

Dear Anne:

Thanks for your reply to my last letter, also for your offer to send for a fashion book, of which I shall avail myself. Also thanks to Ella May for cheese recipes. I only saw one, though were there more in, Anne? I looked through the paper twice, but could only find one. But I saved that paper and if you say there were more, I'll hunt till I find them.

I notice Ella May says that the dresses she makes for others are admired, but hers are not, that's beyond me. I can admire a homemade dress, on anyone, if it is well made, of course. But now, with such easy patterns to follow, there is no excuse for poor sewing, nor lack of style and smartness. I had two homemade dresses last summer that I considered "it." What's more, everyone else did too. But here's the secret. I denied that I had made them. Now, please don't say that that was a bad lie. That's the kind I call a harmless lie. Of course, it's a lie and I know that lies, big or small are against God's teachings, but it didn't harm anyone, to deceive them as to the maker of my clothes. Should you find it in your heart to forgive the deceit, maybe you can explain why people like to be deceived. At least it would seem as if they do. If you want to prove it, just make some wearing apparel, and show two specimens to friends. Say that you made the one, and that you paid $9.98 for the other. Immediately you will hear the murmurs of approval and awe and such exclamations as, "It's a wonderful bargain and only $9.98." " I wonder are there any left?" "How long does the sale last." "Which store was it at," and etc. I tried it Anne and it works.

In reading the article recently on the etiquette of initials on linen, I learned one thing that I often wondered about. That was why have one's own initials on instead of one's intended initials. I notice that you said you'd be glad to give suggestions and advice in this line, so I would ask you for another article on initials on silverware, intended for a bride. Should the articles have the bride's own or future initials? Why I ask this especially is that one might give to a special friend a piece for a wedding present, intending to follow up with more to match, say at Christmas, birthday or anniversary.

After the wedding one should have the new initials put on, shouldn't one? This is something that I've been puzzled about lately, and I'd be very grateful for an article on it.

I am also enclosing coupon for recipes marked, any others too, if you have them (using cheese) and fifteen cents for a fashion book.

Ad Nauseam's letter interested me greatly. I've already written too much, but in closing would say to Ad Nauseam, as the others have said, that in many respects she is to be envied. I thank you again, Anne and remain.

Yours sincerely, Al.

P. S.—My letter was written before all those last recipes came in. So I add this note to thank the neighbors for their help. I shall try them all. We had one dish today and it was well received by the family. I didn't get out to post my letter, having had it written since Wednesday, so I add this note now, as I may not get an opportunity to write again for a few weeks. Al.

The other recipe which Ella May was so kind to send hasn't appeared yet—it is with the printers though and will appear just as soon as they can find room on the page for it. The initials for the bride's chest would be her own just the same as on the linens, for usually the bride has quite a number of the pieces before the wedding. After the wedding, however, gifts would bear the new initial.

Dear Anne:

As I have received so many useful hints from your page, I am sending two I have found to be very good.

I find those "chore boys" or "chore dads" one gets in the ten cent store, splendid for cleaning new potatoes or old ones to bake, also carrots.

Instead of darning children's stockings at the knee (unless the hole is small) I cut out a V the width of hole in front and running to nothing in the back. Then I take the back upper part with point into V at front and turned down over the stocking; stitch a seam on sewing machine. This makes the stocking shorter, but as the point of seam comes just below the knee cap, it cannot be noticed as a darn would. It also brings the strong part of the stocking over the knee.

Yours sincerely,
S. M. Mother of Ten.

This is a splendid idea for mending stockings for school children, and I was sorry I couldn't use your illustration to make it more clear. We are glad to welcome you to our page and hope you may be able to give us more ideas which you find good with your large family. We'll be glad to hear from you any time you can find time to write.

Dear Anne:

Three cheers for you! I've been reading your column daily all along, searching for suggestions regarding a Dowry Chest and at last I see some. Just had to write and say how pleased I am.

Surely there are more single readers besides me. Come on girls. I think it would be jolly for each to give a few suggestions in our letters. It surely would help some of the other readers, too.

Well, as this is the first time I have appeared on your page, I must say au revoir. Hoping to see some letters soon from more engaged girls and wishing your page every success, I will sign this,

Country Lass

P. S.—May I come again?

You certainly may come again and just as often as you like, Country Lass. I'm glad that the article re the chests was helpful to you and I hope others may be too.

Nervous Young Women

Nature intended young women to be gay and vivacious. When they start to lose weight, to feel "blue" and dispirited, there is something wrong.

Usually it is simply "nerves"—a condition that can be quickly corrected.

Fellows' Syrup is a famous tonic which doctors of over 50 countries prescribe for nervous disorders. It contains mineral foods that restore nerve force and engender vitality and optimism.

"Fellows" is just what you need. It has proven a boon to thousands of women, young and old.

Fellows' Laxative Tablets are specially prepared for the rational treatment of, and ultimate recovery from constipation.

ACID STOMACH IS DANGEROUS

Sufferers From Indigestion CUT THIS OUT

"Stomach trouble, dyspepsia, indigestion, sourness, gas, heartburn, food fermentation, etc., are caused nine times in ten by chronic acid stomach," says a well known authority.

Burning hydrochloric acid develops in the stomach at an alarming rate. The acid irritates and inflames the delicate stomach lining and often leads to gastritis or stomach ulcers. Don't dose an acid stomach with pepsin or artificial digestants that only give temporary relief from pain by driving the sour, fermenting food out of the stomach into the intestines

Instead, neutralize or sweeten your acid stomach after meals with a little Bisurated Magnesia and not only will the pain vanish but your meals will digest naturally. There is nothing better than Bisurated Magnesia to sweeten and settle an acid stomach. Your stomach aches and feels fine in just a few minutes. Bisurated Magnesia can be obtained from any reliable druggist in either powder or tablet form It is safe, reliable, easy and pleasant to use, is not a laxative and is not at all expensive.

THAT PIECE OF SONG,
That old and antique song we heard, last night.

REST

(Contributed by Beatrice)

My feet are wearied, and my hands are tired—
My soul oppressed;
And with desire have I long desired
Rest—only rest.

'Tis hard to toil, when toil is almost vain,
In barren way;
'Tis hard to sow and never garner grain
In harvest days

The burden of my days is hard to bear,
But God knows best;
And I have prayed—but vain has been my prayer
For Rest—sweed Rest.

'Tis hard to plant in spring and never reap
The autumn yield;
'Tis hard to till, and when 'tis tilled to weep
O'er fruitless fields

And so I cry a weak and human cry,
So heart-oppressed;
And so I sigh a weak and human sigh
For rest—only rest.

My way has wound across the desert years,
And cares infest
My path, and through the flowing of hot tears
I pine for Rest.

'Twas always so; when still a child I laid
On mothers breast
My weary little head—e'en then I prayed
As now, for Rest.

And I am restless still; twill soon be o'er,
For down the West
Life's sun is setting, and I see the shore
Where I shall Rest.

The above was written by Father Ryan more than sixty years ago.

SMART SPORTS COLORINGS START WITH BLUE

NEW YORK, Feb. 27. (U.P.)—There are two divisions of color in sportswear—one expressed in a way that has more sensuous appeal, and the other which is described as the bustnesslike, practical colors.

One color, however, appears in both classifications—blue. Navy blue is cast for both town sports clothes and those for country spectator wear. It varies in aspect in proportion to the selection of color with which it is worn—for instance, navy and pink or navy with white is essentially town, but with the introduction of a blouse in red, or in yellow, or more daringly stripes of three colors, as a smart blouse is apt to be this spring, the identity becomes out-of-town.

Yellow is one of the feminine colors that holds over from last year. Three classifications of it call for consideration chiefly—lime, in the pale shade, butter and golden yellow. The buttery tone is also evident in the beiges that rank at all, sometimes verging as they do on to pie crust.

Fresh greens are also part of the scheme of colorfulness in the sports world, and red occupies a place of prominence, especially as an accenting factor. In addition to the combination of navy and red, red and black is likewise in good standing.

Mention of black with red provides an opportunity to mention black with white—a combination that is inseparable with the town picture in sportswear; in fact, all spectator sportswear.

It is a different mood altogether that proposes grayed "colored" tweeds, of a color-range that has not been circulating for many years. Two shades especially—green in a sort of sage effect, and snuff or pheasant—offer the most striking illustrations of this movement of refinement of color in sports.

Sulphur green and Patous much discussed shade, opaline are among the colors which proved impressive at the Paris openings.

The social evening which followed the program of speeches last night in the Canadian Legion hall, when the Liberal workers of the city were at home to their friends at a very interesting evening of speech-making, cards and dancing, was extremely successful. In the lower hall there was a large and gay throng which filled the big place to capacity and danced to splendid music provided by Mowry-Steer and their Silver Collegians, a group of musicians whose snappy outfits and bright playing added the final cheerful note to the proceedings. The decorations were in colorful streamers, flags and pennants.

• • •

Upstairs, cards were played with twenty-one tables of euchre and seven tables of bridge. Arrangements for the social evening were in the capable hands of an energetic committee of ladies, who looked after the dancing floor and the card tables and served refreshments at the conclusion of the evening. They were headed by the president of the Ladies' Association, Mrs. B. F. McNeely, and included Mrs. C. M. Watson (convenor) Mrs T. Byers, Mrs. J. M. Elliott, Mrs. J. D. Deyell, Mrs. C. Cooke, Mrs. J. IF FLU RETURNS.

I believe that every one who went through the flue epidemic of 1918 will always remember it, and we can't help but wonder if it will appear again in such a violent form.

The medical profession has not been able to find out much more about its cause, and the reason for such a severe type being prevalent when so much thought is being given to the prevention of illness.

It was my privilege during the 1918 epidemic to be senior medical officer in a large hospital in which we had over 2,000 cases pass through our hands. It was heartrending to see so many fine strong young men succumb to the bronchopneumonia and failing heart which followed the original attack of flu.

However, what we did learn and has since been amply demonstrated is that there need be but few lives lost if some simple precautions are taken.

When flu becomes prevalent, avoiding crowded places, keeping away from those afflicted, getting outdoors, and washing the hands frequently, is of considerable help in avoiding it.

Then being able to recognize the condition early is even more important. That tired out "achy" feeling with a little cold in the head is often a direct notice that the flu has hold of you. And what you do the first couple of days practically decides whether or not you have the real trouble.

Practically all of our severe and fatal cases in 1918 were those who 'tried to fight off' the flu, and remained at work, or at least on their feet, the first few days. This was such a heavy drain on their vitality and upon the heart's reserve strength, that when the final fight came they were not strong enough to come through.

The only thought then is that when the flu, or any illness in fact, attacks you that you do not try to fight it off, but get off your feet immediately, keeping in mind the fact that the heart has nearly five times as much work to do when you are walking about, as when you are lying quietly in bed.

Further, flu prostrates you so badly that an extra couple of days in bed after you are well, will be the best possible investment of time.

It has been well said that 'the period of getting well is longer than the time actually ill.'

Let us hope the flu keeps away, but let us be ready if it does come.

ART OF VELASQUEZ SUBJECT OF PAPER

By Mrs. R. C. Cumming at Art Study Club.

The subject of the paper read at the last meeting of the Art Study Club of the Women's Art Association was the Spanish artist, Velasquez. The paper was read by Mrs. R. C. Cumming and was an interesting review of the life and work of the great painter.

"It was a common saying among the Spaniards, 'Whom God loves He gave a home in Seville'." It was in Seville that Diego Rodriguez di Silva y Velasquez was born, in the year 1599. His parents were of noble birth and his father was a hard-working lawyer. Following the custom of the country, the child was known by his mother's name of Velasquez.

At the age of thirteen years, he went to the studio of Herrera and there he learned technique and the first principles of art. But Herrera had a most violent temper, so the next year the boy went to study with Pacheco, possibly not so outstanding an artist but an excellent teacher, nevertheless.

"Velasquez felt that he must paint as he saw. He tried every subject; birds, beasts, fruits, pots and kitchens. He secured human models for the study of the human body, at rest, in action, in light, in shadow, and more particularly for the changing expressions of the face. He thus became a master in depicting feeling, expression and character. His interest was in the life around him, and his work, for this reason, is the most nationally characteristic of all the Spanish artists.

At the age of nineteen, Velasquez married the daughter of his teacher, Pacheco, and went to work harder than ever at his art. Later, he journeyed to Madrid and studied in the great galleries there. He did many pictures, among them an equestrian portrait of the king, Phillip Fourth, which so delighted that monarch that he made Velasquez his court painter. In 1628, after a visit by Rubens, the great Flemish artist, Velasquez was sent to Italy and there copied several of the great masterpieces; "The Crucifixion" and "The Last Supper". He was recalled to Spain, where he did many pictures of the courtiers and the royal family, but in 1648, was again commissioned to go to Italy and bring back a greater knowledge of sculpture to Spain.

On his return home, he was made Quarter Master General to the King, and was placed in charge of royal pageants and festivals. His time, which might have been spent in executing wonderful works of art, was spent in looking after details of such things, but still he produced many pictures of importance and value. He died in 1660, leaving behind him a large number of beautiful pictures.

Mrs. Cumming went on to describe in detail some of the better-known of Valesquez' works and the characteristics which are exemplified in them.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

WONDER IF YOU ARE keeping too close a watch over your children?

• • • • • • •

Rather an impertinent question you say, but I do not really mean it in that way.

• • • • • • •

Perhaps if I explain myself a little better you will see what I am striving to get at, and will be interested in this article I have prepared for today.

• • • • • • •

It will be just a little different from the many topics which we have been discussing during the past few weeks, and although Ad Nauseam's letter did raise some discussion and a number of letters were written regarding it, we haven't had a discussion for a long time, in which all the members took part. What's the matter, neighbors?

• • • • • • •

Why not give us your opinion on this subject and let us have lots of discussion. I think it is so much more interesting when everyone takes part, don't you?

• • • • • • •

As a rule I think most people, whether they are children or adults, do not like to find that someone is continually "keeping tabs" on them.

• • • • • • •

You may disagree with me, but I think this is true in the majority of cases. But even if the children do not like to be watched, the wise mother and father will keep very strict watch over their children.

• • • • • • •

Of course you need not let them know you are watching them closely for if you do, I am sure you will regret it at some future time.

• • • • • • •

For I have known people, even children, who realize they are being constantly kept in sight, to develop the tendency of secretiveness and this must be carefully guarded against.

• • • • • • •

If a child senses the fact that he or she is being watched very closely, that thing they would like to do if they were alone, becomes doubly desirable.

• • • • • • •

But do you realize that you can prevent the children or even older people from knowing they are under this surveillance?

• • • • • • •

If you are going about a task which seems legitimate and that task happens to be near where they are, no resentment attaches to it. Yes, indeed, this is true.

• • • • • • •

And so the wise mother or father can "develop" all sorts of unexpected "work" of which some will be genuine, of course, around where the children are playing, or perhaps working.

• • • • • • •

Even though children are very canny and will sense very quickly whether the "work" is only a bluff to watch them, the routine of housework to them is a mystery.

• • • • • • •

If something has to be glued to the underside of a chair, if a glass vase must be washed inside with a brush and water, if the mirror is wiped off, even though it be clean, the children will not detect anything unusual unless the method is carried to extreme.

• • • • • • •

And if you are present in this way at desirable times, you can offer suggestions or adjust some small matter, without seeming to intrude upon the affairs of the young people.

• • • • • • •

So in this way you can keep a close watch, yet not make the children suspicious and thus guard against that tendency to secretiveness which is so undesirable.

Sharkey Scores Technical Knockout in 3rd Round

BOSTON GOB WINNER IN THIRD ROUND

Scott, After Claming Foul, Loses on Technical Knockout.

DOWN THREE TIMES.

Englishman Proves No Match For American Heavyweight.

(By Alan Gould, Associated Press Sports Editor)

Miami, Fla., Feb. 28.—The crowning touch to one of the biggest fight fiascos in many years, was applied last night when Jack Sharkey, the generally recognized American heavyweight champion, was declared the winner over Phil Scott, British titleholder, on a technical knockout in the third round of a 15-round match.

After scenes of extraordinary confusion, and following the granting of a minute's rest to Scott on a claim of foul, Sharkey's hand was lifted in victory by Referee Lou Magnolia, as the Briton, weak and manifesting extreme agony, refused to continue the bout. The finish came with Scott still erect but reeling helplessly into the ropes after absorbing a terrific left hand punch to the stomach.

Scott had been floored once in the second round and twice in the third round before the enactment of scenes that put an almost unprecedented touch to the conclusion of a thoroughly unsatisfactory contest. Sharkey was warned once for hitting low before landing a second hook to the body which sent Scott to the floor, holding his side and writhing as if in agony.

Referee Disallows Claim

As the Briton's manager and handlers leaped into the ring, to add to the confusion Referee Magnolia halted the fight without indicating any decision before an examination. When neither the referee nor an examining physician agreed with Scott's claim of foul, the Briton was immediately given the choice of continuing the fight under his own power or of having Sharkey promptly declared the victor.

With the end of minute's respite Scott agreed to fight, the ring was cleared and Sharkey, who had been dashing about like a wild man, rushed at his foe, mercilessly. The Briton clinched and tried to save himself, but was limping constantly gripping his side and grimacing in a manifestation of extreme pain. Backed finally against the ropes Phil took a smashing blow to the stomach, a left hook, and sagged. Although the blow clear was fair, several inches above the belt, Scott indicated another claim of foul as he turned in a helpless manner toward his corner. Magnolia unhesitatingly stepped in, asked Scott whether he wanted to continue, and when advised in the negative, turned to lift Sharkey's hand in victory.

The fight was stopped after two minutes and 34 seconds of actual fighting in the third round, but due to the interval or rest for Scott, lasted a minute longer.

Scott's manager, Jimmy Johnston, protested volumbly and declared later that referee Magnolia originally had disqualified Sharkey, but the sole arbiter of the bout denied this and flatly declared he had not seen Sharkey hit a foul blow at any time. The final punch, Magnolia said, was squarely in the pit of the stomach and left no possible room for argument.

Mill Town and Frankford in 1-1 Tie

CAMPBELLFORD IS ASSURED OF PLAY-OFF BERTH

Mill Town and Frankford Fail to Break Decision After 30 Minutes Overtime.

HOMSTERS SUPERIOR.

Stirling Strengthens Lead By Copping 3-0 Win Over Tweed Last Night.

(By Staff Reporter)

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 28. — A ninety-minute hockey marathon in which the Campbellford and Frankford entries in the Trent Valley League figured at Campbellford last night resulted in a 1-1 tie after the two squads battled fruitlessly through 30 minutes' overtime to better the lone goals scored by Sneider and McPherson in the second period.

Already almost certain of the privelege of playing-off for league honors, the game meant little as far as the Campbellford team's standing was concerned. Stirling leads the league with 11 wins and four losses including its 3-0 win over Tweed last night. Campbellford is next in line with 9 wins, 4 losses and 2 ties and Tweed holds third position with 7 wins and 8 losses. Frankford is out of the running with 6 wins and 8 losses.

Last night was the fourth tangle of the Millers and the Frankford men. In the first three, Campbellford won two on their home ice and tied at Frankford. One of the largest hockey crowds of Campbellfordites of the season flocked to Davidson's Arena to see their team in action for the last time at home in a scheduled game The ice was in first-class shape on account of the sharp drop of the thermometer.

Play Superior Game

The Campbellford lads played a superior game throughout the clash and the prospect of an immediate goal which was always present kept the fans on their toes to the last minute of the 30 minutes overtime. The game of the visitors was entirely defensive and it was a combination of the efforts of the O'Malley brothers on defense and Ben Bowen in goal that was the only reason that the score was within 10 points of where it was on the Campbellford side of the books. Ben Bowen was mainly responsible, turning in one of the smartest exhibitions of goal tending during the evening that has been witnessed this year in the league. For every shot Irwin was called upon to keep out of the homesters' nets. Bowen had to take care of about ten. They were generally grounders, but they came fast enough to keep him busy at all times.

The homesters' goalie and defense men were not worked much due to the incessant offensive drives into Frankford territory. The puck spent about three-quarters of the time on the opponents' side of center ice.

Breaks Against Homesters

Breaks entered into the game against Campbellford on several occasions. The Crimson and Old Gold men found themselves in front of an open net several times with only the job of batting the puck in but failed to come through on account of failures to connect and slips. One try hit a goal post—and went the wrong way.

The two goals came within one minute and thirty seconds of each other in the middle of the second period. The local boys had been conducting their usual offensive activities deep in Frankford territory when Sneider took possession and nicked the first of the two. After a wild minute McPherson shoved in the homsters contribution for the night.

A feature of the game was an absence of penalties. Referee Rooney used his bell rarely.

First Period.

Mild hockey was exhibited in the early minutes of the first period. Shortly after things brightened up as McPherson carried the puck right into the mouth of the open net, but got lost in the rush. Shaw and the Franks' centre man, Bowen, made some promising attempts, but the Blue, Whitten and Brant trio carried the battle up the visitors' way. Ben Bowen was put to work. Near the close of the period Frankford attacks got through several times, but failed.

Second Period.

More vigorously than ever the Millers carried on their offensive in the opening of the second. Whitten was robbed twice by the hawk-eyed Bowen. McKay received the same treatment. When the O'Malley defence and Munn got in a little mix-up in front of their own net all by themselves they nearly rung in a counter accidentally. All the home lads were busy around the Frankford net when Sneider got away for the first goal. He skated over to the left side and took a long heave through empty territory. Irwin was taken by surprise. The time of the goal was 4.30 minutes.

Ninety seconds later the Millers swarmed down to the enemy goal and drew Bowen out. At that McPherson almost missed the chance. He had only three unguarded feet to shove the puck, but had to take three swings of his stick.

Mill Town Leads Play.

The third period was a repetition of the first two. The Campbellford squad conducted most of their activities in the region of the green-sweatered boys' cage. Frankford attacks were feeble and the tries of McKay, Blue, and Whitten were beaten by Goalie Bowen. The visitors aroused the disapproval of the crowd by heaving feebly over half the length of the rink.

In the first ten minute overtime period Whitten attempts were beaten by a couple of tough breaks. George Bowen was dangerous. Frankford's long attempts continued in the second 10-minute overtime session. Whitten was moved to centre, but nothing resulted for the Millers. The last ten minute sitting was inclined to be scrambly.

Individually, Buster Whitten and Bill Blue for the homesters were the features of the night. They were the busiest of all. Both are short men, but were the fastest and trickiest on the bill. Ben Bowen held a generous place in the spotlight with his neat net work. The O'Malleys did nothing spectacular on defence, but were all there at all times.

The teams:

Campbellford — Goal, C. Irwin; defence, B. Whitten, H. McArthur; wings, A. McKay, K. McPherson; centre, W. Blue; subs., B. Brant, O. Hendy.

Frankford — Goal, B. Bowen; defence, C. O'Malley, W. O'Malley; wings, R. Shaw, F. Munn; centre, G. Bowen; subs., H. Turley, D. Sneider, J. Sullivan.

Referee—J. Rooney, Belleville.

Second period—
Frankford, Sneider 4.30
Campbellford, McPherson 1.30

TORONTO FALLS BEFORE CANUCKS

Roy Worters Guards Nets For Canadiens in Montreal 6-2 Victory.

TWO TIE BATTLES.

TORONTO FALLS.

MONTREAL, Feb. 28. (C.P.) — With Roy Worters, American goaler, in the nets playing spectacular hockey, the Montreal Canadiens scored a 6 to 2 victory over the Toronto Maple Leafs here last night.

SENATORS IN 3-3 TIE.

DETROIT, Feb. 28. (C.P.) — For two periods Ottawa Senators and Detroit Cougars went through the motions of a National Hockey League game here last night and then they settled down to business. Both teams put up a lively third period battle, and with the score tied two-all, went into an equally lively overtime, each team scoring in the extra period, but the score stood at a 3 to 3 tie when the final whistle tooted.

BATTLE TO 1-ALL COUNT.

NEW YORK, February 28. — The Chicago Black Hawks and New York Rangers failed to reach a decision last night in their struggle for second place in the American group of the National Hockey League, winding up an overtime game in a 1 to 1 tie.

BISONS TIE WINDSOR 4-4

Bulldog's Two-goal Lead Is Wiped Out in Forty-six Seconds.

PLAY AGAIN TO-NIGHT.

TORONTO, Feb. 28 (C.P.)—Windsor Bulldogs made a gallant effort to take a much-needed brace of points from Buffalo Bisons in their International Hockey League game at Fort Erie last night, but they failed by just six seconds. Their opponents netted the goal which resulted in a four-all deadlock, after 70 minutes of hotly contested hockey, just as the final whistle was to be sounded.

Buffalo led the Bulldogs, two goals to one, at the end of the second period. Lever had opened the scoring for the Bulldogs with a clever unassisted goal, when Carl Voss, defence player, evened the count with one of his famous long shots. Roter Roth then put the Bisons in the lead.

In the third frame Mike Neville took Hap Emms' pass to convert it into the tieing goal and the teams were forced into overtime.

The extra session was the most hectic of the night. Windsor rapped two rapid-fire goals into the Bison cage and appeared to have the game clinched, but they attempted defensive hockey and it nearly spelled their downfall. The Bisons hemmed the Bulldogs in and with the Windsor goalmouth packed their goalkeeper failed to see two of the many drives drilled through a maze of legs, and consequently the score was tied.

A peculiarity of the schedule forces Windsor to play again to-night. They will entertain London Panthers, who have been stubbornly playing in recent games to oust Buffalo from second place. Victory for the Bulldogs will tie them with Detroit Olympics in fourth position.

AUBURN'S TRACK HOPES

AUBURN, Ala., (U.P.).—Auburn college is looking two seasons ahead in outdoor track competition. Most of the material for this spring's team are sophomores and juniors.

VARSITY BEATS NATIONALS 3-2

Collegians Capture First Game of Senior O.H.A. Championship Series.

SENSATIONAL DISPLAY.

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 28 (C.P.) — More play-off games were played in the Ontario Hockey Association playdowns last night, and as a result of the contests two more clever teams dropped by the wayside and two superior teams advanced a step further in their quest.

At Hamilton, Tigers eliminated Woodstock, winners of their group in Senior "B", by defeating them in Hamilton, five to two. As the Tigers won the previous game, six to two, they won the round, eleven to four, and will now meet Queen's University, winners of Group No. 1. The first game will be played at Kingston, March 1, with the return at Hamilton, March 3.

University of Toronto nosed out Toronto Nationals, three to two, in the first of their two game series for the championship of the Senior "A" group. The contest was keenly contested throughout and the teams maintained a terrific pace which greatly pleased a crowd of more than 5,000 fans. The second game takes place at Varsity Arena Saturday night.

Close Call for Falls

Niagara Falls Juniors had a narrow escape from elimination at Windsor. Over confidence coupled with the aggressiveness of the Windsor-Walkerville Tech. sextet saw them go down to defeat, five goals to two. Niagara won the first game, four to nothing and therefore won the round by a narrow margin of six to five. The clever playing of Goalkeeper Fischer was responsible for the Niagara team's entrance to the final. When his teammates wilted in the last period as their opponents strove desperately to tie the round, he turned aside numerous shots which were labelled for goals.

Paris and Walkerton will clash at Toronto to-night in the first of the two game series for the Intermediate championship. It will mark the first time in thirty years that a Paris team has participated in this event. Both teams arrived in Toronto yesterday and a special train will bring the Parisians' supporters to the game. A large number are also coming from the Western Ontario city.

In the Junior series, West Toronto, with a nine-goal lead secured in the first match, will play the return game with Kingston in the Eastern Ontario city. The winner will meet University of Toronto for the right to enter the final.

Iroquois Falls and Cobalt meet in the Northern Ontario Hockey Association Junior semi-final at Cobalt. The Falls' team won the first game, six to one, and are favored to enter the final against Sault Ste. Marie Greyhounds.

Kitchener Ties Galt For Second Place

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 28 (C.P.) — By defeating Brantford, three goals to nothing, the Kitchener Dutchmen climbed into a tie for second place with Galt Terriers in the Canadian League hockey standings last night.

The game was the first to be played in the league for a week as several scheduled contests were cancelled for lack of ice. Kitchener notched a goal in each period to gain victory.

BERKELEY, Cal. (U.P.). — Paul Sanchez, former University of Michigan tennis player has been appointed to the tennis coaching staff of the University of California. Sanches is also instructor in Spanish at the university.

Tool Makers Strengthen Senior City League Berth

LAST TIMES TO-NIGHT COLLEEN MOORE IN "FOOTLIGHTS AND FOOLS"

SATURDAY-MONDAY-TUESDAY

C.G.E. SEXTET BEATS DE LAVAL BY 4-1 COUNT

Toolmakers Display Clever Combination Work to Pile Second Period Lead.

GAME OPENS FAST.

Canucks Defeat C. G. E. Office to Make Third Junior Play-off Game Necessary.

The fast C.G.E. Tool Room Sextet took a strong grip on the senior City League hockey championship last night at the Brock street rink when they treated the clever De Laval team to a 4-1 defeat, in an exciting game that was a hockey treat from the viewpoint of the critical fan. The Canucks and Office crossed sticks in the junior play-off game, the Canucks winning 2-1, tying up the round and making one more game necessary to decide the championship.

The Tool Makers deserved their three goal margin, playing superb hockey throughout the entire game, and exhibiting a polished brand of clever combination work which time and again carried them right to the goal mouth, despite the heavy defensive work of the DeLaval defence. The Separator crew on the other hand failed to show to advantage in combined rushes and for the most part were content to stage lone rushes and shoot from well out. The De Laval forwards were a shifty trio, who checked closely and excelled at puck carrying, but most of their individual rushes went to pieces before the stone-wall defence presented by Swanger and Hadlock on the Tool Room defence, who blocked every rush in a heavy style that made Stan Jones' task in the winners' net a rather easy one.

Game Opens Fast.

The game opened at a sizzling pace that was maintained throughout two periods with the Toolmakers forcing the play from the face-off, and storming the DeLaval citadel with well-timed three-men attacks, that kept Meyette in the nets on his toes. The latter, however, performed in stellar style and blocked shots from every angle, to turn in his best performance of the season. The first goal came after seven minutes of play when Swanger grabbed a loose puck at his own blue line and in a clever display of stick-handling weaved his way through the whole DeLaval team, and bulged the twine from close-in, giving Meyette no chance. Heavy checking in centre ice was a feature of this period, both teams having their share of the play, with the Tool Room breaking in better formation than their opponents. The Separator men evened the score in the middle of the session, when Eddie Williams and Lackey broke fast together, the latter scoring on a bullet-like shot from the defence that Jones failed to touch. The style of play adopted by the losers seemed to indicate lack of scoring punch, and they took few chances on the attack, invariably lifting the puck from long range and following in for rebounds.

Killoran and Hatton Good.

These tactics suited the Toolmakers who repeatedly left the DeLaval forwards in the lurch with a pass to the wing man at the blue line. Killoran and Hatton combined to put the winners' one goal up two minutes before the period ended, Hatton flipping the rubber past Meyette on another close-in play.

The Toolmakers proved the most aggressive in the second stanza also, and in the first five minutes of play were buzzing around the DeLaval net with a persistency that would not be denied, and resulted in a tally in four minutes, Ray Epps banging the disc home in the open net, when Meyett was flat on the ice in an effort to block on a scramble. Edgar, Dundas and William played great hockey for the Separator team in this period on the forward line and for the major part of the time harassed the Toolmakers with an effective display of backchecking, and tricky rushing that should have earned them counters. The Tool Room forward line, together with the second string forwards, trotted out a brilliant brand of teamwork that gave them the edge over their opponents, and was practically in itself responsible for the victory. Swanger and Micky Williams combined in a rush just before the bell rang, but Williams missed the net.

Dull play in Third.

The Third period was rather uninteresting, as the winners adopted a defensive style of playing that was very effective against the four-man sorties of the Lackey crews, and although the Tool Makers appeared to be pretty well bottled up in their own territory during the greater part of the period they were never very seriously menaced, and during the last stages of the game shot the puck the length of the ice to relieve the pressure.

Killoran scored in less than a minute after the face-off in this session, taking a pass from Epps at centre, and working his way between the defence to net his own rebound. Individually, Corkery on the Tool Room forward line was the most brilliant player, showing marked improvement as a puck carrier and effectiveness in his checking. Killoran, Swanger, Hatton, and the Epps brothers, were also outstanding players for the winners, although the team performed as a well regulated unit. Eddie Williams, Dundas, and Edgar were the best for the Separator crew, while "Stuffy" Mahood for the wing was much in evidence, bewildering his opponents with a nifty exhibition of stick handling that was in itself a feature of the game.

The teams:

De Laval — Goal, Mayette; defence, Evans and Mackey; centre, Edgar; wings, Dundas and Williams; alternates, Jones and Mahood.

C.G.E. Tool Room — Goal, Jones; defence, Swanger and Hadlock; centre, Ray Epps; wings, Killoran and Hatton; alternates, Corkery, A. Williams, and Harold Epps.

Referee—Lou LeBarr.

The Summary.

First period—
Tool Room—Swanger, 7.00.
De Laval—Lackey (Williams), 12.00.
Tool Room—Hatton (Killoran) 17.00
Second period—
Tool Room—R. Epps, 4.00.
Third period—
Tool Room—Killoran, 1.00.
Penalties—Jones, A. Williams.

CANUCKS WIN 2-1.

The C.G.E. Office and Canucks met for the fourth time this season last night, and the latter kept themselves in the running by squeezing out a close victory to tie the standing and make the fifth game necessary.

Play was fast and checking very strenuous during the greater part of the game and both teams were handicapped by penalties. The brunt of the work was borne by the two goalminders, who both starred, Magee, Milliken, and Calladine were the stellar performers for the C.G.E., while Meagher, Houlihan, and Burke shared the honors for the winners.

The teams:

C.G.E.—Goal, Copping; defence, Whatley and Magee; centre, Calladine; wings, Tuck and Gardiner; alternates, Milliken and Playford.

Canucks — Goal, Foley; defence, Carroll and Woods; centre, Jones; wings, Burke and Heffernan; alternates, Meagher and Houlihan.

Referee—Mahood.

HIGHWAYS AND BYWAYS IN THE SPORTS WORLD

BOOSTS AND KNOCKS for EVERYONE

(By "TED" OUTRAM)

Baseball gossip and the contemplation of the Nationals' chances this coming summer is beginning to cause some concern among the sporting staff of the Belleville Intelligencer. This agitation is indicated as follows.

"While Little has appeared on the surface, Manager Walter Gerow of the Nationals has been working quietly on this year's baseball prospects. It is altogether likely that Deloro will abandon baseball for this year, and in order to make a successful league it will likely be necessary to include Kingston, Oshawa, Belleville, and Peterborough. The Peter and the Oshawa team have in the past registered objections to the long jump to Kingston, but a three-team league has been attempted in the past, and it met with little success. The Central League Moguls will probably meet in the near future to lay plans for the season.

• • • • • •

"The Nationals will be well fortified at any rate, and Belleville will uphold the traditions of the diamond, and a great effort will be made to repeat the performance of last season when they marched through to the championship.

• • • • • •

The Belleville scribe has the right dope on the Deloro situation. Bob Elliott, chief executive of the Deloro club, and probable president of the O.B.A.A. this year, told the writer that the Smelters would not be in the Central League this year. He hoped, however, that he could muster a team to play intermediate ball.

• • • • • •

The only baseball activity going on here right now is the scrambling for players by the intermediate clubs. There have been secret conferences and street corner huddles and there are few good ball tossers around who have not promised to do service with one or several teams.

• • • • • •

There is nothing definite about the Central League situation, and the matter of Peterborough's entry is in the air. Let another month slip into history and things may be altered.

• • • • • •

In regard to East Peterborough League ball, the secretary hinted recently that there might be room for another local club. Hastings proved unsatisfactory in the league last year, and it is doubtful if they will be allowed back. Any team aspiring for a berth in the E. P. L. should be advised to get busy and make their intentions known.

• • • • • •

Doc. Hamilton, chief of the Bethany nine, the surprise team of the 1929 campaign, plans to make another strong bid for the pennant. He is scouting for some likely looking diamond performers.

• • • • • •

A record was hung up for the Trent Valley Hockey League last night, and one that has rarely been surpassed in any league. Frankford and Campbellford played ninety minutes of fast hockey to a 1-1 tie without a single penalty. Referee Rooney of Belleville, was the arbiter, and except for ringing for an occasional offside, the boys could very well have managed without him.

With three games left to play, and the deciding of two ties, the standing remains practically the same. Stirling and Campbellford are well out in front, with Stirling in first place. No definite date has yet been set for the championship series.

• • • • • •

Kansas City is leading the way in the American Hockey Association, and it is strongly indicated that they will finish the season there. The sterling work of Wilfred "Biffer" Ranger and Bert McLeod has done much to put them up in front. In recent game with Tulsa, "Biffer" Ranger netted the only goal of the game on a beautiful solo effort. Bert has been bowling them over on defence with all his old classic technique, but it is understood that he is seriously considering making this his last year in hockey.

Up in North Bay a citizens' committee has been formed to promote the erection of a community artificial ice rink and auditorium. This project aims at an ice surface of not less than 80 by 180, and with seating accommodation for 3,000, and the cost with the site to be about $125,000.

If a representative group of citizens were to get busy on a similar mission here, there is no doubt in quick order sufficient money could be raised to build an artificial ice arena worthy of the city, and that would bring the great game back to its proper place here. Citizens in every walk of life appreciate the need for it, and conditions for such an undertaking appear to be ripe.

• • • • • •

Bill Tilden disputed a decision in a Riveria tennis match, and the official whose decision wa sdisputed walked off the court. Just one more point in which tennis differs from baseball and hockey. When a ball or hockey player disputes a decision with an official it is the player who walks off the stage of combat—under injunction.

Fainting Phil has staged his last swoon. Scott passed out of the picture of heavyweight contenders at Miami last night in the greatest big fight fiasco on record. The international aspect of the scrap was played up by American ballyho artists, but Scott as a fighter was never worthy of wearing the British flag into the ring.

COMEDY - MUSICAL ACT - NEWS

Mrs. Scott Faints On Unwelcome News

LONDON, Feb. 28.—(A.P.) — There was one house in England to which news of Phil Scott's defeat in Miami came as a nerve wracking shock.

It was a little dwelling at Thornton Heath where Mrs. Scott in a pale blue dressing gown sat anxiously awaiting through the early hours by the embers of a dying fire for word fom Miami. When finally the unwelcome tidings were received, Mrs. Scott collapsed and was put to bed by friends who had waited up with her.

A doctor was called and several hours later Mrs. Scott was better although she was still abed unable to see visitors.

COBOURG HERE ON SATURDAY

P. C. I. Squad Faces One Point Advantage in Second Game of Play-offs.

FOR BASKETBALL HONORS.

The championship of the western section of Central Ontario in interscholastic basketball will be decided to-morrow afternoon in the Peterborough Collegiate gymnasium when P.C.I. will clash with Cobourg in the second group play-off game. The first was played in Cobourg last Saturday and P.C.I. was defeated by the cont of 36-35. Thus P.C.I. will go into to-morrow's scrap with the object of overcoming the small lead of one point and piling up a few extra points for safety.

P.C.I. will trot out the same line-up that was used last week and the Cobourg team will be little changed. Spectators will see a battle to the finish.

The winners of the group will look eastward in the province for their next competition and will probably be stacked against either Albert College or Belleville High school. Both are fast aggregations and are in the group play-offs for their district.

At 2.30 to-morrow's bill will be started off with a game between the Cobourg Collegiate girls' squad and P.C.I. girls. Interest is running high in connection with this match as the Cobourg girls were successful for the first time in many years in defeating P.C.I. in a game in Cobourg last Saturday afternoon.

SCOTT FOULED IN THE THIRD

British Heavyweight Claims He Was Fouled at Least Six Times.

SPORTS WRITER'S OPINION.

(By Bernard Rickatson Hatt, Chief Correspondent in the United States of Reuter's News Agency of London.)

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 28.—It seemed to me that the first blow that felled Scott in that black third round was low and therefore a foul and I don't doubt for one moment that if the fight had been staged in London, Sharkey would have been disqualified.

On the other hand, as I said before, only the recording angel can tell us if Scott was really hurt. One doctor said one thing, one another. Handlers, seconds and officials "out-Heroded Herod" with charges and counter charges. It is all very sad because we probably shall never know.

Scott told me in his dressing room afterwards where he lay stretched on a grimy, cheerless bench, he had been fouled six times at least. Certainly Phil appeared to be in agony when a doctor tried to raise his right leg from the thigh.

Lou Magnolia on the other hand declared positively that he had seen no foul blows struck at any time. Last Tuesday, I had a talk with this kindly faced, courteous referee who was called upon last night to make such a momentous decision. I asked him if he could promise the British public that Phil would get an absolutely square deal in an United States' prize ring. Mr. Magnolia said to me: "Absolutely, Phil will be given every chance."

After the fight last night I again spoke to Magnolia. He said, "You saw. I gave Phil every possible break. I even stopped the fight to allow him to go on. But the plain truth is Phil can't take a blow to the stomach."

But this, I venture to submit, may be urged on Scott's behalf. Phil has been brought up from boyhood on the English tradition (and after all it was in England, was it not, that modern boxing had its birth) that a foul is a foul and should be treated as such.

In America another philosophy has grown up. It seems to be the general belief that it is not sporting for a fighter to claim a foul, even if he is hit low unless he is really seriously hurt and cannot possibly continue. He must in short expect to encounter such things in his day's work.

"DIT" CLAPPER IS PROMISING RIGHT WINGER

Leading Scorer of National League Makes His Home in Hastings.

BORN AT NEWMARKET.

Youth is True Player on Both Defensive and Offensive Side of Game.

Millions of people in United States never heard of Hastings, a hamlet in eastern Ontario, but the citizenry of Boston is thankful for the little village which contributed to hockey one of the most promising right wingers in the game—Aubrey Victor "Dit" Clapper, leading scorer of the National League.

Clapper was not born in Hastings but he makes his home there. He first saw light of day in Newmarket, Ontario, a small town north of Toronto where they take their hockey seriously. Until he broke into professional hockey with the Boston Tigers of the Canadian-American league at the start of the 1926-27 season Toronto was the only big town that Clapper ever saw.

Some will argue that Bill Cook, Johnny Gottselig, "Hooley" Smith or Irving Bailey are better right flank men than the youthful Clapper, but there is plenty of room for argument, both on the strength of the records of the players and on their actual play on the ice.

Gottselig is a trifle faster than Clapper but he has not the physique, shooting ability nor is he as good a play maker as Clapper. Cooke's shot is as good as Clapper's and Bill has the advantage of much more experience, but he cannot begin to skate with Clapper, who also would leave either Bailey or Smith appear to be standing still and he can shoot and trade bumps with either of them. There is little doubt but that the youthful Clapper, who is only 25 years old, ranks with the best right wingers in the business and there is every reason to believe that he will outrank the field in another year. It is seldom that a goal getter of Clapper's ability wanted to make plays as does Clapper, a splendid example of that rare combination of scorer and team player.

Including games of last Tuesday night, Clapper, playing has second season under the big tent, had scored 35 goals and had assisted in the scoring of 15 others, most of them coming off the stick of his diminutive little running mate, "Cooney" Weiland. His total goals is four more than his nearest rivals, Weiland and Nelson Stewart of the Maroons, both of whom scored 31 goals up until and including games of Tuesday night.

Few, if any, youngsters have broken into the National league in recent years, who can handle a pass as does Clapper. True most of the passes he has converted into goals, have been given him by that little passing master who plays on his left, the 135-pound Weilland, but it is not uncommon to see hockey players of the first flight boot good passes, but not Clapper.

If Clapper were not wrapped up as he is in his hockey, he would become equally as prominent in the public eye in Hollywood, on Broadway, or as a model for collar ads. Standing six feet two inches in his socks, and weighing 190 pounds, Clapper is a splendid physical specimen, a fine, clean cut youngster with the facial features of a modern Adonis.

Theres a Market for Him.

Clapper first gained prominence as a hockey player as a member of the Parkdale Canoe Club juniors, of Toronto, in 1925-26, after which he went to the Boston Tigers, from where he was drafted by the Bruins for the 1927-28 season. Manager Art Ross started him on the defense and he is still quite a capable performer on the rear guard, but his speed, shooting ability and willingness to team up with his mates, persuaded the Bruins' pilot that "Dit" would be more valuable up on the line firing away at hapless opposition goal tenders.

Clapper may or may not be the best right winger in hockey to-day, but any time Art Ross and Charles F. Adams feel that they can get along without him, the Detroit club possibly could find in the neighborhood of $25,000 with which it would be willing to exchange for the good-looking youngster who has been "poison" to many an ambitious hockey club this season.—The Detroit Free Press.

Sharkey-Scott Fight Is Financial "Frost"

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 28. (Canadian Press).—Official figures announced to-day placed the paid attendance at the Scott-Sharkey fight show last night at 18,600, the gross receipts at $190,000 and the net "gate" at only $161,000 after deduction of tax.

The loss to the Madison Square Garden Corporation was estimated at $50,000 but may run as high as $75,000.

Sharkey, receiving 25 per cent, drew $40,000 for his share as compared with $100,000 he received for his victory over Young Stribling a year ago. Scott, getting 20 per cent, drew $32,000.

ALBERTA CURLERS MAINTAIN LEAD

Indications Point to Tankard Going Back to Western Provinces.

TORONTO, Feb. 28.—Unless a surprising upset occurs, indications all point to Bobby Munro's Edmonton rink from far Alberta winning the Macdonald Brier Tankard, emblematic of the Canadian curling championship. Although their record of victories was broken in the afternoon draw yesterday, the Alberta players were still safely ensconsed at the top of the standing at the conclusion of last night's play. Howard Wood's Winnipeg Granites, Manitoba's representatives, who came here to defend the trophy won two years in succession by Gordon Hudson's Winnipeg Strathconas, are in second place, with a chance to tie the leaders providing Quebec can beat Alberta in the only draw remaining to be played. Manitoba must also win this morning's game to earn a tie with the Albertan. If the Munro rink wins this morning, it is all over but the cheering and there will be no necessity to arrange a play-off in the afternoon. The same result would occur if the the Alberta and Manitoba rinks are beaten this morning. All the other rinks are out of the running, no matter what happens in the play to-day.

Montreal's Victory Popular

Alberta's only defeat to date was administered by Peter Lyall's Montreal rink in the afternoon draw of yesterday's play. It was one of the most popular victories of the competition and was attended by an ovation to the winners after the result was known. A large gallery followed the play during the whole day and last night, the game between Alberta and Saskatchewan drew a large crowd. The possibility of a tie for the leadership occurring lent the game more than the usual interest. The hope of the other rinks who were also near the top was pinned to Saskatchewan, but the Saskatooon four, led by Skip McLeod, was not equal to the occasion. Alberta won the match, and with it the hope of the other rinks departed. Quebec may create a surprise to-day by following Montreal's example, but the Quebec rink has not been showing many winning performances the past two days, and it is believed the Edmonton rink is too strong for the Easterners.

MARK STREET CHURCH OBSERVES ANNIVERSARY ON NEXT SUNDAY

Rev. C. F. Cragg, of Oshawa, Will Be Speaker at Both Services.

YEAR'S ACTIVITIES.

Mark Street, the last addition to the half dozen splendid United Church edifices in the city of Peterborough, will observe the first anniversary of its dedication next Sunday, March 2. Rev. C. F. Cragg of Simcoe Street United Church, Oshawa, will preach at both services. Mr. Cragg was minister of Mark Street from 1911 to 1914 when the lot upon which the new church has been built was purchased he was also one of the preachers at the time of dedication when he was greeted with a crowded house both morning and evening. Mark Street is to be congratulated upon securing his services upon this occasion. Everything is moving along promisingly in all of the church activities. The Sunday School in its commodious new quarters under the guidance of A. W. Gamble, superintendent and Kent Throop, secretary-treasurer, who have held their respective offices for over 17 years, has an attendance of approximately 200. They are supported by a staff of faithful and efficient officers and teachers.

The choir with Mrs. W. A. Greenslade as organist and leader, even with the handicap of as yet having no pipe organ, is making a gratifying contribution to the church services. Their 'Old Tyme Concert is deservedly popular as evidenced by their engagements to put it on five times in the city and several times outside of Peterborough.

The Women's Association, which has in the past been a tower of strength is continuing to do yeoman service under the new president, Mrs. A. Cox.

The Young People's League under the presidency of Charles English has gotten under way in the new year with a good stride. They entertained the young people of Regent street and Knox churches of Lakefield last Monday night when about 125 sat down to refreshments.

The W. M. S. with its allied societies of Y. W. A. and Mission Band under the respective leadership of Mrs. Thornley, Mrs. Barranger and Mrs. Hay and Miss Mildred Currie, is carrying on with hopefulness and efficiency. A group of Tuxis Boys and Trail Rangers under the charge of Leonard Agnew, Cleve Robb and John Hunter abound in activities. Mark street is pardonably proud of the work of John Hunter as member of the Older Boys' parliament for Peterborough.

A teachers' training class under the direction of the minister, A. E. Thornley, has been recently organized. The Dramatic Club with Cyril Agnew as president has recently put on a play 'Mother Mine' to a large and appreciative audience and are booked for other engagements. The recent annual meeting of the congregation which was the 'best ever' elected to the Session Messrs G. C. Ackers and E. Butler and to the Board of Stewards Messrs G. Hurl and James Hunter.

Mark Street is grateful for the generous support of its many friends celebrates the first anniversary of the dedication of their new church with special services both morning and evening of next Sunday and an Old Tyme Concert and dinner on Monday evening and faces the future with strong faith and hope.

DIFFICULT DECISIONS By GLUYAS WILLIAMS

ST. PETER'S HIGH SCHOOL PRIZE DAY

Wednesday afternoon was a gala day in the Knights of Columbus Hall when the annual distribution of prizes to St. Peter's High School Students took place. J. R. Corkery, Chairman of the Separate School Board presided and the event was honored by the presence of Gis Grace, Archbishop M. J. O'Brien, D.D., of Kingston, Very Reverend Dean O'Sullivan, Reverend Fathers O'Brien, Costello, Finn, Lynch; Messrs. Bennett, Inspector of Separate Schools, Crown Attorney McElderry K.C., Sullivan, Reynolds, Fairen, MacPherson, and Dr. Crough.

An entertaining programme was provided by the students comprising, Vivat Pastor Bonus, rendered by the School Orchestra; a welcome song "Happy Days" by the student body; an orchestra selection and a violin duet by Joseph Nolan and Max Glover. An address to His Grace, Archibishop O'Brien was read in a commendable manner by Jack Halliban in which he gave a resume of school life, pointing out the impression made upon mind and heart by His Grace, who had daily imparted lessons from his own unlimited storehouse of knowledge of the things of God.

The Chairman, Mr. Corkery, addressed the audience, which he confessed to be unique in the annals of the Knights of Columbus. He gave statistics of the cost per capita for the education of a Catholic child in Peterborough, incidentally pointing out the obstacles encountered. His Grace, the Archbishop, in his usual happy manner spoke of the splendid work being carried on by the staff and students of St. Peter's School. He corroborated the chairman's statements and recounted the history of the Catholic High School in the city and its gradual progress in spite of almost insuperable difficulties from every source. The present enrollment, as well as the number of graduates, was proof positive of the high standard of the school.

Then followed the distribution of prizes which were gracefully presented by Misses Madeline Curtin and Bernice Flynn, attired in their natty school uniforms, to His Grace, the Archibishop, to Dr. Crough Deputy Grand Knight and Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C., and by these, in turn, to the fortunate prize winners, as follows:

Prize presented by His Grace Archbishop O'Brien, to the pupil who is the best all-round exponent of S.P.S. ideals. This prize has been awarded by vote of class-mates.

Obtained by Frank DeForge and Eugene Snider.

Prior to the distribution fo prizes, a beautifully worded Valedictory was read by Miss Josephine Lynch, which should prove a stimulus to greater exertion in future on the part of the pupils.

Congratulations Received.

The chairman called upon several of the clergy and prominent men of the city to express their opinions. Mr. Bennet, from his personal touch with the school and classes, was able to vouch, for the progress and work, so decidedly a characteristic of St. Peter's School. Very Reverend Dean O'Sullivan expressed his message to the pupils taking as his motto "Noblesse oblige"—self reverence. He exhorted the students to ever exert their best efforts and manifest a pride in their own attainments and their mastery of school problems. Mr. McElderry voiced his pleasure in meeting the students, and humorously expressed his hope that he might never meet them in his official capacity. He congratulated the prize-winners and consoled the others with the thought that life generally bestowed success rather on the mediocre than the class-leader. Reverend Father John O'Brien professed his pleasure in the measure of success attained by many pupils and was appreciative of the power for good their school had ever provedto be. Mr. Sullivan realized the efficiency of St. Peter's School being entirely conversant with the many difficulties which prevailed since its inception and were still attendant upon its daily routine. Reverend Father Costello, who has supplemented the work of His Grace the, Archbishop, in the school, complimented the pupils upon the reward now bestowed upon their merits. Mr. Reynolds, credited the staff and students upon their devotion to duty. Dr. Crough envied the students their many academic and religious advantages telling them that faith is the heyday of life around which their later memories would centre.

The programme was concluded by the Student Body singing several school songs, followed by the National Anthem

The Fifth Peterborough Troop

The Fifth Peterborough troop has just launched out on a drive for recruits. Our program for the coming months contains such extensive scout work and such a generous share of sport that it would fully repay any boy over twelve years of age to join up next Tuesday when our meeting is held in All Saints' parish hall, or if you prefer it, to get in touch with the S. M., Mr. Choate or either of the Patrol Leaders, Fred Williams and Lloyd Wells who will be only too pleased to introduce you to the troop. Remember, don't delay a week or two but join up next week and be in at the start of things.

The meeting last Tuesday was called at 7:30 sharp and opened with the Scout's promise. Twenty minutes was then spent on signalling instruction. Two patrols for the evening were chosen, the Wild Boars under Doug Paterson and the Beavers, under Ken Riches. Several games of Snatch-the-hat and cock-fight then followed. Doug Paterson and Fred Williams proved themselves the gladiators of the cock fight fighting to a finish each time. A short troop council was then held. A group of races completed the evenings program. The teams were neck and neck for points all evening and on the finish of the last obstacle race they were tied. A deciding cock fight was staged and won by the Beavers.

The troop was dismissed with the Scout's prayer and Scout silence.

Halt! Alert! No you're not dismissed yet. Don't forget that promise to be on hand next Tuesday evening. O.K.? No wait a minute, how about that chum of yours, perhaps he hasn't seen this, so tell him about it and bring him along. Got that straight?—Good! Dismiss.

COOPER LETTER WORTH $42.00.

PARIS, February 28. — A letter of James Fenimore Cooper to General Lafayette is worth only $42.00 on the Paris market. This sum was recently paid for an authentic letter of the novelist Cooper to the soldier Lafayette when it was put up for auction in one of the largest art auction rooms of Paris.

LOCAL SOCIETY HOLDS MEETING

Good Program Provided at Regular Meeting of W.C.T.U.

INTERESTING ADDRESS

A well attended and interesting meeting of the W. C. T. U. was held in the Green Room at the Y. W. C. A. yesterday afternoon, the president Mrs. C. H. Edwards presiding.

Following the usual devotions, a short business session was efficiently conducted by the secretaries, the treasurer and the convenors of the several committees, with evidence that "work" is the mainspring of the society. A clip sheet was given entitled 'Is Dry Canada an Impossible Hope?' Mrs. Plunkett the leader of this interesting part of the program had the assistance of thirteen ladies of the organization in presenting this question to the meeting. The responses with one accord denied that such a hope was impossible.

The Scripture reading was given by Mrs. S. D. Carver, who chose her lesson from the first epistle general of Peter, and the first chapter, after which Mrs. Moore offered prayer.

Good Speaker

Rev. J. H. Dudgeon of St. James' United church addressed the Union, bringing to the workers in his compelling message, the sure promise that their aims and endeavors are neither an impossible task or an impossible hope. While almost insurmountable obstacles confront you at every turn, it is wonderful to realize that your cause is on the winning side and that "right" must prevail.

Rev. Dudgeon directed the attention of the meeting to that most beautiful of all promises in the Bible. "Fear thou, not for I am with thee. Be not dismayed, for I am thy God. I will strengthen thee; yea I will help thee; Yea, I will uphold thee with the right hand of my righteousness." These few words encompass so much. They give the assurance of the Divine presence, the Divine possession and the Divine promise. You may apply it in your work as a W. C. T. U. or to any and all church work. The promise is given in a three-fold way. Prayer was stressed. People today are lacking in this wonder-working power. Prayer brings greater victories than any other power on earth. God has promised to be with His children in service. The business in which you are engaged is His work. You are the instruments he used to bring it to fruitition.

It is your privilege to be strong in His strength and you may claim this three-fold promise and in it go forward with the sure hope of the ultimate success of your cause. Tribute was paid to the memory of Frances E. Willard, the founder of the W. C. T. U. who died, Feb. 17, 1898.

In a splendid paper Mrs. Graham told the life story of Frances Willard and the origin of her great work.

A vote of thanks was tendered to Rev. Mr. Dudgeon and to Mrs. Graham for their helpful messages.

HIGHER TARIFF IS ASKED UPON U. S. USED CARS

Ottawa Man Claims Practice Hurts Market For Canadian Dealers.

BEFORE ADVISORY BOARD.

No Intention of Preventing Individuals From Purchasing Cars For Own Use.

OTTAWA, Feb. 23.— (C.P.) — Changes in the customs tariff designed to prevent the importation of used cars from the United States formed the subject of an application before the tariff advisory board yesterday, J. R. Dixon, of Ottawa, made the application.

Imports of used cars, particularly in British Columbia, it was contended, had a seriously adverse effect on the market for cars in Canada. It reduced the value of cars and handicapped automobile owners in the disposal of their cars.

There was no intention of preventing individuals from going to the United States and buying cars for their own use. The object was to impose an additional duty on used cars imported by dealers for re-sale and sold within one year.

Equalize Price Difference

It was important, Mr. Dixon said, to equalize the difference in price of used cars in Canada and the United States by a higher duty. This would remove from dealers the incentive to dealers to import used cars in large quantity.

The applicant pointed out used cars were offered for sale in the United States. In many cases at less than half what they could be sold at in Canada.

"If what you say is true," asked W. H. Moore, chairman of the board, "what justification is there for a duty on cars at all? Think of the thousands and thousands of people who would like cars and can not have them because of the high price."

Import of used cars would not greatly reduce the price, Mr. Dixon said, because the dealer would make an exceptional profit.

EMPIRE PRODUCTION

charge that the implied duties on foreign foodstuff would raise the price of food, Lord Beaverbrook replied he was afraid that if free trade within the Empire was not effected then the production of foodstuffs in Britain and the Empire would continue to decline until they were completely exposed to the mercy of the foreigner.

Rothmere's Challenge

A challenge by Lord Rothermere, chief supporter of Lord Beaverbrook, has been delivered to Sir John Ferguson, the Conservative who won a by-election in Twickenham as a Free Trader.

Lord Rothermere says the United Empire party will run a candidate in this division, and if he or she does not poll more votes than Sir John, then Lord Rothermere will pay Sir John's election expenses and furthermore will pay $10,000 to local charity, providing Sir John pays a similar sum to charity in the event the United Empire candidate gets more votes.

The United Empire Party will select candidates to fight the seats of alleged Conservative free-traders in the south of England and thereafter will fight those who expressed belief in the United Empire party, and then declared they would remain with the Conservatives.

Australian Girl Sets New Swimming Record

SYDNEY, N.S.W., Feb. 28 (C.P.). — The Australian girl Olympic swimmer, Bonnie Nealing, swam a hundred meters backstroke in one minutes, twenty and three-fifths seconds, which was claimed to be three-fifths of a second better than the world record set up by Marie Braun at The Hague last December.

High athletic officials here doubted if the new mark would be recognized as a world record since she was paced by a male swimmer.

ARMY PAY CORPS WILL BE CHANGED

Economy and Efficiency Demand Branch be on Civil Service Basis.

HAS BEEN IN TWO HANDS

OTTAWA, Ont., Feb. 28.—(C.P.)—Departmental convenience demands that the Royal Canadian Army pay Corps be administered direct by the Deputy Minister of National Defence it was declared by departmental officials yesterday commenting on reports from Kingston to the effect that a number of branches of the military service would be reorganized on a civil service basis. Economy and efficiency in operation are the factors which have decided the military authorities to switch the administration of the pay corps from the Adjutant Generals branch to that of the Deputy Minister.

Handled Dually.

A statement explanatory of the transfer, issued from the department today says.

In the past the financial administration of the Department of National Defence, while vested in the Deputy Minister of the Department, has been partly handled by the Adjutant General administering the Royal Canadian Army Pay Corps. The dual authority has resulted in certain duplication of work. Some time ago the organization was reviewed by Gordon Scott, chairman of the Audit Board of Canada, and he recommended that the accounting service of the Department and the pay corps be brought under one direction, so that there would only be one channel for financial administration. It has therefore been decided to transfer the R.C.A.P.C. to the administrative branch of the Deputy Minister.

"For the present the officers and men of the pay corps will retain their rank and pay, but eventually the accounting service will be handled by a civilian organization, and it is anticipated that this will result in economy and efficiency in operation.

"The change will be effective from March 1."

BOUQUETS.

A pleasing incident was witnessed at the Liberal "At Home" last evening, when Miss Geraldine Collins, soloist, and Miss Gwen Donley, accompanist, were presented with bouquets by Mr. F. Sedgwick.

Sympathetic reference was made in the course of the speeches to the severe illness from which Dr. A. Moir is making steady recovery, and a message from him was read in which he expressed his thanks for the numerous flowers which had been sent to brighten his room.

Hon. G. N. Gordon, in his speech, referred to the illness of J. J. Hartley, expressing the hope that he would soon recover, and he explained that J. J. Duffus was unavoidably absent on account of business which had taken him to the West.

DANCE WITH TYPOS.

Fun and frivolity will run riot tonight at the "Typos" dance which is to be held in the Paragone Hall. "Tap" Thirnbeck's Blue Blowers — the medicine men for the blues—will provide a snappy program of music while when it is know that the inimitable Fred Scates and Company are at the helm it will go without saying that a happy evening will result.

The proceeds of the dance are for the purpose of entertaining the delegates to the Typographers' Convention which is to be held in this city in June, and it is confidently expected that a large crowd will be on hand. Numerous tickets have already been disposed of but any person who has not yet been approached may purchase tickets at the door.

PROPOSE CHANGE IN LIQUOR EXPORT ACT ON MONDAY

Believed to Refer to Vessels Clearing With Cargoes For U. S.

NOTHING DEFINITE.

Innumerable Petitions on Matter Flooded House Last Session.

OTTAWA, Ont., March 1 (C.P.).—Legislation to deal with the export of liquor from Canada to the United States is foreshadowed in a notice of motion given by the Prime Minister to-day that on Monday next a bill will be introduced "to amend the Export Act." While the nature of this proposed legislation is not yet disclosed, the assumption on Parliament Hill is that it has to do with refusing clearances to liquor-laden vessels destined to United States ports. Reports that this had been discussed by the Liberal caucus last Thursday leaked out, and it is established the reports were substantially correct.

Political observers here await with considerable interest the debate on this proposed measure. Last year innumerable petitions, previously the product of a carefully planned campaign, poured into the House of Commons from all parts of Canada, but principally from Ontario, praying the Government to take action to prohibit the granting of those clearances. A debate on the matter was precipitated by J. S. Woodsworth, Labor, Winnipeg North Centre) and found W. D. Euler, Minister of National Revenue, defending the policy of the Government in continuing to permit Canadian ships to carry liquor to the United States.

During recess there were reports of a definite trend on the part of the Government towards the prohibition of the clearance and the Prime Minister intimated that Parliament this session would be asked to legislate in connection hith them. Monday's bill should see the Government's intentions crystallized.

BELL TELEPHONE HOLDS BANQUET

Company's Executives Attend Annual Gathering of Peterborough Employees.

PROGRESS OUTLINED.

New friendships were made and old ones rescaled at the annual banquet in the Empress Hotel last night of the Peterborough Plant Employees' Council of the Bell Telephone Company. Outstanding executives of the company sat at the festive board along with employees in every branch of the Bell system in the Peterborough district, and City Council heads and local business men were present as guests.

Great advances made by the Bell Company and co-operation for the promotion of even greater service were the keynotes sounded in most of the brief addresses. Reviewing some of the strides made by the company since he first associated himself with it, A. P. Ross, general plant manager, stated that the company's strength had been built up on using horse sense.

Other outstanding speakers were: G. F. Elms, District Plant Superintendent; Mr. Elliot, Traffic Department; Mr. Shipley, Commercial Department; J. A. Brown, Division Plant Superintendent.

Mayor Denne and E. W. Watson, president of the Peterborough Employees' Council, welcomed the out-of-town guests. As evidence of co-operation in the local office, H. H. P. Johnston, district commercial manager, made a very capable chairman.

Brief but scintillating talks on telephone work in every department and appreciation of the services that the Bell was giving in Peterborough were given by Norman Knight, chief engineer; M. Detlor, transmission engineer; J. H. Rose, division employment supervisor; Ross Dobbin, general manager of the Peterborough Utilities; R. M. Glover, manager of The Peterborough Examiner; Dr. E. H. Wood, company doctor; W. H. Steare, division equipment engineer, and H. Bates, division engineer.

There wasn't a slow moment during the whole banquet. Dick Lush, the city's foremost radio announcer, introduced the chief guests of the evening in his own inimitable manner via the air, divulging in a humorous way the inside secrets of their business and social life.

The Bell Boy's Review of 1930, a hilarious black face minstrel show in which all the entertainers were employees of local office of the Bell Company, was the big hit of the evening. With Dick Lush as interlocuter, the boys swung into their

$250,000 Blaze Sweeps Water-front Of Newfoundland Fishing Village

St. John's, Newfoundland, March 1. — (C.P.) — A quarter of a million dollars is the lowest estimate of the damage caused by a fire of unknown origin that destroyed a large section of the water front premises at Grand Bank, on the west coast, at three o'clock this morning. The blaze originated in Buffet's shop, which was destroyed, together with the lower shop and stores of William Forsey's, J. B. Patten's, Harris and Company, J. F. Foote & Son, Forward & Tibbo's, the salt store of S. Tibbo, and houses of George Harris and Cyrus Patten. Patten's garage and drug store and the three-masted schooner General Wood, were badly damaged. The amount of insurance carried was not determined but some of the property destroyed was known to be unprotected.

Grand Bank, with a population of nearly 2,000, is the centre of the Grand Bank fishery, and it was feared this would result in a serious set-back, as the stores would contain the bulk of the fishing fleets' supplies.

A message from the stricken place said "Grand Bank will carry on as usual."

PREMIER HOTLY DENIES RUMORS OF SPLIT RANKS

Article in Toronto Paper Stated French Canadians Formed Separate Bloc.

MEMBERS PROTEST.

Nixon Attacks Children's Radio Club Sponsored By Gooderham and Worts Ltd.

TORONTO, Ont., March 1. —(By the Canadian Press.)—Emphatic denial that there was a split in the ranks of the Government over the question of increased monetary support for Roman Catholic schools, as reported Thursday in a Toronto evening newspaper, was made in the Legislature yesterday by Premier G. H. Ferguson.

According to the press report, which the Premeir read to the House, the French-Canadian supporters of the Government had formed themselves into a bloc and were prepared to demand that a larger share of corporation taxes be paid over to Separate schools in the Province. If their demands were not met by the Government, they were prepared to discontinue their support, it was claimed.

Absolute Falsehood.

"All I have to say is that the report is an absolute falsehood from beginning to end and there is not a semblance of shadow of truth in it," the Premier declared. The newspaper in question, he submitted, was endeavoring to "sow seeds of dissatisfaction between race and race and between religion and religion."

Dr. Paul Poisson, Cons., North Essex, repudiated the insinuation that he belonged to any bloc. As a French-Canadian, he promised there would be no injection of racial or religious leanings in his decision on any matter. His outlook, he said, was of the whole province and its good.

Nixon Attacks Club.

Hon. Harry Nixon, Progressive Leader, asked the Government if any action were to be taken against the formation of a club composed of children by radio station CKGW which is said to be owned and operated by Gooderham & Worts, Limited. The club, he said, had a membership

CHICAGO'S FIRST RELIEF ARRIVES

Majority of Cheques Held Up Until Monday For General Issuance.

COUNTY FARES BETTER.

CHICAGO, Ill., March 1.—(C.P.)—The long-heralded civic payday lumbered into town to-day but it shunted its load of pay cheques for city and school employees on to a siding marked "Monday."

The 400 or so county employees fared much better because County Treasurer George F. Harding anticipated the transfer of the first of the rescue millions into the depository and went ahead with the issuance of cheques for six week' back pay.

To insure payday for all Monday, Silas H. Strawn, head of the Citizens' Relief Group, ordered $11,750,000 worth of tax warrants to be purchased with the rescue cash.

This amount will meet city, school board and county payrolls to date and will put cash into some of the pension funds.

World's Biggest War Starts in Few Days

AHMADABAD, Bombay, India, March 1 (Canadian Press). — Vallabhai Patel, who is Mahatma Ghandi's chief lieutenant, in addressing a public meeting to-day, prophesied that an Indian war would begin soon.

The meeting was to inaugurate the All-India National Congress Civil Disobedience Campaign. Patel said:

"War unprecedented in the history of the world will begin in a few days and the beginning will be made at Gujarat, a division of Bombay.

"Those who are afraid of death should go on a pilgrimage, and those possessed of riches should go to foreign countries"

COAL MINES BILL WIDENS FURTHER LIBERAL BREACH

Lloyd George Claims Statement of Resignation Not Authorative.

HUTCHISON MAY RESIGN.

Viscount Grey Attacks Leaders's Articles on Indian Situation.

LONDON, March 1 (Canadian Press Cable). — One result of the Government's victory over the Coal Mines Bill division apparently has been a further widening of the split between the two factions of the Liberal Party—the section that follows Viscount Grey, in the Liberal Council, and the section comprising supporters of Lloyd-George.

The Beaverbrook-Rothermere press intimated that Mr. Lloyd-George was considering his resignation, but the Liberal leader, questioned to-day, said whoever made the statement had no authority for doing so.

It is stated Sir Robert Hutchison, Chief Liberal Whip, has intimated his desire to resign from the party.

Members Desire Trouble.

Some of the Liberals who voted with the Government, and against the general Liberal Party, or abstained from voting, have been absnt from the House of Commons recently and supporters of Mr. Lloyd-George contend they appeared deliberately for the division in order to make their dissent from the leadership obvious.

Viscount Grey, leader of the old Asquithian section, in an article in the organ of the Liberal Council, describes Lloyd-George's intervention in the Indian debate of last November as not merely embarrassing to Sir John Simon, head of the Statutory Reform Commission, but also mischievous in its impact on the Indian situation. He further declared Lloyd George's articles in the Daily Mail on the Indian situation, and in the Conservative Sunday Press at the beginning of the Naval Conference, "make an open and undisguised appeal to the mentality of the Tory diehard." Yet when Lord Grey and other Liberals protest they are told to "stop snarling," the article continues

DISASTROUS EARLY MORNING FIRE COMPLETELY RUINS ALL BUT ONE OF CITY'S ENTIRE TROLLEY FLEET

Car Barns Become Inferno in Few Minutes—Spontaneous Combustion Blamed.

MENACES HOUSES.

Doubt Expressed That Service Be Renewed—Loss on 25 Cars Nearly $125,000.

KINGSTON, Ont., Mar. 1 (C.P.).—Kingston's street car service was wiped out in a disastrous fire early this morning, when all but one of the street cars were completely destroyed and the city was absolutely without any kind of service to-day.

The fire broke out from what is believed to be spontaneous combustion, and in a few minutes the car barns were a veritable inferno, and houses in the vicinity were seriously threatened. Over twenty-five street cars were totally destroyed, and the damage in all will run over $125,000.

H. C. Nickle, superintendent of the company, who is at present in Toronto, stated over the long distance phone that the insurance would partly cover the loss. Doubt was expressed that the service would be renewed by new cars, and the prospects are that Kingston will be without street car service.

Struggling along on Foot

No plans for the resumption of transportation services have as yet been made, following the destruction of all but one of the cars of the Kingston, Portsmouth and Cataraqui Electric Railway Company, and today the city was struggling along on foot.

People in the outlying districts, which includes the village of Portsmouth, this morning were forced to walk to work, and with little prospects of a service being restored, the taxi drivers are starting to reap a harvest.

When spoken to this morning officials of the company would make little comment regarding the providing of a service, though it is now believed that the establishment of a bus line will be the first move. The cars which were destroyed by fire were covered by insurance, but the amount is not nearly the replacement value.

Mayor W. H. Craig stated that the question of the formation of a bus line will be immediately taken up, with the view to supplying a satisfactory service. The street railway proposition has been a losing one for years and it is not thought that anything will be done in the matter of the securing of new cars.

SHIPS COLLIDE IN DENSE FOG

All Traffic Dislocated Along Irish and Western Scottish Coast.

PASSENGERS HELD UP.

LIVERPOOL, Mar. 1.—(A.P.)—One of the worst fogs in many years dislocated shipping traffic on the Mersey river, the Irish sea and along the western Scottish coast to-day.

More than 1,000 passengers at Liverpool who should have been outward bound were gazing disconsolately at the heavy pall hanging over the river. These included 300 on the Montcalm, 350 on the Scythia and 480 on the Cedric.

All day long there was an incessant clanging of ships' bells and sirens as smaller craft groped their way through the fog. Three Mersey ferryboats bumped into an Irish steamer during the morning but not much damage was done.

OVER NORTH SEA

HULL, Eng., Mar. 1—(AP)—Fog conditions in the North Sea were bad to-day and several collisions were reported.

The steamship Pendennis and the French steamer Capitaine Le Maine were involved in one collision while the British steamer Pass of Leny and the Italian steamer Livonia were involved in another. In each case tugs were sent out to help and the vessels anchored.

During the night the steamer Drifter Perilla sank near Stranraer, Scotland, after going aground. The crew of ten was safely landed.

Napoleon's Famous Necklace is Lost

NEW YORK, N.Y., March 1 (Canadian Press). — The famous necklace which Napoleon gave to his Empress Marie Louisa at the birth of their son L'Aiglon, in 1811, is being sought here. The Archduchess Marie Theresa of Vienna informed authorities she commissioned a man described as a "Colonel of the British Colonial Secret Service" to sell the necklace in New York, but that he had disappeared. The necklace is valued at $100,000.

RADICALS UNABLE TO HELP TARDIEU; OFFERS REFUSED

Socialists Will Not Accept Five Ministers and Two Under Secretaryships.

TARDIEU CONFIDENT.

Urges Three Months' Peace Until Major Problems Are Settled.

PARIS, March 1.— (C.P.)— The Radical Socialists to-day refused the move of Andre Tardieu, Premier designate, who wished to call a three months' political truce to permit solution of France's immediately outstanding problems.

Despite the rejection M. Tardieu announced he would have his ministry together to-morrow and would announce it then. It was believed he possibly had won enough individual Radical Socialist votes to his standard with the offer to insure a chamber majority.

Truce Till Parley Ends.

His proposal was, briefly, to quit political scrapping for three months until the Naval Conference could be concluded, the budget passed, the Young plan put into execution, and major problems settled. He was reported in addition to have offered the recalcitrant group five ministries and two under secretaryships in his projected ministry.

'I urged M. Herriot (one of the Radical Socialist leaders) to recommend to his friends that they accept this indispensible truce, which my friends have accepted unanimously. Nevertheless my cabinet will be formed to-morrow," M. Tardieu said.

He said he had urged M. Herriot to realize that the nation demanded action on its vital problems and he pledged his Ministry to resign at the expiration of the three months' period after the disposal of the more important matters facing any new Government.

Offer Rejected.

M. Herriot carried the offer to his party, which immediately rejected it. M. Tardieu said he had offered the Radical Socialists five Ministries and two under-secretaryships, with M. Herriot himself to have the vice-Premiership and Ministry of Justice.

So far as is known, M. Tardieu has actually filled but one post in his new Ministry, that being the Foreign Office portfolio, which he announced to-day Aristide Briand, who has become a fixture in the office, had accepted.

The Radical Socialists have been particularly obstinate as to collaborating with M. Tardieu in the formation of a new Government, holding him personally responsible for defeat of their President, Camille Chautemps, in the Chamber Wednesday when he asked for a vote of confidence on his Ministerial declarations.

Prison Guards Fire On Air Mail Pilot

AUBURN, N.Y., March 1 (Canadian Press). — An air mail pilot flew low over Auburn Prison last night. Recent riots at the prison led the authorities to believe an attempt to drop arms from the air was being made.

Huge Wooden Cross Burned In Oakville; No Violence Shown

Attorney-General Price Announced That His Department Will Conduct a Full Investigation Into Activities of the Ku Klux Klan at Oakville Friday Night.

MEMBERS OF KLAN SEPARATE WHITE WOMAN AND COLORED MAN — TAKE LATTER TO HER HOME

No Charges Will Be Laid Until Results of Investigation Have Been Laid Before Col. Price — Huge Cross is Burned in Centre of Town.

TORONTO, Ont., March 1 (Canadian Press). — Hon. W. H. Price, Attorney-General of Ontario, announced to-day that his Department would fully investigate the activities of the Ku Klux Klan at Oakville last night, when a huge wooden cross was burned in the town, and the members later separated a white woman and a colored man who was living at the latter's home.

He was unable to say what form the investigation would take, though he admitted that men were delegated to the work early to-day with instructions to conduct the most searching probe.

May Be Charge Laid.

Not until the results of the investigation are laid before him, will the Attorney-General be in a position to say what charges will be laid in the Courts or what action will be taken by his Department. The fact that no violence was shown by the Klansmen would have a bearing on this phase of the investigation, it was admitted by Departmental officials.

Late last night the Klansmen marched to the centre of the town, where they erected a wooden cross and after setting it afire silently stood and watched until the last ember had ceased to glow. Without a word or command they then marched to the home of the negro from where they escorted the young woman to her own home. They returned and escorted the negro to the home of his parents, who were also brought to their own home, from which they are said to have been ejected by the son.

The Klansmen, it is said came from Toronto and Hamilton by pre-conceived arrangement.

No Violence Used.

At no time during the evening was violence used, and the conduct of the "visitors" was all that could be desired. According to Chief of Police David Kerr, Oakville, who said when the men removed their white cloaks he recognized many as prominent Hamilton business men.

Commenting on the action of the Klansmen, E. S. Cross, negro lawyer of Toronto, said: "I call the doings at Oakville last night an outrage. As a British citizen I have believed the rule of the law should always prevail.

"Suppose this negro, in resistance to the trespass to his person, had shot a number of members of this Ku Klux Klan, who would have been to blame? We do not want the methods which prevail in the country to the south of us in Canada. If we had, I for one would be sorry."

OFFICIAL HISTORY OF CANADA'S PART IN WAR URGED BY LEGION

Ask That It Be a True Record of the Soldiers' Suffering and Sacrifice.

PRESERVE WAR PAINTINGS.

OTTAWA, Ont., Mar. 1. (By the Canadian Press)—Believing that the time has come when an official history of the part played by men of Canada in the Great War should be written, the Canadian Legion in its representations to parliament at the present session, is putting forward a strong request that the writing of this history be undertaken at once, and that it shall be a true record of the sacrifice, the suffering and the achievements of the soldiers, sailors and airmen of Canada, with that theme the predominant note in any such history.

Owns War Films

Following out the idea of broad patriotism which animates this request, the Legion is also interesting itself in the Canadian war files and official war paintings. Canada is one of the few countries to have in its possession a collection of war films, taken on actual war service, and showing the conditions under which the men of Canada fought. The Legion is placing before the Government a request that these films be properly safeguarded and preserved for posterity and that these be made available for exhibitions when required for the purpose of showing the generations to come what the men who wore the Canadian uniform during the war endured and suffered for their country.

Another request along the same line is being pressed by the Legion in connection with Canada's collection of war paintings. This country, through the efforts and generosity of Lord Beaverbrook and others, possesses a remarkable collection of war paintings, but unfortunately they are still stored away in a Government building at Ottawa. Repeated representations have been made that a suitable place be provided for this exhibition, but up to the present no action has been taken by the Government. The Legion has strong views on this question, and through its headquarters representatives, will, in the course of the parliamentary session, urge very strongly on the Government that provision be made for the adequate housing an exhibition and these picture, so that they may provide a record of aCnada in the war for all to see.

HIGHWAY GRANT TO BE INCREASED

Government to Pay Forty Per Cent. of All Township Road Work.

ELECTION PROMISE.

The provincial grant for township road work this year will be increased ten per cent., from thirty to forty per cent.

This is a fulfilment of government promises that were made during the election campaign last year. The increased financial assistance will be a help to the rural municipalities.

The information of the Government's intention was obtained from members of the county council who attended the Good Roads convention in Toronto this week. They improved the opportunity of their visit by calling upon the Department of Highways, and incidentally some mention was made of the route into Peterborough of the proposed highway east of the city to Marmora, Madoc and Tweed.

Block Road Entrance

Some of the Peterborough townships prefer the block road entrance. The "block" road extends easterly from the Locks bridge in a straight line, connecting with the present Norwood road at Shearer's cheese factory. Advocates of this cheese point out that it is comparatively level, and that it affords an open way into the city.

Representations are also understood to have been made in favor of the boundary road between Otonabee and Douro townships. This road is an easterly extension of Smith Street. Presumably, Douro and Dummer are particularly interested in this latter route, while it may be supposed that Otonabee would rather that the "block" road be designated. The Department of Highways will likely be influenced by the report of its engineers, but from all accounts there is not much unanimity among the municipalities and possibly local bodies who have expressed their desires as to the route of the new highway in its approach to the city.

CONSERVATIVES PLAN TO MOVE SUPPLY AMENDMENT ON TUESDAY HON. R. B. BENNETT TELLS HOUSE

Members Pass Many of Estimates of Department of Public Works.

THREE BILLS INTRODUCED.

Premier Declines To Be Drawn Into Discussion on Liquor Clearances.

OTTAWA, Ont., March 1 (C.P.).—The House of Commons spent almost all of both sittings yesterday in Committee of Supply considering the estimates. Expenditures proposed by the Department of Public Works for harbors and rivers were the first taken up, beginning with those for Nova Scotia and proceeding westward. When the House adjourned at 10.30 p.m., estimates for these purposes to the extent of $893,700 had been passed for Nova Scotia and $105,300 for Prince Edward Island. A number of items for New Brunswick had also carried.

Few Obstacles.

The House was in an agreeable mood, and Hon. J. C. Elliott, who was piloting the estimates through, met no obstacles, although he was subjected to a steady stream of questions, particularly by Conservative members from the provinces affected.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King declined to be drawn into a discussion of the Government's plans for forbidding liquor clearances. E. J. Garland (U. F. O., Bow River) asked if reports that Mr. King had told the Liberal caucus the Government planned to take such a step, brought the reply from the Premier that it was not the practice to make public what took place in a party caucus, but Mr. Garland would be welcomed if he chose to attend. As Mr. Garland's attendance at such a meeting would mean that he had joined the Liberal party, it caused a laugh.

By unanimous consent the House went into committee of supply following notices of motion regarding the introduction of three government measures. One dealt with the Government's pensions legislation.

Hon. R. B. Bennett declared that the opposition had not objection to the House going into supply, provided that on Tuesday, the next day for Government business, the public works estimates were again proceeded with. The Conservatives desired to have an amendment.

The Prime Minister agreed, but pointed out that he wanted the War Veterans Bill advanced another stage in order that when Peter McGibbon's resolution on pensions again came up for discsusion the House would have before it the Government's intention regarding such legislation.

Mr. Bennett was agreeable, but asked that the bill should not be given second reading before that resolution was disposed of.

The Prime Minister said that would be satisfactory.

EXPLANATION WANTED.

TORONTO, Ont., March 1 (C.P.).—N. L. Martin, custodian in bankruptcy for Stobie, Forlong and Company, local brokerage house, which assigned January 30 last, will be asked to explain to a group of the company's creditors what the condition of the company is at present, J. FIRST FIXTURE ON WEDNESDAY

Campbellford Tangles With Stirling on Home Ice, in Railroad Town on Friday.

MILLERS SHUT OUT 9-0.

The first game of the play-offs between Campbellford and Stirling in the Trent Valley Hockey League will be staged on Wednesday next in Campbellford and the return will be played in Stirling on Friday night.

In the final game of the league schedule last night, Campbellford took the hardest bump of the season when the Stirling entry hung up a 9—0 whitewash on them in Stirling.

The Miller squad missed the services of their stellar left wing, Bill blue. Buster Whitten worked himself ragged in an attempt to right matters, but to no avail. The lads had none of the punch exhibited in other games. They had no offensive and no defensive. Irwin, in their goal, raked in everything within reach.

Davis and Wallace nicked three each of the homsters' successes, while J. Acker and Harry Ingram got one and two goals respectively. None of Bill Whitty's boys stood out on account of the smooth work of the squad as a whole. Without wasting any effort they sailed through the 60 minutes with good combination on well-planned offensive drives.

His Fifth Shutout

For Morton, the 16-year-old goalie, it was the fifth shut-out this year. In sixteen games only 13 shots have beat him. Although he wasn't worked very hard last night, he had a number of opportunities on Whitten's tries to show his ability.

Stirling got two counters in the first period. Breaks prevented a couple more. The puck spent most of its time during the session in the Millers' territory. In the second another two were rung in. Stirling was given a somewhat stiffer argument this period, but Campbellford rushes were well spent by the time they penetrated the Ingram brothers' defense.

In the last stanza the homesters swarmed all over the Millers to the tune of five goals.

Only four penalties were given by Referee Rooney of Belleville, who made a record, handling 90 minutes of hockey the night before between Campbellford and Frankford without any penalties. Three of the four were drawn by Campbellford men.

The teams:

Stirling—Goal, D. Morton; defence, H. Ingram and F. Ingram; centre, K. Davis; wings, J. Ackers and T. Ibey; subs., H. Ackers, E. Wallace, and W. Fraser.

Campbellford—Goal, C. Irwin; defence, B. Whitten and B. Brant; centre, O. Hendy; wings, K. McPherson and W. Pollock; subs., Brown and Blaind.

Referee—J. Rooney, Belleville.

GREAT DISCOVERY BY DR. J. B. COLLIP IS READY FOR USE

Doctors May Have Supply Under Certain Specific Conditions.

TREATMENTS IN HOSPITAL.

Warm Tribute Paid By Drs Banting and C. H. Best, Former Associates.

TORONTO, Ont., March 1 (Canadian Press). — The widely acclaimed placental crystalline extract, the discovery of which was recently announced to the world by Dr. J. B. Collip, of McGill University, Montreal, will be made available to physicians immediately under certain specific conditions for treatment of women afflicted with certain functional disorders.

Dr. Collip made this announcement in a brief speech here last night before a gathering of medical men, biochemists, and research workers.

For General Use.

This was the first intimation by Dr. Collip that his experiments with the extract had reached a stage where he was willing to permit its further use and testing other than under the direct supervision of himself and his Montreal associates who aided him in perfecting the discovery.

In stating that he was prepared to supply physicians with limited quantities of his extract, Dr. Collip stipulated that all cases to be treated shall be thoroughly examined to determine if they fall into the classifications of disorders already shown to be amenable to the extract treatment. He also insists that if they do, the patients shall be treated in a hospital and under the most careful observation.

Warm tribute was paid Dr. Collip, their former associate in the perfection of insulin, by Dr. F. G. Banting and Dr. C. H. Best, co-discoverers of insulin.

ANAESTHETIC NO CAUSE OF DEATHS

Academy of Medicine Finds Chemicals Were Pure—Fear Raises Death Toll.

CONFIDENCE LACKING.

TORONTO, Ont., March 1 (Canadian Press). — An interim report of their investigation into the deaths of a number of persons while under anaesthetics was issued here last night by Dr. R. Stirling Pentecost, honorary secretary of the Academy of Medicine.

No deaths have been found to which anaesthetic could have contributed, the examining body of the Academy finds. Instead, it states, the chemicals have been found to be pure but that a fear has been caused through the attraction of public attention to a few deaths of patients who died from other causes while under anaesthetics.

This fear, the report states, and an unwarranted lack of confidence have caused deaths and suffering. As a result undue reflections have been cast upon anaesthetics and persons whose physical conditions necessitate operations are avoiding treatment.

NEW POLITICAL BODY LOOMS IN SASKATCHEWAN

Progressives Show Willingness to Link Up With United Farmers.

LABOR TO CO-OPERATE.

Action Follows U. F. C. Decision to Enter Political Field.

SASKATOON, Sask., March 1. — (By the Canadian Press).—A meeting of Saswatchewan Progressives here late last night paved the way for the birth of a new political organization to-day. Members of the Provincial Progressive committee expressed their winningness to see their own party absorbed by a new political force which will probably spring into being this morning at a joint conference of Progressives and members of the United Farmers of Canada, Saskatchewan section.

The meeting was called as a result of the U. F. C. here Thursday morning, when a motion to enter the Dominion and Provincial field, outside the organization, was carried unanimously. With only five dissenting votes among the 175 Progressives who attended the special committee meeting last night, the following resolution was carried and will be presented at the joint conclave.

Resolution

"Resolved that we hereby offer our entire support and organization to such political association as may be formed as a result of the resolution passed by the convention of the United Farmers of Canada (Saskatchewan section)."

The possibility of co-operation with organized labor when the new political machine is set in motion was foreshadowed by expressions of the Progressives, although no resolution was passed, and by a telegram received at the meeting from the Regina Trades and Labor Council. The wire reads as follows:

"The Independent Labor Party meeting here congratulate you and give our hearty approval on your deciding to enter the political field and assure you of our whole-hearted support and co-operation.

It was signed by H. G. Moodie, secretary and George Cockburn, president.

Progressives Ready to Help

The onus of to-day's meeting will rest with the farmers of the U. F. C. who desire to enter the political arena, Progressives will go there with a willingness to lend their support to the proposed new ogranization, should the farmers desire that assistance.

R. M. Johnson of Pasqua is the moving spirit behind the joint conference. He is a former director of the United Farmers and President of the Provincial Progressive committee.

DR. SNOOK DIES IN ELECTRIC CHAIR

DISPLAYED IRON NERVE.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, Mar. 1. (Canadian Press).—Displaying the same iron nerve that carried him through six months of residence in the death house at Ohio State Penitentiary, Dr. James Howard Snook University Professor, went to his death in the electric chair last night for the murder of his co-ed companion, Theora Mix. The current was turned on at 7.04 and he was pronounced dead at 7.11 p.m.

Dr. Snook appeared to be the calmest man in the execution chamber. He entered accompanied by three guards. His eyes were red—as if he had cried after his last meeting with his wife. He walked with firm step and head erect. As the two chair guards took him by the arm, the doctor stepped forward briskly and sat down in the death chair.

Two guards quickly strapped him in the chair and another adjusted the mask. A second before the current was turned on, Rev. Isaac Miller, Snook's pastor, intoned in solemn voice "The Lord Be With You."

Snook said nothing as he entered the death house. His lips were clasped tight, and he did not open them once. He gazed fixedly at the witnesses until the death mask was set in place.

Shortly before the execution, Mrs. Helen Snook, wife of the condemned man, who broke bread with her husband at his last meal on earth was led from the prison by two frinds. She seemed in a state of collapse.

A. J. McPhail, president of the Canadian wheat pool, who upon his arrival at New York, returning from wheat conference in England, was non-committal about the outcome of the meeting.

KILLS WIFE IN HOME.

DEFIANCE, Ohio, March 1. (C.P.)—Henry Kloehr, aged 60, a former inmate of the Toledo state asylum, yesterday killed his wife in their home, stood off a small army of officers, citizens and national guardsmen for three hours, and then committed suicide in his second floor barricade just before dynamite ended the battle.

LIPTON'S YACHT

NEW YORK, N.Y., March 1. — (Canadian Press).—Sir Thomas Lipton's America's cup challenger Shamrock V, apparently is not going to be smaller than any of the four yachts being built in defense of the cup, as was supposed. It is learned that she will be eighty-one feet on the waterline and therefore longer than Enterprise but shorter than Whirlwind, Yankee and Weetamoe, the three other defense aspirants.

FLIERS PREPARE FOR OCEAN HOP

Coste and Carretier, of France, Race to Start Atlantic Trip First.

ASSALANT IN RUN.

LE BOURGET, France, March 1.—The transatlantic flight season westward to North America, is due to open in a few weeks and mechanics, airport clerks and newspaper men, who have spent countless sleepless nights in past springs, awaiting take-offs that never left the sheds, are storing in reserves of slumber.

Dieudonne Coste and Captain Carretier, are the most prominent French flyers who have announced their intention of trying the big hop.

Armeno Lotti, Raul Lefevre and Jean Assolant, who negotiated Old Orchard, Maine, to San Sebastian, Spain, will attempt to cross the Atlantic the other way, but it is said that their hopping off point will be Seville, Spain.

Coste and Carretier are having a race already to determine who shall be ready to start first. Both are thought to be bending their efforts toward taking off at the end of May or the beginning of June.

Paul Codos, the air-mail pilot who recently assisted Coste, in his two record-breaking flights with heavy loads, is likely to accompany the long distance record-holder, with Maurice Bellonte as mechanic and wireless operator.

BUDAPEST TO CHANGE GOVT.

BUDAPEST, March 1 (C.P.)—Intimations were received here to-day from Belgrade to the effect that a Parliamentary regime soon will replace the dictatorship there. It was reported that General Zivkovitch, Premier under the dictatorship, would be succeeded by M. Nintchitch as Premier. Parliamentary elections would be held in the Autumn.

The Weather

During the month of February we had snow on twelve days to the depth of 26 inches. Rain fell on four days to the amount of .56 of an inch. We had seven days of zero or below. The coldest day was the 6th, 26 degrees below zero. The warmest day was the 24th, which had a record temperature of 54 degrees in the shade. The feature of the month was the unusually fine and spring-like conditions that prevailed from the 18th to the 25th. In passing, it might be mentioned that the sage of Chatsworth missed his guess for February. Here is what he says for March: "Decidedly mild and very calm."—W.P.

THE INSTINCTIVE CHOICE OF CANADA'S OLDEST AND FINEST FAMILIES

The highest tribute to Willys-Knight quality is its widespread acceptance by families of culture and discernment. These families choose Willys-Knight for the same reasons that King George chooses Knight-motored cars in England — King Albert in Belgium — King Alfonso in Spain.

Only a superlatively engineered car could gain such select approval. Yet engineering excellence tells but half the story of Willys-Knight preference in Canada. This year a more brilliant beauty, increased power and added interior refinements carry to still higher peaks the fine traditions upon which the Willys-Knight reputation has been built. Unhurried precision of construction is revealed in the dashing smartness of body lines and the inbuilt luxury of every appointment.

The Knight double-sleeve valve engine is the only engine whose power and smoothness are undiminished after one hundred thousand miles of driving—an engine that never requires costly valve grinding and carbon removing. Add to this such features as seven-bearing crankshaft . . . 4 hydraulic two-way shock absorbers . . . one-shot lubrication . . . manual heat control . . . full internal four-wheel brakes . . . automatic radiator shutters . . . and you will understand why the Willys-Knight Great Six has become a world standard for measuring quality and value in fine motor cars.

Great Six Sedan (as illustrated), Touring, Roadster, 4-passenger Coupe, all $2675 (6 wire wheels and trunk rack included). The new Willys-Knight "70B" ranges from $1275 to $1575. All prices f.o.b. factory, Toronto. Taxes extra.

Just as shields of the above design symbolized the rank and wealth of the great French house of Agnelon more than four hundred years ago, so ownership of the new Willys-Knight symbolizes unquestioned social distinction today.

CAN you say that about your young daughter? Gay, vigorous, abounding in health? Mrs. Robert Devitt can, although only a few months ago her twelve-year-old girl was so ill she had to be taken from school.

Many children—particularly girls—grow too rapidly. Watch for the danger signals—pallor, languor, headache, nervousness, a fickle appetite.

Now, rich blood is needed—and for that purpose there is nothing better than Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

Mrs. Devitt, of Brougham, Ontario, writes us a typical letter. "I am the mother of a twelve-year-old girl who became so ill and nervous that we had to take her out of school. She was pale and thin and the least excitement upset her entirely. Knowing the benefit I had obtained from Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in my own girlhood, I tried them for her and in six months you would not know her. She had gained in weight and strength and is now the picture of health."

Begin now to build up your defences. Buy Dr. Williams' Pink Pills at your druggist's or by mail at 50 cents a box, postpaid.

MUSINGS AT A MANSE WINDOW

REST CURES

IT was a beautiful morning in Glasgow! And Glasgow can have such mornings, although some of those who have had the misfortune only to see that bustling city on the Clyde on a wet day might have difficulty in believing that it can ever have a beautiful morning. And being a Sabbath morning, there was a quietness that was enriched by the music of church bells. They go to church in Glasgow. And I don't know another city, the size of Glasgow, where more real evangelistic effort is put forth every Sabbath day—wet or dry! If men wander from the paths of righteousness and peace it is not for want of being exhorted to get and keep right with God. And if at last they are lost they will not be able to say that it was because they were not warned. Glasgow, in the past, has flourished by the preaching of the Word!

Out To Hear Good Preaching.

Being a student in training for the Christian ministry, I was on my way to hear an eminent Congregational minister, the Rev. Ambrose Shepherd, D.D. My membership was not in his church, Elgin Place Congregational Church. I was fortunate in having for a pastor a "man of God" who was big enough to know that an excellent training for a student was to go "everywhere" to listen to the preaching of the Word. So, during my student days, I was a Roaming Catholic! I had the good fortune to hear all sorts and conditions of preachers.

Not Able To Understand It.

Although I always enjoyed listening to Ambrose Shepherd, I was always at a loss to understand his popularity. Immense crowds attended all the services at Elgin Place. If you wanted a seat you had to be on hand very early. And, at the morning hour of worship, visitors had to stand in line till the members were seated. After that was attended to, first come first served was the rule!

He read his sermons. And you had to listen very attentively if you wanted to hear him at the back of the church. His voice was not very strong: and so far as I can remember he did not have any of the gifts of an orator. Yet, there was a something about him and his style of preaching that held you while he had you, and drew you back to his ministry again and again.

Going Through Old Notes.

I am glad now that as students we were urged to make notes of all we heard. To go back to my notes is always an interesting and inspiring excursion. Some of them would not mean much to others, but they mean a whole lot to me. A word! A broken sentence! A phrase, will suffice to bring back a flood of memories. And on every skeleton found in my various notebooks I have little difficulty in covering them with suitable flesh!

The text was taken from St. John 12:28-29. "Then came a voice from heaven. . . . The people, therefore, that stood by, and heard it, said that it thundered: others said, An angel spake to him." His subject was: "One Voice: Two Interpretations."

To some people, every phase of discipline, disappointment, trouble, or even change—is thunder. To others, the same experience has in it something of an angel's speech.

He proceeded to show that these two explanations of the same phenomena are illustrated on every side.

Hearing Nothing But Thunder.

In business, one man can hear nothing but thunder, sullen and ominous; while another man can always say even of thunder, "An angel has spoken to me."

"How is it with you in trade?" you ask the former, and he answers as from a sepulchre: "Do not enquire; there is a fair turnover but no profit, and what there is doing will be less before it is more. . What with foreign tariffs, unions and strikes, trade is all being driven out of the country."

You put the same question to another man—and although you do not meet him at every turn, he is occasionally to be found—who answers:

"Well, I am quiet at present, but I have had my good times, and, please God, I shall have them again."

To one man every bit of stiff fortune is what thunder is to the savage—the anger of the unexplainable. To another man it is one of the happenings in life which, handled with hope and courage, always give more than they take.

What Thunder Is To Some.

It is, however, in the home that these different tempers—or temperaments—work out in their most pronounced forms of weal or woe. For of all the places of life, at any rate up to a given age, the influences of home do most to make or mar us. Whether or not we have two selves, we have two manifestations of self; and many a man, who dare not lift up his voice above a whisper in the world, fills the place called his home with continual thunder.

Our sensibility to pleasure is our susceptibility to pain. Where we can be most helped we can be most hindered.

We get used to thunder in the world, and even in the more limited area of our social surroundings; but what when we get it, and that incessantly, in the home? There are men and women to whom the troubles that must surely come into the lot of every household, into the fortunes of every family, are always forces charged with disaster. They dare not enjoy the sunshine there is, for fear that shadows are lurking the while beneath the horizon. There are others again who, passing through a valley of Baca, make it a well. They smile at us through their tears and in answer to our words and looks of sympathy say: "Yes, the cloud is dark and heavy, but it will pass." "Sorrow may endure for a night, but joy cometh in the morning."

Why Should It Be So?

It is exactly what people are saying on every side of us. To some, it thunders; to others, it is the voice of an angel! But there is a sense in which it is well that they should say this. We may say it thunders when we should say an angel speaks, and we may say that an angel speaks when we should say it thunders.

The sorrow of an earnest man in our day is not only in the fact that there is thunder in the world, but that so many people both inside and outside the Christian Church, some for constitutional and others for selfish reasons, will not hear it for what it is. They close their eyes and ears to all the moral and physical evil they possibly can. And when they cannot help hearing and seeing evil, they would account for it, as Emerson seems to do, as a necessary stage in the development of good, as a defect, or form of limitation, rather than a something organic, positive and deadly. These people may be pleasant to meet in those interludes of life given up to play and pleasure; they may impose as broad-minded, tolerant men of the world who formulate no views, and weary us with no lessons; but when error and error's charges, when sin and sin's consequences are rolling over men's souls like a flood, then we must have the sons of thunder—men who know the meaning of things that are strong enough to make us face them for what they are.

Closing Their Eyes And Their Ears.

We need men still—one wonders whether we ever needed them more—of the Carlyle temper. Men of uncompromising thunder, who see in the evil they are persuaded is evil, nothing but evil.

Seeing Things As They Are.

The optimism gone mad, which chooses to dream that this in which we live is the best of possible worlds, is but another form of heartless irony. For the overwhelming majority of human beings this order of angel's speech is mockingly inconsistent with hard, pitiless reality.

We need to be told that no man of us thinks it worth his while to be reformer or Christian, who thinks it is worth his while to be anything else; and he who is worth world room has something better to do than play the fiddle while Rome is burning.

Both are necessary—the men who hear God's voice as thunder and the men who hear it in the angel's speech. For after all, both, as in the incident before us, are attempts to explain the same fact.

The Voice From Heaven.

When our Saviour entered upon His last conflict He prayed not that He might be delivered from it, but that He might be sustained in it. "Father," He cried, "Glorify Thy name." Then came a voice from heaven, the Father's response to the aching heart of His well-beloved Son. It was the answer of eternal love to the passion of Him who won our salvation; but whilst it fell upon the heart of some as an angel's speech, it smote upon the ears of others as thunder. And we shall miss much if we overlook the significance of this; if we do not force upon us the question: How do we hear? How do we interpret the voice from heaven to our lives on earth?

How Do You Hear?

We may, as many do, deny that we have any responsibility in the matter at all. We may say that we hear as we are made, that it depends upon temperament, and religion never changes temperament. This is true; but religion can so Christianize temperament as to make all the difference between what St. Paul calls the old and new man. To assert the make of man as his omnipotence is part of the very real heresy of our day. What nature cannot do in that it is weak through the flesh, grace can do. The pessimist by nature can become an optimist by conviction. No ghost is all ghost when we face it with the courage of faith.

I often recall a curious but very suggestive incident we have in the Old Testament. It is the story of a man who had, or imagined he had, seen an angel; and his imagination, instead of being his inspiration, turned to superstition. "We have seen God," he said, "and no man can see God and live."

But fortunately for him he had a wife who was on the side of the angels. She first let him have his trouble out. She did not "break in upon a semi-colon."

Not a few men like to be miserable at times. Deny them, I will not say the right, but the opportunity, to be miserable and you cut off from them a principal source of enjoyment. When, however, this man had recovered a little from his heart-break his wife quietly said to him, "If the Lord had been pleased to kill us, He would not have received a burnt offering at our hands, neither would He have showed us these things." And the thing to be noted here is—that the woman did not attempt to rationalize the cause of her husband's trouble into some figment of his imagination. She, too, identified it with God, but she had a finer and truer conception of God than he had. Without irreverence be it said, she could trust God to "play the game." "Had He been pleased to kill us, He would not have received a burnt offering at our hands."

Some Like To Be Miserable.

Master this truth, and life has little else to teach us. It is not life which has no purpose in it, and God's purpose in our life is character. Let us put the spirit of Christ into the practice of that old creed: "Do justly, love mercy, but walk humbly with God"; and the rest, with all its hard schooling, will be forgotten in the final gain sooner than it takes me to pronounce the word. We may not fully realize our gain to-day; but, when we look back upon it all out of the white radiance of eternity, we shall see that it was every day and all the way. Be right with God and nothing else matters. Things which appear as ghosts to-day will reveal themselves as angels to-morrow. Make it possible for God to help us through a "faith that is never afraid to reason, and a reason that is never ashamed to adore," and we shall always hear the voice from heaven; it may sometimes be as thunder, but we shall know that in the thunder is the angel whisper.

God's Purpose For You.

Yours at Memory's Window,
Allan Fairbairn.

ALWAYS READY

IS there anything in this world like knowing that, without a single moment's notice, one is ready for the presence of God—redeemed by the precious blood of Christ? What rest!

The time will come when the civilized man will feel that the rights of every living creature on the earth are as sacred as his own. Anything short of this cannot be perfect civilization.

WHAT I HAVE PROVED

I have tried the Gospel. I have put it to the proof. I know what it is and what it can do. Tell me that food does not strengthen the weak; tell me that water does not refresh the weary; tell me that light does not cheer the disconsolate, and then you may tell me that the Gospel does not help when all other help fails; and then you may tell me that the Gospel is not the thing above all other things with which men can afford to part. Men might better afford to give up the sun than quench that light which was brought from Heaven, that light which cheers the home and dispells the darkness of the tomb.

What We May Do

IT is of more than passing interest to note that it was when Job prayed for his friends that the Lord turned his captivity, and not when they prayed for him. But it may be you are unsaved, and some of your visitors are not professing Christians. Can you talk together about Christ? Why not? And what, if in doing so, you and your friends fell in love with Jesus and accepted Him as Saviour and Lord! Then would the place of your suffering become another Peniel, and like Jacob, you would give as your reason for so naming it, "for I have seen God face to face, and my life is preserved."

How true it is that what we really see day by day depends less on the objects and scenes before our eyes than on the eyes themselves and the minds and hearts that use them.

Human empowerment is absolutely conditioned upon closeness to God.

His Loss Our Gain

THE hymnology of the Church of Christ has been greatly enriched, and many afflicted people have been greatly blessed by the song which George Matheson wrote in the days of his blindness, "O love that wilt not let me go." Had he not been so afflicted this suffering world would have been the poorer by the loss of that line so full of meaning and comfort in hours of misery and distress, "O joy that seekest me through pain."

Mental dissolution: That condition where you are perfectly satisfied with your religiou, education and government.

The church will really become efficient when it gives first attention to the cultivation of spiritual powers rather than to the increase of numbers.

PETERBOROUGH DOES WELL.

Hon. Mr. Dunning's first estimates have done very handsomely by Peterborough and surrounding district, as the items of $77,580 for an addition to the Peterborough postoffice, $1,500 for other alterations to public buildings here and $300,000 for work on the Trent Canal clearly show.

Of major importance to Peterborough citizens is the provision made for enlarging the accommodation and improving the facilities of the local postoffice.

For some time the need of more postal accommodation has made itself urgently felt, and there will be general satisfaction over the fact that the Postmaster-General has seen fit to have an item placed in the Public Works Department estimates to cover the cost of the projected work.

The proposed enlargement is amply justified by the increase in the postal business in this community.

There is as yet no explanation of the $300,000 item for the Trent Canal, which may mean the beginning of work to complete the Severn section or merely necessary repairs and alterations on other sections of the waterway.

At any rate it is evidence of the fact that the Government has not lost sight of the importance of the waterway, and supplies ground for hoping that the item is the forerunner of other votes that will see the canal finally completed.

DEFECTIVE BRAKES.

Dealing with the activities of the motorcycle squad, General Draper says that these officers stopped 22,625 automobiles for the purpose of conducting brake tests, and discovered 5,304 cars in which the brakes were defective.

If one car out of every four in commission has faulty brakes as these figures would seem to show, the conditions demand some attention.

There is no reason to believe that the automobiles in use in Toronto are any worse mechanically than those operated in other parts of the Province, so it is a safe contention that the number of motor cars in active use in Ontario that have brake equipment that is not dependable must run into six figures.

A car with defective brakes is a menace to its occupants, to other motorists and to the public generally, and the situation, as incidentally revealed in this brief extract from the report of Toronto's chief constable, suggests the need of action by the Department of Highways and by municipal police.

It is not conducive to public safety to have thousands of mechanically defective cars in service on the streets and highways of Ontario.

A more rigid enforcement of the regulations covering the condition of automobile brakes would seem to be urgently needed.

AN UNUSUAL SITUATION.

The conditions revealed by Gordon Matthews in his address to Peterborough County farmers here on Thursday suggest that there is every necessity of holding such a conference as will be convened in Ottawa shortly for the purpose of increasing Canadian agricultural production with special reference to such commodities as butter, cheese, eggs and pork.

Mr. Matthews' review of the situation as regard pork products is confirmed from other sources.

A speaker at a recent livestock convention in Regina said that while thirty million pounds of Canadian pork products were exported to Great Britain last year, the first two months of the present year were the first in 40 years in which not a single pound of such products had crossed the ocean from Canadian dealers.

This unusual situation is explained by some authorities as due to the fact that Canadian consumption of bacon has increased to such a degree that the people of this country are consuming all the bacon produced in this country.

Production, it is claimed, has not kept pace with the demand, with the result that it is estimated that one million more hogs could have been markeed for the past five years had they been produced.

The home consumption of butter and eggs has also increased to such an extent that, although the egg production in particular reaches new levels each year, there is little surplus available for export.

Canada, in fact, is in danger of losing to other countries the overseas markets that have been built up unless production is increased to take care of the situation.

THE BEATTY REPORT.

Some sections of the report of the Beatty Royal Commission, which investigated the question of the salaries of the technical experts in the Civil Service, will meet with more general approval than others.

So far as the Railway Commissioners, the Board of Pension Commissioners and the members of the Civil Service Commission are concerned many people feel that these officials are well paid enough now—the chairman of the Railway Commission, for example, receives a salary equal to that of the Prime Minister—and that the increases recommended by the Beatty Commission are not justified.

On the other hand, there is not likely to be any objection to providing higher salaries for the professional and scientific Civil Service officials, many of whom are paid only a fraction of what their services would command from private employers.

Some of our best trained Canadians have, as a matter of fact, been lost to the public service and have drifted into private employment, either in this country or in the United States, because the remuneration they received was not commensurate with their qualifications.

The Premier himself recognized this fact when he rejected the Civil Service Commission report last year, because he did not consider the increases recommended by that body as adequate.

The Beatty Commission's findings perhaps do not go as far toward providing that "better recognition" Mr. King spoke of as was expected, and will likely be attacked on that account, rather than from the viewpoint [illegible]

The report would have been more popular if it omitted increases for the various commissioners and was more liberal in its treatment of the technical Civil Service men.

COST OF GOVERNMENT.

The prospects are now definitely for the retention of the local tax rate at the same figure as last year, but the warning is given that 1931 will see an increase. Civic expenditures are constantly going up, inevitably in a city which extends its borders and carries out necessary improvements. There is no escaping the obligation. Unless a municipality is to stand still—and to stand still is to deteriorate hopelessly—it must face the ever-mounting cost of efficient administration. The only thing which the taxpayer can hope for is that he will get value for his money. The more alert he is to his duties as a citizen, the better is his chance of receiving satisfaction. Just what it costs to be a citizen of a modern state is little realized by the average individual. Mr. Gratton O'Leary brought it home rather forcefully in a recent article in MacLean's Magazine, when he said that forty-nine days of the year are for every citizen of Canada days on which one works not for oneself but for the government—that is to say, the Dominion, provincial and municipal governments. He arrived at this startling conclusion by taking the number of persons in receipt of wages, salaries or incomes and the amount of money so received, from which he deducted the annual sum paid in Dominion, provincial and municipal taxation. The average Canadian's wage is given as $1,590 a year, of which the Dominion takes $214; the municipalities, $63; the Provinces, $36. All this is bad enough, but the prospects are still gloomier. If the progressive increase in the cost of public services keeps up at the same rate for the next decade or so, it is predicted that at least three working months of every year will be required from every citizen to meet the bill.—Hamilton Spectator.

EDITOR BILL MACDONALD AND THE DONNELLY CASE.

When Editor Bill Macdonald of the Chesley Enterprise starts out to do a thing he never stops halfway. Some years ago he ran for the Legislature. People up in Bruce said that he did not have a chance. But they did not know that Editor Bill's ancestors were among those who turned the rout of Falkirk into the victory at Bannockburn sixteen years later. Bill just hitched the old grey mare up to the canopy top mikado, and started out. He called on a farmer, and he stayed right on that farm till he had got all the available votes right in his pocket. He did not know what the farmer meant when he said "No." Bill thought it was an invitation to help with the milking and stay to supper. Needless to say he was swapping banter across the House with Howard Ferguson a few months later.

Editor Bill has tackled the Donnelly case in the same way. The Donnellys live up in Bruce, and the editor of the Enterprise doesn't quite like the idea of those in high places interfering with the true course of justice. Up in Bruce "the rank is but the guinea's stamp," and "the honest man tho' e'er sae poor, is king of men for a' that." So the fighting editor of the Enterprise has determined to get to the bottom of the case which has aroused such a storm of protest throughout the Province. He has, therefore, written to Miss Agnes MacPhail and asked her to have the papers in the case brought down at Ottawa. Miss MacPhail replied as follows:

> "I shall be very pleased to ask to have the papers pertaining to the release of Arthur Donnelly from Walkerton jail brought down in the House. I am of your view in the matter."

When these papers are brought down the searchlight will be thrown on the case, and everyone will know just what happened. Here's a hint for some enterprising member of the Legislature. A lot of people would like the papers in another case of particular interest to Kingston, Napanee and Oshawa brought down. They would like to know just how another travesty of justice was brought about. The people who suffered the most in the matter lived in Oshawa. Perhaps Mr. Sinclair will think it worth while to make some enquiries. In any event, when Miss MacPhail gets the papers in the Donnelly case, we will know all about it, and it will be due to the love of fair dealing and the tenacity of Editor William Macdonald of Chesley, to give him his full and more dignified title.—Kingston Whig-Standard.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

The Ontario Government is going to pay a little more toward the cost of good roads. It will be accepted by the municipalities in the spirit of half a loaf being better, etc.

Mayor Wemp announces that Toronto is to follow a civic purchasing policy of "Canada first." Toronto's chief magistrate cannot have read Mr. R. J. Deachman's letters.

The preliminary estimates tabled by Hon. Charles A. Dunning show an expenditure nearly five million dollars less than last year. The supplementary estimates may, however, change the situation.

The speakers in the Parliament, discussing the pensions question on Thursday, were practically unanimous in demanding a new deal for Canada's war veterans.

A world-wide Red outbreak is slated for early this month, according to Chicago advices. General Draper will probably see to it that Toronto Communists do not move very far.

At times one is inclined to think that the Globe's opinion of the Attorney-General is quite different from Col. W. H. Price's conception of the same official.

Speaking from a curling viewpoint, we should be thankful that when the old boys falter we still have the brave young lads.

A Thought

REVERENCE.

The possession of reverence marks the noblest and highest type of manhood and womanhood; reverence for things consecrated by the homage of generations—for high objects, pure thoughts, and noble aims—for the great men of former times, and the high-minded workers amongst our contemporaries. Reverence is alike indispensable to the happiness of individuals, or families, and of nations. Without it there can be no trust, no faith, no confidence, either in man or in God—neither social peace nor social progress. For reverence is but another word of religion which binds men to each other, and all to God.

THE GREENE MURDER CASE

By S. S. VAN DINE

On another occasion Vance had asked Sibella to be permitted to pay his respects to Mrs. Greene. His apologies to her—which he gave a semi-official flavor—for all the annoyance caused by the police immediately ingratiated him in the old lady's good graces. He was most solicitous about her health, and asked her numerous questions regarding her paralysis—the nature of her spinal pains and the symptoms of her restlessness. His air of sympathetic concern drew from her an elaborate and detailed jeremiad.

Twice Vance talked to Ada, who was up and about, but with her arm still in a sling. For some reason, however, the girl appeared almost farouche when approached by him. One day when we were at the house Von Blon called, and Vance seemed to go out of his way to hold him in conversation.

As I have said, I could not fathom his motive in all this apparently desultory social give and take. He never broached the subject of the tragedies except in the most indirect way; he appeared, rather, to avoid the topic deliberately.

But I did notice that, however casual his manner, he was closely studying every one in the house. No nuance of tone, no subtlety of reaction, escaped him. He was, I knew storing away impressions, analyzing minute phases of conduct, and probing delicately into the psychological mainsprings of each person he talked to.

We had called perhaps four or five times at the Greene mansion when an episode occurred which must be recounted here in order to clarify a later development of the case. I thought little of it at the time, but, though seemingly trivial, it was to prove of the most sinister significance before many days had passed.

In fact, had it not been for this episode there is no telling to what awful lengths the gruesome tragedy of the Greenes might have gone; for Vance—in one of the strange mental flashes of his, which always seemed wholly intuitive but were, in reality, the result of long, subtle reasoning remembered the incident at a crucial moment, and related it swiftly to other incidents which in themselves appeared trifling, but which, when co-ordinated, took on a tremendous and terrible importance.

During the second week following Chester Greene's death the weather moderated markedly. We had several beautiful clear days, crisp, sun-shiny, and invigorating. The snow had almost entirely disappeared, and the ground was firm, without any of the slush that usually follows a winter thaw.

On Thursday Vance and I called at the Greene mansion earlier than on any previous visit, and we saw Doctor Von Blon's car parked before the gate.

"Ah!" Vanve observed. "I hope the family, Paracelsus is not departing immediately. The man lures me; and his exact relationship to the Greene family irks my curiosity."

Von Blon, as a matter of fact, was preparing to go as we entered the hallway, Sibella and Ada, bundled in their furs, stood just behind him; and it was evident that they were accompanying him.

"It was such a pleasant day," explained Von Blon, somewhat disconcertedly, "I thought I'd take the girls for a drive."

"And you and Mr. Van Dine must come with us," chimed in Sibella, smiling hospitably at Vance. "If the doctor's temperamental driving affects your heart action, I promise to take the wheel myself. I'm really an expert chauffeur."

I surprised a look of displeasure on Von Blon's face; but Vance accepted the invitation without demure; and in a few moments we were riding across town, comfortably installed in the doctor's big Daimler, with Sibella in front, next to the driver's seat, and Ada between Vance and me in the tonneau.

We went north on Fifth Avenue, entered Central Park, and, emerging at the 72nd street entrance, headed for Riverside Drive. The Hudson River lay like a sheet of blue grass below us, and the Jersey palisades in the still clear air of early afternoon were as plainly etched as a Degas drawing.

At Dyckman Street we went up Broadway, and turned west on the Spuyten Duyvil Road to Palisade Avenue overlooking the old wooded estates along the water. We passed through a private roadway lined with hedges, turned inland again to Sycamore Avenue, and came out on the Riverdale Road. We drove through Yonkers, up North Broadway into Hastings, and then skirted the Longue Vue Hill.

Beyond Dobbs Ferry we entered the Hudson Road, and at Ardsley again turned west beside the Country Club golf links, and came out on the river level. Beyond the Ardsley Station a narrow dirt road ran up the hill along the water; and instead of following the main highway to the east, we continued up this little used road, emerging on a kind of plateau of wild pasture land.

A mile or so farther on—about midway between Ardsley and Tarrytown—a small dun hill, like a boulder, loomed directly in our path. When we came to the foot of it, the road swung sharply to the west along a curved promontory. The turn was narrow and dangerous, with the steep upward slop of the hill on one side and the precipitous, rocky descent into the river on the other. A flimsy wooden fence had been built along the edge of the drop, though what possible protection it could be to a reckless or even careless driver I could not see.

As we came to the outermost arc of the little detour Von Blon brought the car to a stop, the front wheels pointing directly toward the precipice. A magnificent vista stretched before us. We could look up and down the Hudson for miles. And there was a sense of isolation about the spot, for the hill behind us completely shut off the country inland.

We sat for several moments taking in the unusual view. Then Sibells spoke. Her voice was whimsical, but a curious note of defiance informed it.

"What a perfectly ripping spot for a murder!" she exclaimed, leaning over and looking down the steep slope of the bluff. "Why run the risk of shooting people when all you have to do is to take them for a ride to this snug little shelf, jump from the car, and let them topple-machine and all—over the precipice? Just another unfortunate auto accident—and no one the wiser! * * * Really, I think I'll take up crime in a serious way."

I felt a shudder pass over Ada's body, and I noticed that her face paled. Sibella's comments struck me as particularly heartless and unthinkable in view of the terrible experience through which her sister had so recently passed. The cruelty of her words evidently struck the doctor also for he turned toward her with a look of consternation.

Vance glanced quickly at Ada, and then attempted to banish the embarrassment of the tense silence by remarking lightly:

"We refuse to take alarm, however, Miss Greene; for no one, d'ye see, could seriously consider a criminal career on a day as perfect as this. Taine's theory of climatic influences is most comfortin' in moments like this."

Von Blon said nothing, but his reproachful eyes did not leave Sibella's face.

"Oh, let us go back!" cried Ada pitifully, nestling closer under the lap robe, as if the air had suddenly become chill.

Without a word Von Blon reversed the machine; and a moment later we were on our way back to the city.

TOONERVILLE FOLKS

What To-day Means To You.

"PISCES."

If March 1st is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10 a.m. to 11 a.m., from 4.30 to 6 p.m., and from 11 p.m. to midnight. the danger periods are from 6 p.m. to 9 a.m. and from 2 p.m. to 3 p.m.

A most unexpected surprise, which will bring happiness, is indicated for this date. Help and influence will be obtained from friends, which will be of both social and business benefit. Happy family relations.

The child born on this March 1st will absorb knowledge easily, and will be mentally ambitious. It will have great loyalty to friends ot to any cause it may take up. It will accept responsibilities, but will not push itself forward.

You are full of energy and pep, but you are unduly sensitive and always ready to take offense, even when none is intended. This deprives you of many friendships and associations which might prove very valuable in your scheme of life. You are "touchy" to an extreme degree, and people, who, otherwise, would be willing to help you, are afraid of you, and let you severely alone.

You are a hard worker, possess vision without being visionary, have a keen mind and a very retentive memory. All these are valuable gifts, and if capitalized in the right manner, would undoubtedly command success. What is lacking in your make-up is ability to become a "mixer", and personality.

Your disposition is sympathetic and your outlook on life is a broad one, so far as general issues are concerned; when, however, they assume a personal character, your views are distorted and you lose all sense of proportion.

Your home life does not promise to be redolent of much happiness, and in your family circle there will be an absence of confidence and frankness, as those who are near to you will always be afraid of hurting your feelings and wounding your susceptibilities.

"PISCES."

If March 2nd is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 8 a.m. to 9.45 a.m., from 2 p.m. to 3.30 p.m., and from 7 p.m. to 8.30 p.m. The danger periods are from noon to 1 p.m. and from 10 p.m. to 11 p.m.

For those married, greater union and harmony is augured for this date, and foolish differences will be forgotten. Safeguard your health! A helpful friendship will be formed with someone whom you have doubted.

Children born on this March 2nd will have considerable false pride, and if not properly trained will very easily become snobs. They will be inclined to go to extremes in all things, and they will act impulsively. They will be very outspoken in their words.

You are too hesitant and undecided to make much of a success on your own. You never seem able to render a decision, and, whilst you are within yourself debating an issue, the occasion for your judgment ceases to exist, and the opportunity is lost. You are also wedded to tradition, and work in a rut: progressive ideas make little or no appeal to you, and unless a job can be done in the old-fashioned way, you shy at tackling it.

This attitude of mind is to be deplored, as if you were ambitious and had vision, you could accomplish a great deal by your untiring perseverance, your more than average intelligence, and by your quaint and unmodern ideas, you possess a lovable disposition and where others are compelled to rule by force, you could lead by kindness and charitableness. You are not temperamental, and your nature is a serene one, and you never go off at a tangent. You consider every issue, and are calm and collected at all times and under all circumstances.

You are a home-maker and a home-lover and if your mate be of rather an adventurous spirit and one anxious to forge ahead, then your sterling gifts will have a chance of inuring to your mutual benefit.

HINTS TO PREVENT MAN-MADE STATIC

Interference Often Caused by Defective Wiring Connections.

Mr. Lillico of Radio Sales and Service, local De Forest Crosley Radio dealer, has just received a letter from that company, the content of which should be of considerable interest to those of our readers who are radio owners. The substance of the letter is as follows:

"Artificial or 'man-made' static can be eliminated by careful investigation on the part of owners of radio receiving sets, according to B. A. Schwarz, Chief Engineer, De Forest Crosley, Limited.

"When your radio is noisy and reception is poor, don't blame the receiving set," Mr. Schwarz said. 'Natural static, caused by lightning and other atmospheric disturbances, is sometimes a great obstacle to good reception. No radio is free from it and no one has yet found a way to control it. Artificial or 'man-made' static, however, is caused by defects in electrical appliances in or near your home and usually can be located and corrected by connecting a filter condenser of small capacity across the leads of the faulty appliance.'

"Interference might be caused," Mr. Schwarz continued, 'by loose globes in light sockets, defective connections in the wiring of the house, poor connections in socket outlets, door-bell ringers, electric irons, vacuum sweepers and oil burners. Loss of volume might result from low line voltage,' he said.

"Mr. Schwarz suggested that a set owner might avoid the necessity of calling a service man by checking the following points:

See that your ground and aerial are properly connected to your set, and that outside connection are in good condition.

See that plug in the wall or floor socket is O. K.

See that all tubes are lighted."

LIST DROPS IN LATE TRADING

Early Advances Cut Down By Wave of Profit-taking on New York Exchange.

SOME HIGH RECORDS.

(By Stanley W. Prenosil, Associated Press Financial Editor.)

NEW YORK, N.Y., March 1.—Stock prices made further recovery in to-day's brief session but many of the early gains of 1 to 7½ points were cut down by a wave of profit taking in the last hour. Nearly two score issues, including Radio Corporation and about a dozen Public Utilities moved into new high grounds for the year.

In the Public Utility group, Pacific Lighting was marked up nearly 6 points to a new high at 95 7-8. American Telephone, North American, American Power and Light, American Waterworks, Electric Power and Light, and Louisville Gas and Electric were bid up 1 to 2½ points to new peak prices for the year. Brooklyn Union Gas, Philadelphia Co. and Stone & Webster also were marked up 2 points or more.

Radio Corporation common was turned over in large volume, crossing 50 to the best price of the year. The rise in this stock was attributed in some quarters to a revival of operations by an old pool in that issue, and in others to heavy buying for the account of British interests.

American Tobacco "B" crossed 242 to a new high for an extreme gain of more than 6 points. Union Bag & Paper was marked up nearly 4 points to a new top at 15 7-8. United Aircraft, Rossia Insurance, Warner Bros. Pictures, Parmelee Transportation, Remington-Rand, Auto Sales also reached new high ground.

Midland Steel Products preferred, which ran up sharply in the last few minutes of trading yesterday, lost 4 points on realizing.

The closing was strong. Total sales approximated 1,750,000 shares.

BIG ESSEX WEEK STARTS MONDAY

Many New Records Predicted in New Line of Motor Cars.

BETTER CAR THAN EVER.

"Essex Challenger Week" starts on Monday and the new Essex Challenger cars will assault existing records in speed, reliability, brake, economy, endurance and acceleration tests, many of which they now hold, with the public invited to take the wheels. The Hudson Motor Car Company confidently predicts that many new records will be established and that the new Challenger will again prove its right to the audacious name it carries.

Brewer Motor Sales, local distributors, and Lillico Motor Sales, dealers, will stage tests here and will submit the cars to every conceivable test, with major interest centering on the driving by local motorists and spectacular tests to be undertaken here.

For the "Show-Me" Motorist.

"This is the day of the 'show-me' motorist," says Mr. Brewer, "and we expect to meet the demand. This year we are confident that the car will live up to everything a motorist can expect of a car, not only in performance but in beauty, comfort and value.

Better Car Than Ever.

"The new Essex Challenger is an even better car than that which won sensational success last year. It is on a longer wheel base, giving more room, and is new from the front bumper to the rear fenders, with new motor included.

"We are asking the public to take an active part in this year's tests, because we believe that this new Challenger offers the maximum safety, not only at every speed, but on the turns, in traffic, hill climbing, and, generally, easy, sure handling in any kind of going. We do not expect to wait for favorable conditions or have carefully coached professional drivers undertake the tests, except in extraordinary circumstances. We invite any motorist to come in and take out a stock car and submit it to any tests he or she chooses. We will stand by the result," says Mr. C. L. Brewer.

STRONGER TONE ON MINE MART

Whole List Moves Higher During To-day's Abbreviated Session.

VIPOND WEAKENS.

TORONTO, Ont., March 1 (Canadian Press). — The mining list, as a whole, moved higher during the abbreviated session to-day, the dissenting voices being unusually few and far between. Trading activity, however, did not respond to the improved tone and the close saw volume of sales at the lowest point they have been for some time.

Activity and strength on other exchanges had their effect on the interlisted stocks. International Nickel moved up nearly a point to $40.45, while Noranda and Hudson Bay registered advances of a half each to 42.50 and 13.25 respectively.

The Lindsleys failed to join the upward tendency, the group exhibiting a mixed appearance at the close. After holding unchanged for most of the period, Falconbridge and Sudbury eased slightly on end, selling off 10 and 5 respectively. Sherritt Gordon firmed 5 and Ventures, possibly due to the report of increased production at Bwana M'kubwa, was up 12.

Vipond, yesterday's feature, weakened when no official confirmation of the report of developments at the property was forthcoming to-day, selling off 5 to $1.02. Dome and Hollinger gained 10 each, Teck Hughes 5, and Wright-Hargreaves a point. In the Pacific Coast group, Pend Oreille with a gain of 25 to $3.25 displayed the only change.

Waite proved the exception to the rule in the general list, easing 15 to $5.05 though the company's annual report was issued to-day. Amulet regained 7, Abana 2, and Mining Corp. 5, while Newbec, Barry Hollinger, Amity were higher. Siscoe, whose report on operations has been received, was up 4½ to 41 on light demand.

Under the leadership of Home Oil which moved up a half to $9, the oils were strong, Mayland gaining 25, Alberta 10, and Dalhousie 5. Associated and Ajax were also up at the close.

SCHOOL ACT AMENDMENT PASSES REGINA HOUSE ON SECOND READING

Legislature Adjourns For Two Weeks to Allow Cabinet to Visit Ottawa.

AMENDMENT DEFEATED.

REGINA, Sask., March 1. (By the Canadian Press).—After a session lasting into the early morning hours, the Saskatchewan legislature adjourned until March 10. In the interval Premier J. T. M. Anderson and members of his cabinet will journey to Ottawa which is hoped it will be the last mission for settlement of the natural resources question.

Debate on second reading of Premier Anderson's bill to amend the school act, which would prohibit display of religious emblems and the wearing of religious garb in the public schools of Saskatchewan, occasioned the lengthy session. The bill was given second reading early this morning, after an amendment offered by J. G. Gardiner, opposition leader, was voted down 33 to 26. The vote approving second reading was the same as that by which the amendment was defeated 33 to 26.

Wanted Reading Deferred

Mr. Gardiner, former Premier and Minister of Education, sought by his amendment to have second reading referred until certain clauses could be inserted in Premier Anderson's amendment to the school act. Under the Gardiner amendment, local autonomy would be granted school districts, and a protest would first have to be recorded by resident ratepayers, who had children attending school, before religious emblems or garb could be removed from the schools.

Every member of the government voted against the Gardiner amendment and all on the opposition side of the House favored it. In a three hour address Mr. Gardiner defended the present school laws of the province. In the present School Act, no distinction had been made between public and separate schools, but the proposed legislation, he said would involve two sets of laws, for while the measure affected public schools vitally, it did not touch the separate schools at all.

LIGHT TRADING IN OIL SECTION

NICKEL IN DEMAND.

TORONTO, Ont., March 1 (C.P.).—The market on Toronto Stock Exchange closed the week firm, this morning's tone being due largely to an increased and steady demand for International Nickel, which carried that stock upward through 40 and to within a small fraction of its high for this year.

In the closing half-hour, Walker's came into more prominence, the bid price going up to a high of 9¾. Oils were firm, but only fractionally changed and trading was light in volume. Massey-Harris remained firm at 34. Ford of Canada added nearly half a point. Brazilian fluctuated about its previous close. Consolidated Bakeries and Canadian Bridge were unchanged.

Steels generally were slow but firm. Hamilton Bridge was about the only construction outfit outside Dredge to show activity, and it closed down fractionally.

DISASTROUS CONVERSATION.

NEW YORK, N.Y.—Donald Lashley, 29, a negro, had some important information for a friend and chose to use a pay telephone. Two men paced up and down outside, impatient for him to conclude the conversation. Finally one yanked open the door of the booth and told Lashley he had talked long enough. The negro refused to quit, and the men drew revolvers, fired two shots into his body, hailed a passing taxi and were gone when police arrived. Lashley may die.

HAITI PROTESTS U. S. OCCUPATION

Great Throng of Objectors Greet Hoover's Special Commissioners.

Ask Legislative Elections.

PORT-AU-PRINCE, March 1. — (C.P.).—Protesting United States occupation and demanding re-establishment of representative government, citizens of Haiti to-day proffered their aid to President Hoover's special commission which came here yesterday to investigate conditions in the island republic.

More than 5,000 persons greeted the commission as they landed and followed them up the capital's streets with banners reading "We want legislative elections," and "No more High Commissioners."

No United States flags were in evidence except at the United States Legation. The red and blue Haitian banner was everywhere, and there was one huge banner of blue and gold bearing the words, "Jesus save Haiti."

CANADA IS LAND OF OPPORTUNITY

W. A. Richardson, President of Y.M.C.A. Board, Addresses Friday Night Supper Club.

RAPID DEVELOPMENT.

"Canada has lost too many young Canadians in the past twenty-five years, attracted by the rapid development that has taken place in the United States. They are forgetting that Canada has developed apace in that time. I believe that at present Canada is the land of opportunity for the young man."

This was said by W. A. Richardson, president of the Y.M.C.A. Board, at the Friday Night Supper Club at the Y.M.C.A. last night.

Mr. Richardson cited the rapid Canadian development on the northern frontier as indicative of the progress being made in Canada. "I think there will be greater development in Canada in the future than in any other country in the world," he said. He spoke of the increase of the monthly return from the mining area in Northern Ontario from a few thousand dollars to the present $3,000,000 a month within a few years' time.

Canada has immense tracts of so-called barren lands at present, the possibilities of which are yet unknown, he continued. Canadians are steadily pushing out by canoe, dog sled, and airplane, and discovering these lands as assets to the Dominion.

At another point in his talk, Mr Richardson told the boys that life is just a game—the same as any game, such as hockey, rugby, or basketball The only thing you get out of life is the fun of playing the game. He concluded by advising the young men to get into some line that appeals to them and play the game.

PREMIER IS URGED TO FINISH HIGHWAY

Local Deputation Waits Upon Premier Ferguson and Cabinet.

The deputation composed of Mayor R. Denne and Ald. Malcolm McIntyre, representing the City Council, and Frank G. Stinson, representing the Chamber of Commerce and the Peterborough Game and Fish Protection Association, who recently waited upon the Hon. Howard G. Ferguson and members of his Cabinet in connection with the two resolutions adopted at the last annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce, received the assurance that both measures recommended will receive the full support of the Government of Ontario.

The resolutions, it will be recalled, deal with the completion of the link in Highway Number 7 from Peterborough to Ottawa, which continues west of here through Lindsay and London to Sarnia, and with the protection of game fish.

The deputation was received in the Council Chamber of the Parliament Buildings by the Premier, Hon. Howard G. Ferguson; the Attorney-General, Hon. W. H. Price, K.C., and the Minister of Mines and Fisheries, Hon. Charles McCrea.

Mayor Denne presented the resolutions, pointing out the need of the municipalities east of Peterborough including Norwood, Havelock, Madoc Marmora and Tweed for the completing of this link in the highway, and added that it would also be the means of opening up a new trading area to this city. Furthermore, said the Mayor, it would open up a new scenic route through the Kawarthas and would also relieve congestion on Highway Number 2 to Montreal and would provide an alternative route to Ottawa and Toronto.

Mr. Ferguson assured the deputation that the Highways Department had laid out a program for the completion of this road and would be scratching at the surface east of Peterborough early in the present year.

Mr. Stinson presented the case for the protection of game fish, and was also assured by the Premier that all the recommendations embodied in the resolution were included in the program of the department, and that progress would be made in the matter from year to year.

Financial News and Briefs

A Special Service to the Examiner

(Special to The Examiner, Copyright, 1930.

TORONTO, March 1. — Canadian corporations will pay dividends to their shareholders in the month of March aggregating $21,730,555, according to an estimate compiled from official declarations. The list includes 67 companies making disbursements on 76 securities, and is representative of all classes of industry.

Of the total, industrial, utilities and miscellaneous companies will make distribution of $14,146,840, with the mining companies making an excellent showing at $4,485,052. The majority of Canadian banks are making regular quarterly disbursements at this time of the year, and the distribution by this group runs to $3,098,663.

International Nickel provides the bulk of the total for the mines with a payment of $3,429,552, representing payment of a quarterly dividend of 25 cents shares on the outstanding common stock of no par value. Lake Shore is well up with a quarterly distribution of $600,000.

The industrials are featured by large distributions by Imperial Oil and its subsidiary, International Petroleum Corporation, paying all told nearly $7,000,000. Loblaw Groceterias and H. Simon and Sons have increased the rate of dividend on their shares, and the initial payment at the increased rate will be made in March. Brazilan Traction is the leader among the utilities with a cash distribution of $2,765,000 as well as a stock bonus of 1 per cent. This stock bonus has an equivalent cash value of over $2,300,000.

Resumption of the dividend on the shares of Canadian General Investment Trust will take place on March 15, when a dividend of $1 a share will be paid.

By ELMER C. WALZER
United Press Financial Editor

NEW YORK, March 1.—(U.P.).—Thus far in 1930 stock exchange sales have fallen off 35 per cent from the total attained in 1929 and curb exchange sale have declined 57 per cent.

This reduction in public interest in the market is the usual sequence to a drastic reaction. Steadily, however, the public is coming back and if a real bull swing gets under way the small traders will be back in large numbers and tickers again will be straining to keep up with 4,000,000 and 5,000,000 share days, Wall Street expects.

The 1929 reaction, of course, reduced to a great extent the purchasing power of the small trader, but it did not eliminate him entirely. At the present time the margin requirements have been reduced by the majority of stock exchange houses to 25 per cent whereas before the break some houses required margins as high as 50 per cent of the price of a stock to carry the issue.

Incidentally, the break and the subsequent falling off in stock sales has greatly reduced the earning power of the brokerage houses. Several which sprung up during the wild bull market of a few months ago have sold their business entirely due to the heavy expense of maintaining a membership on the exchange. Many of the houses which greatly enlarged their staffs when turnover was high are now reducing personnel by the dozens.

This curtailment, however, is not taken as an indication that the houses do not expect return of the 5,000,000-share days. They are constantly on the alert for signs of increasing public participation and are introducing efficiency methods to handle thebig days expected in the near future.

According to bankers and brokers thousands of shares of stock have been taken off the market since the first of the year by small traders for investment. This reduction of the floating supply is but one of processes in the start of another big bull movement.

When the market shows signs of going into a steady rise the small operators will buy stocks. Meanwhile they dabble half-heartedly and "play safe."

Following the findings that eight British towns received more ultra-violet rays than Davos, Switzerland, last year, the Swiss village neglected to measure its rays this year.

CATTLE, GRAIN, PRODUCE

TORONTO PRODUCE

TORONTO, March 1.—The American egg market continued to have such a bearing on the local market last week that prices to shippers and retailers were changing from day to day. Toward the end of the week the Chicago market strengthened a little and the price to shippers remained firm, though the quotation to retailers were lower. Yesterday word was received that the Chicago market had dropped again, two cents, and dealers there were quoting 24c for car lots. This did not seem to have much weight with local dealers and quotations were the same as listed Thursday, which were, to country shippers, for eggs ungraded, delivered, cases returned, extras, 35c; firsts, 33c, and seconds, 28c to 30c. To retailers the prices were for fresh extras, in cartons, 42c; extras, loose, 40c; firsts, loose, 38c, and seconds, loose, 35c to 36c.

Production in Ontario appears to be definitely on the increase and Toronto does not feel that many more imported eggs will be required. The freer arrival of local eggs and the increased shipments from British Columbia are expected shortly to be sufficient to take care of the demand. Whether Montreal will be situated in the same position is, of course, problematic. Montreal recently has been dependent to a very large extent on imported supplies and it would take a very substantial increase in local supplies to do away with the necessity of importations in the immediate future.

Lower Than Last Year

It is interesting to note that at present, for the first time in a long while, egg prices are running lower than at the corresponding time last year. Conditions of supplies have been rather reversed from a year ago. It will be remembered that in January, 1929, production in Canada was extremely heavy, but that it fell off considerably with the coming of February. This year domestic supplies have been very scarce throughout January and the early part of February, but are now showing a normal increase.

Butter Market

There was another quiet week on the butter market. There was some interest apparent in regard to the shipment from New Zealand of 106,000 boxes, but though some of this was offered at 32c, Halifax, no sales were recorded by any of the brokers here. The Toronto market was a little weaker toward the end of the week, and the prices to shippers were 34½c to 34¾c for creamery, No. 1 pasteurized, and 34c to 34¼c for No. 2 pasteurized. Last week, No. 1 brought 36c, and No. 2 35c. Churning cream remained the same at 38c to 39c for special, 37 to 38 for No. 1, and 34c to 35c for No. 2. This price is within ½c of the price paid at the height of the grass season last year.

Cheese

Brokers are quoting shippers 20½c for new, large, cheese, and for twins, 20¾c. The prices to the retail trade are, old large, 27c to 28c; twins, 28c to 29c; new, large, 23c to 23½c; and twins, 23½c to 24c.

Potatoes

The potato market changed toward the end of the week, and dealers were quoting $1.70 for Ontario No. 1, in bags, and $1.60 for Ontario No. 1 in bulk. New Brunswick potatoes were quoted at $1.75 in bags, and $1.65 in bulk. Prince Edward Island potatoes made their appearance at $2.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, March 1.—Reports current late yesterday tended to show that Europe finally is buying substantial amounts of wheat for March, April, and May shipment from North America. Meanwhile, active purchasing of Chicago future delivery wheat contracts gave an increasing upward tilt to wheat values here, with demand ascribed largely to Government sponsored agencies. After wheat dealings had closed for the day, however, insurance rates on all grain transactions were greatly disturbed by rumors of possible injunction proceedings likely to interfere with the working of the Marketing Act, under which the Federal Farm Board and its allies are operating.

Chicago closing quotations on wheat were unsettled, ranging from the same as Thursday's finish to 2⅞c a bushel higher. Corn closed ⅜c to 1⅛c up, oats, ⅛c to ½c advance, and provisions unchanged to a setback of 2c.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, March 1.—Trade volume was of moderate proportions in the wheat market here yesterday, but a selling movement developed in the last quarter hour of the session and early advances were wiped out.

Better foreign interest in Canadian wheat was reported, overnight export sales totalling 500,0000 bushels, but this business was not reflected in pit trading.

PREMIER HOTLY DENIES RUMORS

of over 7,000 and so each child enrolled was given a distinguishing badge.

"Would it not be wise," the Progressive Leader asked, to indicate the impropriety of this sort of thing?"

Premier Ferguson, replying on behalf of the Government said that no action could be taken to prohibit children from enrolling in any club no matter by whom it was sponsored. The club referred to, he said, seemed "pretty harmless."

The Progressive Leader said that if such a club were to be organized, it should be under different auspices, so that children will not come in contact with the liquor interests at such an early age. The club had been discussed and assailed by the W.C.T.U. conference in Toronto some days ago, he added.

The Premier said that the Progressive Leader should have more facts to lay before the House before he brought up such a question. It was not established that Gooderham & Worts, Limited, was the same company that owned the radio station, he pointed out, in closing the matter.

Government Bill Read

Second reading was given a Government Bill which was aimed at the elimination of "vexatious legal proceedings." Under it, any person who, in the opinion of a judge of the Supreme Court of Ontario "has instituted habitually, persistently and without reasonable grounds" legal actions within the Province would be barred from entering a case before a court without an order of the Supreme Court. Hon. W. H. Price, Attorney-General, in explaining the bill, said it was aimed at persons "on the border-line of lunacy" and at people who persisted in starting actions against all and sundry, under the pretext that they were being persecuted or who had "grudges" against another.

W. E. N. Sinclair, K.C., Liberal leader, said that the principle of the bill "could not be defended." A person might mave a meritorious case, but the bill would put him to no end of trouble to launch it before the courts. He did not think that outside of two cases cited earlier in the discussion by the Attorney-General, there ever had been any grounds for placing such restrictions in the way of litigants.

Premier Ferguson pointed out that such a law had been introduced many years ago in England and still was in force. There were many sound precedents in Ontario for it, he said.

Questions Answered

The Government answered a long list of questions placed on the Order Paper by Opposition members. Attorney-General Price said that $1,555 had been collected in fines under provisions of the Security Frauds Prevention Act, but in most cases of infractions of its terms, jail sentences had been imposed. No brokers or salesmen had been suspended under the Act, but any doubtful applicants were kept for some time on the temporary list before registered.

Hon. Lincoln Goldie, Provincial Secretary, stated that 21 tenders had been received for additional buildings at the Ontario Hospital, Woodstock. The tender was awarded to a Brantford firm, the lowest to tender.

Seven townships received grants in 1928 in excess of 30 per cent for the cost of township road maintence and 39 in 1929, Hon. George S. Henry said. During the Winter of 1928-29, the department spent $151,624.54 cleaning snow from Provincial highways.

The Provincial Secretary said that 151 patients were released from insane hosptials and allowed to return to their home municipalities for maintenance during 1929.

Among the bills that received second reading and were referred to committees, was on sponsored by F. G. McBrien, Toronto-Brockton, to increase the exemption of income from investments in municipal income taxation. The bill was referred to the municipal committee.

CLARENCE LODGE OBSERVES BIRTHDAY

CAMPBELLFORD, March 1 (Examiner Staff Correspondence).—Celebrating its seventh birthday, the Duchess of Clarence Loyal True Blue Lodge held festive last evening, when it invited the members of the Duke of Clarence L.T.B. Lodge and their wives and members of the L.O.B.A. and their husbands to indulge with them in an old time birthday supper. About a hundred guests were served.

The feature of the evening was the presentation by Sister A. Tripp, P.W.M., of a Past Mistress's Jewel to Sister John Ibey, who held the chair last year. In making the presentation, Sister Tripp spoke of the high esteem in which the honored sister was held by the Lodge. In reply, Sister Ibey said she felt unworthy of the band bestowed upon her, but accepted it with deep appreciation.

A very enjoyable program was given, under the able chairmanship of Mayor C. Davidson.

The Booth Brothers gave very fine renditions of popular airs on the violin and guitar. Mrs. C. Blakley and Mrs. C. Ibey each rendered a vocal solo.

Much amusement was caused by a short sketch, entitled "The Four Unfortunates," presented by Mrs. John Wilks, Mrs. Frank Clark, Miss Mary Phillips and Miss Gladys Nichols. Mrs. G. W. Ayrheart's readings in the darkie dialect were also well received.

The singing of the National Anthem concluded the festivities.

EAST PETERBORO FOR FIFE MEMORIAL

Two expressions of East Peterborough approval of the proposed Fife Memorial were received by The Examiner. One was an editorial in T. P. Lancaster's "Havelock Standard", and the other is a letter from W. G. Barrie. The Standard's article follows:

"The Peterborough Examiner in recent issues has put forward an admirable proposal and one that should commend itself to the Dominion Government and to all loyal citizens of Canada.

The Examiner's proposal is the establishment of a Demonstration Farm in the township of Otonabee as a fitting memorial to David Fife, the originator of the world-famous Red Fife wheat.

As The Examiner states, Canada owes to David Fife much of our enormous prosperity as a wheat-growing country, which applies more particularly to our western provinces. From three heads of this wonderful strain of wheat, secured by Mr. Fife through a friend in the old country, he has passed down to posterity in Canada a fabulously rich contribution to the resources of our broad dominions.

The Standard has no hesitation whatever in most enthusiastically endorsing this move to honor the memory of this old time Otonabee farmer for the contribution he made to Canada by his intelligent observation and unfailing patience and time and skill in cultivating and harvesting this famous wheat until his product was sufficient to distribute to the farmers of his neighborhood at first, and then finally to the far corners of our country.

The following from The Globe of March 29th, 1906, is particularly apt and to the point: "Surely if there is any one of us worthy of having his name transmitted to posterity it is the name of such a man. Parliament would honor itself by engraving the name of David Fife on ever-enduring brass, together with an account of the service rendered, and by placing it in a conspicuous place on the walls of the national buildings. In that west, too, which his discovery has virtually created there should be some special commemoration of his service to it and to the world."

Mr. Barrie's Letter.

R.R. No. 2, Norwood, Ont.

To the Editor,
The Peterborough Examiner.
Dear sir:

We have been following the articles written by The Examiner advocating a David Fife Memorial to commemorate his work with the wheat that later became known as Red Fife. I remember reading an article a few years ago, it may have been in The Examiner, referring to the difficulties the farmers here had, particularly with rust, until Red Fife was found. I have often heard my father speak of the trouble they had to get a good wheat flour, and of the danger of famine at times through the failure of the wheat crop to mature properly. He knew David Fife and the latter and my grandfather, David Barrie, came from Scotland about the same time. About a year age we read with much interest a reference to David Fife's wheat in an article in MacLean's Magazine, describing the work of Charles Saunders, whom I have heard at Ottawa, talk about the great benefit the Red Fife wheat was to Canada and even the world.

We believe the value of such pioneer work as that of David Fife was beyond estimation, and should be recognized in the district in which he lived, by a memorial of lasting value. We think your suggestion of a Demonstration Farm could not be improved on, particularly if it were to be devoted to the production of better seed.

In judging the samples of Spring wheat of the Marquis variety at the Championship School Fair at Norwood last fall, I was struck with the excellence of one particular sample and to confirm my opinion, I examined it carefull the next morning in better light. This sample was the winner, in a very strong competition and I was pleased to find out later that it belonged to young Fife.

We are very glad that your paper is taking up the matter of showing appreciation of David Fife's work and feel sure that you will have the hearty support of the farmers of Peterborough county in the undertaking.

Yours very truly,
W. G. BARRIE.

COMMUNITY BUILDING IS SUBJECT OF MOST INTERESTING ADDRESS

Major W. H. Wood, of London, Addresses Chamber of Commerce.

BALANCED COMMUNITY.

Ideals towards which the Associated Chambers of Commerce of the British Empire are converging—the Building of Balanced Communities—were forcefully presented by Major W. H. Wood, manager of the London Chamber of Commerce, in an address which was remarkable for its breadth of vision and comprehensive nature, which could only have been made possible by a thorough study of economic conditions.

Major Wood, an executive of considerable experience, was heartily congratulated by the members of the local Chamber, who listened to his address in the Downeyflake Dining Rooms last evening, and the hope was expressed that he will pay Peterborough another visit in the near future.

He was introduced to the assembly by James Dutton, who presided and who expressed his regrets at seeing such a small turn-out of members, although he thought it could be adequately explained by the fact that there were numerous counter attractions; he described the speaker as a capable executive and a man keenly interested in all worthwhile endeavors for better communities and civic building.

In his introductory remarks, Major Wood expressed his pleasure at having the opportunity of addressing a Peterborough audience and added that he felt very much at home.

He presented his lecture in a pleasing manner and made it doubly interesting with the use of an exhibit—a pyramid, which he built up piece by piece as he expounded each point with a thoroughness which seemed to lack nothing, and which held the attention of his audience through to the end.

Major Wood explained that the construction of the pyramid, dignified in design, like that of the building of a balanced city, is a painstaking, cumulative process.

Homes Basic Block

The first block of the foundation represented homes. Through their homes citizens of a community give concrete expression to their depth of civic pride and home ownership contributes immeasurably to good citizenship. The second "stone" in the foundation represented "Recreational Facilities." The leisure time of the people is a great reservoir out of which shoud come the creative expressions of the community. Schools came next and with schools the lecturer included the college or university, the public libraries and other educational institutions. These institutions are best fulfilling the purpose of maintaining the physical, mental, moral and religious health of its members. Transportation was accorded next place including railways, highway arteries in the economic structure of communities through which flows the commerce of a community, connecting it with the outer world.

Bearing on Character

Completing the foundation the speaker added the block which represented the churches adding that the church represents the faith by which men move mountains. The church has a direct bearing on the character of a community, providing not only a religious training but tending more and more to become community centres.

Commencing the building of the second row of the pyramid the speaker added a block which represented electric power, and thought that a community should do everything in its power, consistent with sound financial proceedure to make possible the use of electrical energy and light to the greatest number of citizens. From power he logically followed on to gas a great requisite in modern industry. According to authorities the gas company will supply most of the fuel for industrial as well as domestic use in the future.

"Location must be logical" said Major Wood in building up the next stage of his pyramid. "Communities strategically situated to serve economic areas will grow provided their citizens so desire.

Purchasing population was the next consideration. It is not the population that counts in measuring nations, but, it is the stability of the buying power.

Efficient Labour the next step in the structure and an important one, was expanded by the lecturer who said that the question of the character of the labour supply is mighty important for the economic and efficient development of industry. The balanced community must pin its faith on the common or average people, particularly upon its home owners, who understand their individual prosperity is closely linked with the progress of the community. Sixty-two per cent of Canadian families own their own homes and forty-six per cent of the families living in Canadian Urban areas possess their own domiciles.

Financial institutions which reflect thep rosperity of a community its Governmental institutions, postal services etc., were grouped under the head of favourable facilities whilst community protection embracing the health, fire, police and departments of public safety were the other "stones" in the pyramid now nearing completion.

Good Government came next—the institution through which the rights of property and the rights of life are established assured and maintained, and this was closely allied to the modern Chamber of Commerce a voluntary civic organization devoted to community building.

Nearing the apex were shown important institutions which are necessarily included in the building of a balanced community—successful industries and the final block—the completion of the structure represented men. Men necessary to the building, maintenance and existence of a balanced community. Possessed of manly attributes, masculine men in their upright dignity are the salt which keeps society sweet and the leaven which raises it. In the building of a balanced community men count most of all. Progress can only be made through the proper spirit, the correct mental attitude and the enlightened aggressiveness of the citizens to achieve for their community.

The challenge to all true men, the lecturer concluded, is to press on constantly and positively, to that which is higher in standard and the attainment and build not only a bigger, but more beautiful community which Peterborough may become by consolidating and focalising her efforts and leadership through the Chamber of Commerce.

Alderman Holland who was present said the reason he came to the meeting was because the subject had appealed to him immensely. As a member of the city council he was keenly interest in seeing the growth of a balanced community in this city. He did not think any section of the city should grow to the disadvantage of another section.

James Dutton paid a tribute to the City Council when he said that the Chamber of Commerce had always received the utmost consideration and co-operation from them.

F. D. Kerr voiced his appreciation for the splendid address and also mentioned the spirit of co-operation which he said he was glad to see gaining a hold in this city, and F. G. Stinson in adding a few words of thanks to Major Wood spoke of the fact that he was the first man in Canada to receive his diploma from the National Association of Commercial Organisations, in 1924 adding that this was no mean accomplishment as it twas a difficult honour for which to qualify. He also described Major Wood as a man whose large stature was only excelled by his breadth of mind.

R. J. Kidd said "had I not been here to-night I would have felt the loss keenly, but I now feel a clear profit after having listened to Major Wood's address.

Representing the Salvation Army, G. H. Young also paid a tribute to the speaker and said he particularly appreciated the remarks concerning the churches.

CALEDONIANS VIEW TRENT VALLEY FILM

F. L. Roy Shows Pictures at Large Gathering of the Local Club.

A large and representative gathering of the members of the Caledonian Club and their friends met last night in the Woodmen of the World Hall to enjoy an illustrated talk by F. L. Roy. R. Veitch, president, occupied the chair, and introduced the speaker of the evening.

The program was a varied and colorful one—the pictures in all cases being very clear and interesting. The main film was the pictures of the Trent Valley which Mr. Roy had specially prepared for the local Chamber of Commerce to be shown in New York, as a means to advertise Peterborough district and to draw American tourist traffic to the Kawartha Lakes, via the Trent Waterway system. These beautiful, interesting and restful scenes will no doubt bring hundreds of holiday makers to our district in search of health and pleasure during the coming summer season. So realistic were the pictures that one had not far to stretch his imagination to believe himself or herself on board the boat passing over the Lift Lock, sailing up the Canal, through the other locks into beautiful Clear Lake and the other Kawartha Lakes, dotted with islands on which are summer homes. Fishing and hunting scenes enacted by local anglers and duck shooters helped to make the program more snappy. A picture depicting a car beside a camp fire in the wild woods showed that it was also possible to motor through the lake district.

Other pictures shown were from scenes in Egypt and through the Valley of the Kings. A specially clear picture of the entrance to the tomb of Tut-ank-hamen was very interesting.

The audience then crossed to Greece, where many ancient ruins, as well as the modern city of Athens, were depicted.

In the Holy Land, places and scenes familiar with the life of our Saviour pleased the audience very much.

Pictures of the different parades, galas, regattas, etc., of Peterborough's "Old Home Week" caused much merriment, as well as bringing back pleasant memories to all present. Especially interesting were the happenings at the Fair Grounds, including the fireworks.

A vote of thanks to the speaker was proposed by the president, and received a hearty handclap by the audience.

During an intermission, Mr. T. Bartlett favored the audience in two well-rendered vocal solos, being accompanied on the piano by Miss Pearl Smith.

The executive served dainty refreshments, and a social hour was spent in dancing to music supplied by Mr. R. Gilmour on the melodeon.

Next Friday evening the regular monthly meeting will be held, and a large turnout of members is anticipated.

FINE OPPORTUNITY FOR FARMERS OVER COUNTY TO INCREASE LAND VALUE THROUGH REFORESTATION Demonstration Plots Good Examples of What May Be Done With Waste Land.

GOV'T SUPPLIES TREES.

Are the farmers of Peterborough County taking their share of the advantages offered by the Ontario Government's policy in regard to reforestation? This question is partly answered by J. B. Nelson, County agricultural representative, in his Agricultural Analysis of Peterborough County which he compiled in 1929. Under the head "Deserted Farms and Reforestation", Mr. Nelson writes:

"There is in Peterborough County a large amount of submarginal land. This land is mostly located north of Stoney Lake but there are considerable areas of such land in townships of Dummer and Belmont. As land became scarce for settlement in old Ontario, these sections were homesteaded during the middle part of the last century. After the lumber industry ceased to be a source of livelihood for these people and they realized that their rocky soil was useless for farming there was a steady movement out of the district and this movement still continues. All over the northern half of the County are scattered the remnants of deserted farmsteads.

"Some of the better of these farms have been purchased by farmers further south and are used as pasture ranches, other small areas along the lakes are used for summer resort purposes; but the mass of this rocky and sandy land is lying useless. Some of it has been burned over but large sections are growing timber and might well be used for reforesting.

Fire Ranger on Duty

"The fire hazard is well controlled by a fire ranger station at Apsley and observation towers throughout the district.

"Some reforesting has been done in the county such as demonstration plots, windbreaks and farm woodlots but no general reforesting scheme has yet been started. The County Council has considered the county forest idea but nothing has been done.

Under the same head in his analysis, Mr. Nelson gives figures which show that the number of applications for trees for reforestation purposes made to the Forestry Branch of the Department of Lands and Forest has increased almost six-fold in the past five years over the preceding five years. During the five years from 1910 to 1914 there were a total of 14 applications from this county to the Department for trees for reforestation. From 1916 to 1919 there were but 2 applications; from 1920 to 1924 the number increased to 35 and in the five year period from 1925 to 1929 there were 204.

1910	1	1920	1
1911	2	1921	4
1912	5	1922	6
1913	4	1923	10
1914	2	1924	14
1915	1	1925	27
1916	1	1926	29
1917	0	1927	58
1918	0	1928	50
1919	0	1929	40

Mr. Nelson concludes his comment on the matter saying, "Reforestation should be of very great interest to the County of Peterborough, not only as a method of utilizing the deserted farms of the north but also of utilizing the submarginal land that is found in greater or smaller acreages all over the County."

Armour's Hill Fine Example

One of the most successful reforestation efforts in the County has been carried out on Armour's Hill by the Women's Patriotic League of Ashburnham inside the city limits of Peterborough. With the object of making the hill a beauty spot of the district, the League began their work in 1924 when they planted about eight thousand trees. Most of the trees first planted were coniferous consisting of Scotch pines, jack pines, spruce and white pines.

n all, about 20,000 trees have been planted up to the present, although a fire occurred in 1927 which destroyed about 3,000. In the last few years many maples, elm, cedar, walnut, butternut and ash have been put in.

All the trees have been secured by the Patriotic League from the Forestry Department at Toronto and the services of experts from the Department were secured for laying out the plan of reforestation on the hill. A great percentage of the trees planted up to the present will be changed to new and permanent positions as soon as they have become large enough. Many are being planted in a nursery that was started four years ago in a protected spot awaiting the stage of their growth that will permit transplanting them to their permanent places.

Norwood Road Plot a Success

Another very successful demonstration of reforestation is to be seen on the Norwood road about one mile west of the village. It was established by the government on a sandy hill along side the Peterborough-Norwood road partly for the purpose of protecting the highway from the shifting sand and partly to show what can be done in the way of reforesting. The trees, Scotch pine, were planted about fifteen years ago and have now attained considerable size forming a wind-break 25 to 30 feet in height. As well as taking care of drifting sand, the growth takes care of drifting snow in the winter.

Perhaps the most extensive effort in local reforestation however, is the establishment of the Northumberland Forest. For a number of years past there has been regular planting on a thousand-acre tract owned by the United Counties of Northumberland and Durham near Roseneath. Several hundred acres of light land have now been planted mostly with various kinds of pine. The trees planted when the work first began have thrived admirably and are excellent indications of the possibilities of reforestation. The work on this tract has proven to be especially successful on areas of light land and many farmers have been brought to realize the value of their sandy farm lands where reforesting is concerned.

The applications that have been received by the Department for trees from Peterborough have been sent from wide-spread points in the County. Farmers are beginning to realize the value of trees as wind-breaks around their buildings and about 2,000 trees each year are being planted for this purpose in the western part. Many of the farmers have been planting with the object of raising the value of their property by covering up waste stretches that cannot be used for other purposes. Some others have found that reforestation is of great value in thickening up woodlots.

Government authorities are doing all in their power to encourage reforestation. They have carried on extensive advertising programs posting placard advertisements throughout the Province.

3,500 Trees Free

Farmers are reminded by the signs that they can get from the Forestry Department any number of trees up to 3,500 each year free of charge providing that they pay the express charge.

As an added inducement they advertise the fact that reforested land is free of taxation up to 10 per cent of the holdings or a maximum of ten acres.

The trees that are available are: Coniferus, white pine, red pine, jack pine, Scotch pine, European larch, white spruce, white cedar; cuttings—Carolina popular, white willow; hardwoods—walnut, butternut, elm, white ash, soft maple, hard maple, red oak; trees for windbreaks—white spruce, Norway spruce, white cedar.

For amounts over 3,500 a charge of $4 per thousand is levied.

HOG COMPETITION RULES ARE READY

Entries Will Be Received Up to March 22—Promote Better Breeding Stock.

HELD AT FALL FAIR.

Rules and regulations for the inter-county bacon hog competition which is being again held at the Peterborough Fair this Fall have been announced and entries are being received until March 22.

The object of the competition, which is being sponsored by the Dominion Live Stock Branch, and The Canadian Packing Company, Peterborough, is to promote better breeding stock, to stimulate an interest among the young boys in regard to the feeding, management and marketing of swine and particularly to get the boy on the farm to raise, feed and market swine for himself.

Entries are to be made through D. A. McKinnon, care of the Canadian Packing Company, or J. B. Nelson, Agricultural Representative. One pair of hogs (females) will constitute an entry, and the boys must be between 13 and 21 years of age. The pigs will be purchased by the committee and sold to the boys at cost. They will be the property of the boys, who must care and feed them and show them at the Peterborough Fair in the Fall.

Sixteen Prizes

Sixteen prizes are to be awarded for the showing of the hogs, varying in amount from $3 to $18. A scale of prizes is also being awarded for essays which each entrant must submit to qualify for competition. The essays are to deal with the entrant's experience in the feeding and management of bacon hogs.

Although it will be permissible for the boys to sell their hogs at the close of the competition, it is the wish of the committee that most of the pigs will be retained by the boys for breeding purposes.

Four counties are to be included in the competition. They are Victoria, Northumberland, Peterborough and Durham. The Canadian Bank of Commerce has donated a handsome silver cup for the county winning the most points.

Those desiring to compete are urged to get their entries in early in view of the fact that only forty entries can be accepted.

The committee in charge consists of William Knox, J. B. Nelson, J. Y. Kellough, Walter Smith, M. S. Winter and D. A. McKinnon.

THRESHERS ARE ASKED TO WORK WITH FARMERS

Will Help Themselves By Urging Use of Better and Cleaner Seed.

URGES WEED SCREENS.

Use Blowers on Machines to Prevent Carrying Weed Seeds to Next Farm.

"You men can do the farmer considerable service which will not only help him, but will help to increase the business you may receive from him", said J. B. Nelson, County of Peterborough Agricultural Representative addressing the Eastern Ontario Brotherhood of Threshermen at their recent convention in Peterborough.

He thought that perhaps the thresherman's chief concerns were collecting money for work done and to obtain enough work during the season to keep his outfit going at capacity. "The first problem is your own", exclaimed Mr. Nelson, but went on to say that possibly he could give them a few points of interest concerning the other problem.

In some sections farms are small or in other sections the production is small, while in yet another case the amount of threshing on a small farm may be good but the quantity may be poor.

"The price of wheat does not trouble you much" said the speaker, "or at least not so much as it troubles the producer. Yet it is in your interests to co-operate with the farmer and I will offer a few suggestions for your consideration.'

This spring the Ontario Department of Agriculture intends to open a campaign to make popular the idea of reducing cost of production. One way of doing this is by increasing crop yields and, thought Mr. Nelson that was where it would interest the threshermen, as it would naturally help to increase the amount of threshing.

The Department of of Agriculture is going to stress the use of larger machinery and outfits and the using of proper varieties of grain. It is a well-known fact that some varieties yield twice that of poorer grades of grain.

You threshermen are in close touch with the farmers and know just what type of farming they are carrying on and by advising them to use better seed you can do a great deal of good.

Use Clean Seed

More important is the question of clean seed. By the use of clean seed as against dirty seed the crop yield can be increased 20 per cent particularly oats.

An experiment at the Guelph Demonstration farm with winter wheat showed that by using clean seed the yield was increased 46.9 bushels to the acre and by using poor grade seed the yield dropped to 40 bushels to the acre. With oats the difference was more pronounced. Good clean seed gave a yield of 62 bushels to the acre whilst the smaller seed gave 47 bushels.

Another matter which is to be taken up this spring by the Department is the control of weeds. Two years ago this spring a survey of the weed situation was made in every county in the province, when samples of grain were taken from the seed drills whilst in operation. Samples were sent to Ottawa, the result ssummarised and it was found that 32 per cent of 1500 samples were rejected because of weed seeds which they contained. One third of the farmers were sowing weed seeds. Some of the farmers are blaming lack of help for this condition. But what ever the cause it is a most serious condition.

Very often you threshermen are blamed for carrying weeds from one farm to another and you can help in this matter by the use of weed screens which were spoken about at your convention two years ago, and at a cost of $6 or $7 can render the farmer a considerable service. You are doing considerable not only to help him, but to increase the amount of business you may receive from him.

In conjunction with the screen you can turn the blower on the threshing machine and blow all the weeds out so that they are not transferred to the next farm.

If a man takes a little extra care, he is able to get more work, the same as in any other line of business. The facts I have mentioned to you said Mr. Nelsonin conclusion, are facts you should know as well as the farmers. I believe you should be the same as other business men, give all the service you can, help the men you are working for, increase their confidence and thus bring yourselves more work.

Wild Horse Herds Facing Starvation

GREAT FALLS, Mont., March 1.—(U.P.) — Possibility of extinction faces between 30,000 and 40,00 head of abandoned and almost wild horses which roa mthe Montana ranges.

Mother nature may sign their death warrant and figuratively speaking she has the fatal pen in hand. The fact is the snow crust is so thick that horses are experiencing difficulty in reaching forage. If this condition continues throughout the winter it will be just a question of time before Montanas "wild" horses will be a thing of the past.

From an economic standpoint the death of a greater part of these wandering equines would be a boon to livestock men, according to H. A. Williams, state livestock inspector. The animals consume a large amount of forage and hence deprive cattle and sheep of a just share.

COP OUTEARNS CHIEF

PITTSBURGH (U.P.).—It takes all kinds of jobs to make a police department, two officers of the Wilmerding, a suburb, force have learned. Town Council recently ousted James B. Maguire as chief and promoted H. L. Snyder to head man of the department. But Maguire gets $242 per month and Chief Snyder only $175. Maguire was reinstated as a patrolman after council passed a bill to increase patrolmen's salary to $129 per month. They forgot, perhaps, to boost the wage for chiefs. Maguire also earns $50 a month as health officer, and would rather be a cop than a chief.

Poultry Enjoy Life

Once All She Was Expected to do Was Lay a Few Eggs and Find Own Feed.

ALL IS CHANGED.

Grows Nearer Egg a Day Mark —Leads Comfortable Life But Works Hard.

OTTAWA, Mar. 1 (C.P.)—The one-time barn-yard hen has finally come into her own. Great things are expected of her. In her native setting as the jungle fowl one or two settings of eggs and a corresponding number of chicks was her contribution to the continuation of her species and indirectly to the varied menu of the aborigines of her time. In the advance of civilization she found her place on the farm and in spite of lack of care and indifference to her possibility managed to rustle her own living, lay a sufficient number of eggs to maintain the flock and a surplus for eating purposes for the farm family to say nothing of rearing sufficient young to supply a large part of the meat of the household.

All this is now changed. In the modern laying houses at the Central, Experimental Farm here, the hen, year by year, gradually comes closer to the mark of an egg a day. She does her best to satisfy the Canadian appetite which demands better than an egg per capita per day. In addition she must reproduce her kind at a sufficiently rapid rate to supply the large demand for poultry, a feature of which is the shipping of large birds by the carload.

Having gained such an important position in the life of the country her every whim must be catered to. Her diet must be arranged almost as carefully as is done for humans. The modern child, to become a sturdy youth must daily take his dose of the same body-builder. Sunlight and fresh air too are equally important to the chicken and when they are young and cannot get out into the sunlight they are either given cod liver oil, or exposed to the rays of 'sunlight' lamps or are kept behind glass substitutes which allow the health giving rays of the sun to penetrate.

In the old days a sick bird was usually a dead one. Infant mortality in chicks has been greatly decreased for the parent stock now must undergo a biological test and be able to show a clean bill of health or no chicks are raised from them. Since certain diseases are born of a contamination in the soil the birds are often kept indoors entirely and in some cases raised to maturity in apartment style. Should a bird catch severe cold or be injured, in she goes to the poultry doctor who applies specific remedies or if the disease is infectious she may be isolated from the flock in a special hospital for the purpose. Should she die an autopsy is performed and steps are taken to prevent further deaths in the flocks from the same trouble.

All in all, the modern hen has rather a good life even though she does work hard. Instead of having to scratch around a barnyard for them, her meals are served her and far from having to find any perch in a drafty barn she is provided with a home that protects her against the worst of weather.

BROILER RAISING SHOWS PROFITS

Success Depends Entirely on Good Stock, Cleanliness and Feed.

CLEAN FOUNTAIN DAILY.

Success in broiler raising is dependent on good stock, cleanliness and feed. Chicks intended for early broilers should come from strong, healthy birds that have been carefully selected.

The brooder should be thoroughly clean and disinfected before the chicks are put in. Whatever you use for litter, be sure that it is clean and free from mold. Each year a great many chicks die from aspergillosis, which is usually caused by moldy litter. One of the secrets for the success of the battery brooders is the fact that the chicks cannot get in contact with contaminated litter or droppings. The drinking fountain should be cleaned every day and if convenient should be sterilized but do not put a disinfectant in the water. The chicks do not care any more for the water with the disinfectant than you do and will not drink as much as they should. Over half of the chick's body is water and it is the cheapest nutrient that we can possibly supply them.
